FORMER HEBRON YOUTH DROWNED

WHEN CAR PLUNGES OVER EMBANKMENT INTO PRISONERS LAKE, DEVOU PARK—SERVICES HELD AT HEBRON.

A verdict of accidental drowning was returned by Dr. James P. Riffe, Kenton County Corner in the deaths of Miss Betty Jean Patrick, 20 years old, 24 Euclid Ave., Ludlow, and Frank Daniel Bullock, 29, 254 Latta Ave., Ludlow, whose bodies were recovered from Prisoners Lake in Devou Park Wednesday night, Dec. 24.

Dr. Riffe inspected the lake bank in an effort to determine why the automobile, driven by Bullock, plunged down the embankment. The car, it was indicated, left the road at the beginning of a left turn leading toward West Covington. Small shrubs and weeds were knocked down by the car as it went down the bank.

The couple last was seen early Sunday when leaving a restaurant on Dixie Highway.

Miss Patrick was a popular member of the younger set in Northern Kentucky. She was a graduate of Holmes High School, Covington.

Bullock, a member of the firm of Bullock and Catherman, Ludlow funeral directors, was a graduate of the Hebron High School. He attended Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, and was graduated from the Cincinnati College of Embalming. He had been in business in Ludlow six years.

He was a member of the Ludlow Lodge of Masons and the Junior Order, United American Mechanics.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jennie C. Bullock, and three brothers, Joseph Bullock, Cincinnati, Marion Bullock, Springfield, Ohio, and Wilfred Bullock, Ludlow.

[illegible] services were held at Hebron Lutheran Church, with burial in Hebron cemetery.

Deputy Sheriff Enlists In U. S. Army Air Corps

William Green, deputy sheriff under J. T. Williams has enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps and is subject to call at any time, it was announced by Sheriff Williams, Monday.

Green was recently named as one of Sheriff Williams' deputies and took the oath of office last week. He will serve in this capacity until he is called for service in the U. S. Army.

FORMER HEBRON BOY IS KILLED

IN ACTION AT ISLAND POST NEAR MANILA—SON IS KILLED AT PLAY IN SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA.

Japanese attacks on the Philippines have cost the life of a former Hebron boy, whose 8-year-old son was killed in an unusual accident only three weeks ago.

The war casualty is Eugene W. Stephens, 37, formerly of Hebron, reported killed in action at an island post near Manila while serving as chief petty officer in charge of radio.

His son, Jay, was killed at play in San Diego, Calif. The boy, running down a hillside, had gained such momentum he could not stop at a street at the foot of the hill. He ran into the path of an auto.

Mr. Stephens, who enlisted in Cincinnati in 1922, was a brother of Mrs. Milton Souther. His mother, Mrs. Charles E. Stephens lives at Hebron.

Mrs. Souther learned of his death in a telegram from the officer's wife, Mrs. Blair Stephens, of San Diego.

Mr. Stephens had been in the Philippines five years. He sent his wife and three sons to San Diego several months ago when a Jap-U. S. crisis appeared imminent.

He wrote his wife just before the Japanese attack that he believed "something was in the air" and that their children should be sent to Ft. Mitchell "for the duration."

His son was killed as Mrs. Stephens was preparing to carry out her husband's wishes. Two other sons, Donald 15, and Jimmie 7, had arrived at Ft. Mitchell when word of their father's death was received.

Mrs. Mary Rouse

Mrs. Mary Rouse, 68, widow of James Rouse, died early Saturday at her home 452 Palace Ave., Elsmere, following a long illness.

Mrs. Rouse was a resident of Elsmere for 25 years.

She is survived by three daughters Mrs. Fred Irwin and Mrs. Bessie Rouse of Elsmere; and Mrs. Sadie Fischer, Dillsboro, Ind.; one brother, Joseph Rouse, of Crittenden; a sister, Mrs. George Lucas, of Verona; nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at the home of her daughter 502 Palace Ave., Elsmere, followed by services at the Hopeful Lutheran Church at 2 p. m.

FRANK HELMS IS WOUNDED

IN ATTACK ON PEARL HARBOR BY JAPANESE DECEMBER 7—HAS BEEN IN U. S. ARMY FOR OVER SIX YEARS.

Mrs. Nellie Helms, of Petersburg received word a few days ago that her son, Sergt. Frank B. Helms was wounded in action in the Japanese attack on Hawaii December 7th.

Sergt. Helms is a member of the [illegible] Air Corps at Hickam Field, Honolulu. He was shot in the thigh by a machine gun bullet from one of the attacking planes.

News of the incident was received by Mrs. Helms in a heavily censored letter from her son, dated a few days after the attack.

Sergt. Helms is 25 and has been in the army for over six years, three years and eight months of which have been spent in the islands. He was due home for a permanent assignment in the states in December.

Helms has two brothers Edward of Lawrenceburg, Ind., and Elvin E., of Petersburg.

Cress Family Held Reunion In Honor Of Son In U. S. Army

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cress, Sunday, December 21, in honor of thier son, Harry, who has been spending several days at his home in Burlington.

There were thirty-five relatives and friends to enjoy the day. Helen Cress presented them with a beautiful cake weighing 25 pounds. It represented the American flag. Harry received many nice presents.

He left for Fort Devins, Mass., Monday afternoon, where he is stationed.

PAYMENT DATE SET JANUARY 15

CHAIRMAN URGES ALL SUBSCRIBERS TO MAKE PAYMENT BY THIS DATE—$2,172.70 PAID BY CITIZENS.

The final payment on the new Boone County Fair Grounds will be made on January 15th, according to Charles Riley, Chairman of Fair Grounds Purchasing Committee. Practically 100 percent of all pledges will be paid by that date, according to present indications.

John Conner, Hebron, reported Monday of this week that $2,172.70 had been paid in todate and that local committeemen had several hundred dollars additional collected that would be turned in as soon as all their local pledges had been paid.

The county deed committee composed of John E. Crigler, John Conner, Mrs. Vernon Pope and D. H. Norris met with the Fiscal Court Tuesday to arrange to filing the deed and arranging the perpetual lease terms.

TIRE BOARD IS NAMED FOR CO.

ROBERT BRUGH, EARL SMITH EARL M. AYLOR APPOINTED FOR BOONE COUNTY BY GOV. JOHNSON.

Governor Keen Johnson named Robert E. Brugh, Walton, Earl Smith of Burlington and Earl M. Aylor, Hebron as members of a tire rationing board for Boone County and this board has been functioning since January 4th. Their duty is to determine who shall obtain tires in the various precincts of the county.

The boards were named at the suggestion of Washington authorities to deal with the tire distribution because of the imminent shortage in crude rubber caused by the war.

Dealers are being called upon for stock inventories in order to prevent evasions. Tires are to be allocated monthly to the counties on the basis of the number of commercial vehicles registered in each county.

Boone County's allotment for passenger cars, etc., has been set at 11 tires and 9 tubes. For trucks and buses, 23 tires, 19 tubes.

The following is List A of eligibility classification and list of vehicles which may be equipped with new rubber tires, casings or tubes:

No certificate shall be issued unless the applicant for the certificate certifies that the tire, casing or tube for which application is made is to be mounted:

(a) On a vehicle which is operated by a physician, surgeon, visiting nurse, or a veterinary and which is used principally for professional services.

(b) On an ambulance.

(c) On a vehicle used exclusively for one or more of the following purposes:

1. To maintain fire fighting services

2. To maintain necessary public police services

3. To enforce such laws as relate specifically to the protection of public health and safety

4. To maintain garbage disposal and other sanitation services

5. To maintain mail services.

(d) On a vehicle, with a capacity of ten or more passengers, operated exclusively for one or more of the following purposes:

1. Transportation of passengers as part of the services rendered to the public by a regular transportation system

2. Transportation of students and teachers to and from school

3. Transportation of employees to or from any industrial or mining establishment or construction project, except when public transportation facilities are readily available.

(e) On a truck operated exclusively for one or more of the purposes stated in the preceding sections or for one or more of the following purposes:

1. Transportation of ice, and of fuel

2. Transportation of material and equipment for the building and maintenance of public roads;

3. Transportation of material and equipment for the construction and maintenance of public utilities;

4. Transportation of material, and equipment for the construction and maintenance of production facilities;

5. Transportation of material and equipment for the construction of defense housing facilities and military and naval establishments;

6. Transportation essential to render roofing, plumbing, heating and electrical repair services;

7. Transportation by any common carrier;

8. Transportation of waste and scrap materials;

9. Transportation of raw materials, semi-manufactured goods, and finished products, including farm products and foods, provided that no certificate shall be issued for a new tire or tube to be mounted on a truck used (a) for the transportation of commodities to the ultimate consumer for personal, family, or household use; or (b) for transportation of materials for construction and maintenance except to the extent specifically provided by subsections 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 of this section (e).

(f) On farm tractors or other farm implements other than automobiles or trucks for the operation of which rubber tires, casings or tubes are essential.

(g) On industrial, mining, and construction equipment other than automobiles or trucks for the operation of which rubber tires, casings, or tubes are essential.

Dr. M. A. Yelton Much Improved

We are more than glad to report to our readers that the condition of Dr. M. A. Yelton is very much improved and that he is how able to care for patients who call at the office.

Dr. Yelton has been very ill for the past two weeks, and his services are greatly missed throughout the entire community. He is rapidly recovering, and will be out and at his work in a few days.

HEBRON, LOCAL FIVES WINNERS

OVER ERLANGER PAROCHIAL SCHOOL DURING HOLIDAYS—WALTON-VERONA WINS OVER LUDLOW.

In the first of two games played by Boone County high schools during the holidays, Hebron Cardinals trounced the St. Henry team of Erlanger 42-26 on the Lloyd floor December 29th.

The outcome was never in doubt as the Cardinals took a 13-2 edge in the initial quarter, and led 26-6 at the halfway mark, 34-14 at the end of the third period, with Getker scoring 15 of their total, Buckler 11. Brendel was high for St. Henry, with 10.

The Hebron Birdies also scored a triumph, 34-11, in the first game.

Also furnishing the opposition for the other holiday tilt, the St. Henry five took a 59-20 shellacing from the Burlington Eagles on the local hardwood December 30, as the Eagles took a 23-10 lead at the half, 44-10 at the three-quarter mark.

Huey set the scoring pace, accounting for 17 of the winner's total, Jarrell and Porter 15 each. Tombragel led his team with 10.

The Burlington reserve squad turned back their rival 36-15.

Paced by Groger and Demoisey the Walton High School Bearcats trounced the Ludlow High School Panthers, 54-20, at Walton Tuesday night.

Groger and Demoisey, with 10 points each were high for the Bearcats. Mather with 8 points was best for the losing Ludlow team.

The Ludlow second team defeated the Little Bearcats, 30-23 in the first game of the evening.

The account of the Florence-Beechwood game, played at Florence Tuesday night, was received too late for this week's paper and will be reported in next week's issue.

Games for This Week

Friday Night—Hebron at Florence; Walton at Simon Kenton; New Haven at Silver Grove; Cold Springs at Burlington.

Saturday Night—Cold Springs at Hebron.

Tuesday Night—Dixie Heights at Walton.

PROMINENT FARMER DIES

HENRY GETKER ANSWERS CALL AT AGE OF 80—WAS LIFELONG RESIDENT OF BOONE COUNTY.

Henry Getker, prominent Boone County banker and retired farmer, died Sunday at his home, Hebron, after a long illness. He was 80.

Mr. Getker was a lifelong resident of Boone County. He was a director of the Hebron Bank and vice president of the Hebron Building & Loan Association.

He is survived by his widow Mrs. Ella Alfred Getker; a son, Albert Getker; three daughters, Mrs. Elmer Goodridge, Mrs. Luther Rouse and Mrs. John Dye, all of Hebron and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at the Hebron Lutheran Church, Wednesday afternoon at 2:00, with burial in Hebron cemetery.

Bullock and Catherman, Ludlow funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

FARMERS URGED TO VOTE JAN. 10

IN SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT REFERENDUM—MANY BENEFITS CAN BE DERIVED FROM DISTRICT.

Boone County farmers are urged to vote Saturday, December 10th, in the Soil Conservation District referendum, according to C. Liston Hempfling, chairman of the County Soil Conservation District Organization Committee.

Mr. Hempfling states that Boone County should have the many benefits that can be derived from a district that he has seen in other counties and that the county will lose these benefits unless large numbers of farmers come out and vote. Failure to vote is the greatest obstacle toward securing a district as there is no known opposition.

The district, if formed, will enable farmers through a county corporate soil conservation district body to secure advantages of government aid through use of CCC labor, WPA labor, power machinery to construct ponds, terraces, etc., and other soil conservation practices that work for the general soil improvement. These services in the future can only be secured through the formation of a district.

The services of the district, if formed, will be available to farmers who express voluntary desire to cooperate and to work out a soil conservation program for their farmers.

Five convenient voting places have been set up in the county. These referendum voting places and referendum committeemen are as follows:

Hebron, Ky—Hebron Bank: All the lands within the voting precincts of Petersburg, Bullittsville, Hebron, and Constance, Edgar S. Graves, Burlington R. 1; Charles Hempfling, Taylorsport; Virgil Campbell, Burlington R. 1; Howard Huey, Petersburg, R. 1.

Burlington—Courthouse: All the lands within the voting precincts of Grant, Burlington and Florence, H. E. White, Burlington; L. D. Renneckar, Florence, R. 1; L. Scott, Burlington R. 2.

Hamilton—Hamilton School: All the lands within the voting precincts of Hamilton and Carlton, Hugh Stephens, Union R. 1; Everett Jones, Big Bone; William Pressler, Burlington R. 2; R. E. Kirtley, Union.

Walton—Town Hall: All the land within the voting precincts of Verona and Walton, B. W. Franks, Walton; J. G. Pennington, Verona R. 2; Albert Parker, Walton, R. 2; Grover Ransom, Verona.

New Haven—New Haven School House: All the lands within the voting precincts of Beaver and Union, Pat Maddin, Walton R. 2; Jake Cleek, Walton R. 2; James W. Huey, Union R. 1; Emerson Smith, Union, Ky., R. 1.

The greatest danger toward securing a district is the failure of a sufficient number of farmers to vote. All landowners are urged to vote at their nearest voting place between the hour of 8:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m.

Mrs. Hettie R. Metzger

Mrs. Hettie R. Rouse Metzger, age 64, passed away at her home 2950 Fifth Ave. North, St. Petersburg, Fla., on December 17th, according to an announcement received at this office last week.

She was a former resident of Boone County, having resided in Florida for the past eleven years.

She is survived by her husband Albert Metzger; a brother Harry V. Rouse and a sister, Miss Iva Rouse, both of Lexington.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Avenue Methodist Church, Saturday afternoon at 2:30, with Rev. Paul R. Hortin officiating.

CONSTANCE P.-T. A.

The regular meeting of the Constance P.-T. A. will be held at the school Wednesday, January 14. The meeting will start promptly at two o'clock (fast time).

Mrs. James Dye, Reporter.

Mrs. Ada L. McClellan

Word was received here Monday of the death of Mrs. Ada Latham McClellan, Covington, who died at Booth Hospital, Sunday. She was a sister of Mrs. Fannie Conner, of Burlington.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 2 o'clock at Florence Christian Church. Burial was in Florence cemetery.

Mrs. Allie Utz

Mrs. Allie Utz, Union, mother of Major Lee Norris Utz, Marine Corps, San Francisco, died Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, after a long illness. She was 77 years old.

Besides her son, she is survived by three other sons, Franklin, Stanley, and Warren Utz, all of Boone County; two daughters, Catherine Utz, Boone County, and Mrs. Howard Clegg, Cincinnati; a brother, Dr. T. B. Castleman, Florence; a sister, Mrs. T. J. Turle, Bloomington, Ill., and one grandchild.

She was a member of the Big Bone Baptist Church.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon (Thursday) at 1:30 E. S. T. at the Taliaferro funeral home, with burial in Hopeful cemetery.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director is in charge of arrangements.

The Men's Bible Class of the local Baptist Church will hold their monthly social and business meeting at the church next Saturday night at 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to attend.

The W. M. U. of the local Baptist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Walter Brown next Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m.

FARM LOAN ASS'N. TO MEET JAN. 15

AT BURLINGTON COURTHOUSE—H. R. FORKNER TO ADDRESS GROUP—OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED.

The Boone County National Farm Loan Association will hold its annual meeting in the court house January 15th at 1:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. In addition to the hearing of reports and election of officers, H. R. Forkner will address the meeting on "The Farmers' Place In National Defense." This is the only scheduled address at this meeting and the association officials hope for a good attendance of its members.

In dispensing with the expense of a lunch and an all-day meeting, the association is able to purchase an additional $100.00 United States Defense Savings Bond. The directors have already ordered that this investment be made.

The association owns $1,900.00 in Consolidated Federal Land Bank Bonds, which are now selling at a premium, and the directors have ordered these bonds sold and the proceeds reinvested in United States Defense Savings Bonds.

The Secretary-Treasurer reports that there are fewer delinquent borrowers than at any time within the past several years, at this time of the year, and that it is anticipated no delinquencies will be on the books of the association when the balance of this year's crop of tobacco is marketed. This speaks for a healthy financial condition of the farmers of Boone County, whose loans exceed $800,000.

Miss Beulah Gaines, of Covington is spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith and family.

INJURIES FATAL TO CHAS. BEYER

BROKEN BACK AND COMPOUND FRACTURES SUFFERED BY ELSMERE MAN WHEN STRUCK BY TRUCK NEAR FLORENCE.

Charles Beyer, 63, Elsmere, was killed instantly when he was struck by a truck near Florence, Wednesday night of last week.

George McHugh, Erlanger, driver of the truck, told police the man stepped from behind a parked car into the path of his vehicle.

The victim suffered a broken back, crushed ribs, compound fractures of both legs and internal injuries. The body was removed to the Taliaferro funeral home, Erlanger.

Mr. Beyer was a native of Germany, and was employed by the John Shillito Co., Cincinnati.

He is survived by his widow Mrs. Emilie Beyer; and three daughters Mrs. Ernest Pieper, Covington, Mrs. Clifford Waldman, Erlanger and Mrs. E. E. Towers, Covington.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director was in charge of arrangements.

NEW SHERIFFS SWORN MONDAY

BEFORE COUNTY JUDGE N. E. RIDDELL—IS ONLY OFFICE TO CHANGE IN COURTHOUSE THIS TERM.

The new Sheriff, J. T. "Jake" Williams and his new deputies were sworn in and took up their duties of the Sheriff's office on Monday morning of this week.

The sheriff's office will be the only change of officers for this term, since all other offices will be filled by the same officials as in the past four years. Irvin Rouse and Wm. Green will be the only new faces in the office, since "Jake" Williams has served for the past four years as deputy under Frank Walton and will be new in title only.

Resident phone numbers of the new sheriffs will be: Williams, Burlington 208; Irvin Rouse, Florence 639, and Wm. Green, Walton 1364. A phone call to any one of these numbers after office hours will receive prompt and courteous attention, it was stated by Sheriff Williams.

The phone of Irvin Rouse is listed as Florence at present. However, Mr. Rouse will move to Burlington in the near future and take up residence in the home now occupied by C. D. "Dewey" Benson, as soon as Mr. Benson completes his new home, now under construction.

Geo. Roman Fischer

Geo. Roman Fischer, age 56 years passed away Saturday morning at 2 a. m. in his home on Bedinger Ave., Walton. His death was attributed to pulmonary tuberculosis.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Belle Fischer; one daughter Thelma; 2 sisters Miss Cora Fischer and Mrs. Mary Gunsing and many other relatives and friends who will mourn his passing.

Funeral services were conducted at the home with mass at St. Patricks Church, Verona, Tuesday morning at 9 a. m., with Father Jobsx, officiating. Burial was in Crittenden cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge or arrangements.

ARE YOU A STENOGRAPHER?

The Government needs stenographers for National defense. One is prone to think of National defense in terms of soldiers, sailors and marines. But there are many types of defense work behind the lines. A large army of civilian personnel is now on duty as stenographers in the Government service to take the dictation of the thousands of executives and administrative officers, and transcribe it into typewritten documents. Some of this material is of lasting importance. Some of it will set into motion Government events of historical consequence.

It is estimated that the Government has approximately 85,000 stenographers, typists and secretaries on the payroll. Many young men and women are responding to the call. Thousands more are needed.

Aside from the present emergency, the opportunities for stenographers in the Government service are favorable. Good stenographers are always in demand. The positions pay $1,440 a year to start, with a good chance for advancement to positions of greater responsibility, such as secretarial positions, in the case of those who have the ability.

The examination announced by the Civil Service Commission for stenographers is open until further notice. The examination consists solely of a dictation test at 96 words a minute and transcription of notes. All persons who can qualify are urged to apply now.

The stenographer examinations are held at several hundred cities throughout the United States. In order to arrange for greater convenience to applicants, the Commission is planning to increase the number of places where the examinations will be held.

The proper application form may be obtained from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at any first or second-class post office or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C.

To provide more living quarters for Government employees, especially for those in the lower-income groups, there has been begun, under Government sponsorship, a building program for constructing thousands of apartments, dormitories, and homes in Washington, D. C.

A Week Of The War

Twenty-six nations, including the U. S., Britain, Russia and China, signed an agreement pledging their military and economic resources in a finish fight against the Axis and banning any separate peace. The nations also subscribed to a "a common program of purposes and principles" embodied in the Roosevelt-Churchill "Atlantic Charter."

The signatories of the declaration include Australia, Belgium, Canada, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, the Dominican Republic, Salvador, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti Honduras, India, Luxemburg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Poland, South Africa and Jugoslavia. The declaration may, it said, be "adhered to by other nations which are, or which may be, rendering material assistance and contributions to the struggle for victory over Hitlerism."

The War Front

The Navy said it had evacuated Cavite and the Army announced Japanese troops entered Manila which earlier in the week had been declared an open city by General MacArthur, commanding the U. S. Forces in the Far East. Before entry of the Japanese, American and Philippine troops were withdrawn and all defense installations removed or destroyed.

General MacArthur earlier reported the enemy had "mercilessly bombed" churches, hospitals, convents, schools and other civilian installations in Manila after it was declared an open city, whereas they had only attempted bombing military installations previously. The president sent a message to the Philippine Islands pledging that their "freedom shall be, deemed and their independence established and protected . . ." During the week, the Navy reported sinking two additional enemy ships and said three U. S. destroyers were attacked, but only slightly damaged.

Production For War

OPM reported $78,212,000,000 has been authorized for war purposes. The President told a press conference that although present spending is at the rate of 27 percent of the estimated 1942 national income of $100,000,000,000 production will be stepped up so that by next July 1 the nation will be spending at the rate of $50,000,000,000 a year —or half the national income.

Asked about reports that Canadian, British and U. S. production would be pooled, resulting virtually in the end of the Lend-Lease program as such, the President said that military resources have been pooled since the Japanese attack. The matter of repayment would be adjusted, he said, and would largely depend on where the articles sent other nations were used.

Ships

The Maritime Commission said the ship-a-day goal in launchings of new ships has been reached and by the second quarter of 1942 delivery should reach two ships a day. The Commission took over 16 Finnish ships that have been tied up in U. S. ports. The Navy announced launching of a destroyer, a floating workshop and a minesweeper, and said keels were laid for two more destroyers. The Navy also said it is converting the French liner Normandie into an auxiliary.

Labor Supply and Training

President Roosevelt denounced as "stupid" and "unjust" the increasing discharges of loyal, efficient workers in American industries "simply because they were born abroad or because they have foreign-sounding names." He said such unfair discharges engender "the very distrusts and disunity on which our enemies are counting."

OPM Associate Director Hillman announced almost 2,500,000 persons have been enrolled for training for war industry work since July 1, 1940. He asked public vocational schools to expand their courses to permit use of all their facilities on a "round-the-clock" basis. Some war contractors are planning to employ as many new men in the next six months as they have in the last eighteen, he said.

Autos and Tires

The OPM banned all sales of new passenger automobiles and the SPAB approved an OPM plan to halt production of these vehicles "within a few weeks." The temporary ban on the retail sale delivery, purchase, or lease of new passenger cars and of new light and heavy trucks will remain in effect until January 15 at which time a permanent rationing program will be put in effect.

OPM delegate to the Office of Price Administration authority to withhold all new tires except for essential health, safety and industrial services. OPA set up tire-rationing boards in each county of the nation and issued regulations providing no tire can be obtained even for "essential" users unless a local garageman appointed as inspector has certified the need, the local board has approved the application and the number of tires sold in each county is within the county quota. New tries were defined as those used less than 1,000 miles. No new restrictions were placed on the sale of retreaded or recapped tires.

Prices

Price Administration Henderson set maximum manufacturers' prices for household cooking and heating stoves and for cigarettes, and issued a temporary schedule for rugs and carpets. He sent a letter to all wholesalers and retailers of sugar stating the responsibility for keeping stable the price of sugar now rests with the nation's retailers. He set top prices for 39 grades of imported green coffee, and revised previous schedules for some 1,800 fats and oils, as well as for Douglas fir doors, paperboard and cotton goods.

Opportunities For War Service

The War Department announced it will employ American-born civilian pilots between 21 and 46 to ferry aircraft from U. S. factories to nations receiving Lend-Lease aid. The Air Corps will train a limited number of men 20 to 27 years old in meteorology. Both groups may receive Reserve Commissions. Third and fourth-year medical students and first-year internes may obtain Reserve commissions in the Army and Navy, and will be permitted to complete their medical training before being ordered to active duty. Between 200 and 300 additional commissions in the Naval Reserve Civil Engineers Corps are available for college graduates with limited practical engineering experience. Former non-commissioned Marine Regular and Reserve officers may re-enlist in the rank held when last discharged, if they have not been out of the Corps more than four years.

The Maritime Commission lowered admission requirements for maritime cadets and cut their training time in half. The Civil Service Commission issued a call for thousands of stenographers needed urgently for national defense work in positions paying $1,440 a year to start. Application forms may be obtained at any first or second-class post office.

Army

The War Department authorized return to active duty by February 1 of all inactive enlisted Reservists —the majority former trainees and National Guardsmen recently released from active duty. The Department said it will continue voluntary enlistment of men from 18 to 35. The Department adopted a uniform system for temporary promotion of all officers on the basis of merit.

Aliens

Attorney General Biddle ordered all Japanese, German and Italian aliens to surrender to local police authorities by 11 p. m., January 5 all radio transmitters, short-wave radio sets, cameras, and firearms of any description. Mr. Biddle amended regulations governing travel of an alien enemy to permit limited movement in certain cases where special permission is granted.

Agriculture

The Department of Agriculture reported supplies of agricultural commodities are at a high level with record production of many items. The general level of prices received by farmers during the month ended December 15 was 42 points above the corresponding period last year. OPM granted farm equipment manufacturers 83 percent of materials used in 1940 for new machinery and 150 percent of 1940 materials to produce spare parts.

THE INFANCY AND BOYHOOD OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:25-35, 39, 40.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.—Luke 2:52.

"Nobody knows what a boy is worth,
And the world must wait to see;
For every man in an honored place
Is a boy that used to be."

Jesus was "only a boy" as He grew through infancy and childhood, but in that baby and that boy rested all the hopes of mankind. While He was not just like any other boy, yet His growth and development were normal, and we may learn much that will enable us to help the boy in our home, in our block, or in our church.

The mother of Jesus, in fulfillment of the law of her people, on the eighth day identified Him with the nation (Luke 2:21), and then at the end of 40 days brought Him, with her humble sacrifice, to present Him to the Lord. There a beautiful and prophetic scene took place as the Holy Spirit revealed to godly old Simeon His

I. Complete Salvation—in a Baby (vv. 25-35).

The Holy Spirit (not yet come as the indwelling presence in believers' hearts) had come upon Simeon, a man right with God and with a deep longing in his heart for the coming of the Messiah—"the consolation of Israel." He was assured of living until that day, and now as he waited in the temple the babe who fulfilled that promise was laid in his arms.

He blessed God as he broke forth in praise and prophetic utterance. Note the full conception of the work of the Redeemer—deliverance from bondage and fear of death, light to the Gentiles and glory to Israel, a stone of stumbling but also of rising again. A revealer of the hearts of men—yes, and One whose sacrificial death would pierce the heart of His mother.

One is glad that Simeon and Anna (v. 36) and "them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem" saw in Mary's infant son the Son of God incarnate, for round about was unbelief (John 1:11), hatred (Matt. 2:16), and indifference (Matt. 2:4, 5).

Is it not so today? Christmas has just been celebrated. How many saw the babe in the manger as Jesus the Saviour?

The scene changes—the little family is back in Nazareth in the humble home—and there we see

II. Perfect Development in a Boy (vv. 39, 40).

The period from infancy to accountability (12 years) is summed up in the full-orbed growth of the boy Jesus described in verse 40. The one business of every child from birth to 12, or somewhere around there, until the period of adolescence, is to grow without any sense of responsibility except obedience to authority; and obedience in the case of a child is always in order to give the child perfect freedom from everything else, without any sense of responsibility. That is the story of Jesus: He grew!" (G. Campbell Morgan).

Growth is, first of all, physical. Jesus stands by the side of every boy and girl as the body grows from babyhood to maturity, for He too knew that experience. We may talk to Him as an understanding friend about the physical needs and problems of our children. Let us remember that here, as elsewhere in Scripture, the physical body is recognized as important.

Mentally, He experienced growth. The strange, apocryphal tales about the child Jesus, representing Him as a man of mature wisdom in a child's body, do not compare even remotely with the beautiful naturalness of a keen-minded boy asking questions, observing, always learning. Boys and girls, you may talk with confidence to Him about your lessons, your growing interest in this exciting world of ours, of your need for guidance in learning. Be sure that He will understand.

The crowning touch upon the growing personality of the child is the spiritual. We read of Jesus that "the grace of God was upon him." "Grace," says Dr. Morgan, "is first, that which delights and charms. Grace, secondly, is desire to impart to others the things that make them happy. Grace, finally, is the activity that does this at all costs." A gracious child is an altogether delightful being; and when that graciousness is the result of the "grace of God" upon him, it is surpassingly lovely, for it makes him Christlike, even in the days of childhood.

Great and grave has been the neglect of the spiritual life of children for whom much has been done physically and mentally. Christian parents must not make that mistake —and they need not, for the Lord Jesus here too stands ready to counsel, guide, encourage, and strengthen them in every good purpose and deed.

One mark of true greatness is the ability to praise others. Can you?

MANAGEMENT RULES FOR BREEDING HENS

Next winter's profits will be made by early-hatched, well-developed pullets, says C. E. Harris in the "Poultry Calendar" of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Here's what he says about producing hatchable eggs:

Cull small, unthrifty, poor-producing birds from the flocks.

The breeders should have access to green range on all clear days. A good plan is to confine the flock in the forenoon and turn them out at noon if not stormy.

If there is no range, feed clover, alfalfa or lespedeza hay from racks in the house.

Keep grain and mash before the flock. A gallon of milk per day for each 100 hens may be fed in addition to mash and grain.

One pint of fish-liver oil should be added to each 100 pounds of home-mixed mash, to supply the sunshine vitamin.

The breeding pen should receive as much direct sunlight as possible.

Prevent frozen combs and poor fertility by keeping the laying house dry and well ventilated.

All eggs used for hatching should come from flocks that have been tested for pullorum disease. Never set or sell, for hatching, eggs from an untested flock.

Use plenty of liter and fresh nesting material, so that clean hatching eggs will be produced.

COLLEGE AGENTS AND LOAN MEN COOPERATE

An added service of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics is announced by Dean Thomas P. Cooper to be a cooperative project whereby county agents and county home demonstration agents join with secretary-treasurers of National Farm Loan Associations in advising with farmers who have borrowed money from these credit agencies.

The object is to encourage farmers in debt to adopt practices that will improve their incomes and thus enable them to pay off their mortgages. Studies will be made of crops, livestock, labor, machinery and other factors, and suggestions made regarding adjustments that should improve the profits of the farms, and hasten the liquidation of the farm debt.

The secretary-treasurers of the National Farm Loan Associations will submit the names of farmers whom they consider especially worthy of this added service.

Counties in which this new project will be launched are Bourbon, Caldwell, Laurel, Todd, Webster and Union.

In Ballard county, two plots of castor beans were threshed and will be tested and sold.

FLORENCE

Mrs. Fannie Utz entertained with a family dinner party Sunday. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Beemon, Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Tanner and son, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Quite a number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Mary Rouse which was held Monday afternoon at Hopeful Lutheran Church.

Friends are sorry to hear that Mrs. Jess Gillispie's mother is ill at her residence on Lloyd Ave.

Mrs. Chester Sturgeon and daughter have returned to their home in Cincinnati, after passing the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Robbins.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weaver of near Union are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a fine daughter, born Saturday, Jan. 3. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

Mrs. Edna Stephens have returned home after passing several days with her brother, Mr. Mardis Ryle, who has been very ill, but is improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blackburn enjoyed a visit Sunday with his father Sam Blackburn and wife, of Burlington.

Mrs. Hattie Creel has returned home, after passing the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Onnie Rouse, of Gunpowder.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert England and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Aylor were dinner guests Christmas Day of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. England of Hebron.

Friends of Mrs. George Byrne regret to learn she has been ill the past week. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

Word was received here of the death of Charles Tupman, 84, well-known musician. He died early Monday at his home, 2711 Madison Ave., Covington. He had many friends in the Florence community.

HOME ECONOMISTS URGE KEEPING THE FAMILY WELL FED

With food costs advancing, a 3-part program for national defense—one especially adaptable for farm folks—has been suggested by the home economics department of the University of Kentucky.

(1) Keep Family Nutrition at a High Level. To do so is a basic part of American defense. Use plenty of dairy products, meat and vegetables; check especially to see that the vitamins are plentiful.

(2) Raise Both Winter and Summer Gardens. Do this even if only on small plots 5 by 10 feet, for instance—flower-bed size). Neglect no available space in the yard or elsewhere.

(3) Continue to Use Economy in Preparing Food. Waste nothing. Much inexpensive food is highly nutritious. And in peeling potatoes, slicing lemons, and carving meat—in any one of several dozen regular kitchen operations—economy is possible.

In the face of rising food costs, the average family will find that care must be used to keep the family well nourished, at reasonable costs, and still pay taxes and keep up other patriotic obligations. In other words, it is a situation calling for the application of good economic principles to the household, the specialists believe.

Incidentally, it may be pointed out that health standards may be raised rather than lowered during the next five to 10 years, if the suggestions are followed.

A small TVA-designed thresher has been demonstrated in Morgan county, where a "save the seed" campaign always is in progress.

Tobacco Growers Urged To Attend Leaders' Meeting

Tobacco growers who are interested in hearing reports of the past year's new developments in tobacco production practices and in planning the 1942 tobacco improvement program are invited to attend the leaders' planning meeting to be held at the County Agent's office in Burlington on this coming January 13th at 1:00 fast time, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Leaders cooperating in last year's program will have many interesting reports to make. Russell Hunt, tobacco specialist, College of Agriculture, will advise with the leaders in planning the new program.

Boone County Boy Safe

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Aylor received word recently from their son William Woodrow, stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, that he was safe, and that his wife was leaving soon for his home, here to be with his mother and father, due to the fact that he was informed that wives of all army and navy men were to be evacuated.

The young Mrs. Aylor is expected to arrive here within the next ten days.

GREEN COUNTY MAN FINDS TOBACCO PAYS

Amid the chant of the auctioneer and the rustle of farmers and spectators, Chester A. Judd quietly watched selling on a Greensburg tobacco floor. Finally the buyers reached his crop of 2,472 pounds, grown on an acre and seven-tenths. His face was tense as he watched every movement. Then his eyes gleamed and he smiled. His crop had averaged $29.50, and brought $729.97.

Last year tobacco on the same land brought $163. But Mr. Judd followed the crop with crimson clover and wheat, using 20 loads of manure, 1,500 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate broadcast, and 700 pounds of 4-10-6 fertilizer in the row. Acre yields jumped from 855 pounds to 1,455 pounds.

John H. Ewing, Jr., farm agent in Green county, cites Mr. Judd's experience as an example of what many farmers can do to increase yields, improve the quality of their tobacco and get more money from the crop.

Pvt. James Dolwick Is Entertained

Open house was held December 22 at Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dolwick Sr.'s in honor of their son Pvt. James Dolwick, who was home on a 10-day furlough. He is stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., in the Quartermaster Division as a truck dispatcher.

Refreshments consisting of a variety of sandwiches, cakes, orangeade and coffee were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. John Dye, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dye and son, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wernz, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wernz and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wernz, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bell and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGlasson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGlasson Jr., and son, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McGlasson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McGlasson and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hempfling and son, Mr. and Mrs. Val Dolwick and family, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Dolwick and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Corrie Robinson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Riddell and son, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Markesbery and sons, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Mose Black and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Snyder, Mrs. Geo. Miller, Blayne Miller, Mrs. Hildreth Dolwick, Mrs. Eva McGlasson, Miss Mabel Dolwick, Mrs. H. V. Tanner, Gordon Souther, O. P. Dye, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Dolwick and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dolwick, Jr., and family, the guest of honor Pvt. James Dolwick and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dolwick, Sr.

Card games, crocono and music were enjoyed by the guests, especially the serenade by members of the Boone County Band later in the evening.

Pvt. Dolwick was presented with a cake decorated by his aunt Kate Robinson, which was very appropriate to the occasion.

Production Credit Office To Serve Boone Farmers

The Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association recently opened an office in Burlington to serve Boone County farmers. The Production Credit Association is an organization of farmers to secure credit for farm needs at a low rate of interest on quick term loans. Boone County was selected as the first county in northern Kentucky to have this service available to farmers, according to Lloyd Siekman, Field Representative.

Within the next few months farmers that are planning to expand their 1942 production in the way of food crops, as well as dairy and pork production to meet the demands of the national defense program should feel a need of a short term loan at a low rate of interest.

Will they thank you for good strong feet?

O, you mother of a child—you want his manners to be nice, you want his brain to be quick, you want his back to be straight, you want his hands to be agile—but don't you want his feet to be sturdy and true, well shaped and graceful? Or those of your daughter?

You mother of a child, twenty years from now his feet will be walking up to get a diploma, or confidently marching in to get a job, maybe walking up to an old church altar to meet a bride in white. (Or it may be the bride herself). Your child may never thank you for good strong feet, he'll take them as a matter of fact.

But what will he think if they're not good strong feet? Sure, he'll still love you—but "why didn't mother make sure I was growing up right?"

It is a responsibility, just one of the many a mother takes on when she brings a child into the world. —Adv.

MEETINGS ARE SET JAN. 10-24

FOR COMMUNITY PLANNING—LOCAL AGRICULTURAL PROBLEMS WILL BE DISCUSSED FOR 1942.

Boone County farmers will hold a series of community agricultural planning meetings during the next three weeks, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The purpose of the meetings will be to discuss the local agricultural problems and to plan a 1942 agricultural improvement program of production and National Defense that will best suit the local needs.

Marked progress in agricultural improvement has resulted in recent years through these local planned programs. New varieties of crops, new production practices, new farm organizations and other worthwhile works have been developed.

The general plan of the program is for leading farmers to come together in the meetings to discuss in a friendly, cooperative way the local problems, their solution and what will be done toward their solution this year. All farmers and others interested in farm problems are invited to take part.

The schedule of the meetings planned to date are:

Hebron—Tuesday, January 13, at 7:30 p. m., Hebron school.

Walton—Thursday, January 15, 7:30 p. m.

New Haven—Saturday, January 10th at 1:30 p. m., New Haven school.

Verona—January 24th, Saturday at 1:15 p. m., Verona Bank.

Meeting dates for Constance, Petersburg, Grant, Burlington, Florence and Hamilton will be announced in the near future.

Farmers Interested In 1942 Farm Accounts

Farmers are showing increased interest in keeping 1942 farm account records, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. There has been the largest number of requests for farm account books than in recent years.

The farm account school at Burlington on Wednesday, January 14, at 1:00 p. m. will be of interest to all farmers. Farmers at this meeting will be instructed in taking farm inventories and the use of the Kentucky complete Farm Account Boow and will receive a summary business analysis of the total of all farmers who kept complete records in the last year's project.

All farmers who can are urged to attend the above named meeting.

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS' CLUB

The meeting was called to order by the reading of a section of the Consitution by the president, Virginia Pope, which was followed by singing the first two verses of "America." Mrs. Pope then told us she would be unable to attend Farm and Home Week the last of January, suggesting that the members be considering someone to go and to mention them at the next meeting.

The president turned the meeting over to Stella Nichols, Nancy Campbell being unable to be present. Mrs. Nichols discussed several ideas for special occasions and also reviewed the past lessons. The group dismissed for a very delicious lunch.

The roll call was answered by "The gift I enjoy most." The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and gave the treasurer's report. The motion was made by Sue Rogers and seconded by Stella Nichols that we help the Hebron Girl Reserves with their work in planning Xmas for the poor people. The motion was made by Marietta Garnett and seconded by Hilda Hogan that a donation of 5c be given by each member.

The motion was made and seconded that the [illegible] who cannot entertain [illegible] for the club, pay the rent and coal bill at the hall.

Mrs. Flora Tanner invited the club to meet at her home for the next session. The hostesses will be Grace Hartke, Flora Tanner, Libby Yowell, and Lizzie Graves.

Mrs. Moore reported on the advisory council meeting. Each club was asked to select a 4-H club advisor. Stella Nichols was chosen. We then had the reports of the membership chairman, 4-H chairman, reading chairman, home furnishing chairman, exterior beautification chairman, and handcraft chairman. The meeting vas then turned over to the program chairman who sponsored the Xmas party. Each one present brought a 1c gift and the little sister gifts were handed out. Each one told who their little sister was and new little sister were drawn. The meeting adjourned after a very enjoyable day.

SYSTONE PROVES ITS WORTH TO ALL WHO SUFFER!

From Stomach Trouble, Weak Kidneys, Constipation, Lazy Liver and General Run-down Conditions.

Are you one of the many thousands of people who can't eat a good meal because of gas and indigestion? Can't work because of backache due to weak kidneys and have that tired rundown feeling? If so then such suffering people will now find—in SYSTONE—a REAL measure of RELIEF. This medicine contains [illegible] juices from 12 of Nature's finest medicinal plants and—taken shortly before meals—mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles and permitting the kidneys and liver to function properly. It often acts within 10 minutes to stop acid rising, bloat and belching and will bring out distressing gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose) which may have [illegible] contemporary your blood and inner-organs.

Systone aids Nature to clear out oxic poisons and other impure substances due to fermentation and constipation. Such impurities often form a coating on the lining of the stomach, thus causing stomach "trouble." Cleansing out these impure substances permits freer flow of the digestive juices, makes the digestive organs sweet and clean and usually gives complete relief from shortness of breath, lump in stomach and dyspepsia. Likewise, it has a Great Action on the kidneys and liver, thus cleansing and improving the system in general.

Due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Systone is reasonable. In fact, you can actually take this Amazing Formula—with its 12 Natural Ingredients—for just a few cents per day. So don't hesitate. Get Systone—NOW—and start taking it.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED AT HOME OF JOHN S. RYLE

On Sunday, Dec. 21, a large number of relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Ryle with well filled baskets to help him celebrate his birthday.

At the noon hour the table was laden with all the good things of the season which was heartily enjoyed by all.

The occasion was a complete surprise to Mr. Ryle as the guests had arrived before he realized what was taking place.

The birthday cake was beautifully decorated and was furnished by his mother, Mrs. Anna Ryle.

Those present were Mrs. Anna Ryle, Herman Ryle and daughter, Anna Marie, Dr. and Mrs. K. W. Ryle and two sons Leland and Max Edwin, Mrs. Mamie Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Lavine Stephens and daughter Gladys Mae, E. L. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ryle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ryle, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Stephens and two children Patsy and Ronald Farrell, Kathryn Acra and the Ryle children, Vincent, Londalea and John Wesley.

All left at a late hour wishing him many more happy birthdays.

FLORENCE METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Wednesday, Dec. 17th was a busy day at the Florence Methodist Church. In the morning the W. S. C. S. had their mission study course, followed by luncheon in the basement. In the afternoon the usual Big Sister party was held and many were surprised when the identity of their Big Sister was revealed.

In the evening, the adult classes held their monthly meeting. After the business session and an interesting program, the pastor and his wife were "showered" with all kinds of pantry supplies and other Christmas gifts.

Rev. Mosley is slowly recovering from a recent car accident, and will be able to resume his work in January.

Sportsmen Will Hold Meeting Tonight

The Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association will hold their regular monthly meeting at the club house, Burlington-Idlewild Road, tonight, (Thursday) at 7:30 p. m.

New officers elected at the last regular session will have charge of the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

All members and prospective members are urged to attend this meeting.

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

The regular meeting of the Burlington Homemakers was held on Tuesday, January 6th, instead of Thursday, January 1st.

On Friday night, Dec. 19th the Burlington Homemakers entertained with a Christmas Party. There were 23 present. The program chairman, Mrs. Hensley had planned and arranged for a real merry time.

The story of the writing of the song "Silent Night" was told by Mrs. M. A. Yelton, after which the group sang the song. Then, Mrs. Moore in the candlelight told one of her delightful Christmas stories. Contests and games were then in line. One especially mirth provoking game was "Cooking Xmas Dinner."

After a lot of fun was had playing the games all were ready for the refreshing punch and cookies which were served by the foods committee, Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Roscoe Akin.

An exchange of gifts was part of the evening's entertainment and the packing of a Xmas basket climaxed the program.

Thanks are due to Mrs. Riley who decorated the room so effectively.

—Publicity Chairman.

Soldiers Entertained With Christmas Party

Monday evening, December 22, Miss Judy Kobman, of Eastern Avenue, gave a Christmas party in honor of Kenneth and Jewell Scott, who are home on a furlough from the Tennessee Military Institute in Sweetwater, Tennessee, visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott, of Florence.

Those present from Erlanger were Edward Barnett, Harry Barnett, Baddy Jones, June Jones, Carol Kuck, Helen Laile and Wanda Souder; from Florence, J. F. Daugherty, Renaker Miller, Jacqualine Rawlings, Patty Rawlings, Janet Helm, Shirley Howard, Rosella Renaker, Betty Jean Lucas and Betty Moss; and Bobby Knodel, of Cincinnati.

MORE FOOD PRODUCED BY NEGRO FAMILIES

Negro families in Barren and Warren counties, cooperating with John H. Finch, Negro county farm agent, made outstanding records in producing more of their living from their farms. A survey revealed improvement in gardens, crops, livestock, dairying, canning, potato growing and other production. The agent gave the following report as typical:

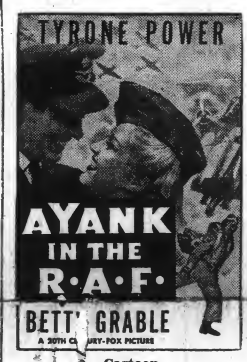
Joseph L. Duncan owns a farm of 38 acres, three head of workstock, two cows that provide a year-round supply of milk and other dairy products for his family of five, and a sow that furnishes the home meat supply and some hogs to sell. He grew two and a tenth acres of tobacco, three acres of wheat, an acre of sorghum for molasses, and enough grain and hay for his stock. An acre garden usually produces all the vegetables the family needs for the year.

The agent lists foods canned by the Duncan family, vegetables and fruits stored; flour, meal, molasses and other products from the farm, and the production of the chickens, turkeys and hogs.

FLORENCE HOMEMAKERS

The Christmas party of the Florence Homemakers held Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 16th in the basement of the M. E. Church was enjoyed very much. Though there were only 16 present, we had a splendid time playing games, singing Christmas carols and exchanging gifts. The gifts were put in a bag and each one reached in and drew out a package.

The tables were beautifully decorated and the favors were candlesticks made of gum drops with a lifesaver inserted for a handle. When we sat down at the tables, the little candles were lighted and burned while we were eating. We had plum pudding and fruit sauce and coffee. The lighted Christmas tree added to the festive scene.



The regular meeting was held at the Town Hall on Friday, Dec. 19 and a busy day it was. Thirty-one partook of the delicious dinner and we had two visitors whom we believe will become members in the near future. The Florence Homemakers' Club is very much alive.

Walton Soldier Safe In Hawaii

Pvt. Therman Lee Wolfe, son of Charles Wolfe of Route 2, Walton, is well and safe at Hickam Field, Hawaii, according to an airmail letter received from him Sunday, Dec. 28th by his father.

Pvt. Wolfe is a member of the 72d Bombardment Squadron. No word had been received from him from November until Sunday's letter.

Vernon Pope Sells Twenty-Acre Tract

Vernon Pope sold 20 acres of unimproved land on Camp Ernst Road to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Halbauer, of Bellevue, Campbell County, last week. The purchasers plan to build a summer home on this tract of land.

Wm. McGlasson purchased 151½ acres of land in the Bullittsville neighborhood from Haynes E. Bruce, several days ago, and will move to his new home as soon as he is able to give possession of his 420-acre farm, recently sold in the Big Bone section.

A. B. Renaker negotiated the sale of these two farms.

MERCER COUNTY LEAF CROP WORTH MILLION

In an interview published in the Harrodsburg Herald, County Agent Curtis Park says that burley tobacco brings a million dollars annually to the farmers of Mercer county. This includes the agricultural conservation program payments.

The 1940 crop of 4,543 acres, which made one of the biggest yields on record, was produced on 1,406 farms and totaled 5,524,288 pounds, or an average yield of 1,216 pounds to the acre. Mercer county farmers received $42,618 in conservation payments in 1940.

The 1941 Mercer county crop of 4,523 acres will produce about four million pounds, it is estimated. The government conservation payments will be about $34,375. The quality of the 1941 crop is superior to the 1940 crop. Especially is this true of crops harvested before the fall rains started.

Says Mr. Park: "Mercer county farmers as a whole are doing a fine job in the production and handling of this well-adapted cash crop."

The people of the conquered nations of Europe have a good idea of what Hitler's new order means.

WE'RE ALL DEFENSE WORKERS

SUCCESS in our war effort means that every citizen must do his job well—whether he be selectee, farmer, business man, factory worker or housewife. We're all part of a great army of producers upon whose efforts victory depends.

As suppliers of a service essential to production, your electric company realizes its responsibilities in the defense picture. This is a war in which electric power ranks in importance with man power, not only because it speeds the output of vital war materials in industry, but because it releases the time and energy of individuals for other important defense activities. Now, more than ever before, it is our No. 1 job to keep an ample supply of electricity flowing uninterruptedly to the industries, farms, homes, schools and business houses in the territory we serve.

We are ready for the task at hand. Because continuous service is a tradition of the utility business, we have remained in a constant state of preparedness. Our men have been trained to act quickly in an emergency. Our equipment has been maintained in first class operating condition. Our power facilities have been planned with an eye to future demands so that, barring unanticipated requirements, our present standard of service can be maintained with a minimum use of vital materials needed for national defense.

We are proud to be a part of the nation's great army of defense workers. We have enlisted for the duration and stand shoulder to shoulder with other citizens in the communities we serve in working for final victory.

Gayety Theater News

SATURDAY

After ten years of hard work, self sacrifice and patience, Regis Toomey finally has attained matrimonial bliss on the screen.

Moreover, his devoted wife is Mona Maris, Argentine importation, who usually specializes in siren roles.

In the past Regis nearly always has been a sympathetic actor. Invariably his characterizations resulted in the majority of an audience having a good cry. He has met a heroic death many times on the screen but death takes a holiday in Warner Bros. "Law Of The Tropics" in which he enacts a jovial, contented husband and rubber planter. The picture will be shown at the Gayety.

Regis was teased by romance in "Meet John Doe." A wife stood next to him in a six minute scene but he only spoke a few words to her. Five of the six minutes he spent delivering an oration to Gary Cooper.

"This is a new acting experience for me," said Toomey. "I almost feel like a newlywed. I'm not even injured in this picture."

* * *

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

It is one of Hollywood's ironies that the No. 1 gangster of the screen is in private life the most active leader in civic, charitable and patriotic affairs.

Edward Arnold, whose benign countenance can and does become menacing on the screen, is probably the busiest man in Hollywood. Currently the overlord of gangsters in "Unholy Partners, with Edward G. Robinson and Loraine Day, Arnold's engagement book is more crowded than that of the average business executive.

He is president of the Screen Actors' Guild and heads the Hollywood activities of the United Service Organizations to which Robinson recently contributed a large sum. In addition, Arnold is a member of the national and Los Angeles boards of the American Federation of Radio Artists and he is an active member of the Los Angeles division of the National Defense Committee headed by Nelson Rockefeller.

CONSERVE CLOTHING DURING WARTIME

"With many kinds of clothing and textiles becoming limited because of the national defense program, there is need today for taking good care of clothing on hand" says the United States Department of Agriculture.

"First step in taking care of clothing intelligently is knowing what the fabric is made of," says Ruth O'Brien, home economist. "For methods of cleaning, pressing, removing spots, and storing vary according to the fibers in a garment.

"It will help also in taking intelligent care of clothing if you know whether the color in a material is fast to light and to washing, whether and how much the garment is likely to shrink, and what special finishes, if any, have been applied to the material. Find out what these points are when you buy—from labels, clerks, and store buyers."

The right way to wash wool is to use warm, soft water and mild soap. Squeeze suds through cloth—don't rub. Dry in a warm place, but not near a fire or in direct sunlight. Stretch knit garments into shape while they are damp and lay them out flat to dry. Press other wool garments while they are still damp with a medium-hot iron and a pressing cloth.

Rough handling while it is wet, harsh soap, sudden extremes of temperature in washing water or drying cause a wool garment to become boardy. The little scales on the surface of the wool fibers lock into each other. This locking or "felting" results in shrinkage about which you can do practically nothing. For if you try to stretch the garment back into shape, the fibers break into short pieces, soon work out, and weaken the cloth.

For washable rayons, use heavy lukewarm suds of neutral soaps. Do not rub, but handle them with particular care while they are wet. Rinse in water the same temperature of the wash water. Iron with a moderately warm iron. For acetate rayons, keep the temperature even lower. It's a good idea to try the iron first on the back part of a hem or a seam to make sure it's not so hot it will melt the rayon.

The sensible way to clean most cottons is to wash them. Colored cottons need to be colorfast both to washing and to light if they are to be satisfactory for long. And they should not shrink more than 2 percent in order to retain the fit of the garment after washing. Look for definite facts about both points when you buy.

Textile experts say there's nothing to the old custom of soaking materials in a solution of salt and water to "set" the color. It doesn't work.

KENTUCKY LAGS IN NATIONAL TRUCK AND BUS INVENTORY

A second mailing of truck and bus questionnaires is now being made by William W. Blanton, Kentucky Chairman of the Highway Traffic Advisory Committee to the War Department to 20,000 truck and 500 bus owners in Kentucky who have not yet made their reports in the National Defense truck and bus inventory. Returns have been received from only about 68 per cent of the truck and bus owners in the State, while in several states 90 percent of the owners have made returns.

The inventory is being made at the request of the War Department and the National Defense Advisory Commission. Complete returns are necessary so that this country can make detailed plans for adequate transportation in any emergency, the Chairman explained.

Every additional day of delay in receiving final returns from truck and bus owners is costly, he added, because a special office force is maintained to check all questionnaire cards for completeness and to prepare them for shipment to a central tabulating office of the WPA for listing according to capacity classes, body types, location by regions, and other features.

"Our experience with transportation in the first World War should be enough to demonstrate the necessity for detailed planning now," the Chairman said. "England's experience with transportation in this war should stir us into action.

"When the war began, England restricted the manufacture of trucks and truck parts. Within about a year, her transportation facilities were badly congested. She then had to do in the midst of an emergency what we must do before any emergency strikes—work out plans for trans-transportation pools.

Many of our truck and bus owners have apparently overlooked the first questionnaire cards they received. I urge them now to fill out immediately the duplicate cards we are sending as soon as they are received, and mail them back to us at once. It is the patriotic duty of each truck and bus owner to help defend America in every way possible. This is their opportunity to make an important contribution to the national defense program."

RATIONS FOR EWES LISTED BY COLLEGE

Short pasture due to drouth has brought a feeding problem to some Kentucky sheep raisers. An extension circular of the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics lists several rations to supplement grazing. Each includes 2 pounds of red clover, alfalfa, lespedeza or other legume hay per ewe per day, and a half-pound of one of the following grain mixtures: 6 parts of corn, 3 parts of oats, 2 parts of bran and one part of linseed oil meal; 3 parts of oats, 2 parts of corn and one part of linseed oil meal; 6 parts of corn, 2 parts of bran and one part of linseed oil meal; 4 parts of corn and one part of linseed oil meal; 2 parts of oats and one part of corn; equal parts of corn, oats and bran. No grinding is necessary for ewes.

Saving of lespedeza seed in Muhlenberg county has been doubled, a survey showed.

Noted Speakers Will Be Heard On Farm Program

Several thousands farmers are expected to hear Edward A. O'Neal of Chicago, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Friday, speak on "Agriculture's Responsibility in the War" at the annual convention of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation that is to be held January 14, 15 and 16 at the Brown hotel, Louisville.

Senator Alben W. Barkley, majority leader of the United States Senate, is scheduled to speak Thursday. He will come directly from Washington and will deliver an address on the war situation and the important part farmers must play in bringing victory to the Democracies.

The banquet speaker Thursday night will be V. B. Hamilton, of Des Moines, Executive Secretary of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Hamilton has guided the Iowa Farm Bureau to a state-wide membership of more than 45,000 for 1941, and when the Iowa Farm Bureau Auto Insurance Company was organized about four years ago, more than 10,000 policies were sold the first year.

Mrs. Roy C. F. Weagley of Hagerstown, Maryland, vice president, Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau, will bring "Greetings from Maryland" to the Ladies Dinner Wednesday night, and will appear on the program again Thursday afternoon.

Kentucky's Commissioner of Revenue, H. Clyde Reeves of Frankfort, will have a message on "Property Tax Administration." Stuart Brabant of Elkton, county agent in Todd and president of the Kentucky County Agents Association, has chosen the subject, "Between Friends." J. Dan Baldwin of Frankfort, director of marketing, State Department of Agriculture, will discuss "Improving Kentucky's Marketing System."

Using Kentucky's motto, "United We Stand, Divided We Fall," as his subject, Raymond Murphy of Stamping Ground, secretary of the Scott County Farm Bureau, will bring to the audience some of his "left handed back woods Farm Bureau philosophy."

Representing Kentucky in the public speaking contest, sponsored by the Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Mrs. Tom Dulin, Jr., of Lexington, secretary of the Fayette County Farm Bureau, will speak on the subject "Education in the Home for Civic Responsibility." Mrs. Dulin won the southern regional contest held December 7 in Chicago.

Major Charles S. Robinson of Fort Hayes, Ohio, public relations officer for the Corp Area Quartermaster, will discuss, "The Army and the Farmer. Sergeant Lee Estes will present a Safety Show, and Lieutenant G. W. "Biff" Carr will be in charge of a safety exhibit at the Convention. The safety program is under the auspices of the Kentucky Highway Patrol. Roscoe Stone of Hickman, will open the speaking program Thursday morning with a message from the president.

The opening session of the Convention on Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to an open discussion of the legislative policy of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

A panel discussion on a "County-wide Membership Drive" will be held at the honorary dinner for county agents, vocational agriculcounty agents, vocational agricultural teachers, and Farm Bureau insurance agents, on Wednesday night.

The membership in the Kentucky Farm Bureau for 1941 reached an all-time high of more than 15,000 which is an increase of about 40 percent over the previous year, along with the organization extending into five additional counties.

As the united farmers in Kentucky hold their annual meeting this year they must meet the greatest challenge that was ever faced. It is a challenge for our very way of life, a challenge to all of the institutions of democracy which have made this the greatest nation in the world.

In our all-out effort for mobilization, food is just as important as munitions, as President O'Neal will point out from the national viewpoint. This places a grave responsibility on the farmers and they will meet that responsibility fully and completely. Farmers fully realize that food is a weapon of war and an instrument of peace. President O'Neal will discuss the work he does in Washington in solidifying all farm forces to present a united front for the producers of food as the first line of defense for these United States. For present and post-war conditions, an economic balance must be maintained.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL BE GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO SHARE IN AXIS DEFEAT

Washington, D. C.—America's 25,000,000 school children will be given an unprecedented opportunity to play a vital part in the defeat of Axis aggression through the Defense Savings Program, under plans announced by the Treasury Department.

The school program of the Defense Savings Staff will place particular emphasis upon the educational opportunity which Defense Savings afford. Through the operation of Defense Savings Stamp Booths by school children, the formation of student "information squads" to explain the aims of national defense, and through the cooperation of Parent-Teachers Associations, this Program will enable parents, teachers and children to translate materials of the school room into tangible activity in behalf of a great cause.

A detailed outline setting forth various ways by which children can cooperate is contained in a new bulletin, "Sharing America," now being distributed to all educational institutions. Prepared by the Treasury Department in consultation with the United States Office of Education, the bulletin already is receiving enthusiastic comment from educators.

The basic theme of the educational program is to teach children why they are being asked to buy Defense Savings Stamps through incorporating Defense Savings philosophy into classroom instruction. The bulletin, "Sharing America," is intended to help teachers and others to introduce the subject in a truly educational manner.

"Sharing America," said D. John W. Studebaker, U. S. Commissioner of Education, "is certain to find favor with school officials and teachers who are eager to do everything they can to help America win the war. The program as outlined in this publication, is educationally sound, and offers to every child in the United States an opportunity to participate in an important way in the defense of his country."

FOOD AND DEFENSE TALKS PLANNED FOR FARM, HOME MEETING

Defense through good health will be one of the main subjects of discussion at the women's sessions of the annual Farm and Home Convention scheduled to be held at the University of Kentucky January 27-30.

Jack Nisbet of the American Jersey Cattle Club will speak on the place of milk in the diet; Miss Mary Barber, food consultant of the War Department at Washington, will tell how Uncle Sam feeds his soldiers, and Dr. Helen Mitchell, of the Federal Security Agency, Washington, is on the program to discuss "Good Nutrition for the Nation." Then will follow discussions of foods, their production, purchase and preparation.

General sessions for farmers will be held two days, and the other two days devoted to group livestock raising, dairying, poultry keeping, marketing, soils and crops, fruit growing, seed improvement, agricultural engineering, beekeeping and the country church.

Subjects to be discussed at the general sessions include farm management and national defense, agriculture and the war, the agricultural outlook, preventing post war depression, agriculture in Latin America, and making democracy work.

A group of master farmers will be recognized during the convention.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Pendleton county farmers are cooperating in the purchase of lime and phosphate spreaders.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE MEETING SCHEDULED

FARMERS FAVOR DISTRICT 248 TO 0

IN VOTING ON SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT—FIVE SUPERVISORS TO HAVE CHARGE OF PROGRAM.

The Soil Conservation District Referendum held in Boone County on last Saturday, January 10th, carried 248 to 0 or 100 percent, according to C. Liston Hempfling, County Polling Superintendent. Voting polls were at five community centers: Burlington, Hebron, New Haven, Walton and Hamilton.

The results of the community balloting was as follows:

Burlington, 32 favor, 0 against.
Hebron, 102 favor, 0 against.
New Haven, 22 favor, 0 against.
Walton, 85 favor, 0 against.
Hamilton, 7 favor, 0 against.

The formation of a Soil Conservation District sets up a county government body under the direction of five supervisors; two of which are appointed by the State Soil Conservation Committee and three who are elected by the land owners of the county. This board of supervisors work out a county soil conservation program that is designed to best suit the soil conservation needs of the county. The district in turn calls on any or all of the various agricultural agencies to assist in carrying out this program. The election of supervisors should be announced in the near future.

Mr. Hempfling, county polling superintendent, wishes to thank all community polling offices who donated their time and others who helped in the referendum. The community polling officers serving in the Saturday referendum were:

Burlington: H. E. White, L. D. Renneckar, Lillard Scott and Jas. G. Smith.

Hebron—Edgar S. Graves, Chas. Hempfling, Virgil Campbell and J. Howard Huey.

Hamilton—Hugh Stephens, William Presser, R. E. Kirtley and Lee R. McNeely.

Walton—B. W. Franks, J. G. Pennington, Albert Parker and Grover C. Ransom.

New Haven—Pat J. Maddin, Lassing Huey, James W. Huey and Melvin Townsend.

The Red Cross Unit of the Burlington precinct is badly in need of sewing machines. Anyone having a machine which can be used for this work, please notify Mrs. Garnett Tolin.

FARM PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

AT LOCAL COMMUNITY MEETINGS—MUCH PROGRESS MADE THROUGH PLANNED PROGRAMS IN PAST.

Boone County farmers in ten community centers are planning their local community farm improvement programs for 1942, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The programs are planned with the understanding that farmers know their local problems better than any other group and that many of these problems can best be solved through the friendly and cooperatively planning by farmers themselves as to the goals to be accomplished.

Much agricultural progress has been made through the sound improvement programs planned and carried out in the past. The schedule of community meetings held and to be held is as follows:

New Haven, Saturday, Jan. 10.
Hebron, January 13.
Grant School, Wednesday, January 14th, 7:30 p. m. EST.
Walton Town Hall, Thursday, Jan. 15, 7:30 p. m.
Burlington, County Agent's office, Saturday, Jan. 17, 7:30 p. m.
Petersburg School, Tuesday, Jan. 20, 8:00 p. m. EST.
Constance School, Wednesday, January 21, 9:00 a. m.
Hamilton School, Friday, January 23, 2:00 p. m. EST.
Verona Bank, Saturday, January 24, 1:15 p. m. EST.
Florence School, Monday, Jan. 26, 7:30 p. m.

All farmers interested in helping plan their local program are invited to attend.

Record Weed Sale Reported By Rogers Aylor And Arrasmith

The record of the season for the sale of burley was reported Tuesday by Walton Rogers of Grant, who with Wayne Arrasmith, sold 1848 pounds of tobacco on the Carrollton market Tuesday for an average of $41.98 for the complete crop.

The entire crop was graded into only six baskets, two of them selling for 44c, two for 42, one at 41c and has low basket for 35c. The crop brought $775.00 before expenses were deducted.

Rogers and Arrasmith produced the tobacco on the farm of Ezra Aylor, East Bend. The first part of their crop was sold before the holidays for an average of $30.30 for 2727 pounds. Mr. Rogers stated that his best tobacco was sold last, however, it was not classified, but sold just as it came from the bulk.

Mrs. W. Keene Souther, who underwent an operation last Tuesday a week at the Deaconness hospital, is convalescing nicely at this writing.

FARM MACHINERY SCHOOL PLANNED

PURPOSE OF SCHOOL WILL BE TO DISCUSS PROBELMS RELATING TO NEW MACHINERY AND REPAIRING.

Boone County is planning to have a farm machinery school in the near future, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The purpose of this school will be to discuss problems relating to new machinery purchases and to assist farmers in repairing and making greatest possible use of old machinery.

It is understood there will be a marked shortage of new machinery available and war needs will require all possible materials. Farmers are urged now to go over all old machinery and put it in first class working condition. Check all new parts that will be needed and order them from your machinery dealer and order NOW. Don't wait. Increased production of needed food products demands use of all available machinery. New parts may not be available later in the year.

If you have surplus machinery, make a list of kinds, state of repairs, price, etc., and mail this report to the county agent's office or to your machinery dealer. Some one before the year is over will probably need this machinery badly.

We, as farm people have a big job in the present war. Our job—the job assigned to us is to produce abundantly food for Freedom. "Food for Freedom" is the slogan of agriculture. We will do this job better if we balance up, organize and develop our agricultural program with the understanding of present work in preparation for future needs.

Miss Jane E. Bresser

Miss Jane Ellen Bresser, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bresser, Mt. Zion Road, Boone County, died Wednesday at her home after a long illness.

She was a member of the Young Ladies' Society of St. Paul Church, Florence. She was a former resident of Kenton county.

Besides her parents, she leaves a sister, Mary Bresser, and three brothers, Glenn, Donald and James Bresser all at home, and a host of other relatives.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at St. Pauls Church, Florence, at 8:30 a. m., following prayer services from the residences. Burial was in St. Mary cemetery.

Tharp and Stith, Florence funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. W. T. Carpenter has returned home from the hospital, and is somewhat improved. Her many friends here wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Ettie Weaver is spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weaver and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Rouse

Union Couple Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Rouse who reside near Union, Ky., were married fifty years December 16, 1941. The ceremony was performed 50 years ago by the Rev. Tadlock at the Richwood parsonage.

They have been residents of Boone County all their married life. They have one daughter, Mrs. O. E. Senour, wife of Dr. O. E. Senour, of Erlanger, Ky., and one granddaughter Geraldine Senour.

Relatives and friends gathered at their home on the evening of their anniversary. They received many beautiful and useful presents. Lunch was served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Clay Byland, Mrs. Alice Byland, Miss Jean Byland, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dollar, Mrs. Luella Starr, Miss Lauretta Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown and daughter, Miss Dorothy Brown Miss Geraldine Senour, Donald Dudderar and Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Senour.

James M. Conner

James M. Conner, age 90 years, beloved husband of America Conner (nee Clore) passed away at his home at 2928 Cormany Avenue, Cincinnati, on Monday, January 12, 1942.

Services were conducted Wednesday morning at 10 a. m. from the home. Burial was in Burlington cemetery.

Mr. Conner was a brother of the late C. C. Conner, co-founder of this newspaper in 1875 and was a former resident of this county.

Further details concerning Mr. Conner were not available at this late writing. However, a complete story will be carried in our next issue.

John Beach

John Beach, age 76 years, passed away in the State hospital, Lagrange, Ky., on January 7th. The remains were brought to Chambers & Grubbs Funeral Home for preparation.

Funeral services were conducted at the chapel of the funeral home Friday, January 9, with Rev. C. J. Alford officiating, assisted by Rev. D. E. Bedinger, in the presence of his friends, neighbors and relatives. Burial was in Walton cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, two grandchildren, one brother and one sister.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of funeral arrangements.

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE MOVED TO NEW LOCATION

The People's Shoe Store moved this week in to its new store at 814-816 Madison Avenue, Covington, just a few doors north of its former location.

The new store is much larger than the old one, as constantly increasing business required considerable more space. The store is modern in every respect having new equipment, including late style handsome chairs. Abundant flourescent lighting is utilized and two extra large attractive display windows have been provided.

The old staff of foot comfort specialists, who have proved very popular with Boone County residents, have been retained. N. Tulch heads the staff, and is manager of the store, as formerly.

CAMPAIGN GAINS HEADWAY IN CO.

IN INFANTILE PARALYSIS DRIVE—DANCE BENEFITS TO BE CONTRIBUTED, ACCORDING TO CHAIRMAN.

Plans have been completed for the 1942 campaign in Boone County to raise funds to continue the fight against Infantile Paralysis in the State and in the Nation.

In this County, the campaign will be directed by J. P. Brothers whose appointment as Boone County Chairman has been announced by James B. Hill, State Chairman for the Kentucky Committee to celebrate the President's Birthday for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

As in former years, the campaign will culminate with the celebration of the President's sixtieth birthday on January 30th.

On the sixtieth birthday of our President and Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces, during this great crisis, let's send him a message of cheer by contributing in some way to the Infantile Paralysis campaign of Boone County.

A benefit dance will be held at Zimmer's Gardens, Florence on January 22. Music will be furnished by Ed Rouse and his Hilltop Wildcats, and featuring Boone County champion square dancers. Admission will be 25c person. Proceeds from this dance will be donated to the campaign fund.

Chairman Brothers made the following statement: "I wish to thank the school faculty of Boone County for their cooperation thru the courtesy of Supt. Norris. I also wish to thank everyone for their help and cooperation in this year's drive."

The March of Dime cards will be mailed within the next few days, and your contribution will be greatly appreciated.

New Haven Homemakers Raise $51 00 Toward War Relief Fund

Mrs. Mattie Griffith, citizenship chairman of the New Haven Homemakers' Club started the ball rolling by having her club the first in the county to make an effort to raise funds for the $2000.00 war relief fund Boone County is asked to raise.

On the evening of December 30, New Haven Club had an oyster supper at the Richwood Community House. A steady stream of guests arrived, declaring the soup, sandwiches and pies of the very best. Everyone worked hard and faithfully, and seemed to feel she was beginning to do "her bit."

The final total of the money raised was fifty-one dollars. Homemaker Clubs of every other community—here is your challenge

C. R. Reading

C. R. Reading, 89 years old, husband of Ollie Scott Reading, passed away at his home, Washington, D. C., January 5th.

His remains were shipped to Walton in care of Scott Chambers and then conveyed to Highland cemetery for burial.

Brief services were conducted at the grave by Bro. C. J. Alford, in the presence of a few of his loved ones.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge.

Pvt. William Walton Returns To Camp After 10-Day Visit

Pvt. William R. Walton returned to Fort Jackson, South Carolinia, January 10th, after spending a ten-day furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. C. S. Feldhaus and other relatives in Boone County.

Miss Mary Kenney a teacher in the local school and Mr. Gordon Riley of Independence were married at Calvary Baptist Church, Latonia, by Rev. Carl Mathews on December 20. They are residing in Burlington. We take this opportunity of wishing them much happiness.

Pvt. Shelton L. Love

Pvt. Shelton L. Love Stationed In Hawaii

Pvt. Shelton L. Love, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Love, Union, formerly stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., has recently been sent to Honolulu, Hawaii.

In the first letter to be received by his parents since the beginning of the war, he states that he is feeling fine and that Hawaii is a beautiful place.

Friends and relatives desiring to write him should address all mail to Pvt. Shelton L. Love, Serial No. 35122512, Field Artillery, Schofield Barracks, T. H.

Let us not forget our boys in the army. They will have to fight that we may live in freedom and security.

Twelve Dogs Killed Near Limaburg Monday

A small dog owned by A. J. Ogden, Limaburg, was reported infected with rabies Monday, and came in contact with twelve other dogs in that community before it was finally killed.

Although it was not definitely known whether the dog caused any other damage, it was thought that it only fought with other dogs. Twelve dogs that were seen near the dog at different times have been killed and others have been confined until tests can be made for rabies.

It would be well for all persons living in and around this community to keep a close watch on your pets for the next several days.

Farmers Urged To Attend Farm And Home Convention

All farmers and farm women are urged to attend the State Farm and Home Convention at the College of Agriculture, Lexington, on January 27, 28, 29 and 30th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. A splendid program on various farm and home problems has been planned.

The farm and Home Convention represents the annual State meeting in which outstanding authorities on various farm problems are brought to farm people to discuss those problems expected to have greatest future affect on rural people.

There is usually a large number of Boone County people who attend this meeting. It is usually possible for groups to go together and save on transportation expenses. Those who find they do not have a way to go should contact the county agent's office. Phone Burlington 412.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wallace of 313 Locust St., announce the engagement of their daughter Bette, to Allen Stewart Kenyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kenyon, of Constance, Ky.

Miss Bette, who has been employed in New York City for the past five years is now a valued member of McCann-Erickson, Inc. She graduated from the Clearfield Penn. High School in the class of 1936.

Mr. Kenyon is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and is now engaged in graduate research work at Columbia University in New York City.

No date has been set for the wedding.

COVINGTON CIVILIAN DEFENSE HEAD WILL ADDRESS CITIZENS

Countywide Organization Will Be Formed at Courthouse Monday Night—County Officials Will Lead in Work

Joseph Dotchengall, head of the Civilian Defense Council of Covington, will be the principal speaker at the Burlington courthouse Monday night, at which time plans will be outlined for a countywide Civilization Defense organization in Boone County.

The meeting is set at 7:30 p. m. Monday night, January 19th at the courthouse, and it is urged that all county officials, members of the fiscal court and school board, and heads of all organizations be represented at this organizational meeting. It is also the duty of every resident of the county to make a special effort to attend and offer your services in whatever way you are best suited.

It was known definitely until this week that all of Boone County was to be included in the Greater Cincinnati blackout area, and that all communities within a radius of 25 miles of Cincinnati would be in the blackout area. This means that Boone Countians are going to actually participate in blackout drills of the Cincinnati area and plans must be perfected to quickly put into force a complete blackout, if necessary.

A blackout itself, does not conceal the presence of cities, but is effective in depriving enemy airmen of all possible reference points, which might aid them in making attacks on military posts, utilities, transportation facilities and essential industries. In Boone County it will be very necessary that both highways U. S. 42 and 25 be completely blacked out, as lights on these highways would serve as definite reference points leading to Cincinnati and Covington.

A countywide organization is therefore necessary and every person in the county is urged to attend this meeting Monday night. It is generally believed that it will not be necessary for a rural community to have a lot of meetings, but Mr. Dotchengall is very familiar with Civilian Defense and will be able to outline just what will be expected from the rural communities during modern war times.

All ministers in the county are taking an active part in defense work, and will be asked to announce the meeting on Monday from their pulpits on Sunday, Jan. 18th.

DO YOUR PART — See that everyone in your community is notified. Let's show our neighbors that Boone Countians will come up with their part in this—OUR COMMON CAUSE.

WALTON, HEBRON FIVES, WINNERS

OVER SIMON KENTON, FLORENCE TEAMS BY NARROW MARGIN — OTHER COUNTY FIVES IDLE.

The Walton-Verona Bearcats edged past the Simon-Kenton quintet, 38-36, on the Independence floor Friday night, in a game which saw the score deadlocked at the end of every quarter except the final one. The score stood 12-12, 17-17, 26-26 at the end of the first three respective sessions, and Pennington dropped in a field goal to break a 36-36 tie with 20 seconds of play left.

Groger lead the winner's offense, with 12 points, while Casey chalked up 13 for Simon Kenton. The Walton-Verona Kittens chalked up a 34-22 win in the preliminary.

The Bearcats gave the Dixie Heights Colonels a 38-27 lacing at Walton Tuesday night, and avenged a defeat (their only loss in eleven starts) handed them by the Dixie team earlier in the season. The winners were pressed hard for three quarters, holding a 13-10 lead at the halfway mark, 27-19 at the end of the third quarter.

Pennington took the scoring honors as he racked up 12 points for the Bearcats, while Simpson's defensive playing added to their cause. Doster was high for Dixie with nine. The Walton-Verona reserve squad overcome a 10-point deficit in the third quarter to win 38-15, and gave the crowd their thrill of the evening.

Overcoming a first-quarter 6-3 deficit, the Hebron Cardinals won over the Florence Knights, 28-20, at Florence Friday night. The score read 10-9 at the half, 21-18 at the end of the three-quarter mark.

Buckler set the scoring pace as he totalled eight markers for the Cardinals; Carpenter and R. Cason tied with five each for Florence.

The Hebron Birdies trounced the Juniors, 38-6, in a tussle of reserve squads.

This Week's Schedule

Friday Night—Florence at Walton; Hebron at Warsaw; Cold Springs at Burlington.

Saturday Night—Silver Grove at Hebron.

Local Boy Graduates From U. S. Air Corps

Pvt. Russell Loomis, who has been spending the past several days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bert Loomis, of Burlington, returned to Camp Shelby, Miss., where he is stationed.

FAIR GROUNDS IMPROVEMENT

WILL BE AIDED BY SPECIALISTS FROM STATE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE—GROUNDS TO BE LANDSCAPED.

Earl Welch, Agricultural Engineer, and Prof. N. R. Elliott, Landscape Architect, of the College of Agriculture, will assist the Boone County Fair Grounds Committee in blue printing long time plans for grounds improvement, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Plans are being developed for landscaping the grounds, construction of a large lake and location of permanent buildings. It is understood that it may be many years before some of the blue printed plans can be developed. The plans will be developed part by part as fast as sufficient funds are available.

Pledges for the purchase of the grounds are being paid in daily. However, John Conner, Hebron, treasurer of the 4-H and Utopia Council and Fair Grounds Purchasing Committee, reports several hundred dollars in pledges must be paid in immediately, if the final payment on the grounds is to be made by Thursday of this week. All pledgees who have not paid are urged to do so immediately. The committee is also glad to accept new pledges that will be used to erect permanent buildings.

The Red Cross Unit of the Burlington precinct is badly in need of sewing machines. Anyone having a machine which can be used for this work, please notify Mrs. Garnett Tolin.

JUNK!

The United Press relays a story from San Francisco, telling of the arrival of men wounded at Pearl Harbor, who report that one skipper, while peppering away at the Japs, told his men to "throw spuds at the Japs."

This incident may make a newspaper story but we doubt if it occurred. We can hardly imagine any officer, with intelligence enough to command any size ship, telling his men to throw potatoes at Japanese planes flying at 200 miles an hour and hundreds of feet in the air.

HITLER'S STRATEGY

A lot of nonsense has been written about Adolf Hitler's Supreme strategy and it is a good idea to review what he accomplished in 1941.

In June he attacked Russia, violating a pact of friendship and non-aggression, thus arraying against his nation the immense manpower and the surprising industrial organization of the Soviet Union.

In December, he instigated the Japanese attack upon this country and followed it up by declaring war upon the United States.

Thus in one year this Nazi "super-man" added two of the most powerful nations of the earth to the ranks of his enemies.

Some strategy!

THE IRISH ARE NEUTRAL

Eamon de Valera, the Prime Minister of Eire, says that his country will remain neutral in the present world conflict.

The people of Southern Ireland have the right to decide their course during the present war. If they choose to stand aloof from the United States and Great Britain, while these nations are engaged in a battle to determine the safety and security of Ireland, as well as of themselves, it is within the rights of the Irish.

Should Eire remain neutral, making no difference between the contending forces, it will be time to forget some of the twaddle that is industriously circulated in this country about the Irish, and their friendship for the United States.

FREEDOM AND WAR

"If we win the war and lose our freedom in the process," says President James Bryant Conant, of Harvard University, "we shall have fought in vain."

There is no danger that the people of the United States will lose their freedom because they have to meet the stringent requirements of modern warfare. We have never been able to understand the fear, constantly reiterated in certain business and industrial circles that the American way of life will be cast aside during the struggle for existence. Our democracy will emerge as strong as ever and the right of the people to govern themselves will be as certain as ever.

We are somewhat afraid that the scary boys in the intellectual and economic spheres are not thinking clearly and that what they fear in the loss of certain privileges, which, in their minds, have become identified with freedom. For example, they might be interested in a high interest rate on invested capital or in the right to mulch the public out of millions through manipulations and chicanery instead of service.

—o—

THREE MEN WERE WISE

It might be a good idea for the average American to realize that the entire nation was caught napping, along with the Army and Navy, at Pearl Harbor. While a great deal was done during 1941 to convert industry to a war-production basis, the "business-as-usual" philosophy was subscribed to by a great majority of our people.

In this connection, however, it is advisable to call attention to at least three Americans who seemed to be alert to the needs:

The first is Leon Henderson, Price Administrator, who did his best to cut down the output of new automobiles in the interest of arms production.

The second is Walter Reuther, a CIO labor leader in the Detroit area, who proposed that the auto plants be converted to arms manufacturing.

The third, we think, it should be admitted in fairness, was President Roosevelt, who repeatedly warned the people of this country that the world was smaller and that modern warfare could come to the United States.

It should not be overlooked that Mr. Henderson was denounced as a radical by conservative business, financial and industrial interests of the nation, that Mr. Reuther's plan was summarily dismissed by the big-wigs of industry and that the President was constantly berated as a "war-monger."

—o—

AS BAD AS WAR

More than 4,000 Americans were killed in automobile accidents in November and while final figures for 1941 are not yet available, it is probable that an all-time record has been established for traffic deaths.

During the first eleven months of 1941, 35,690 persons were killed in traffic accidents. This is a terrific price to pay for speeding, liquor drinking, love-making and whatever else causes the deaths of so many Americans.

The entire nation was shocked by the death of less than 3,000 persons when the Japanese treacherously attacked Pearl Harbor and yet every month, more than 3,000 people, including women and children, are horribly injured, often suffering agonies, until death mercifully releases them.

It is time for Americans, which means the readers of this article in The Boone County Recorder, to determine to do something to stop traffic deaths. Every individual who drives an automobile can make it a point of honor to observe traffic regulations and a matter of spiritual growth to practice courtesy on the highways.

ISOLATED FROM RUBBER

For approximately twenty years, the people of the United States were persistently advised that the nation was big enough to get along without the rest of the world.

The Japanese offensive in the Far East, however, threatening imports of rubber and tin, has caused us, in less than three weeks, to prohibit the sale of automobiles and rubber tires.

Meanwhile, we read reports of 15,000,000 rubber seeds planted in Latin America to take care of a possible shortage and of expeditions to tap certain uncultivated forests in Brazil. These reports provide no source of optimism, however, because the Latin American trees will require years before producing and, unless we have been misinformed, the quality of rubber to be secured from the wilds of Brazil is inferior.

HOW BUSINESS DELAYED DEFENSE

Walter Lippmann recently faced "frankly" the fact that the production of the weapons of war is on "an altogether inadequate scale" and came to the conclusion that "the main cause, overshadowing all others combined is the fact that American industry did not abandon 'business as usual' in 1940 nor in 1941, nor has it yet really abandoned 'business as usual.

He cites the figures of Stacy May to show that instead of preparing for war, the United States, in 1941, enjoyed a "record-breaking commercial boom." Retail sales were thirty-four per cent. greater than in 1929. The durable goods industries, which use the same materials needed for war, ran wild even in 1941, with the automobile industry selling more cars than in any year except 1937.

Congress, enjoying its proclivity for investigations, might seek to discover why industry did not cooperate with the Government in 1941. The truth of the matter, we believe, is that industry was reluctant to convert existing plants to the production of armaments of munitions and insisted that the vast defense program be accomplished through the construction of new plants, superimposed upon the existing industrial capacity of the nation.

There is more to the matter than this. Upon occasions, when the Government offered to construct new plants in order to secure the cooperation of industry and management in the production of war material, an argument arose as to the eventual ownership of the new plants. Industry insisted in many instances that the profits on initial war orders be sufficient to pay the cost of the plants and that private industry own the facilities of production after the emergency. The Government contended that, if the plants were constructed at Government expense, they should be leased to industry at a nominal rental with ownership retained by the Government itself.

We do not believe that the leaders of industry were intentionally unpatriotic in their attitude. They did not understand the full extent of the danger confronting the nation and, in accordance with good, American business custom they were anxious to take full advantage of the plight of the Government in order to secure possession and control of new industrial facilities. The policy was not only "business as usual," but also special favors from the Government for business as usual.

AXIS PACT AIMED AT U. S.

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, of Germany, says that the Axis Pact, linking Germany, Italy and Japan, was intended "above all" to keep the United States out of the war.

Americans believe, on the contrary, that the Axis agreement was designed to conquer the United States whenever the three aggressor powers felt that the job could be accomplished.

The proof that the American interpretation is correct occurred at Pearl Harbor on December 7, when Japan, far from trying to keep the United States out of the war, delivered a treacherous attack that made it impossible for the United States to remain at peace.

One of these days a community will possess citizens ready to speak out for right and condemn wrong without branding all those who disagree with them as knaves and sinners.

JOHN THE BAPTIST AND JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 3:1-6, 15-17, 21, 22.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou art my beloved Son; in thee I am well pleased.—Luke 3:22.

"A reed shaken with the wind?" No. "A man clothed in soft raiment?" No. "A prophet? Yea, I say unto you, and more than a prophet. For this is he, of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face. . . . Verily I say unto you, Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist." Such was the testimony of Jesus (Matt. 11:7-11) about the man who in our lesson of today bears his testimony concerning Jesus.

I. John: the Preacher of Repentance (vv. 1-3).

The times in which a man lives will often make or break him. If times are dark and difficult most men submit to the burden of the day without protest or effort. But not so with John. The period in which he lived is graphically brought before us as we consider the names of civil and religious leaders mentioned in verses 1 and 2. Tiberius Caesar, the emperor, was virtual dictator, "talented, ambitious, cruel, licentious, infamous, inhuman" (Van Doren). Pilate was the governor of Judea, who later condemned Jesus to the cross. Herod was a seducer and murderer. Annas and Caiaphas shared the infamy into which the priesthood had fallen.

God needed a man with a flaming message of judgment, and He had him ready out in the wilderness, far from decadent Rome and spiritually dead Jerusalem. Upon this man John came the message, a word from God—"Repent"—which stirred the whole countryside. But he had even a greater mission.

II. John—the Forerunner of Jesus (vv. 4-6).

He humbly identifies himself as the voice in the wilderness prophesied by Isaiah. His was the important duty of preparing the way for the coming of the Lord Jesus.

The picture is that of the preparation for the coming of an oriental monarch. When he "was about to make a journey, a servant was sent before him to prepare the highway. Valleys needed to be filled, hills lowered, crooked places made straight, rough ways made smooth. Thus, before men would be ready to receive Christ, moral obstacles must be removed, men must repent of their sins and turn from them" (Erdman).

Isaiah says that "all flesh shall see the salvation of God," something which God has made possible, but which we have not even yet fully carried out. The gospel is universal in its character—for all mankind. This prophetic word will, of course, have its complete fulfillment when the King comes to reign. Then "they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them" (Jer. 31:34).

III. John—the Follower of Jesus (vv. 15-17).

The humility of the man, his recognition of true greatness in Christ, his willingness to efface self, is seen in the words of these verses and in such other passages as John 1:29-30, where he directed his disciples to Jesus, whom they followed, and John 3:26-30, where in response to the effort to make him jealous of Jesus because his (John's) disciples followed Him, John replied, "He must increase, but I must decrease." He was glad to be the friend of the Bridegroom who rejoiced when the bridegroom came (John 3:29). He declared himself unworthy to loose the latchet of Christ's shoe (Luke 3:16).

The Christian virtue of humility is evil spoken of by a world of force and hatred, but it is still precious in the sight of God, and the ornament par excellence of Christian character. "Be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud and giveth grace to the humble" (I Pet. 5:5).

As he put himself in the background, John put Christ forward as the one whose baptism would not be a material element, water, indicating the inward change of repentance, but would be with Holy Ghost fire, cleansing and transforming life.

However, the Christ who comes as a Saviour to the repentant one, comes also as the flaming fire of judgment upon the impenitent. There is wheat and chaff in the world of men, and the fan of Christ will soon separate the wheat which goes into His eternal garner from the chaff which He will burn with unquenchable fire.

Our God is a God of unfathomable grace, but He is also a God of severest judgment upon those "that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." Read the solemn words of II Thessalonians 1:7-9. It is an awful thing to reject the Saviour, and thus to make Him our Judge.

Most people have an amazingly high opinion of the importance of what they have to say.

A kind reader tells the writer that he reads these paragraphs. Well, that makes two of us.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS ARE ANNOUNCED

The Civil Service Commission has announced its annual Junior Professional Assistant examination, $2,000 a year, for appointment to the junior grade of the following positions: Agricultural Economist, Agronomist, Aquatic Biologist (Physiology), Archivist, Bacteriologist (Foods), Biologist (Wildlife), Chemist, Entomologist, Forester, Geologist, Junior in Household Equipment, Olericulturist, Pomologist, Public Welfare Assistant, Range Conservationist, Soil Scientist, State Department Assistant, and Statistician. A full 4-year college course is required with specialized study in one of the optional subjects. Applications will be accepted from senior or graduate students now in attendance at institutions of recognized standing who show that they expect to complete the required course not later than July 1, 1942. Closing date: February 3, 1942.

Another newly announced annual examination is that for Student Aid, $1,440 a year, in the following subjects: Engineering, Political Science, Public Administration, and Statistics. Applicants must have successfully completed at least 3 years of college study and must have formally indicated at their institution their intention of majoring in the optional subject for which application is made. No applicant may enter the examination who completed the third year prior to May 1939. Applications will be accepted from junior students of accredited colleges who show that they expect to complete their junior college year not later than July 1, 1942. Closing date: February 3, 1942.

Other examinations announced are:

Senior Biological Aid (Injurious Mammal Control), $2,000 a year, Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior. Applicants must have completed a full 4-year high school course or 14 units of high school study; or they must take a written test (additional to that given competitors in the practical subjects). Practical experience with a Government or other authorized organization in the control of injurious mammals, except for the partial substitution of certain college study, is also required. Closing date: February 24, 1942.

Home Economist (any specialized field), $2,600 to $5,600 a year, Department of Agriculture and the Federal Security Agency. A 4-year college course with study in Home Economics or closely related sciences, is required plus experience in the specific field chosen. Graduate study may be substituted for a part of the experience. Applications may be submitted until further notice.

Special Investigator, $3,600 a year, Metropolitan Police Department, District of Columbia. Experience as an investigator in a Government or criminal-investigative agency, or for a large railroad or other large industrial or commercial corporation, is required except for the partial substitution of accredited study in law or special training courses in practical police work or crime detection. The age limits are 25 to 45 years, not waived in any case. Closing date: February 24, 1942.

Department Guard $1,200 a year, for appointment in Washington, D. C., only. Persons who will not accept appointment in Washington should not apply. Applicants must show at least 3 months of experience in such occupations as soldier, sailor, marine, policeman, fireman, guard, or sheriff. Purely honorary positions or those requiring only casual contact with the public will not qualify. Applications may be filed until further notice.

The Student Dietitian examination closing date has been extended to January 31, 1942.

The Coal Mine Inspector examination previously announced has been amended to extend the closing date until further notice, for all grades except the Assistant, which closed December 31, 1941.

Full information as to the requirements for examinations, and application forms may be obtained from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the post office or customhouse in any city which has a post office of the first or second-class, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

RECORDER 1 YEAR $1.50

NEW AIRPLANE MOTOR

Development of a radically different type of airplane motor, more efficient than any now in use, has "progressed to a marked degree and we are confident that the final objective is well within sight with all major problems solved," says a report on University of Kentucky College of Engineering defense activities which Dean James H. Graham has submitted to the University Board of Trustees.

While the details of the new motor design of course were not disclosed, Dean Graham did reveal that the development began with a complete scrapping of a principle of valve construction that had been an accepted practice for two decades, and the making of a fresh start for "a superious solution of the problem."

Although a certain amount of research work had been done elsewhere along the same general lines it has been "within the college, under the supervision of Prof. A. J. Meyer, and especially within the facilities of the Wenner-Gren aeronautical research laboratory," the report said, "that this search and development has been much expedited."

The new motor, since it uses less gasoline, should reduce the amount of fuel a plane will have to carry, thus increasing its weight-carrying capacity and making longer flights posible, the report pointed out.

SPRING TRAINING FOR REDS NOT FAR DISTANT

Cincinnati—While some ball clubs have been busy feeling sorry for their opponents, and some others have been feeling sorry for themselves, the off season has been expending itself and now everybody in baseball finds it's almost time for the start of the 1942 spring training activities.

Spring training always changes a lot of attitudes, for during that period there always blossoms new hopes from all quarters, while those who go to their camps optimistic in advance become doubly so, and the self determined sympathetic understanding of their opponents' problems, pseudo or real, becomes more pronounced.

To those who have directed some of their sympathies in the direction of Cincinnati, there is no desire to refrain from accepting anything that is offered, notwithstanding that the motives might not be philanthropic.

And, so, the Reds are going to listen to those with suggestions about other clubs' business, always having in mind that their sympathizers have an ulterior motive while they go along whistling in the graveyard. Whistlers have been known to be made to change their tunes by the process of men who were pictured as corpses continuing to live and haunt those who did the whistling.

If one could look into a crystal ball and see the future, all would be well. But there are no crystal balls. If there were, the Reds could have looked into one a year ago and foreseen that men who normally were good hitters would not hit, and that as a result, the team would drop to third place.

On the roster of the Reds today are three outfielders who batted .300 or better in 1940, and another who blasted far above that figure in 1938. Mike McCormick, Jimmy Gleeson, and Ernie Koy are the men who slumped in their averages in 1941, and inasmuch as they are still young, it is reasonable to assume that there is a strong possibility that one, two, or maybe all three of them will return to their 1940 form in 1942. The Reds also have Harry Craft, and three very promising rookies in Hank Sauer, Frank Secorcy, and Eddie Lukon. They also have Ival Goodman, who was a whiz-bang until last year.

Nobody will deny that the Reds have a great pitching staff and a fine infield. Their sympathizers concentrate on the outfield. They fail to realize that notwithstanding the series of slumps that overtook all of the gardeners last season, that the Reds still managed to play as well as any team in the league, champion included, from Memorial Day on.

More hitting from the Reds' outfield next year is a safe bet, and this prediction does not come from the spring approach. It comes from a close survey of the records of the players involved, and the law of percentages, which most surely favor the men of the Cincinnati outfield.

Talk is cheap. The Reds have discovered base hits are not. But conditions change, and, perhaps 1942 will see the loose talk of the winter developing into an expensive liability.

Eddie Lukon, who was 21 last August 5, will register for the draft on February 16. Lukon came to the Reds from Knoxville, where he was an outfield sensation. He made a favorable impression in his 24 games with the Reds.

The Reds' second edition of their 1942 roster will be off the presses late in January.

Ival Goodman, who has been a righthanded thrower all his life, says he will attempt to throw left-handed this year.

PLAN BETTER CORN YIELDS

The planning committee in Carlisle county, Kentucky, believes corn yields could be increased from the present average of 30 bushels to 50 bushels to the acre by using only the best land, adding soil amendments, lengthening the rotation and using hybrid seed. Twenty-five percent of the cropland is devoted to corn growing. County Agent John B. Watts reports that 210 farmers used hybrid seed last year, thereby increasing yields 8 to 35 percent.

The Brotherhood will hold their monthly devotional and business meeting at the church on Wednesday evening Jan. 21, at 8:00 p. m. Robert Rouse and Rev. Hauter will lead the devotions. Rev. D. M. Funk of Newport, Ky., will be the guest speaker of the evening.

GIRLS' DIVISION OF FLORENCE 4-H CLUB

The first meeting of our 4-H club for 1942 was called to order Jan. 12. Our new officers are as follows: President, Betty Mullins; vice president, Mary J. Taylor; secretary, Bernice Sebree; song leader, Inez Taylor and Shirley Howard; sargent-at-arms, Billy Mullins; community leader, Mrs. Irma Markesbery. Thirty-two members were present.

After our business meeting, Mrs. Moore made suggestions for a program at the next meeting.

The meeting adjourned by repeating the club pledge.

Bernice Sebree, Reporter.

MONEY FOR 4-H BOY

Howard Dean Stocker, a member of the Poosey 4-H club in Madison county, spent two hours a day for three days in his father's one-acre tobacco patch, after the crop was cut. He picked up the flyings left in the field, dried them out, tied them in hands, and sold 116 pounds for $48.72.

And there's the individual who talks, always, about his ailments, imaginary and beloved.

SOCIAL SECURITY RECORDS CANNOT BE IN INCOME RETURNS

Social Security Board records cannot be used in preparing income tax returns for 1941, it was said today by Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager of the Covington, Ky., field office of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance.

"We have had numerous calls from individuals who sought to use our records in connection with the filing of income tax returns for 1941," Mr. Decker said.

"Our records are not posted for several months after the wages are earned and will not be complete until some time after tax returns are due from individuals. Those who desire statements of their wages up to the early part of 1941 may obtain this information by using the wage record request card which we will supply for this purpose, but it is impossible for us to provide currently or until the latter part of 1942 any statement of earnings including wages paid in 1941 in employment covered by the Social Security Act."

PETERSBURG 4-H CLUB

The Petersburg Good Will Club met January 8, 1942, to organize the new year's work. We elected new officers. Mr. Frazier and Mrs. Moore were at the meeting. Quite a few new members were present. Mr. Frazier gave a very good talk on how a 4-H Club could become an outstanding one. Miss Moore made another good talk on what our officers should do to be good officers. We are going to work hard to win the trophy. We are going to make the best better.

SEE BETTER TIMES FOR FLOCK OWNERS

Economists at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics see better times for poultry raisers in 1942. Larger incomes for chicken owners are expected as a result of expanded production, continued strong demand for food, and government programs to support prices. Production of poultry products may be the largest in history.

Feed-egg ratios are expected to remain favorable throughout the season of heavy output, although rations containing by-product feeds may be higher than in 1941. At that, increased costs probably will not offset higher average prices for eggs.

Whispered compliments are easily overheard.

NOTICE

All automobile tires and tubes in stock by dealers in Boone County must be listed immediately with the Tire Rationing Board at Walton, as to size and price. This is a Federal requirement.

"HAPPY HOLLOW" SAGA IN HOMEMAKERS' CLUB

In Bell county in the Kentucky mountains, where 60 percent of the men find employment in mining, home demonstration work has been carried on since 1931. The women in Happy Hollow asked the members of the club at Junction whether they might organize too. After two preliminary meetings, a few Happy Hollow women assembled for a canning demonstration, then for a lesson on how to make whole wheat muffins. This year, the main theme will be, "How to get good food and a healthy, balanced diet on limited income." Later home improvement will be stressed, as will home gardens. "The garden raising is easy, as the climate permits greens late in the winter and early in the spring—in fact, a year-round green garden," says Home Agent Sunshine Colley.

There's no one so pompous as the man who has the idea that he must maintain a reputation as an authority or play the role of possessing more than average intelligence.

THE FARM AND HOME

Most sweet clover is sown from February 1 to April 15 in Kentucky, unless unhulled seed is used. Unhulled seed should not be sown later than February 1. Rates of seeding are 10 to 15 pounds of unhulled seed.

Electric washing machine rules: Do not turn on motor when the machine is in gear. Avoid overloading the tub. Warm the tub gradually in cold weather before using it; never pour hot water into a cold tub.

About 12 gallons of water is required daily by a cow in milk. The water should be clean and not too cold because it must be warmed in the body with heat produced from feed. The amount of water drunk does not affect the richness of the milk.

If possible, plow the garden in January, turning under a heavy coat coat of manure. Freezings and thawings after such plowing will tend to make the soil loose and moist, and the manure will have a chance to break down into humus.

A practical guide for home butchering is the circular "Killing, Cutting and Curing Pork," published by the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Copies may be had free from county and home demonstration agents.

Grain mixtures for laying hens: 30 quarts of shelled corn and 26 quarts of wheat, 42 quarts of corn and 30 quarts heavy oats. 30 qts. of corn, 13 quarts of wheat and 25 quarts of heavy oats. 24 quarts of corn, 13½ quarts of barley, 10½ quarts of wheat and 20 quarts of heavy oats.

M. E. LADIES MEET

The Woman's Division of Christian service of the Burlington M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Snyder last Wednesday for an all-day meeting.

The ladies sewed for the Red Cross in the morning. At noon a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Snyder.

In the afternoon Bro. Harrison taught the first chapter of the study book, "Our Times." After a short business session with Mrs. Stella Rouse, presiding, the meeting was turned over to the program leader, Mrs. Ruth Clore. The topic for the day was "Facing This Hour." The program follows:

Scripture—Mrs. Snyder.
Song—by group.
Worship Service—Mrs. Clore.
A Letter to the Society—Mrs. Rouse.
Unchanging Standards in This Unchanging World—Mrs. Norris.
May Reed by Jewel—Mrs. Garrison.

The program was closed with the hymn, "He Is So Precious to Me."
Benediction—Mrs. Clore.

The Christian Service will meet the third Wednesday of each month in the future.

IN MEMORIAM
Of Jane Ellen Bresser

A flower bloomed in a garden,
And though others grew there too,
Its fragrance and stately beauty
And the loveliness of that single flower,
All shining with morning dew,
Like a beacon in the night,
Gave more courage to the traveler
Than all the others blooming bright.
It seems God placed within that flower
Strength, that every day
It gave to the world new beauty,
To cheer souls on their way.
This flower that bloomed in the Garden of Life,
Was so filled with happiness,
That every person around it,
Found joy in its loveliness.
But God has picked the precious flower,
For He needed its beauty sweet,
To add to the beauty of Heaven,
To make Heaven more complete.
It-pd. —A Friend.

HEBRON

Mrs. Alice McGlasson has been on the sick list the past few weeks.

James Tanner was ill over the week-end.

At the Lutheran Church election held recently, the following officers were re-elected: Deacons, Frank McGlasson, Sr.; H. L. Crigler, James Bullock, Hubert Conner and Elmo Jergens; financial secretary, John Crigler; chorister, Edwin Walton; organist, Mrs. Alice Dye; asst. organist, Mrs. Alice Monteith.

The following officers were elected for the Lutheran Sunday School last Sunday: Asst. Superintendent Robert Rouse; treasurer, Russell Conrad; pianist, Mrs. Omer Dolwick. Those reelected were Supt. Woolford Crigler; Secretary, Miss Evelyn Conrad.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert England of Florence were the Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. England.

Mrs. Melissa Hankins is on the sick list.

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

The Burlington Homemakers met at the court house on January 6. The morning was devoted to doing Red Cross work.

At noon a well-balanced nutritive meal was served. Four ladies prepared the luncheon and the cost divided among the number present. The menu consisted of Spanish liver, scalloped corn, raw carrot and cabbage in gelatin salad, date pudding with fruit sauce, wholewheat bread and coffee. The meal cost 15c per person.

The afternoon session was devoted to business. The citizenship chairman collected pledges for the fair grounds. Mrs. Pope accepted the chairmanship for the 4-H club.

In the course of the meeting Mrs. Moore read articles from a pamphlet called "You Can Defend America," which were very good. One of the articles "Sound Homes" is especially good. The nation was listened to a sound home and it takes such to produce good man power and will power.

The program for Farm and Home Week at Lexington, Jan. 27, through 30th was presented. It sounded like a very full one, as well as very instructive. There is also to be a sightseeing tour of the Bluegrass District.

Boone County will be especially represented at the convention. Mrs. Reimer is one of a symposium who will tell what Boone County is accomplishing in the school lunchroom.

Mrs. Pope will go to the convention as a delegate from the Burlington club. Any ladies who are interested in going to Lexington, either for the full time or just a day or two—get in touch with Mrs. Moore in order that reservations may be made.

—Publicity Chairman.

CONSTANCE HOMEMAKERS

The Constance Homemakers' meeting was called to order by Chairman Mrs. Fanny Peeno at the home of Mrs. Ralph Cotton. Roll call was answered by a New Year resolution.

Our home demonstration agent, Mrs. Moore, 16 members and two visitors Mrs. H. Davis and Mrs. L. Stevenson were present. We were glad to have our visitors join our club. Mrs. Moore spoke on "What We Can Do to Help National Defense. Save and use things we have and try to make sound homes and keep our family well and happy was stressed by Mrs. Moore.

Motion was made and seconded to send our president, Mrs. Fanny Peeno to Farm and Home Week Convention, Jan. 27-30 at Lexington.

January 19th all membership chairmen are to attend the meeting at Burlington. Our citizenship chairman, Mrs. Thos. Kenyon sent toys to Orphan's Home and is going to ask 4-H club boys to clean up and put signs up to stop dumping of rubbish on mile hill road. Mrs. Kenyon also gave out articles to be sewed for Red Cross.

Our exterior beautification chairman, Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer wants suggestions as to place in Constance to plant shrubs and trees.

An invitation for our next meeting, February 4th at the home of Mrs. Grace Dolwick, was accepted.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for their kind expressions and help during the illness and death of our dear daughter,

Jane Ellen Bresser

Especialy do we wish to thank Father Corlin for his grand mass and Tharp and Stith for the efficient manner in which they conducted funeral arrangements.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS HAVE BIG INCOME

The value of 4-H club production in Wayne county, Kentucky, in 1941 is put by County Agent H. J. Hayes at $19,843. This includes calves sold by 42 boys and girls for $10,649, plus $255 in cash prizes. Eighty-three club members grew tobacco valued at $5,670, while pigs brought in $910; corn, $1,110, and poultry $1,249. Vegetables, fruits and other production increased the total. Twelve clubs had a membership of 280 farm boys and girls.

AMBITIOUS GOAL SET IN CALDWELL

Every farm a good one, with a good home on it, and with parity income, is the goal in Caldwell county, Kentucky. To reach this goal, County Agent John F. Graham says there must be:

Better use of land.

More intelligent use of labor and equipment.

More profitable handling of crops

Prices of farm products comparable with prices of things which farmers buy.

BLACKSMITH SHOPS MAY STAGE RETURN

The blacksmith shop may come back. So it is noted in a statement from the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics urging the examination of farm machinery for the need of repairs or new parts. Less machinery may be made and repairs may be increasingly difficult to obtain. Therefore it is considered a good plan to go over machinery and arrange for repairs before spring work begins. Worn parts can be replaced or renewed, in many instances, and machines thereby made to last several years more.

Little people criticize those who are trying to accomplish something worthwhile.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Landscape gardening continues as one of the interesting projects in homemakers' work in Shelby county. Jeanne Ireland, home demonstration agent, reports the cooperative purchase of 6,000 gladiola bulbs and 2,000 daffodil bulbs.

Edward Stephens of Daviess county harvested 30 bushels of wheat to the acre last year on land that had been producing only 10 bushels. He used limestone, superphosphate and legumes, as advised by the county agent.

Bath county farmers used a straw baler in connection with a threshing machine. With a conveyor instead of a blower, the baler took the straw direct, by aid of a rotary feeder, an automatic blocking device allowing it to operate continuously.

Three hundred and fifty-seven Caldwell county families reported to Nancy B. Scrugham, county home demonstration agent, that they canned 142,403 quarts of fruits and vegetables, stored 43,900 bushels of foods and dried 57,897 pounds.

Members of homemakers' clubs in Graves county made 6,354 garments at home and remodeled 1,479. Also 204 hats were made over. The value of the remodeling of garments and hats is placed at $3,162, according to the home agent, Loretta M. Wyatt.

Washington county farmers have been using bulldozers to push hundreds of tons of marl out of beds. Marl forms a cheap source of liming material in several communities, with a neutralizing value as high as 80 percent.

Well, folks, the automobiles of the land killed their quota of citizens every month during 1941. The price of speed is a bit out of proportion, we think.

ON THE JOB --in the service of defense

In the present grave national emergency, we all want to serve our country as best we are able.

Your electric company employees, like other citizens, are ready and eager to do their part in carrying our war effort to a victorious conclusion. Right now, their foremost task is to keep an ample supply of electricity flowing to turn the wheels of industry and to release the time and energy of individuals for defense activities of various kinds. Power is essential to production and to public health and comfort. Its delivery must be assured.

Trained to a tradition of service, your electric company employees are keenly alive to the added responsibilities of the present. As soldiers of industry, they may be depended upon to carry out their duties energetically and conscientiously as long as they can best serve their country in their present capacities.

Feet And The Law Of Tissue

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE

Where Foot Comfort Begins

9th and Madison Covington

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscle and nerve consist of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluid and substances of the body.

Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the influence of this law, that constant tension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the foot framework.

If ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially — those which bind the weight-supporting and key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse and pull away from the bone attachments.

The rest which the night affords is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which lift the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissue.

If the muscles do not hold the weight-bearing joints of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action, these joints become deranged, misshaped and deformed because of the pressure of the body weight upon their point surface.

When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight upon bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhealthy feet. Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains may be cause by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Organizing a Mardis Gras is a tough job, according to Mitchell Leisen, director of "Hold Back the Dawn" which will be shown at the Gayety.

For the fiesta scene in the film, which stars Charles Boyer, Olivia de Havilland and Paulette Goddard, Leisen had to assemble 500 players, 93 motor cars, 16 horses, six burros, ten cases of firecrackers and several score toy balloons. Then he had to organize all this on an eight-acre movie set of a Mexican town.

Among the 500 players was a bus-load of harum-secarum boys, headed by little Billy Lee.

SATURDAY

Back in 1919 William Farnum was starred in the silent version of Zane Grey's "Last of the Duanes." A short while ago he was signed by 20th Century-Fox to a featured role in the sound version of the same story which will be shown Saturday at the Gayety.

This production stars George Montgomery as Buck Duane and Farnum will portray a Texas Ranger who brings Buck to the side of law and order.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Charlie Smith, who enacts the role of Dizzy Stevens in the new-President," introducing freckle-faced Jimmy Lydon as Henry Aldrich, went to Hollywood to become an actor because he thought dramatic experience would help him when he became a lawyer. But the youthful actor simply forgot all about going to law school after making a few pictures.

County Surveyor Leaves For California

Noel Walton, wife and family left Tuesday morning for the West. Mr. Walton, county surveyor, is to work in a defense industry for the balance of the winter months, and expects to return to Kentucky about the middle of April.

He asked us to state in our columns that any inquiry about future survey work be made to Burlington 524, where dates and other information may be obtained.

Utopia Planning Committee Meets

The Utopia 1942 program planning committee will meet at the County Agent's office in Burlington on Monday evening, January 19th, at 7:30 p. m., according to J. O. Griffith, county president.

Members of the program committee are Mary Rector, J. O. Griffith, Lucian Bradford, Frances Berkshire and Lucille Cotton.

The club will hold their regular monthly meeting at Burlington on Thursday evening, January 22nd, at 7:30 p. m.

MANY GROUPS TO MEET DURING FARM HOME CONVENTION

Farm organizations to meet during the Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky, January 27-30 include the Kentucky Beekeepers Association, the Kentucky Guernsey Cattle Club, the Kentucky Holstein Cattle Club, the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association, the Kentucky Rural Church Council, the Kentucky Nurserymen's Association, and the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers.

There also will be special sessions for poultry raisers, livestock farmers, and fruit growers; and on cooperative marketing; soils and crops, the place of dual-purpose cattle, tobacco production, cover crops and feeds, health, feeding the family, and numerous other subjects covering practically all phases of farming and home-making.

Two days of general sessions will deal with farmers' contributions to national defense, agriculture during and after the war, preventing a post-war depression, the agricultural outlook, mobilizing industry for defense, and making democracy work.

Women will have sessions of their own throughout the four days. Their discussions will include many phases of nutrition, feeding the family, feeding the army and other problems connected with national defense and the prosecution of the war.

$1,800 A YEAR, DOCTOR

It takes seven years of collegiate study, or more, to win a Ph. D. degree.

It takes, at a conservative estimate, $7,500 in cash.

Yet as an instructor at the University of Kentucky, the holder of that degree, after all his study and all his outlay, earns an average of only $1,800 a year.

Even if he advances eventually to the rank of assistant professor he receives an average of but $2,500. As associate professor he gets only $2,900 as professor only $3,600 and as head professor only $3,900. It should be kept in mind, moreover, that such advancements at Kentucky are infrequent for the very good reason that in the last decade the money has not been at hand to pay the bigger salaries that promotions in rank call for.

Compare these salaries with the earnings of the average doctor or the average dentist or the average practitioner of any profession who has had to spend extra years in preparation for his work! The injustice of the situation at once becomes apparent—and not because the professional men make too much but because the teachers make too little.

Contrasts like this one probably can be found in any state, for educators are notoriously poorly paid, but in Kentucky the difference is more striking by reason of the fact that teachers here are paid even more inadequately than elsewhere. For example, while the average salary for an instructor at the University is $1,800 a year, the combined average at 52 other land-grant institutions is $1,937. The assistant professor at the 52 institutions on an average receives $105 more a year than the Kentucky man; the associate professor $372 more, the professor $545 more.

Another interesting comparison is provided by the figures of a decade ago. In the deep-depression period of 1930-1931 University of Kentucky faculty members actually were better paid than at present. The average instructor at that time drew $500 more than he does today, the assistant professor $100 more, the associate professor $400 more, the professor $150 more.

It is no wonder, hence, that President Donovan calls finances the big problem at Kentucky. Without more nearly adequate support, he might have added, the school to which Kentucky parents send their children is sure to follow a course of pressive decay.

One of our private "wishes" for the New Year is that advertisers will be alert and subscribers active.

A Week Of The War

The President, in a message to Congress, said he had directed Federal agencies to arrange a new schedule of war production calling for 60,000 planes in 1942, including 45,000 combat craft, and 125,000 in 1943, including 100,000 combat units; 45,000 tanks in 1942 and 75,000 in 1943; 2,000 anti-aircraft guns in 1942 and 35,000 in 1943; 3,000,000 deadweight tons of merchant ships in 1942 and 10,000,000 in 1943.

The President told Congress he would order the U. S. armed forces to a world-wide front to find the enemy and "hit him and hit him again whenever and wherever we can reach him." He said U. S. forces would take up positions if necessary in the British Isles, the Far East and on all oceans and bases within and without the New World necessary to protect the Western Hemisphere.

The President proposed total expenditures in the fiscal year 1943 of $77,000,000,000. Of this $56,000,000,000 would be for the war. He said total war expenditures are now at the rate of approximately $2,000,000,000 a month and may surpass $5,000,000,000 a month during fiscal 1943. The President said he could not predict ultimate costs "because I cannot predict the changing fortunes of war," but he proposed an increase in tax collection to $27,000,000,000. He asked careful Congressional consideration of income taxes collected at the source, payroll taxes, excise taxes and taxes on State and local government bonds.

Mr. Roosevelt said expenditures for farm aid, work relief and youth aid would be reduced by the end of the 1942 fiscal year $000,000,000 from last year and will be reduced another $860,000,000 next fiscal year when the total cost will be $1,400,000,000 or about half of the sum for the present year.

Production Progress

The Office for Emergency Management reported increased pooling of aircraft production facilities within the industry and with the auto industry, and concentration on superior types of planes. The OEM said in almost every month of 1942 additional plants will begin production of planes with parts supplied by industrial pools.

The War Department reported at least one plant of each of the 13 types required for the munitions program was completed in 1941, making a total of 28 now in operation. The announcement said 28 more will begin production soon.

OPM Director Knudsen announced the auto industry must double its schedule war output to handle $5,000,000,000 additional war contracts. OPM formed a 10-member industry-labor committee to study conversion of the industry to war products.

Employment

Labor Secretary Perkins reported 15,000,000 workers will be engaged in war production by the end of 1942—three times as many as were so employed in the fourth quarter of 1941. There will be only a relatively small increase in total employment, however, Miss Perkins said because many persons now working in civilian-goods industry will be shifted to war work. WPA announced 3,800,000 persons were unemployed in December, 100,000 less than the previous month.

Conservation of Materials

OPM announced industrial conservation programs will be set up in more than 3 industrial centers to wreck old machinery and equipment to salvage needed materials; to minimize waste and spoilage, to handle scrap and speed its return to users.

OPM also recommended elimination of special deliveries of milk and substitution of every-other-day delivery for daily delivery to conserve tires. The agency recommended manufacturers simplify the types of bottles and other containers and eliminate those not necessary; ordered all tin and lead scrap under rationing control, restricted use of thyl alcohol in toilet soap, mouth washes, rubbing alcohol, candy glazes; cut use of certain materials in manufacture of vending machines dispensing cigarettes, food, candy and other items; cut the amount of wool for civilian use to 80 percent of last year; and restricted the use of copper in certain radio parts.

OPM granted permission to auto manufacturers to make 204,848 cars in January in order to use up parts already made before the plants are converted to war production. Congress passed a law permitting the President to order daylight saving time to save electric power.

Prices

The President sent a message to Congress asking for provision for a single price administrator for all prices in the price control legislation now under consideration. The OPM issued a pamphlet, "How to Stop Inflation," explaining in non-technical language the causes of inflation, measures taken in other countries and what can be done here to keep prices down. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported wholesale prices are now at the highest level since 1939—17.6 percent above this time last year.

Civilian Defense

The President appointed James M. Landis, Dean of the Harvard Law School, as Executive of the Office of Civilian Defense to direct the civilian defense program under the general supervision of Director LaGuardia, who is also Mayor of New York City. The House and Senate passed and sent to conference a bill appropriating $100,000,000 for civilian defense. OCD asked its regional directors to obtain from State and city governments all possible equipment needed by the auxiliary firemen, policemen, air raid wardens and other volunteers. Director McNutt, of the Defense Health and Welfare Services set up in each of the 48 States a State Nursing Council on Defense to promote recruiting of student nurses and enrollment of 50,000 young women in nursing schools in 1942.

Agriculture

The Oklahoma Agriculture Defense Board established an experimental "machinery bank" to provide a reservoir of spare parts for farm equipment. All idle farming equipment on Oklahoma's 32,000 farms will be centrally located, repaired and made available to farmers as they need it.

Pan-American Relations

OEM announced that for the first time in recent history, U. S. imports from Latin America have been larger than exports. U. S. trade in Latin America, the agency said, was one-third larger than in the corresponding period of 1940 and about 75 percent larger than in the first three quarters of 1939. The State Department elevated the U. S. legations in Paraguay, Ecuador and Bolivia to the rank of embassies in "formal recognition of the importance of developments" leading to Pan American solidarity. Under Secretary of State Welles left Washington to attend the Pan-American conference of foreign ministers in Rio de Janerio, January 15.

The War Front

The White House announced the U. S., Britain, the Netherlands and the Dominion governments agreed to a unified command in the Southwest Pacific area with all sea, land and air forces under Gen. Wavell of the British Army, with Lt. Gen. Brett, of the U. S. Army Air Forces, as next in command. Gen. MacArthur commander in the Philippines, reported his lines holding against renewed Japanese attacks. The Army and Navy reported sinking of three enemy cargo ships of 10,000 tons each, one enemy transport and more than a score of Japanese bombing and fighting planes. The Marine Corps announced that new reports showed that the defenders of Wake Island had sunk one cruiser, four destroyers, one submarine and one gunboat before succumbing. The president cited the entire Wake garrison for heroism.

The White House announced the RAF dropped more than 2,000,000 American pamphlets on Nazi-occupied France stressing the historic ties between the American and French people. The pamphlets included pictures of the Statue of Liberty and quotations from the President's speeches.

The president set February 16 for selective service registration of men from 20 to 44 who have not previously registered.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

Commonwealth of Kentucky

400 ATTEND DEFENSE MEET

AT COURTHOUSE MONDAY NIGHT—COUNTY ORGANIZATION EXPECTED TO BE COMPLETED SOON.

Over 400 persons were in attendance Monday night for the County Civilian Defense meeting, with all communities well represented and showing much interest in the project.

Joseph Dotchengall, head of Civilian Defense of Covington, was the speaker, assisted by Mrs. Dühme, who is head of the Women's Civilian Defense organization of Covington.

Many persons, including this writer, were very much disappointed that Mr. Dotchengall failed to give a very clear picture of just what we were expected to do in cooperation with the Cincinnati Defense Council, and a complete outline of our Defense work. It seems that no one is prepared to give out much information on the subject as yet, and so far, no literature has been made available for the private citizens living in dangerous or black-out areas.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Dotchengall suggested that the Fiscal Court appoint a County Coordinator, who would in turn set up the county organization. Immediately after adjournment, the Fiscal Court went into session only to learn that H. D. Mayhugh had already been named County Coordinator by J. J. Greenleaf, director of Kentucky Civil Defense Commission. The fiscal court delayed all action on the matter until a more definite understanding could be reached. Mr. Mayhugh was not present at the meeting.

The large crowd in attendance was testimony that Boone County is willing and ready to do all that is possible during these times, and will be on the job when needed.

Hebron Loan Ass'n. Hold 51st Annual Meeting Monday

The fifty-first annual meeting of the stockholders of Hebron Perpetual Building and Loan Association was held last Monday night with the following officers and directors elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, W. W. Goodridge; vice president, W. R. Garnett; secretary-treasurer, Hubert Conner; assistant secretary, B. F. Hossman; directors, W. W. Goodridge, B. F. Hossman, W. R. Garnett, Emmett Kilgour, Chester Goodridge, Hubert Conner, John Conner, S. M. Graves, Chas. W. Riley, Smith Goodridge, John Crigler and Wilton Stephens.

RED CROSS WAR FUND MEET SET

FOR TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JANUARY 27 — MISS OLIVE KACKLEY WILL BE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER.

The Boone County Chapter of the American Red Cross will have a Countywide rally at the Florence school building on Tuesday afternoon, January 27, 1942 at 2:30, Eastern Standard Time. Miss Kachley will be the speaker.

Every citizen of Boone County is urged to attend this rally as the county has been given a quota of $2,000.00 as our part of the War Chest Fund, and we must not fail to raise this amount, or more, as the money will be used to nurse and care for our sick and wounded boys who are fighting for us and who will keep America the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The drive for these Red Cross Funds will begin at ten o'clock Wednesday morning, January 28, 1942, and every Church, school, or other building in Boone County having a bell is requested to ring it at this time to officially open this most important Red Cross drive.

Anyone wishing to do their part in this campaign can mail their check or money to Rev. J. Russell Cross, Walton, Ky., R. D. or to C. L. Cropper, Burlington, Ky., or give it to the Red Cross worker who will try and visit you. Please give, and as soon as possible!

In Army Service

Second Lieut. Anna L. Grant, (A. N. C.), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Grant, Burlington left New York City by boat on January 14, 1942, her destination, of course, unknown.

Lt. Grant is a graduate nurse from St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, Ky., having completed her study in September 1939. She then served in the capacity of supervisor of the operating room until March 1941, at which time she enlisted in the army to be stationed at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

In a recent letter, she sent her very best regards to her many friends and relatives in Boone County.

Civilian Defense Picture Will Be Shown At Florence

There will be a Civilian Defense meeting at the schoolhouse in Florence on Saturday night at 7:30 p. m., January 24th.

At this meeting there will be a defense film shown and an organization set up for the town. Everyone is urged to attend.

Mrs. Keene Souther returned home Sunday from Deaconness Hospital, much improved after a recent gall stone operation. Much praise is due Dr. Helbert for his skillful surgery.

JANUARY 31ST IS DEADLINE

FOR PRIORITY ASSISTANCE TO COMPLETE PRIVATE OWNED NON-DEFENSE HOMES AND HOUSING PROJECTS.

The OPM has made provision for private assistance for securing critical materials by persons who need such assistance to finish any home, the foundation of which was completed on or before October 1, 1941. The final date for filing applications for such assistance for priorities to complete construction of the privately-owned non-defense houses or housing projects has been set by OPM for January 31st.

After that date no application for priorities assistance to complete non-defense housing will be received by the Louisville FHA Office which processes such applications for the office of Production management.

It is pointed out that under OPM Preference Rating Order P-71 to be eligible for priorities assistance, and privately-owned, non-defense house or housing projects must have had the foundation in place before October 9. If the foundation under the main part of each structure to which the application is to apply is not completed before October 9 that structure does not qualify.

Applications may be made for a single house or for as many dwelling units as may be eligible. The actual application must be made on OPM Form No. PD-135. It must be accompanied by one set of drawings and specifications showing designs, materials, and equipment for each basic type of building, together with a builder's plan or subdivision lay-out showing the location of each building.

Copies of OPM Form No. PD-135 may be obtained from a local home financing institution or from the Louisville FHA Office.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benson, who have been residing in Covington for the past several months moved into the house recently vacated by Cliff Peebles. We welcome this young couple to our community.

Myrtle Easybuck

Mrs. Myrtle Easybuck, 53, passed away at her home, Morningview Pike, Kenton, County, January 12.

She is survived by her husband Pete Easybuck; two daughters, Mrs. W. M. Brandenberg, of Richmond, Ky., and Mrs. Robt. Thompson, of Ashville, N. C.; three sons, James Easybuck, Covington; Louis M. Easybuck, Erlanger; Mahlone Easybuck, Morningview; her father Jake Lofaul; four sisters, 5 brothers and 3 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted from the Hickory Grove Baptist Church, at 2:00 p. m. January 15. Burial was in Independence cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of funeral arrangements.

HEBRON TEAM TWICE WINNER

IN WEEK OVER WARSAW, SILVER GROVE—BURLINGTON, WALTON WIN—NEW HAVEN PLAYS AT HEBRON SATURDAY

The Hebron basketball squad made a clean sweep of a twin bill last week to even their season's win-loss record at six each.

Friday night the Cardinals journeyed to Warsaw to nose out the Gallatin County team, 21-19, in an overtime game. Erasing a 10-8 half-time deficit, the Cardinals tied it up at 19-all as the fourth quarter ended, as Marshall took high score honors with nine points. Grimes collected seven for the losers. The preliminary also went into an extra session, as Hebron again won 17-13.

Saturday night the Cardinals turned back Silver Grove, 38-31, on the Hebron floor. Hebron held a 23-16 margin at the half, as Buckler and Getker collected eight points each. Rice scored 14 for Silver Grove. To make the downfall of the opposing teams unanimous, the Hebron Birdies turned in a 21-17 victory.

With Huey scoring more points than the entire opposing team, the Burlington Eagles racked up a 62-24 win over Cold Springs on the local hardwood Friday night. The Eagles held a 33-10 edge at the half, as Huey hit the rim for 28 markers, Porter 18, Jarrell 10. Schabell netted 11 for the losers. The local reserves turned in a 29-14 win.

The Walton-Verona Bearcats had no trouble in bagging their eleventh win of the season, 34-6, over Florence Friday night at Walton. The Walton team made no effort to run up a larger score, and members of the reserve squads saw most of the action. The Bearcats held a 11-2 edge at the halfway mark. Pennington was the only Bearcat first-liner that was left in the game long enough to score six points. The Walton-Verona Kittens scored a 29-4 victory in the preliminary.

Walton defeated Ludlow, 58-33 Tuesday night in a fast basketball game, played on the Ludlow floor.

Jumping into the lead by a score of 15-7 in the first quarter, the Walton five continued to increase its margin through each ensuing quarter.

Simpson and Welch starred for the Walton five. Caple led the Ludlow attack.

In a preliminary game the Walton reserves defeated the Ludlow reserves 32-26.

The New Haven Tigers gave ground, 33-25, to Simon Kenton at New Haven, Wednesday night, Jan. 14th, in a nip-and-tuck contest in which the ultimate winner was not indicated until near the end of the final quarter. The Tigers trailed, 17-19 at the half, as Simpson accounted for ten of their points, Judge nine, while Morgan was high for Simon Kenton with eight. The New Haven Kittens triumphed, 19-18, in the preliminary.

This Week's Schedule

Friday Night—Crittenden at Walton; St. Henry at Florence.

Saturday night—New Haven at Hebron.

Tuesday night—Dry Ridge at Walton; Simon Kenton at Florence.

Mrs. Mary Ann Cook

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Ann Cook, who died Monday at the home of her son, Mark Cook, Camp Ernst road, Burlington, were held at the residence at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, with services at 1:30 p. m. fast time at the Republican Christian Church near Cynthiana, Harrison County.

A native of Harrison county, she was 83. She was a member of the Republican Christian Church for many years. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

She leaves another son, Harry Cook, Cincinnati; two daughters, Mrs. Lottie Sipe, Boyd, Ky., and Mrs. Sarah Cordray, Cynthiana; 23 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren.

Tharp & Stith, Florence funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Mary Elizabeth Roberts

Mary Elizabeth Roberts, 78, died January 19 at the home of her son William Roberts, after an illness of three months with heart disease.

She was a member of the Fiskburg D. of A.'s and a member of the Walton Christian Church.

She is survived by three sons, H. E. Roberts and E. L. Roberts of Pittsburg, Pa., and William Roberts, Crittenden; 12 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Wilmington Baptist Church, Fiskburg by Rev. T. H. Alderson, of Flemingsburg, Ky., Wednesday afternoon, January 21 at 2:30 p. m.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Linda E. Woods

Mrs. Linda Elizabeth Woods, of Standford, Ky., passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Bishon, Kentaboo Drive and Dixie Highway Erlanger, Ky., Sunday, Jan. 11, at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. Woods was here for a visit with her daughter, under treatment of a doctor for two weeks.

She leaves her husband, five daughters, two sons, two brothers and one sister.

Funeral services were conducted from the Pine Hall Christian Church, Standford, Ky., Tuesday, with burial in the cemetery at that place.

Tharp & Stith, Florence funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

CAR TAX STAMPS NOW ON SALE

AT POST OFFICES THROUGHOUT COUNTY—FEBRUARY 1 IS LAST DAY FOR PURCHASE OF STAMPS.

For the convenience of motor vehicle owners and to avoid congestion in the post offices and the offices of Collectors, Commisioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering announced last week that arrangements have been made to place motor vehicle use tax stamps on sale, and they are now in the hands of postmasters throughout the county.

The tax imposed upon the use of motor vehicles, payable not later than February 1, is $2.09. This tax is imposed on any motor vehicle used on the public highways. January 26th was originally set as the date on which the stamps would be placed on sale.

CHARITY GAME IS SCHEDULED

AT BURLINGTON SCHOOL FRIDAY—PROCEEDS WILL GO INTO RED CROSS WAR RELIEF FUND.

Initiating the plan of the schools of the county, to donate the proceeds of one basketball game to the Red Cross, the Burlington High School basketball team will meet South side Baptist's squad at the Burlington school gymnasium Friday night at 8:00 o'clock.

The Southside team has a strong lineup and is expected to give the local team a hard tussle, well worth seeing. The entire gate receipts will be turned over to the Red Cross for use in its War Relief Fund during the present war and emergency.

Each of the other schools in the county will donate the proceeds from one of their games to this worthy organization.

MEETING HELD BY LOAN ASS'N.

AT BURLINGTON THURSDAY—REPORTS INDICATE ASSOCIATION IN STRONG POSITION TO MEET EMERGENCIES.

The annual meeting of the Boone County National Farm Loan Association was held in the court room at the courthouse in Burlington last Thursday.

A small number of members were present but a most interesting meeting was had, with the principal address being made by H. R. Forkner, County Agent on the subject "The Farmers' Part In National Defense."

After reports made by the acting chairman, Thomas H. Hensley, who presided in the absence of president E. A. Martin, who was unable to be present on account of illness, several talks were made by members, many of which drifted to the part all of us would be required to play in the war now upon us.

It is of special interest to note that one woman was present, Mrs. Prudence Craig Dugle of Rising Sun, Ind., who has not missed an annual meeting in many years, she being a member of the Association. Mrs. Craig made a short talk regretting the fact that all members do not attend these annual meetings and receive the benefits derived from such meetings.

The same directors were continued for another year, they being E. A. Martin, B. E. Aylor, Thomas Hensley, Karl Rouse and Ira M. Tanner.

Immediately following the stockholders' meeting the directors organized by electing E. A. Martin, president; B. E. Aylor, vice president and A. B. Renaker, secretary-treasurer. The members of the Loan Committee being E. A. Martin, B. E. Aylor, and Thomas Hensley. Karl Rouse. Ira M. Tanner and A. G. Mefulion being elected members of the Alternate Loan Committee.

Financial reports made by the secretary-treasurer shows the association to be in a strong position to meet any emergencies, with but very few delinquent borrowers, and these are expected to be eliminated before the close of January.

Vesper Services To Be Held At Florence Methodist Church

Vesper Services will be held at the Florence Methodist Church next Sunday at 5 p. m. Rev. J. H. Talley, pastor at Walton will bring the message.

F. E. Mosley, pastor urges the public to attend this service. Come and enjoy this fellowship of worship.

Officers Named For Hebron Deposit Bank

The following officers were named for the ensuing year as officers and directors of the Hebron Deposit Bank, Hebron, Ky: Hubert Conner, president; Herbert Grant, vice president; other directors, Dr. S. B. Nunnelley, Liston Hempfling, C. S. Riddell, M. L. Crutcher, B. F. Hossman, Chas. W. Riley, W. W. Goodridge; Cashier, John Conner; assistant cashier, Georgia Tupman.

Wallace Upton

Services for Wallace Upton-eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Upton, 213 Crescent Ave., Covington, and former residents of Boone County, who died Tuesday night at Booth Hospital, Covington of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home, were conducted Friday at 2 o'clock at the Tharp and Stith funeral home, Florence. Burial was in Florence cemetery.

The automobile that hit the child was driven by Raymond Dugan, 329 Bond St., Covington.

DOING HER BIT

A Rhode Island Red hen on the farm of Joel Gray, Burlington, apparently is trying to do her bit in production for National Defense. Last week Mr. Gray brought an egg to this office laid by one of his hens, which weighed 4½ ounces. The egg is on display in our office.

James Marion Conner

James Marion Conner, age 90 years, beloved husband of America Conner (nee Clore), born on the 20th day of June 1851, passed away January 12th, 1942 at his home Caramay Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio.

He is survived by his wife, who at the age of 92 is still in good health; three sons Kirby, Raymond and Wilbur Conner; two daughters Mrs. A. G. G. Richardson and Mrs. J. W. Portwood; 15 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren, besides other numerous relatives and friends located in Boone County and Cincinnati, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner would have celebrated their 72nd wedding anniversary June 20th, 1942.

He was locally known as "Uncle Jim" and spent the early part of his life in Boone County, as a farmer, livestock trader, horseman and fox hunter. The latter sport he did not give up until only a few years ago.

Upon moving to Cincinnati, more than 50 years ago, he formed the Livestock Commission of Wagner, Conner & Co. For the past ten years he had been affiliated with the Hartford Insurance Co.

Mr. Conner was a brother of the late Chas. C. Conner, co-founder of the Boone County Recorder in 1875.

Funeral services were held at his home early last Wednesday, with burial in the I. O. O. F. cemetery, Burlington.

T. V. A. ELECT COMMITTEEMEN

TO ASSIST IN ADMINISTERING WORK—FRANK ROUSE NAMED CHAIRMAN—LIME AND PHOSPHATE RESULTS STUDIED.

T. V. A. demonstrators, who each year endeavor to show comparative results from the use of lime and phosphate, elected a committee to assist in administering this work, at a meeting held in Burlington Friday afternoon, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent. Those elected were Frank Rouse, Burlington, chairman; John Klopp, Petersburg, vice chairman; Wilton Stephens, secretary-treasurer; Lillard Scott, Grant committeeman; and Ira Tanner, Florence, committeeman.

Ralph Kenney, Field Agent in Agronomy, from the College, discussed methods that may be used in improving T. V. A. demonstrations in 1942.

Demonstrations conducted last year show the pasture grazing capacity of pasture fields totaling 625 acres, required 3.5 acres to carry 1,000 pounds of livestock on untreated land, while on land treated with a standard application of limestone and phosphate only 2.3 acres were required to carry an animal unit. Therefore these fields produced 52 percent more pasture after a treatment with limestone and phosphate than previously.

Records of hay fields totaling more than 400 acres, indicated an increased yield of 42 percent from the use of limestone; 44 percent from phosphate alone, and 115 per cent from limestone and phosphate when used together.

Farmers who desire sufficient hay and pasture for producing livestock requested under the "Food for Victory Program" have been studying successful results from lime and phosphate demonstrations at community program planning meetings held in the county during January.

Mrs. Myrtle Atha, who was ill several days last week is much improved at this writing.

Mrs. Mary M. Carl

The funeral of Mrs. Mary M. Carl, 110 Erlanger Road, Erlanger, who died Tuesday at her home was conducted at 9 o'clock Saturday from the residence. Requiem high mass was sung at 10 o'clock at St. Henry Church, Erlanger. Burial was in St. John cemetery, Ft. Mitchell.

She is survived by her husband, John Carl; one daughter, Mrs. Madalen Scheben, Erlanger; a son, Alphonse Carl, Ft. Mitchell; three brothers, Peter Thiel, Park Hills; Joseph Thiel, Latonia and Albert Thiel, Covington; five sisters, Miss Emma Thiel, Covington; Mrs. Catherine Baueries, Covington; Mrs. Margaret Gruenloh, Erlanger; Sister Rose Magdalen, Order of St. Francis, Oldenburg, Ind., and Sister Mary Pretrina, Order of St. Frances, Evansville, Ind., and five grandchildren.

BOONE COUNTY RECEIVES DEED

FOR PERMANENT FAIR GROUND JANUARY 16—LAKE WILL BE CONSTRUCTED AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS MADE.

Boone County received the deed for a permanent Fair Grounds on Friday, January 16, according to Charles Riley, chairman of the County Fair Grounds Committee. A perpetual lease was given by the county to the 4-H and Utopia Club Council to use the grounds for educational and recreational purposes.

The securing of the grounds marks the first successful step toward building a permanent county fair and picnic. The construction of a lake and the securing of buildings and equipment is included as future goals.

The lake will be constructed this spring. The 4-H and Utopia Club Council advises that the building program may progress slowly and will cover a period of several years. A blue print plan of the to be completed grounds will be made and each tree planted or building constructed will be located according to this plan. No big developments or showing on the grounds can be expected this year but steady and continued progress will be made.

The names of all who have pledged and who have paid, or will pay their pledges in the next few weeks will be included in the deed as a permanent and historical record. All but 56 of the 330 pledges have been paid to date. All of these 56 pledges are urged to pay at the earliest possible date, in that all pledges are needed in order to complete construction of the lake and in order to pay off a small loan made by interested citizens so that the grounds could be paid for in full. Those signing the note for the loan realized there was no collateral and that no mortgage or claim could be made against the grounds. We have done a wonderful job. Let's all continue to work together for Boone County to have one of the finest and best fair and picnic grounds in the State.

Miss Loveda Hudson

Services for Miss Loveda Marie Hudson, twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hudson, who died late Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hopsital, Covington, were conducted Friday at 2 o'clock at Latonia Baptist Church. Burial was in Verona cemetery.

Miss Hudson, a student at Holmes Junior High School, Covington, died after a short illness.

Besides her parents she is survived by a sister, Owenita Hudson; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Hudson and Mrs. Ollie Eskridge, four aunts and one uncle.

NOTHING LEFT

Secretary Morgenthau disclosed today that prompt action by American officials in the Philippines prevented many millions of dollars worth of securities, coin, currency, bullion, jewelry, and other property from falling into the hands of the Japanese. This is the first application of the "scorched earth policy" which any country has as yet made to this class of valuables.

In anticipation of the temporary occupation of Manila and other parts of the Philippines and remembering the experience of unprepared European countries that permitted hundreds of million of dollars of valuables to fall into the hands of Germany, the Secretary of the Treasury, in cooperation with the Secretary of the Interior and at the direction of the President, vested in the U. S. High Commissioner the sweeping powers of Title 888 of the First War Powers Act of 1941 and authorized him to take all necessary steps to prevent bullion, currency, coin, checks, securities, and similar valuables from falling into enemy hands. The High Commissioner was authorized to destroy any of these assets or otherwise dispose of them rather than to permit the Japanese to acquire them.

Although it is too early to state the amount of valuables within the Philippines which were turned over to or impounded by the High Commissioner, it is certain that the amount runs into many millions. No information has come to the Department of any significant amount of such valuables falling into enemy hands.

Secretary Morgenthau pointed out that High Commissioner Sayre had been assisted in executing this program by Treasury Department representatives who had been detailed from Washington last July to assist the High Commissioner in administering the freezing control in the Philippines. The Secretary commended the courage and ability of those people in carrying out this program.

The Treasury today, acting in cooperation with the Department of the Interior and at the direction of the President, issued a general ruling under the freezing regulations imposing a strict control over Philippine securities and impounding Philippine paper currency within the United States.

These measures, together with those taken simultaneously by the Philippine Government, are designed to choke off the market for any assets which the Japanese may subsequently discover in their looting operations in the Philippines.

At the direction of the President, the Treasury Department, acting Department of the Interior, today issued a general ruling under the freezing regulations imposing a strict control over Philippine securities and impounding all Philippine paper currency within the United States.

These measures, taken at the request of the Philippine Government, are designed to thwart any attempt by the Axis to dispose of looted Philippine assets in the United States. Simultaneously, the Philippine Government took action to prevent looted assets being liquidated in markets outside the United States. It was pointed out that, not only does this interfere with the Axis war effort, but in addition it may contribute materially to minimizing Axis looting in the Philippines by removing the incentive for such action.

Under today's general ruling, all Philippine paper currency within the United States must be deposited in blocked currency accounts in bank on or before February 1, 1942. Currency placed in such accounts may be removed only with permission of the Treasury Department under a freezing control license. On or before February 15, 1942, banks must report all Philippine currency in their possession. All dealing in such currency are prohibited. This is intended to destroy any possible "black market" in the United States for looted Philippine currency which might otherwise be smuggled into the country.

The general ruling also curbs all dealing in securities issued by, or the obligation of, either the Philippine Government or any corporation organized under Philippine law, unless a "clearance certificate," known as Treasury Department Form TFEL-2, has been attached. Persons within the United States holding any such securities will be able to have the clearance certificates attached to their securities, before February 1, 1942, with a minimum of inconvenience, since the Federal Reserve banks will automatically attach the certificates upon presentation of the securities accompanied by their description.

After February 1, 1942, the clearance certificates will be attached to Philippine securities only after the holder has satisfactorily explained his possession of the securities and the reasons a clearance certificate was not attached prior to February 1, 1942.

The Treasury Department called attention to the notice of the Philippine Government to all holders of Philippine securities and currency which was issued today. This notice directed all holders of such securities and currency in all countries except enemy countries to deposit their holdings with banks and forward a registration report through their banks to the New York office of the Philippine National Bank. The full text of such notice is as follows:

"In order to protect bona fide holders of Philippine currency and securities from the effects which would otherwise result from the disposed of such securities and currency which may have been looted during the temporary occupation of parts of the Philippine Islands, the following notification is hereby given on behalf of the Government of the Commonwealth of the Philippines.

"All holders of Philippine paper currency elsewhere than within the Philippine Islands are notified to deposit such currency on or before February 1, 1942, for registration and safekeeping in a reputable bank located outside, and organized under the laws of a country other than an enemy country, or territory occupied or controlled by an enemy. Depositors of such currency should obtain an appropriate receipt from such bank identifying the currency by kind, denomination, and serial number. Banks receiving such currency for such deposit or holding such currency for their own account are hereby notified to hold it in safekeeping pending further instruction. Each such bank should immediately forward to the New York Agency of the Philippine National Bank, 25 Broadway, New York, New York, a report in three counterparts, certifying the names and addresses of the depositors of such currency, the date of deposit, the amount so deposited by each depositor, and the description (including serial number) of the currency so deposited. Such reports should be placed in the mail on or before February 15, 1942. Each counterpart should, if feasible, be dispatched by separate means.

"All holders, outside the United States and elsewhere than within the Philippine Islands, of securities issued by, or the obligation of, either the Government of the Commonwealth of the Philippines, including political subdivisions thereof, or any corporation or other organization organized under the laws of that Government, are notified to follow a similar procedure. Banks receiving such securities for registration and safe keeping should identify them as completely as possible in the receipts given to depositors and in their reports which are forwarded to the New York Agency of the Philippine National Bank. Such reports should include the name and address of the depositor and date of deposit, and the description should include the name of the issuing owner, if any, and, in appropriate cases, the denomination.

"The Government of the Commonwealth of the Philippines has requested the United States Treasury Department and the Department of the Interior to make appropriate provision for the registration of Philippine Government and corporate securities located within the United States, and to adopt such regulatory measures as will assist in carrying out the purposes of this notification with respect to both currency and securities. Compliance with the provisions of General Ruling No. 10, issued by the United States Treasury Department, under Executive Order No. 8389, as amended, shall be deemed to be compliance with the requirements of this notice.

"All Philippine securities and currency not registered pursuant to this notice will be presumed by the Government of the Commonwealth of the Philippines, in the absence of clear proof to the contrary, to have come under the control of the enemy.

J. M. ELIZALDE,
Resident Commissioner of the Philippines to the United States"

BONDS PURCHASED FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

Washington, D. C.—Purchase of $25,000,000 worth of Defense Savings Bonds during the next six months has been voted by the General Executive Board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, David Dubinsky, President, has informed Secretary Morgenthau.

Arrangements have been made with the Treasury Department for the issuance of Defense Stamp Savings books to ILGWU's 300,000 members. According to the union's plan, each member will pledge at least two weeks' earnings. Members who are unable to purchase Defense Savings Bonds outright will buy their Bonds on a weekly installment plan, spending five percent of their weekly wages for this purpose.

"This shows one practical way in which a great organization of workers can help to win the war," Secretary Morgenthau said in commenting on the union's action. "This should be an example and inspiration to other similar bodies."

THE TEMPTATION OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 4:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—For we have an high priest . . . (who) was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.—Hebrews 4:15.

"We have not a high priest that cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but one that hath been in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin" (Heb. 4:15, R.V.). We recognize that Jesus was tempted as the Messiah (see Matt. 4:3, 6) and as One who had no sin, and yet He was tempted in all points as we are; and we may learn from Him is temptation how to meet temptation and be victorious over it.

I. Temptation.

It is the common lot of all mankind to be tempted (I Cor. 10:13). The strongest and most noble of men are subject to it; angels were tempted — yes, even Jesus was tempted. We need to know about temptation, so we note

1. What It Is (v. 1). Temptation is of the devil. It is, as Principal Fairbairn expressed it, "seduction to evil, solicitation to wrong. It stands distinguished from trial thus: trial tests, seeks to discover the man's moral qualities or character; but temptation persuades to evil, deludes that it may ruin. God tries. Satan tempts."

Note that temptation is not sin, but yielding to the temptation is sin.

We are told by James (Jas. 1:13-15) that man is tempted by his own lusts. He also tells us that God may permit temptations or trials to test our faith (Jas. 1:2, 3), but His purpose is only to prove us able to stand. God does not suffer us to be tempted beyond endurance, but provides a way of escape (I Cor. 10:13).

2. How It Works (vv. 2, 3, 5, 6, 8, 9). Satan has only three temptations, although he is a master at giving them different appearances. The temptation of Jesus followed the same threefold line as that of Adam and Eve (Gen. 3:6), which is described in I John 2:16 as the general temptation of all men, namely, "the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life." Observe how Satan worked on Jesus: (a) By appealing to the flesh (vv. 2, 3). Jesus had fasted 40 days, and Satan took advantage of that fast to suggest that He use His divine power of creation to satisfy His hunger. To do so would have been to deny His very mission on earth.

Satan observes in man the normal appetites of his body, excites them to a high degree, and then tempts him to satisfy them in an improper way. (b) By appealing to pride (vv. 5, 6). God had promised to keep Jesus "in all his ways" (Ps. 91: 11), but casting Himself from the temple was not one of God's "ways" for Him.

The devil wants us to be presumptuous and call it faith, and this is his pitfall for one who really wants to believe—cause him to become a fanatic and substitute foolish presumption for faith. (c) By appealing to the eyes (vv. 8, 9). By showing Christ the kingdoms of the earth in some kind of striking panorama, or moving picture, he offered a short cut to their rule by a brief act of worship of him, rather than by way of the cross. The devil showed his real purpose here. He wants worship—he wants us to bow to him instead of to God.

II. Our Lord Was Victorious Over Satan.

We, too, can triumph in His blessed name. To do so we need to study the way of victory.

1. How to Gain It (vv. 4, 7, 10). Three steps appear: (a) By the right use of Scripture. If our Lord needed and used that weapon, how can we possibly do without it? How can we use it if we do not study it, and hide it in our hearts (Ps. 119: 11)? (b) By complete dependence upon God. Every Scripture used by Jesus against Satan honored God the Father. We cannot fight Satan in our own strength. Luther was right—"Did we in our own strength confide, Our striving would be losing."

The real victory for the Christian is to bring Satan to the foot of the cross. Christ defeated him completely there, and we may plead that victory. (c) By denouncing Satan. Jesus sent him on his way. We may do the same, in Jesus' name. It is always a serious error to argue with Satan, or even to discuss matters with him. He is not divine, but he is a supernatural being with knowledge and cunning which are too much for us. Meet him with Scripture, honor God by your faith in Christ, then "resist the devil, and he will flee from you" (Jas. 4:7).

2. What It Brings (v. 11). When the defeated devil left Christ, angels came and ministered to Him. The overcoming of temptation brings victory, peace, and blessed rest. This is ever true in the life of the believer. Temptations victoriously met make one stronger in meeting the next temptation. There is always a next one, for we read (Luke 4:13) that the devil left Christ only "for a season."

Tomlin conveyed her undivided one-third interest in said tract, (she owning only a one-third, J. D. Mayhugh owning the remaining two-thirds). This said tract has been used solely in the conduct of the business of the J. D. Mayhugh Manufacturing Company. This mill is located on said tract and is equipped with many kinds of machinery which in reality constitutes a part of said realty.

TRACT NO. 2—Consists of five (5) lots in the North Walton Subdivision which said lots are described as follows:

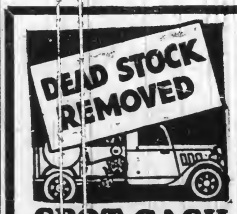
Lying and being in Boone County, Kentucky, near the town of Walton and being lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, as laid out on the plat and plan of North Walton Subdivision as recorded in Plat Book 1, page 3), at Burlington, Kentucky.

TRACT NO. 3—Lying and being in Kenton County, Kentucky, and known and numbered as Lots Nos. 118, 119, 120 on the plat of W. T. Stevenson's estate, said plat being copied and restored Plat No. 304, in the County Clerk's office at Covington, Kenton County, Kentucky.

TRACT NO. 4—Lying and being in Mason County, Kentucky, and in the town of Orangeburg and bounded as follows:

On the North by Main street; on the east by Lewis Collis; on the South by Stone Lick Creek and on the West by Allie Coryell and upon which lot there is a brick dwelling house and other improvements.

TRACT NO. 5—That parcel of land lying and being in the Town of Walton, Boone County, Kentucky, and being Lot No. 3, block A, Richland Court Subdivision, the plat of which is of record in Deed Book 60, page 196, at Burlington, Kentucky.



TRACT NO. 6 — Lying and being in the Town of Walton, Boone County, Kentucky, and being Lots No. 4 and 5 of Block A, Richland Court Subdivision Addition to the town of Walton.

TRACT NO. 7—Being Lot No. 6 as shown on the plat of North Walton Subdivision the plat of which is recorded in Plat Book No. 1, page 3, of the Boone County Records at Burlington, Kentucky.

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sum of money so ordered to be made. For the purchase price, the purchase must execute bond, with approved surety bearing legal interest from day of sale, until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms. Amount to be raised by sale $595.24 with interest from March 23rd, 1933 to date of sale and the further sum of $473.69 with interest from December 11, 1935 to date of sale and the costs of this action.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Fredric March was telling Laura Hope Crews off in no uncertain language for a scene of Warner Bros.' "One Foot in Heaven." As he finished his tirade and turned to leave, Miss Crews stopped him.

"What," she quavered, "are you going to do."

"Make another take," came back March, "I was terrible in that one." Martha Scott is co-starred with March in "One Foot In Heaven," film version of the recent best-selled by Hartzell Spence.

SATURDAY

The song "Melahi," introduced by Maria Montez in "South of Tahiti," was written by Frank Skinner and George Wagner. The latter also was Associate Producer-director of the Universal jungle film, which stars Brian Donlevy.

Brod Crawford, Andy Devine and Miss Montez are featured.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

The secret of Dashiell Hammett's extraordinary heroines, reports Lee Patrick, is out in the open at last. It is this:

Whether the heroine is a wife such a Myrna Loy plays opposite William Powell, or a secretary such as Miss Patrick plays opposite Humphrey Bogart in "The Maltese Falcon," she's a combination of the best traits of secretaries and wives.

TUESDAY

Columbias' "Ladies in Retirement," based upon the sensational Broadway stage success, will be shown at the Gayety Theatre, with Ida Lupino and Louis Hayward. Others in the stellar cast are Evelyn Keyes, Elsa Lanchester, Edith Barrett and Isobel Elsom. Charles Vidor directed the film, which was produced by Lester Cowan and Gilbert Miller.

WED., THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

"Sergeant York," the picture which has received the widest acclaim in years from the nation's film critics, will make its local debut on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Gayety. With Gary Cooper in the title role as Alvin C. York, the Tennessee farmer who was America's greatest soldier hero of the World War, the picture is a compelling human document.

Clothing Project Leaders Meet Mon.

Clothing project leaders from Boone County Homemakers attended the District meeting held at Coppin's Department Store in Covington, Monday, January 19. Miss Iris Davenport, clothing specialist from the University, presented the lesson on clothing for Defense.

Leaders will review the lesson at meetings in their local clubs in March.

Those attending were: Mrs. Margaret Prable, Mrs. John Hempfling, Constance; Mrs. David Pope and Mrs. Norma Aylor, Hebron; Mrs. Orville Willeford, Florence; Mrs. W. T. Renaker and Mrs. Relda Powers, Verona; Mrs. Oscar Fugate and Mrs. Martin Aylor, Taylorsport; Mrs. Ida Mae Ryle, Rabbit Hash; Mrs. Harry Moore, New Haven; Mrs. J. C. Bedinger, Mrs. Hope Vest, Mrs. John L. Vest and Mrs. Alan Gaines, Walton; and Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Acting Home Demonstration Agent.

Miss Ida C. Hagman, Home Furnishing Specialist, from the University of Kentucky, will present a project lesson for leaders from the Homemakers' organization at the courthouse in Burlington, Friday, January 23, at 10:00 a. m. (E.S.T.) All clubs are expected to be represented.

VERONA 4-H CLUB NEWS

Verona 4-H Club held its first monthly meeting January 12, 1942. Our meeting was called to order by our acting president, Mary H. Chipman. The meeting was then taken over by Mr. Frazier, assistant county agent, and the election of officers proceeded. The following officers were elected: Community leader, Mrs. W. W. King; president, Mary Hope Chipman; vice president, Eugene Hiles; secretary, Joyce Ryan; reporter, David Earl King; cheer leaders, Mary Chipman and Joyce Ryan.

We had several new members and hope that they will make good. We said our 4-H pledge before we began, and each officer said something as he was elected and each hoped that we could have a better club next year.

Mr. Frazier and Mrs. Moore both made very nice speeches and said that they wanted a better club next year, and we all hope so.

—David King, Reporter

They still make some motion pictures to appeal to the 12-year-old mind — of the producer.—Los Angeles Times.

Regulations Announced Affecting Conduct Of Aliens In United States

Attorney General Francis Biddle today announced new regulations affecting the conduct of German, Italian and Japanese nationals throughout continental United States.

The new regulations, issued under authority of the Presidential proclamation of January 14, 1942, relating to alien enemies, require all German, Italian and Japanese aliens to apply at the nearest first or second class, or county seat, post office for a Certificate of Identification. The requirement applies to all enemy nationals 14 years of age or over who have not yet taken the oath of allegiance before a Federal judge, the final step in acquiring American citizenship.

The identification program, which will affect approximately 1,100,000 German, Italian and Japanese non-citizens, will be directed by Mr. Earl G. Harrison, former Director of Alien Registration and now a Special Assistant to the Attorney General advising on alien problems.

The regulations provide for two separate periods for the submitting of applications for identity certificates, as follows:

1. All German, Italian and Japanese nationals residing in the states of California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizon, Montana, Utah and Idaho are required to file applications at the nearest first or second class, or county seat post ofifce between February 2 and February 7, 1942, inclusive.

2. All German, Italian and Japanese nationals residing elswhere in continental United States are required to file applications at the nearest first or second class, or county seat, post office between February 9 and February 28, 1942, inclusive.

Failure to comply with new regulations may be punished by severe penalties, including possible internment of the enemy alien for the duration of the war.

The regulations require enemy aliens, in applying for identification certificates, to provide a photograph of themselves (to be attached to the identity card) and to answer a number of questions concerning their current activities. Printed directions for the filing of applications will shortly be available at post offices.

The regulations provide that after a careful check has been made of each application, the applicant will be provided with a Certificate of Identification bearing his photograph, index fingerprint and signature. He will thereafter be required to carry the certificate with him at all times.

In announcing the new regulations, the Attorney General said:

"The objective of the Department of Justice in issuing identification certificates to aliens of enemy nationalities is the dual one of strengthening our internal safety and protecting the loyal alien, even if he has become technically an alien enemy. The plan for issuing these certificates was worked out after consultation with Lieutenant General J. L. DeWitt, Commander of the Ninth Corps Area.

"I want to make it clear that in no sense will our issuance of identification certificates be a re-registration of a portion of the alien population. We are entirely satisfied with the results of the 1940 national registration of aliens, and this new procedure will not duplicate it. We deem it essential, however, for the protection of loyal alien enemies as well as for our own national safety, to obtain supplementary information of all German, Italian and Japanese non-citizens and provide them with identification certificates bearing their photographs."

A PROCLAMATION

By the President of the United States of America

WHEREAS section 21 of title 50 of the United States Code provides as follows:

"Whenever there is a declared war between the United States and any foreign nation or government, or any invasion or predatory incursion is perpetrated, attempted, or threatened against the territory of the United States by any foreign nation or government, and the President makes public proclamation of the event, all natives, citizens, denizens, or subjects of the hostile nation or government, being of the age of fourteen years and upward, who shall be within the United States and not actually naturalized, shall be liable to be apprehended, restrained, secured, and removed as alien enemies. The President is authorized in any such event, by his proclamation thereof, or other public act, to direct, the conduct to be observed, on the part of the United States, toward the aliens who become so liable; the manner and degree of the restraint to which they shall be subject and in what cases, and upon what security their residence shall be permitted, and to provide for the removal of those who, not being permitted to reside within the United States, refuse or neglect to depart therefrom; and to establish any other regulations which are found necessary in the premises and for the public safety";

WHEREAS by sections 22, 23 and 24 of title 50 of the United States Code further provision is made relative to alien enemies;

WHEREAS by Proclamation No. 2525 of December 7, 1941, and Proclamation Nos. 2526 and 2527 of December 8, 1941, I prescribed and proclaimed certain regulations governing the conduct of alien enemies; and

WHEREAS I find it necessary in the interest of nation defense to prescribe regulations additional and supplemental to such regulations;

NOW, THEREFORE, I FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution of the United States and the aforesaid sections of the United States Code, do hereby prescribe and proclaim the following regulations, additional and supplemental to those prescribed by the aforesaid proclamations of December 7, 1941 and December 8, 1941;

All alien enemies within the continental United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands are hereby required, at such times and places and in such manner as may be fixed by the Attorney General of the United States, to apply for and acquire certificates of identification; and the Attorney General is hereby authorized and directed to provide, as speedily as may be practicable, for the receiving of such applications and for the issuance of appropriate identification certificates, and to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for effecting such identifications; and all alien enemies and all other persons are hereby required to comply with such rules and regulations. The Attorney General for completion of such identification procedure, every alien enemy within the limits of the continental United States, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands shall at all times have his identification card on his person.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this fourteenth day of January in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-sixth.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT,
By the President
CORDELL HULL
The Secretary of State.

Just Let Me Tell You A Few Facts About Walking, So You'll Realize Just How Much It Can Do For You.

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-8 Madison, Covington

The normal heart, you know, beats about seventy-two times a minute and pumps about six ounces of blood with each beat. Now, in fast walking, or at the rate of four miles an hour—(which is how fast you should walk to do you some good)—you'll find the normal heart will INCREASE its beat ten times to the minute, pumping six ounces of blood at each beat, gives sixty ounces per minute or 3600 an hour, which is 225 pounds. You can easily see that 225 ADDITIONAL pounds of blood pumped DAILY through your veins means just that much more life to your whole body.

There's no use of my telling you to get out and walk if you are having trouble with your feet, because I know you won't do it, BUT —if I tell you how to get rid of those aching, paining feet, first— then there's nothing to keep you from walking every day and benefitting your health by this wonderful exercise.

It has also been found that millions suffer without knowing the reason why — those headaches, those leg pains, and even sleepless nights may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

Kentucky Infantile Paralysis Victim Gets Beery Autograph

Day after day Robert Henry lives according to the routine of Kosair Hospital, where he has been since he was stricken with Infantile Paralysis four months ago. Robert is unable to sit up, and that's pretty tough for anyone, especially so when one's 17.

In that condition, it is not difficult to understand why Robert didn't even think of trying to see Wallace Beery when he visited Louisville for the World Premiere of "The Bugle Sounds," much of which was filmed at Fort Knox.

And then it happened with great speed!

Mr. Beery would be glad to open the Wishing Well for the President's Birthday Celebration. Seven Infantile Paralysis children were brought to the Well and Mr. Beery made a nice talk, while the newsreel cameras clicked, he deposited his personal check for $100, and he won forever the hearts of the children.

At Robert's bed he sat down for a chat and autographed Robert's book, with which Robert can prove this story when he returns to his home in Mt. Sterling.

Looking on as Mr. Beery writes his name is Andrew Broaddus, Acting Mayor of Louisville, and Kosair Hospital Nurse Nora Gatliff.

Mrs. Herma Mathews is at Walton, at the bedside of her brother, Mr. Scott Chambers, who is ill.

Don't forget the Red Cross needs your help. We have plenty of sewing work on hand, which can be had by calling at the home of Mrs. J. T. Bradburn.

Mr. Charles Reading died at his home, Washington, D. C., last week and was brought to Highland cemetery for burial. Mrs. Reading is a sister of the late Laura Chambers and aunt of Mrs. Herma Mathews.

Forest Krutz is very ill at this writing.

Mrs. Louis Hitzfield spent Friday in Cincinnati on business.

Edward Walston, Billy and Frank Hitzfield spent Saturday with Sammy Huey, down in the country.

Mrs. Mary Berkshire and Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Randall attended church here Sunday morning.

Mrs. Dorothy Baxter was calling on friends in Petersburg, Sunday.

The Homemakers met with Mrs. J. B. Berkshire last Thursday, it being too cold at the schoolhouse.

Mrs. E. A. Stott, who has been quite ill for two weeks is able to be out again, thanks to Dr. E. J. Love.

A letter from Mrs. J. E. Gaines, of Warsaw, stated she and Mr. Gaines were enjoying the best of health.

E. A. Stott suffered severe cuts on his hand when he fell into a meat slicer at his store last week. He is improving nicely at this writing.

Mrs. Noble and Johnna Mae Terrill spent last Tuesday on the Covington tobacco market. They received a good price for their tobacco.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell Hensley returned home Friday, after a two weeks' visit at the home of Mrs. Hensley's mother Mrs. Robt. Grant.

Machinery Meeting Held Here Tuesday

The Boone County Agricultural Defense Board met at Burlington Tuesday with machinery dealers, repairmen and school representatives to discuss the 1942 Farm Machinery problems confronting the farmer, according to H. R. Forkner, Secretary of County Agricultural Defense Board.

Plans are being made to secure needed parts immediately and make needed repairs on all machinery well in advance of the crop season. Fear of not getting parts immediately when needed makes it imperative that farmers begin now getting machinery ready for the increase production asked for in the National Defense program.

Herrington Lake Has Been Stocked With Wall-Eyed Pike

Frankfort, Ky—Kentucky's major fishing spot, Herrington Lake, has received its first stocking of wall-eyed pike, according to a statement issued today by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

Wakefield stated that at least he was able to carry out the plans he made last February during the North American Wildlife Conference in Memphis, but not exactly in the way he had expected.

Last year it was thought that wall-eyed pike fingerlings might be obtained from some Federal agency, but the supply this year would not permit that. Then, with the knowledge that some of the fish life in the Ohio river, which is threatened by the increasing pollution of the stream, should and could be salvaged, Wakefield directed Minor Clark superintendent of hatcheries, to net a supply of the wall-eyes from the Ohio.

A large enough supply was obtained to release half a truck load at each of the public fishing camps on the lake. The first cans were poured into the lake at Ed Lane's camp and the other half of the truck load was released at the camp of Ralph Forbes.

If the wall-eyes catch on well in Herrington Lake and thrive as the Research made by the Division of Game and Fish would indicate they would, the lake's fishing will be improved a great deal for years to come.

The wall-eyed pike or "jack" or "jack-salmon" as it is more commonly known, spawns early in the spring, running with suckers and other early spawners. Clean, gravelly or rocky streams are chosen for this purpose by the breeding fish. The specie is active both by day and by night. Investigations by fisheries scientists and reports by anglers indicate that these fish are much more active during the night, searching over shallows and sandbars in quest of their food. Wall-eyes may be caught on artificial lures of many varieties, but the best catches are still made with live minnows as bait. As a food fish, many rank the wall-superior to al lother game fish except the salmon and trout.

Farmers Urged To Make Checkup Of Old Scrap Iron

The Boone County A. C. Committe recommends that all farmers make a careful checkup of their supply of old scrap iron on the farm. Any scrap iron that will not be used to any advantage in the near future should be sold as the Government is in need of this material. A standard price is guaranteed by the Government, and the Cincinnati area is one of the better markets for selling it. This is one of the ways you can help the country in this present emergency.

Closing Date For Signing ACP Has Been Set January 31

The closing date for signing 1941 Agricultural Conservation Applications has been set for January 31, 1942. About 100 applications for payment have not been completely signed and these persons have been notified, who have failed to sign to date.

No payment of any kind can be made unless the application has been completely signed and approved by the local A. C. Committee.

The closing date for signing applications has originally been March 31, but the 1941 program began two months earlier or July 1, 1941 and the date for signing applications closes two months earlier.

SURVEY TO BE CONDUCTED

BY SCHOOLS OF BOONE COUNTY—FARMERS URGED TO CO-OPERATE WITH STUDENTS IN THEIR COMMUNITY.

The Boone County Agricultural Defense Board met with the County Superintendent of School, farm machinery dealers and farm engineering specialist of the College of Agriculture in a meeting at Burlington on last Tuesday, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The board submitted the National Defense Farm Machinery Repair program which calls for immediate action on the repair of all machinery in preparation for the coming crop season. Immediate ordering of new parts and the overhauling and repairing of all machinery is important. Production quotas allow for only 83 per cent of the new machinery to be sold in 1942 as was in 1940. Increased production and shortage of labor will call for more power equipment this year and there is a possibility of a shortage of repair parts when the cropping season gets under way.

The board urged that all farmers repair their machinery and order direct from their dealers needed new parts. Order now!

Prof. D. H. Norris, County Superintendent, pledged the support of the schools in making a county survey of farm machinery needs. Each school will arrange to contact farmers in its district. All farmers are urged to cooperate fully in this movement in order that Agriculture may be fully prepared to do its best Defense job. "Produce sufficient food for the nation and the Victory fighting forces."

New Haven Will Hold Registration For Civilian Defense

All people over 16 years of age who live in the New Haven School District are urged to meet at the New Haven school on Thursday evening, January 29, between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock in order that they may register for volunteer service in the Civilian Defense program.

The subjects for volunteer service are as follows: First aid and nursing, rationing, guard service, entertainment, fire watchers, typing and clerical work, auxiliary police.

John Bowman

John Bowman passed away at his home near Bullittsburg Baptist Church, Monday, January 26 from an attack of acute indigestion. He was 65 years old.

He is survived by his widow, Mary Rogers Bowman one son and one daughter. Burial was in Bullittsburg cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

SECOND RED CROSS GAME

TO BE PLAYED AT NEW HAVEN FRIDAY NIGHT, WITH WALTON—PROCEEDS FROM BURLINGTON GAME DONATED.

The New Haven school has announced that the entire gate receipts from its scheduled basketball game with the Walton-Verona school at the New Haven gym Friday night will be donated to the American Red Cross. This game is one of the highlights in the New Haven team's schedule and it is expected by officials of the school that a nice sum will be raised.

In addition to contributing a service to a worthy cause, the New Haven team has another motive in offering their services—to avenge a 29-22 defeat administered by the Walton team earlier in the season, which the Walton boys vows shall stand.

The Burlington school donated the proceeds from its game Friday night, between the high school team and the Southside Baptist team of Covington, to the Red Cross. The officials and the opposing team received nothing for their services so that the entire receipts of twenty dollars could be donated this organization.

The day was spent playing various games, and all left at a late hour wishing Mrs. Beil many more happy birthdays.

NEW HAVEN TOPS HEBRON QUINTET

IN COUNTY BASKETBALL HEADLINER—WALTON ADDS TWO MORE VICTORIES, BURLINGTON ONE.

After battling to a draw for two quarters, the New Haven Tigers came back in the second half to win the headline game of the Boone County Basketball Conference, 38-29, from Hebron Saturday night on the Cardinal floor. The Tigers were held to an 8-8 tie in the first quarter, 15-15 at the half, before they took a 26-20 lead in the third period.

Simpson and Judge divided high score honors, with 11 each for New Haven, while Buckler hit the net for nine to best the Cardinals.

The Hebron reserves salvaged the preliminary, 32-27.

The Walton-Verona line held firm against two attacks during the week, the Bearcats throwing back the Crittenden team 61-33, at Walton Friday night in their first encounter.

The winners had inflicted a 27-15 loss on their opponents at the half, behind the 15 and 12-point firing of Demoisey and Groger, while May scored 18 hits for Crittenden.

The Walton-Verona reserves scored a reconnaissance victory, 31-17, in the preliminary.

Tuesday night the Bearcats beat off an attack by the Dry Ridge squad 51-33 on Walton court. The winners had advanced 31-21 at the halfway mark. The Walton-Verona reserves routed their rival 23 to 19.

The Burlington Eagles edged out the Southside Baptist, Covington, 34-31, at Burlington, Friday night. The entire gate receipts were turned over to the Red Cross.

The Eagles took an early lead and were ahead, 24-12 at the half, as Porter netted 16 points. Stradleman was high for the losers with 13.

The Florence Knights suffered a 31-23 defeat at the hands of St. Henry, Friday night at Florence, as the Knights trailed, 13-17 at the half. K. Cason topped the Florence scorers with 10, followed by Mardis with six. Brindell netted 13 for St. Henry.

The Florence Juniors suffered a 25-14 defeat in the preliminary.

This Week's Schedule

Friday Night—Walton at New Haven; Florence at Burlington; Hebron at Silver Grove.

Saturday night—Covington at Walton; Old Springs at New Haven; Burlington at California.

Tuesday Night — Walton at Beechwood.

H. S. CLEVELAND NAMED TO POST

WILL ACT AS FARM PLACEMENT REPRESENTATIVE IN UNITED STATES EMPLOYMENT SERVICE.

One of the big tasks ahead of the newly federalized United States Employment Service is assuring an adequate supply of workers for farms, W. H. Fraysure, director for Kentucky, said today in announcing the appointment of Horace S. Cleveland as farm placement representative.

"An expanded farm placement service is necessary to produce much more food now for home consumption and the allies. Many farm workers are now in the armforced and in war-time jobs and a serious shortage of workers may result," Fraysure said.

"To assure effective recruitment and use of Kentucky's agricultural labor under the program being organized by the United States Employment Service, I sought out the best qualified man to conduct the farm program in this State. It took considerable persuasion to convince Mr. Cleveland that this job in our war-effort demanded his acceptance," Fraysure said.

Cleveland is a practical farmer with twenty years farming experience in Henry County. He is active in agricultural organization and is familiar with farm problems of the state. In addition to being director of the Henry County Farm Bureau, he is president of the Producers' Livestock Marketing Association, and is on the board of directors of the National Livestock Marketing Association.

He was a member of the State Board of Agriculture, 1936-1940; Manager of the State Fair for four years; member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky and a member of the Henry County Board of AAA. Cleveland, 42 years old was reared in Boone County. He is a graduate of Transylvania College.

W. V. Allen, farm placement representative for the United States Employment Service in the region consisting of Kentucky, Michigan, and Ohio, in conference with Director Fraysure and Mr. Cleveland said:

"We must have increased production of food for two reasons. One is to place vegetable oils and other food products which we have been receiving from the Orient, also from Egypt and the African colonies. The other is to help feed our allies in Europe and elsewhere, especially in these countries where crops have been destroyed by war.

"To get this increased production we must use youth, also women in the rural regions to replace farm workers who are in military service or who have taken industrial jobs. These new sources of labor must be used to harvest lighter crops of fruits and vegetables, and to operate canning preserving establishments this year and while the war continues.

"Action must be taken now so the farmers will know they are assured of ample labor to harvest their 1942 crops. Otherwise planting will be reduced and production will be below our requirements. Farmers will be asked to do their part by releasing extra help promptly after the harvest has been completed so that these workers may reregister at the U S. employment offices and be ready for their next field of duty without loss of time between jobs."

Boone Ministers Hold Conference

A number of the ministers of Boone County met at the Florence Methodist Church the morning of January 19th, for the purpose of re-organizing the Boone County Minister's Conference. The following officers were elected: President, C. J. Alford; vice president, T. O. Harrison; secretary-treasurer, R. A. Johnson.

Eight of the ministers of the county were present and many things of interest were discussed. They adjourned to meet February 2nd at the Florence Methodist Church, 10 a. m.

We feel that this is a needed movement on the part of the ministers in the county and feel that all should try to be present in these meetings as there are many things that we need to consider in this day in which we live.

Ministers, help to make the next meeting one hundred percent in attendance.

Fruit Specialist Will Assist Growers

Boone County fruit growers will hold two field meetings on Wednesday, February 4th, to study 1942 crop prospects and to study spray, fertilizer and management problems to be followed in producing profitable crops this year, according to H. R. Forkner, Cohnty Agent.

W. W. Magill, fruit specialist, College of Agriculture, will meet with growers in both meetings to advise and assist them in making their plans. Mr. Magill will also bring a report on the State and National fruit situation.

The schedule of the meetings follow:

9:30 a. m. (E. S. T.) Home of F. H. Rouse in Burlington. Following a general discussion meeting, nearby orchards will be visited.

1:15 p. m. (E. S. T.) Emmett Liddell's, Constance-Hebron road.

All fruit growers are invited and urged to attend these meetings in which much valuable information is given by the leading growers who attend.

FARMERS PLAN WAR PRODUCTION

The machinery set up by the Department of Agriculture to control the production of farm crops is now serving the nation in its war effort by materially facilitating increased production of vitally needed products.

The AAA program has been much misunderstood by many people who have not been interested in understanding what it attempted to do. The purpose behind crop control is to regulate production to probable demands, with provision for a reasonable surplus to avoid shortages.

Now that the United States is expected to feed the United Nations, as well as to provide their armies with weapons, the Agriculture Department is taking steps to assist farmers in providing the necessary increased production.

With large stocks of wheat and cotton existing, these crops remain rigidly controlled because additional production would present a "waste of labor and supplies." Because hogs and chickens have increased, larger feed supplies will be needed and, consequently, the corn-planting goal for 1942 has been increased from 90,000,000 to 95,000,000 acres.

In addition, emphasis is placed upon oil-bearing crops because of the loss of Far Eastern supplies. The acreage of peanuts, soybeans and flaxseed will be greatly increased.

Carrying out this program, the acreage in peanuts has been increased from 3,500,000 to 5,000,000 acres; soybeans from 7,000,000 to 9,000,000 acres; and flaxseed, from 3,367,000 to 4,500,000 acres.

There will also be increases in the production goals of other crops including rice, dry beans, eggs, hogs, flue-cured burley, and other types of tobacco, canned peas and canned tomatoes.

UNITED LABOR A POLITICAL FORCE

The unexpected move of John L. Lewis, founder and former president of the Congress for Industrial Organization, to resume peace conferences with the rival American Federation of Labor, is a step of momentous importance.

The division of American labor has threatened the stability of gains made in recent years. Naturally, when labor organizations stop fighting each other, they will be able to do a better job for the laborers they represent.

Looking into the future a bit, it seems probable that eventually the nation may find that the unified labor organization will become a political party. This does not mean that labor will, of necessity, nominate its own candidates, but that the leaders of labor will attempt to mobilize the labor votes to influence national policy and secure full recognition of the rights of labor.

There is nothing inherently wrong with this but there is always the possibility that labor leaders will over-reach themselves and, conscious of their political power, attempt to secure unwarranted gains for labor. This, in the long run, would be destructive to the true interests of American labor, and consequently, it is to be hoped that the labor organization will be headed by responsible officials who will exercise their power with judgment and wisdom.

WANTED: A NAVAL VICTORY

Admiral Thomas E. Hart, Commander of the U. S. Asiatic Fleet and recently appointed to command the entire naval forces of the United Forces in that area, reached his headquarters in the Netherlands East Indies by submarine.

The Navy Department also reports that the entire Asiatic Fleet, with all warships intact, is in comparatively secure waters. Moreover, the "fleet train," the slow-moving collection of supply ships tankers, cargo vessels, tugs, tenders, repair ships and other auxiliaries is also safe.

It is suggested by a writer in Washington that the feat of a seamanship involved in evacuating these vessels will "one day be ranked among the notable episodes of the war."

In view of the difficulties surrounding the operation, this observation may be true, but the people of the United States, it may be said, are not greatly elated over "naval episodes." What they would like to hear is news of a naval victory, resulting in the smashing up of some of the Japanese squadrons operating with almost reckless abandon at widely scattered points in the Far East.

CHINESE SUPERIOR TO JAPS

For many years careless Americans have been inclined to think of the Chinese and Japanese together, considering them very similar but this is a decided mistake.

For hundreds of years, the Chinese have been noted for their industry, honesty and love of home and country.

The Japanese, on the contrary, ever since Townsend Harris went to Japan as the first Minister from this country, have been noted for their "craft, cunning and falsehood."

Mr. Harris, who served in Japan from 1855 to 1860, kept a journal which shows that he was particularly annoyed with the Japanese propensity toward lying. He tells of occasions when he was forced to stand by and listen to intricate explainations which were nothing but "a tissue of lies."

BRITISH AIR CASUALTIES

In December, 1940, 3,793 British civilians were killed and an additional 5,044 were injured as a result of air raids.

The figures for December, 1941, recently released by the British Ministry of Home Security, show that only 34 civilians were killed by air raids.

The figures will give the reader a fair idea of the success attained by the Germans in their efforts to conquer Britain by air.

BRITISH CUT KIDDIES' MILK

The British Food Ministry has recently been forced to cut the issue of milk to school children. The allowance is now one third of a pint daily.

The reduction was caused by a drop in milk supplies and is expected to be temporary. However, it illustrates the difficulties that confront the British Government in its efforts to carry on a tremendous war and, at the same time, import foodstuffs for the people of the British Isles.

ARE WE HOSPITABLE?

One of the ways in which the residents of this county can assist in the growth of this entire section, and especially their own community, is to be helpful and considerate to all strangers with whom they come in contact.

The growth of a city depends upon winning newcomers. When strangers come to our community, how long does it take them to feel that someone is interested in them? If they move here to work, how many months elapse before the rest of us make them feel that they are one with us?

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Occasionally a citizen comes to The Recorder with the request that some article be printed. Often, the matter is worthy of attention, being interesting and of public benefit.

Occasionally, the purpose in the mind of the citizen is to acquaint the people of the county with something about his business or what he sells.

Readers of The Recorder understand the difference between "advertising" and "news."

SELECTION OF AIR CADETS NOW BASED ON ABILITY

Army pilot trainees hereafter will be chosen on the basis of individual ability rather than educational background, Fifth Corps Area headquarters, Columbus, Ohio, announced today.

This and other modifications in the Army Air Forces training program were expected to qualify for enlistment an additional two million men, including thousands from Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana.

Major changes, revealed through War Department revision of Army Aviation Cadet requirements, include:

1. Adoption of a standard merit system of selecting flying officer candidates based on simple aptitude tests in place of previously required educational examination or college credit;

2. Lowering of physical and minimum age requirements to accept applicants 18 to 26 years old, inclusive, instead of 20 to 26 as formerly;

3. Opening of appointments to married men as well as to single men, if dependents are self-supporting;

4. Immediate appointment and enlistment of successful applicants by local Examining Boards;

5. Placing of all accepted trainees in some branch of the Air Force instead of returning to civilian status those who "wash out."

Besides merit selection which will apply to all flying officer candidates, including pilots, bombardiers and navigators, the Air Corps will continue to accept a limited number of applications for "ground duty" commissions on the basis of specialized college training. These include engineering, communications, meteorology and armament, the latter heretofore closed to civilians.

To accommodate the anticipated flood of applications under the revised requirements, it is planned to establish at least three new Examining Boards in the Corps Area besides the six now operating in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana.

The aptitude "screening" test will be given all applicants for flying training regardless of the amount of college they have had. The test in which the correct answer must be chosen from five possible answers given for each question, is designed to determine candidates' ability to learn and to pursue successfully the Air Force training program.

The test measures the applicant's mechanical comprehension and his ability to understand mechanical apparatus and diagrams; his alertness to new developments in science, aviation and military affair and his judgment in practical situations.

Civilians, Selective Service registrants and personnel of all components of the Army are eligible to apply under the new system. Those who pass the test will receive a physical examination similar to that given R. O. T. C. trainees and reserve officers, except normal eyesight and color vision is required.

Successful applicants may be enlisted immediately and sent to one of the training centers. There they will be given another examination to determine final assignment for one of the courses.

Applicants who fail to qualify for either the flying or ground duty courses may be assigned to one of the technical schools for training of Air Force specialists.

As formerly, Aviation Cadets receive $105 monthly, plus food, lodging, clothing and medical care during their 35-week instruction period. Then they are commissioned second lieutenants in the Army Air Forces reserve, drawing monthly salaries of $345.50, plus annual bonuses of $500. Applications may be made at any Army Recruiting Office or direct to one of the Examining Boards.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS CALLS FOUR DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—Luke 5:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men. —Mark 1:17.

Followers of Christ are those who have not counted their goods nor their persons their own, but have willingly yielded all to Him. Obviously many who profess to follow Him have only done so in that measure which will not interfere with their own plans and interests. They need to study this lesson with care.

The call of Christ is one which demands willing and wholehearted obedience.

I. Yielded Possessions (vv. 1-3).

These disciples had already responded to the ministry of Jesus and had followed Him for a time (see John 1:35-4:54), but they did not yet know the fullness of surrender to Christ and had now gone back to their old work of fishing. May they not be typical of many in our day who know the Lord and have for a time followed Him closely, but have again become engrossed in their daily vocation, perhaps just making money?

Jesus was now ready to call them out into a lifetime of service, and the first thing He did was to ask the use of their chief possession, their boat. That was first yielded to Him.

It was not by chance that it was Peter's boat which was just at hand when the Master needed it. Such things do not "just happen." The destinies of men are in the hands of God, and with His children the simplest happening is known to and controlled by Him. He who numbers the hairs on our heads, He who observes the fall of the sparrow, knows about everything that happens to us.

II. Yielded Service (vv. 4-7).

Having completed His teaching by word, Jesus had a special object lesson for Peter and the others concerning the fruitlessness of service apart from His guidance and control, and the blessed results which come from obedience to Him.

Taking them where he found them, He showed the disciples that He was the Master even of their secular vocation of fishing. He is the One who knows more about your business than you do, who can give or withhold His blessing. All that we have has come to us from His hand, and it is all within His control.

This Almighty One was ready to call these fishermen out into the greater business of fishing for men by revealing to them His mighty power to bless and prosper the fisherman—who becomes a fisher of men.

III. Yielded Lives (vv. 8-11).

The giving of their possessions, the yielding of their work into His hands in obedience, led up to His call for the yielding of their lives.

Often we speak of God's claims upon the life of the Christian as though it were the fiat of an autocrat, one who demands his rights. God might well do so, for He has full authority and power over all of us, but He is a gracious God and gently leads His children along to the place where they make their own decision to leave all and follow Him.

The work of God in the world is carried on by men. The joy of proclaiming the gospel was not given to the angels, but to redeemed men and women. Knowing the regenerating grace of God in their own lives, they have been called during all this Christian era to go out to tell others.

In preparation for that ministry our Lord needed yielded lives, which He sought and found in these humble fishermen. They were "not visionaries or dreamers, but were practical men with common sense. They had been disciplined in the school of common toil . . . Though unlearned so far as formal theological training was concerned, these men were teachable. Under the tutelage of the Son of God Himself they received matchless informal training . . . leading to a record of service which the world will never forget. It is that sort of teaching that counts. We, too, may learn in the school of Christ, through a study of His Word, assisted by His Spirit, and through the yielding of our lives to His control" (B. L. Olmstead).

Christ no longer walks this earth to seek and call out disciples as He did these men, but the blessed succession of those of whom it may be said, "They forsook all and followed Him" (v. 11), continues to this day.

We repeat what we have said before, that one of the thrilling things about teaching Sunday school is that somewhere, in some class this next Sunday, God is going to touch the heart of some boy or girl who will be a leader for Him for the next generation.

This is the time of the year when it's a good idea to be sure how thick the ice is.

The man who learn to read and assimilate the contents of other minds is the possessor of real intelligence.

THE WAR LORDS
By Lucille R. Garrison

I watch the night clouds falling
The wings of night were still;
Soon many a light would twinkle
On many a distant hill.
But many a town would weep
The lights, the lights of yore;
Where deepest darkness now prevails,
To our plutonian shore.
Yes, soon the sky will streak
With fire from up above;
So oft we think of realms on high
I think are filled with love.
Of planet far beyond our reach
That leads unto the stars;
For this, this bloody land of ours
With all its taint of wars.
When blood shall flow
In the streets of our towns
And the War Lords' war shall cease,
When our youth and our wealth
Have vanished away,
Then perhaps we shall find peace.
But who will suffer this conflict of man?
And who will reap the spoil?
You may be sure it will be a Lord,
Not the ones that were made to toil.
Oh yes if it were for our freedom
I'm sure we would cheer and give our all;
But why must we suffer for the sake of these Lords,
That sooner or later will fall.
For freedom we give "that democracy live"
For the stars and the stripes we cheer;
For the brave that have died, we fought side by side,
And never the enemy fear.
Now all that I pray will happen some day,
That peace will reign again;
So the War Lords' war with all of their war
Will reap their wealth in vain.
When the War Lords sign in blood, their names
In a filthy and reckless scrawl,
I will think of our "men" who fell over there,
When the night clouds begin to fall.

The above poem was written in memory of our boys who fell during the attack at Pearl Harbor.

BELLEVIEW CHURCH OF CHRIST
Sam Hamilton, Minister

Bible School 9:30 C. S. T. Russell Rogers, Supt.

Worship Service 10:30.

Sermon Subject "The Threefold Witness."

We are pleased over the very noticeable increase of attendance at the worship services. The spirit of cooperation and interest in the work of the Kingdom is definitely on the rise in this community.

The Church has provided an attractive roll of honor which carries the names and present addresses of our boys who are serving our country and us in the armed forces. The members of the congregation have agreed by unanimous consent to write each of the boys on the roll a letter, or card at least once each month; that is from each individual in the congregation.

As soon as the roll is complete we will list the names in this column. If you have a boy in the service and you are a member or former member of this congregation send his (or her) name to the minister for entry on the roll of honor. If you are a member or friend of this Church start this month to write to the boys, they'll appreciate it greatly. Th Church is planning some special activity along this line of a more "filling nature" in the near future.

Elders and deacons, attention: Regular monthly meeting at the home of Bro. W. G. Kite, Saturday evening, Jan. 31. Full attendance requested.

We welcome our new neighbors on the Daley farm.

AMERICAN FOOD REACHES ENGLAND

One million tons of American food have reached England under the Lend-Lease Act, the British Food Mission has advised Secretary of Agriculture Wickard.

This food, even in its highly concentrated form, would fill a string of freight cars almost 400 miles long, or approximately the airline distance from Lexington, Kentucky, to Washington, D. C. Of the total amount, about a fifth consisted of dairy and poultry products, another fifth of fruits and vegetables, and still another fifth of pork and lard.

The British listed their specific requirements of American food soon after the Lend-Lease Act became law on March 11, 1941. Shipments were moving into Great Britain by May. Agriculture was able to deliver immediately and was fully prepared to make necessary adjustments to keep on delivering at a rapid accelerated pace.

In six months, America sent to the British people 14 per cent of these cheese produced in the United States, 13 per cent of our evaporated milk, 12 per cent of our dry skim milk for human consumption, and 5 per cent of the eggs produced in this period.

In 1942 American food will flow abroad in even greater quantities. Lend-Lease shipments will amount to nearly a third of the cheese produced in this country, more than a third of our dry skim milk output, over a fifth of our evaporated milk about a tenth of the eggs produced on American farms and about one-seventh of the pork and one-fifth of the lard output of the United States.

HEBRON

Mrs. Frank Aylor spent Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. John Grant, of Burlington.

Miss Dorothy Rouse returned home Tuesday, after a month's visit with friends at Macon, Ga.

Mrs. Ella Getker is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. L. H. Rouse and Mr. Rouse.

Miss Minnie Baxter and Chas. Beall of Florence were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Hempfling and two daughters, of near Taylorsport spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Conner.

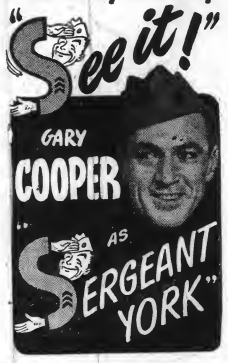
An oyster supper will be given at the Lutheran Church Saturday night. Proceeds will be used for the new Hammond organ, recently purchased.

The infant son born to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jarmen, Sunday morning, passed away Sunday night.

What happened to the Boone County husband who declared last year that he would not go into debt for Christmas presents in 1941?

Advertising is an old custom that is observed by most of our successful businessmen.

Books for Buddies



Ten million books will be sought for men of the United States armed forces and Merchant Marine through this poster, designed by the Nationally known illustrator, C. B. Falls. WITH SMART, NEW PLASTIC ADAPTER UNITS

Although most people don't realize it, glare can be as harmful to eyes as not enough light. Direct rays of light shining into the eyes cause constant blinking, which results in nervous fatigue and eye-strain. If you have a bare bulb hanging from a drop cord or a single unit ceiling fixture in which the bulb is not shielded from the eyes, try one of these smart new plastic adapter units which have been designed to correct this condition at low cost.

See how its scientifically designed plastic diffusing bowl spreads abundant soft light evenly throughout the room ... how it helps make seeing easier. Simple, efficient, easy to install, these handy new "glare chasers" cost so little you can have them wherever needed. Twelve-inch size for large rooms only $1.65 complete with 150-watt bulb. Ten-inch size only $1.45, including a 100-watt bulb. . . . Easy terms are available if desired.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

The 28th of January being her birthday, Mrs. Sallie R. Miller, of Walton was most pleasantly surprised upon returning from church Sunday morning, to find her home filled with relatives, and the ir teeming with delightful aroma arising from the food which filled tables, stoves, buffet, and all available space. There were nearly a half a hundred who partook of the bountiful repast, all but eight being either sister, neice, or nephew of Mrs. Miller, and to be sure the children and grandchildren.

The hours had been secluded in a nearby valley and not a hint was given until the strains of "Happy Birthday To You" were heard when Mrs. Miller entered the front door, as they welcomed her home.

Rev. J. Russell Cross was in Louisville the past mid-week to attend a meeting of Presbytery.

An unknown woman was found unconscious at the wheel of her car Thursday night on Highway 42 near Beaver. She was brought to Dr. Coe's office in the village by a good samaritan and later, still unconscious was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for observation.

Mrs. Alma B. Riley spent a part of the past week in Florence with her kinswoman, Mrs. Jane Garber Utz, who has been quite ill, but is now nicely convalescent.

Mrs. Jimmy Carver spent Thursday with her friend, Mrs. Roy Butler.

Rev. J. Russell Cross was dinner guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Norman.

Mrs. Boyd Jones is enjoying a delightful visit with her kinspeople in Louisville.

A large delegation from the Baptist congregation was in Covington Thursday to attend the quarterly conference of the W. M. U. of the North Bend Association, meeting at the Madison Avenue Church.

An interested group of women are meeting each Thursday night in the Presbyterian Church rooms to study Home Hygiene. Miss Elizabeth Lowery, Boone County Red Cross Nurse is teaching this class, and proving a very capable instructress.

Mr. and Mrs. Ab Dilmer and Miss Wanda Lee Ditmer were here Sunday for the day with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green.

UNION W M. U.

The W. M. U. of the Union Baptist Church held its regular monthly meeting at the church on Wednesday, January 14, with fourteen members and one visitor present.

The morning hours were spent in the following manner: Singing of our hymn of year, "The Light of the World Is Jesus" and repeating of our Watchword in unison. The reading of the minutes by Mrs. Ruth Mason, and the reports of our treasurer, Mrs. Austin Gschwind and Mrs. Anna Smith our young people's leader were given and were very favorable. Next was the roll call followed by prayer by Mrs. Myrtle Marshall.

After enjoying lunch at the noon hour, our program for the afternoon was opened by a discussion on the theme for the year "Thy Will Be Done On Earth" and devotional by Mrs. Marshall. Mrs. Elaine Greenup, our program chairman gave out readings as follows: Mrs. Pearl Blankenbeker, "Think On These Things"; Mrs. Mason, "Sharing The Truth"; followed by prayer by Mrs. Kirtley McWethy. Mrs. Hal Presser then gave her discussion on "The Truth Brings Joys and Sets The Soul Free." Mrs. Viola Friend talked on "The Truth Brings Peace," and "The Truth Bears Fruits." Mrs. Annie Bristow brought our program to a close by stressing the importance of giving "The Truth To Our Youth of Today."

Plans were made to meet at the church again on February 11. The Union was dismissed by a beautiful prayer by Mrs. Anna Smith.

Due to illness many of our members were unable to be with us for this meeting, but are praying for their recovery so that they may be with us when we come together again in February.

A Week Of The War

The President established a War Production Board headed by Donald M. Nelson, former mail-order firm executive and more recently Executive Director of SPAB and Priorities Director. The President directed Mr. Nelson to "exercise general direction over the war procurement and production program," to supervise the OPM and issue production and procurement directives where necessary to all other Government agencies. The President said Mr. Nelson's decisions shall be final. Vice President Wallace and other members of the SPAB, now abolished, were made members of the War Production Board.

In letters to OPM Directors Knudsen and Hillman and other production officials, Mr. Nelson said "we must enlarge all our previous activities . . . all our facilities . . . must produce 24 hours a day, 168 hours a week." OPM Director Hillman, speaking in Washington, said the nation's force of workers in war industries must be doubled or tripled, more women must be trained and brought into the labor force to take the place of men going into the armed services. He asked employers not to bar aliens in war industries except in plants turning out secret weapons.

Director Odlum of the OPM Contract Distribution Division said a plan has been prepared to set aside one percent of all available materials to assist small manufacturers in keeping their plants going until they can be converted to war use. He said the nation's entire production facilities—all of those "hidden away in thousands of cities and towns and villages"—must join in the total war effort. He asked all mayors to have every manufacturer in their cities register at the nearest OPM Contract Distribution Division field office and to "go after war contracts with every ounce of ingenuity and energy they possess."

The War Front

The Navy Department reported the sinking of five enemy vessels in Far Eastern waters—three transports and two large cargo ships. The announcement brought to 25 the total of Japanese vessels reported definitely sunk by the Navy and Marine Corps in the Pacific. The Navy also announced two allied merchant vessels were attacked by Axis submarines off Long Island. Throughout the week Gen. MacArthur reported heavy land and air fighting in the Philippines but said American and Philippine troops were putting up effective resistance and U. S. losses were low.

Army

War Secretary Stimson announced the Army will be increased from the present total of 1,700,000 men to 3,600,000 men this year. Combat air units and armored units will be doubled; 32 motorized divisions will be added, and at least 50 more military police units for guarding production facilities will be created. Instead of the originally scheduled 10,000, more than 90,000 privates will be selected to attend officer-training schools. All training centers and posts will be enlarged and five temporary tent camps will be set up. To make 2,-000,000 more men eligible the Army will lower age limits for aviation cadets from 20 to 18 years, make married men eligible, and change educational qualifications by eliminating college credit requirements.

Selective Service Director Hershey said the Army increase could be accomplished without calling up men with dependents. He said there are now 1,000,000 men in class 1-a but not yet called, and 900,000 more men can be obtained by reclassification of other men and from those men who will register February 16. He said deferment cases would be reexamined but deferments will continue to be given where possible to avoid undue disruption of family life. He said married men with one or more children probably will not be called until an Army of 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 has been built. He estimated 10,000,000 is the top number of men the U. S. could mobilize for service even with lowered physical standards.

Labor Disputes

The President abolished the National Defense Mediation Board and established a National War Labor Board with NDMB Chairman Davis as Chairman. Four commissioners will represent the public, four will represent employees and four, industry. The new Board has wider authority than the old Board and can arbitrate or mediate disputes as it sees fit except that it cannot disregard existing labor legislation.

The Maritime War Emergency Board established war bonuses for sailors on merchant ships.

Autos

The OPA announced auto rationing would begin February 2 in the same manner as tire rationing. Of the 202,000 cars in the industry quota for January, about 150,000 cars will be stored with dealers who promise not to sell without permission—probably not to be granted before January, 1943—and then only at OPA-established prices.

OPA issued a schedule of prices for "retreadable" tire carcasses and "retreads" and forecast a ceiling over all used tires "in the very near future." Federal Loan Administrator Jones announced plans to increase synthetic rubber production capacity to 400,000 tons by pooling of resources and skills of the rubber and oil industries if priorities can be obtained on steel needed to erect plants. OPA Administrator Henderson said tire rationing would probably not be affected because of increasing military needs for rubber.

Censorship

Censorship Director Price, after consultation with newspaper, magazine and periodical editors, announced a code of conduct which publications were asked to follow in handling information in order to prevent information of a military nature reaching the enemy. Prohibited, unless officially released, are most details of military, naval or industrial establishments, casualty lists, damages to war facilities, movements of troops and ships, weather reports except of certain types, the movements of the President or of official military or diplomatic missions.

Agriculture

Agriculture Secretary Wickard said goals have been revised to call for the greatest agricultural production in U. S. history, with particular emphasis on the production of oil-bearing crops such as peanuts and soybeans. The corn goal was stepped up by five million acres in order that there be feed supplies to continue expansion of meat, dairy and poultry production. Dry edible bean and dry pea production increases were called for. An additional five million bushels of rice was asked and provision made for an increase over 1941 of more than 18 million cases of canned fruits and vegetables.

Civilian Defense

The OCD announced 3,516,600 volunteers have enrolled in various civilian defense services, including 1,423,755 assigned to retaining or duty in the protective services. The Office also announced a Victory Garden Program under which all families in any community can jointly till community gardens, use the produce themselves and give the surplus to schools and institutions.

Surgeon General Parran told the U. S. Conference of Mayors in Washington "the enemy has planned and in my opinion will use bacteriological warfare whenever possible." He asked the mayors to begin at once to take every possible precaution.

Conservation

The OPM Bureau of Industrial Conservation opened a program to mobilize the nation's 1,700,000 retail stores in a continuous drive to salvage materials—wastepaper, scrap metal, old rags, rubber—needed to produce weapons for the fighting forces. Signers will display window emblems signifying their part in the "Salvage for Victory" program. The shopping public was asked to help conserve tires, trucks, and paper by carrying home bundles instead of depending on delivery service. Consumers of natural gas in nine States, mostly in the Middlewest were asked to cut consumption as much as possible.

TOBACCO RETURNS GOOD

An acre and two-tenths produced 1,828 pounds of Kentucky No. 16 burley tobacco for O. B. Conover of Adair county. The crop brought $612.67. Estel Ballou, another Adair county man, got $512 for 1,551 pounds produced on an acre and four-tenths, and Coleman Lewis, a 4-H club boy, received $160 for 595 pounds grown on three-tenths of an acre.

TUBERCULOSIS WEEK TO BE OBSERVED IN STATE

The following Proclamation was issued by Governor Keen Johnson:

To all to whom these presents shall come:

WHEREAS, tuberculosis in Kentucky continues to be the leading cause of death in the active period of life, and

WHEREAS, only two of the one hundred and twenty counties in the State—Fayette and Jefferson—are now making adequate provision for the car of the tuberculosis sick within their respective borders, and

WHEREAS, the State has been and still is financially unable to provide adequate facilities for the care of all those afflicted with tuberculosis in the other one hundred and eighteen counties of the Commonwealth, thus leaving foci of infection, which constantly serve to spread the disease, and allowing early curable cases to become advanced incurable cases, and

WHEREAS, early cases of tuberculosis can be cured, or at least arrested, if and when adequate facilities are provided, and

WHEREAS, the Field Service of the Bureau of Tuberculosis of the State Department of Health is constantly finding early cases, in large numbers, for the isolation and proper treatment of whom no facilities are available, and

WHEREAS, the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, recognizing the emergency character of the existing situation, and desiring to assist in its correction, has arranged a program for competitive games among basketball teams throughout the State, with the great bulk of the net proceeds from admission fees to such games to constitute a fund for the isolation and treatment of indigent and semi-indigent cases of tuberculosis, and

WHEREAS, the State Department of Health has approved this movement, and the Kentucky State Medical Association, the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association, the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers and other civic, social and welfare organizations are sponsoring it,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Keen Johnson, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby proclaim and designate the first week in February, 1942, as TUBERCULOSIS WEEK, and do call upon and urge all citizens of the State to attend the competitive games or otherwise support the movement and so assist in meeting an emergency which affects, directly and indirectly, both the promotion of public health in Kentucky and the success of the National Defense Program.

Done at Frankfort, Kentucky, this the 14th day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-two and in the year of the Commonwealth one hundred and fifty.

Foot Health In Relation To Mental Health

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

When you suffer from flat feet, your muscular system is taxed and irritates the nerves of the foot, simultaneously affecting the entire delicate nervous system, causing it to function at less their normal capacity. The result of this whole action is a generalized irritability and unrest in the individual.

Ordinarily the body can overcome the irritations of tis various sick parts and is capable of removing the effects of the disease. The disturbances of the foot, however, are often subject to influences which the body has great difficulty in combating.

The foot according to dictates of society should be housed in a protective leather or cloth covering, which must meet the aesthetic tastes of the prevailing fashion. Thus, if the fashion dictates that, long thin shoes be worn, thousands of individuals with short wide feet will attempt to crowd them into long, thin shoes, and visa-versa.

The vagaries of fashion may thus make you comfortable one season and uncomfortable another. However, when we consider the permanent effects of this change of style, we realize that the foot, which has a fairly permanent shape, has to respond like an elastic band. The harm wrought in one season does not disappear the next, but may rather be accentuated in some significant defect as for example the BUNION.

Once this defect is formed the foot is placed daily in what may be considered a vice or mold and the normal metabolis or growth activity of the foot is interferred with. The attempts of the body to overcome the irritation are frustrated and the physical ailments grows and becomes more pernicious. The mental effects of this constant irritant are such as to set up a continual hypersensitiveness in all behavior.—Adv.

A JOB FOR US ALL

In his syndicated column, Walter Lippmann recently asserted that the main cause of our inadequate defense performance to date, overshadowing all others combined, is the fact that American industry did not abandon 'business as usual' in 1940, nor in 1941, nor has it yet really abandoned business as usual." As "conclusive proof" of his charge, he submitted that "during the year 1941, we have had instead of all-out preparation for war a record-breaking commercial boom."

All of which leads one to wonder how this commercial boom—this "disgraceful boom," as he calls it, proves his statement that "for eighteen months the industrialists in the OPM and a very large proportion of the industrialists of the country have been unwilling or unable to take up boldly the task of converting commercial industry into war industry."

It is too bad that Mr. Lippmann's use of the weasel word "unable" makes difficult a clear-cut dissent. It is one thing to "unable"; it is quite another to be "unwilling." But, despite his concession that industrialists may be "unable," the irascible tone that runs thru his indictment puts the emphasis on their "unwillingness." Which is something less than fair.

The fact is that the industrialists have had no more to do with creating Mr. Lippmann's "disgraceful commercial boom" than have the people, the government, or anyone else. When we suddenly put millions of idle people to work, when we boost wages all along the line, when we greatly increase the proportion of overtime work at time-and-a-half, when we pour out billions of dollars to create a record national income, we have piled up a huge stock of the essential raw material from which booms are made.

And if that boom comes to pass it is bound to be one of those "commercial booms." For the people who get that money can't buy, tanks, planes, or submarines with it. That is, they won't—unless through taxation, forced saving, or other restriction, their government forces them to do so. They will prefer to spend it on automobiles, refrigerators, washing machins, and all the rest of the gadgets that contribute to their normal way of living. And when they do that, we have the commercial boom that makes Mr. Lippmann so bilious.

There is only one way to keep industry from catering to the habitual needs and wants of the people, for it is the normal task of industry to do exactly that. That is for government, acting in behalf of the nation—which includes all the people together with their industry—to see that industry accords full priority to the war effort and that it can get no labor, materials, or equipment for any purposes that obstruct that effort.

If, as Mr. Lippmann charges, American industry "did not abandon 'business as usual' in 1940," it was not because industrialists wanted a "disgraceful commercial boom." It was because of 1940, on influential 'American group wanted to abandon its particular "as usual." Especially was this true of the political leaders of the people; for 1940 was a presidential year. Few of those in authority then dared to tell the American people the brutual facts of life that have since been brought home to them.

So industry continued to give the people what they wanted and were able to pay for—thanks to the money that government was putting into their hands. Too bad? Yes, so it seems—now. But there is no reason why industry should bear the blame for all that.

Many other facts also restrained industry from going all out for defense in both 1940 and 1941. The President and others then saw no need for giving up our "social gains" or for our being severely discommoded by the defense effort. It took some time for the Army and Navy really to find out what they wanted. Scores of uncertainties have obstructed an all-out effort by industry.

However industry may have been affected by the general reluctance of all concerned to subordinate normal concerns to the needs of national defense, there is no valid reason for imposing special blame upon the industrialists of the country, as Mr. Lippmann has done.

The important thing—the all important thing—is his contention that "Our most urgent task is to make American industry do all that it is capable of doing." But we shall not accomplish that by lambasting industrists now for not having abandoned "business as usual" at a time when every department of American life was engrossed in trying to preserve its own affairs as usual. The job will be done only when government gets its own objectives clear, when it determines where and how far it dares to cut the people's standards-of-living-as-usual, when it gives to its officials, both civilian and military, the powers they need to enforce that cut and thereby to free industry from the demands of "business as usual."

If industry has fallen short of what Mr. Lippmann thinks it should have done, it is only because we all have been absorbed in preserving America as usual. And if that shortage is to be made good, the job now is up to us all—not merely to the leaders of industry.

Appeals To Local Farmers To Uphold Quality Of Their Crops

Farmers of Boone County have been appealed to to help along the nation's war effort by eliminating food waste and by producing only farm crops of unquestioned quality.

The appeal comes from H. C. Darger, coordinator of the National Cream Quality Program, Chicago.

Mr. Darger is immediately concerned with the waste involved in that portion of cream produced on farms which, because of a low standard of cleanliness or care in production or handling or perhaps infrequent marketing, is found on delivery to the creamery to be unfit for manufacturing into butter under the stringent federal food law regulations. Cream thus rejected represents a serious loss to the nation's nutrition as well as to the farmer's pocketbook. Mr. Darger estimates the loss to American farmers from unfit cream, including seizures of shipments of cream and butter and the loss from price differentials between cream and butter that grade less than first quality, at $40,000,000 annually. Kentucky farmers, of course, are standing their proportionate share of this loss.

According to Mr. Darger, there is no reason why any farmer should produce a poor grade of cream. Everything hinges on the care the cream receives on the farm and the frequency with which it is delivered to the butter-maker. The required sanitary precautions are easy and inexpensive for the average farmer to carry out. He can readily obtain any desired information from the cream buyer or creamery with whom he does business. The little extra trouble involved in producing the best quality of cream not only makes available the maximum of protective food for the consumer but extra dollars as well for the farmer exerting this extra care, he said.

Farmers cooperating with the National Cream Quality Program are being asked to sign this pledge and to display a copy of it on their premises:

"I BELIEVE it is my duty and that of everyone connected with the production, handling and sale of food products, to use every care to insure that such products shall be made only from sound, clean ingredients.

"I BELIEVE that the production of unfit milk and cream is an unnecessary, unpatriotic waste of food.

"I BELIEVE that carefulness in the production and handling of milk and cream will conserve butterfat—food that is essential to the wellbeing of my fellow Americans. This carefulness includes: Washing and scalding my dairy utensils and separator with boiling water after each use; cooling my cream; delivering or shipping my cream often enough to insure its arrival at market in good condition. (Preferably twice a week in winter and three times in summer).

"I HAVE PLEDGED MYSELF TO DO MY PART IN PROTECTING AND CONSERVING AMERICAN FOOD."

Some timely words of caution on two problems pertaining to the production of cream at this season were issued by Mr. Darger. Do not keep cream on the farm too long even in cold weather, he states. If held too long, it is likely to develop old, rancid flavors. A cave or cellar may be of the right temperature for holding the cream, but if musty it will likely spoil the delicate flavor. Cooking odors and stored vegetables also affect the flavor and cause the resulting butter to be marked down in grade. Freezing is a second hazard to be guarded against. Frozen cream does not make high-grade butter; the freezing changes the cream so that it results in mealy, oily, undesirable butter. Cream is best kept in a clean odor-proof place, in a temperature above freezing, and must be protected from freezing on the haul to market.

WED., THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

If ever a picture showed more promise of being hit movie entertainment than Paramount's auspiciously-launched saga of indigo rhythm, "Birth of the Blues," which we're going to have an opportunity to see at the Gayety, then we don't know of it.

Each name fairly scream its entertainment power: Bing Crosby, Mary Martin, Brian Donlevy, Carolyn Lee, Jack Teagarden, the bandleader and Rochesters! What a lineup for laughs and music. Incidentally, preview critics and audiences don't mince any words in calling the new picture just about the best of its kind ever produced. Certainly the stuff of which well pictures are made, is there.

History Of Conner Family Related

The following letter was received from Louis Conner Yager, of Indianapolis, Ind., which we publish in full. The letter follows:

Mr. A. E. Stephens,
Editor of The Recorder,
Burlington, Ky.
Dear Sir:

I have read with some interest the biographical sketch of the late James M. Conner, published in the Recorder as of January 22d, and who was my cousin once removed. James Conner was the son of Lewis, (or as it is sometimes spelled Louis Conner), who was the son of Lewis Conner, Sr., a pioneer who came to Boone County about the time Kentucky was made a state, or the year 1792, and settled on a farm one mile west of Florence.

He was a preacher of the Predestinarian Baptist Church, and he founded the old stone church that stood on an island in Gunpowder Creek, near a water grist mill operated by Smith Crisler, and about half a mile above the forks of the creek.

Lewis Conner, Sr., had four sons of whom the father of James M. Conner was one. Allen Conner, another son lived on a farm near his father, west of Florence. Paschal Conner, a third and the oldest son, lived about five miles south of Florence, and two miles east of the Lexington Pike, where it was joined by what was in that day, called the Frogtown Road.

Benjamin Conner the fourth son lived on a farm two and one-half miles west of Florence, and half a mile north of the Burlington-Florence pike. In late life he built a new home on the pike near its junction with the road to Hopeful Church. Lewis Conner, Jr., lived for years on a farm one and a half miles east of Burlington.

Lewis Conner, Sr., besides the four sons, had three daughters. Elmediah, who married Aaron Yager my grandfather, and who came to Boone, from Boyle County near Danville, and which was then a part of Mercer County, in the year 1818. Margart a second daughter, married Benjamin Norman, who lived on a farm three miles west of Florence, on a fork of Gunpowder, and the third daughter Sallie, married a Crisler and lived near Walton.

James Conner as above, had a brother William who lived in Cincinnati the last years of his life, and another brother Owen, whose home was about two or three miles south of Burlington, and some of his descendants are now, probably living in old Boone. Another brother, Charles C. or Charlie as he was called, in his young days, was on the staff of The Recorder, and then became a minister of the Universalist Church. I think he died in an eastern state a year or two ago.

I go into the details of this Conner family, as they were all of pioneer stock and among the first people living in the county. My grandmother was born in 1805 and her brothers and sisters from 1800 to 1812, and her father Lewis Conner, Sr., was one of the first ministers of the Gospel in Northern Kentucky.

Louis Conner Yager.

Unemployment Tax Warning Issued

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 27—Employers were reminded today by V. E. Barnes, executive director of the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission, that contributions to the state's job insurance fund for the final quarter of 1941 must be paid not later than January 31, if the employer is to avoid penalty and if he is to receive full credit for the payment against his 1941 Federal unemployment tax.

"Only those contributions paid by January 31 can be fully credited against the employer's 1941 Federal unemployment tax," Barnes emphasized. This includes not only contributions due for the last quarter of 1941 but also contributions for any quarter of 1941 which are as yet unpaid."

Employers, Barnes explained, are permitted by the Federal Government to credit their 1941 state unemployment contributions against their Federal unemployment tax for that year if the former is paid into the state fund on or before January 31, 1942. Only partial credit is allowed by the Federal government for state payments made after January 31 and the credit is further reduced as the delinquency continues until June 3, 1942. No credit is allowed by the Federal government for state contributions paid after that date.

GRANT FOUR-H CLUB

The Grant 4-H club held its monthly meeting at the school house January 8, 1942. Eighteen members were present. All of our members with the exception of a few who were absent and those who attend school at Burlington, received achievement cards. We were all given enrollment cards.

We have set a permanent date for each monthly meeting, which is the second Thursday of each month.

We adjourned with the club pledge.

FALSE RUMORS ARE CIRCULATED

REGARDING SAVINGS ACCOUNTS CITIZENS WILL NOT BE FORCED TO BUY DEFENSE BONDS WITH SAVINGS.

In regard to recent rumors circulated that persons having savings accounts in various banks would be forced to withdraw these accounts to purchase Defense Bonds is purely false, according to the following letter which was sent to all banks by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland:

To all Banks in the Fourth Federal Reserve District:

Unfounded rumors have been circulated, and may be further circulated, to the effect that the Federal Government is "going to take over all savings deposits," or that the Treasury is planning to force those with savings deposits to buy defense bonds." In some instances the circulation of such rumors has led to the withdrawal of savings deposits, or the hoarding of funds coming into the possession of individuals which ordinarily would find their way into banks as deposits.

In this connection the following statement has been made by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau:

"I wish to state most emphatically that there are no foundations whatever for such rumors. The Federal Government does not have under consideration any proposal involving the confiscation of savings deposits of this country for any purpose. Furthermore, any one circulating rumors of this character is acting against the welfare of the Nation."

The Treasury Department has repeatedly emphasized the importance of financing the war effort, to the greatest possible extent, from current income rather than from accumulated savings. To that end, efforts are being made to encourage employers of labor to adopt a payroll allotment plan for the sale of Defense bonds to employes. This is regarded as one of the essential steps in combating the development of inflationary tendencies.

The above letter was signed by M. J. Fleming, President of the Federal Reserve Bank, of Cleveland.

THE HOME FRONT

This country is learning fast how you must go about fighting a world war. We are learning that it isn't enough to be united in our feeling about the war but that we must be united in action too. And that we must be realistic—prepared for a long hard pull.

Nothing better shows the need for realism than the fact that a lot of people thought tire rationing wasn't going to last. A lot of people thought that because we might be ready to turn out synthetic rubber at the rate of 200,000 tons a year in 18 months or so tire rationing regulations could be relaxed immediately.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson killed that idea pronto. He called it "a false hope" and said it is entirely possible that every pound of synthetic rubber that can be produced will be needed for military use.

We will do well to avoid all easy optimism. All the trends indicate that things may get a lot tougher for the consumer before they get better. But things will get tougher for Hitler and Hirohito too.

* * *

As for unity in action we took a long step toward that on the broad and all-important war production front when the President established the War Production Board with Donald M. Nelson as its chairman. That action cleared the way for concentrated attack under a single leadership on the job of converting our huge national industrial plant from the uses of peace to the work of war. And that's how we'll beat the axis.

The past few days have shown that Americans can unite on action in other spheres too. The office of Production Management's campaign to salvage waste paper and scrap metal and rags and old rubber now has been organized in 16 states and OPM is calling on the operators of the nation's 1,700,000 retail stores to help. Now that we're in this war and faced with critical shortages of materials needed to make weapons and equipment nothing is waste—nothing should be thrown away.

* * *

All that comes under the general head of conservation. There's another side to this conservation business too at which we will all probably have to become experts. That's nothing more than taking care of things—from garden hose to tractors. That's just keeping the old bus running and being careful of its tires because it may be a long, long while before you can get another helping.

* * *

Speaking of tractors, the OPA probably has headed off a threatened rise in farm equipment prices. The increase was to have been based on increases slapped on original equipment tires by the four major rubber companies. The rubber companies withdrew the increases at OPA's request.

* * *

So far as the consumer is concerned the prescription looks like "the mixtures as before—but in much larger doses." The great diversion dam of war needs already has impounded more of the things to which we are accustomed than we realize. Many of us won't realize it until present stocks in the hands of dealers—often these stocks are large—have been exhausted. But then we'll see the war reflected on the druggist's counter and in the clothing store and many other places beside the auto dealer's.

* * *

Another thing we can expect is conservation through substitution and simplification. Substitution merely means the use of some other material for a material needed for military purposes. The nazis who've had to do a lot more of it than we probably will call such products of substitution "erzatz." Simplication means stripping a machine or a household appliance of every bit of unnecessary material.

A good example of simplification is the "Victory Model" bicycle at which OPM officials looked the other day. It weighs 34 pounds as against a 55-pound average for last year's models. America's bike manufacturers will turn out 750,000 of these as against 1,827,000 of the larger models made in 1941. That'll save 30,000 tons of steel and a lot of nickel and copper. The tires are smaller and mostly reclaimed rubber.

Consumers will have to make sacrifices, but the OPA is making every effort to see that they don't have to pay excessive prices for the things they need. Sugar prices shouldn't rise until present stocks in the hands of retailers are exhausted and then only fractionally, if at all . . . There's no shortage of any foodstuff in sight although sometimes people create temporary local shortages by "runs" based on false rumor. The OPM's order allocating cellophane is going to make a lot of things a lot different . . . It'll change the packaging of cosmetics and soaps and razor blades and jigsaw puzzles and punch boards. Cigarettes will still come done up in cellophane where the manufacturer has eliminated the use of tin foil. . . There's been a rise of ten cents a thousand in the price ceiling above the so-called "ten cent brands" of cigarettes but they shouldn't cost you any more over the counter . . . The retail price has been on that basis for some while. The office of Civilian Defense has enlisted the nation's 1,600,000 Boy Scouts for the duration . . . They'll assist civil defense units in emergencies . . . The OCD has launched a victory garden program . . . Idea is more and larger vegetable gardens in every community.

RESOLUTIONS

WHEREAS, it hath pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our dearly beloved coworker, Mrs. Allie Utz. Therefore be it

RESOLVED that we bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well, and realize our loss is her gain.

THAT we, as members of the Big Bone W. M. U. have lost one of our best christian leaders, and may her devout christian life ever live in our hearts and make one of us to have the same great faith that she contended through the years.

THAT we express our heartfelt sympathy to the children. May the God of all richly bless and help them,

THAT a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy placed on the minutes ,and a copy sent to our county paper.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. HARRY ROUSE,
MRS. JAMES W. AYLOR,
MRS. K. W. AYLOR.

CONSTANCE 4-H NOTES

The Constance 4-H Club held its first meeting of the year Jan. 21, 1942. The meeting was called to order by the President Earl Washmuth. Mrs. Moore and Mr. Frazier each gave very good talks.

We elected new officers, as follows: Earl Washmuth, president; Cecil Kenyon, vice president; Carolyn Dolwick, second vice president; Virginia McGlasson, secretary; Otho Daniel Heist, sergeant-at-arms; Marie Patrick, Bobby Morehead, cheer leaders; Carolyn Dolwick, reporter.

Several new members joined the club. We are hoping for a bigger and better club this year.

Carolyn Dolwick, Reporter.

Y. W. A. NOTES

The Y. W. A. girls of the Belleview Baptist Church held a meeting at the home of Miss Betty Cason Thursday night. Eight members were present. The vice president had charge of the program, which was very interesting. Following the program lunch was served. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed, playing ping pong.

Everyone reported an enjoyable time, and left expressing their thanks to the hostess.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kirtley.

We Want Books

Now is the time to be generous with your books. Don't give our armed forces just some old book nobody wants to read, but give away some books you would like to keep. Many of them you will never read again, so why not share with these men who are giving their all for your safety? It won't cost you a penny to give a book you already own.

These people are ready to receive your donations:

Mrs. O. K. Powers, Verona.
Mrs. Wendell Rouse, Walton.
Mrs. Tom Huey, Union.
Mrs. Orin Edwards, Hamilton.
Miss Marion Rogers, Grant.
Mrs. Justin Dolph, Petersburg.
Mrs. Albert Pfalzgraf, Idlewild.
Mrs. Omer Dolwick, Hebron.
Mrs. Walter Sprague, Taylorsport.
Mrs. Paul Craven, Constance.
Miss Mary Lou Williams, Bullittsville.
Mrs. John Martin, Florence.
Miss Alice Eggleston, Francesville.
Mrs. Albert Rogers, Hebron-Constance Road.
Mrs. James McNeely, Burlington.
Mrs. Robert Dolwick, Pt. Pleasant.

Every church and school in the county will be a receiving station for books. Also many stores and other public buildings will be used. Ask your local chairman for more information.

LOCAL YOUTHS OFFERED NYA TRAINING IN COVINGTON

To help provide millions of trained workers needed to carry out the huge production program outlined by President Roosevelt, the Federal government has made it possible for every eligible young man in Kentucky to equip himself for a war job through machine shop, welding ,sheet metal, mechanics, radio, woodworking, or foundry work experience in National Youth Administration defense workshops. "Eligible" means those who are unmarried, out-of-school, healthy, and between the ages of 17 and 24.

Although there is no NYA workshop offering this training in Burlington or Boone county, youth who live near enough to commute daily may get their training at the shop in Covington. Those who live too far to commute may go to one of the NYA resident centers in Richmond, Vine Grove, Murray and Carrollton. In addition to having shops equipped with modern machinery and tools, these centers have comfortable living quarters to accommodate youth during the two or three months training period.

By producing machine parts, tools, cabinets and other articles for the army and local public agencies youth at resident centers, as well as those in the Covington shop, learn to operate intricate machinery, precision tools and other equipment similar to that used to produce war materials. They learn the rules of shop safety and learn to carry out instructions. They acquire basic skills and work habits that make them more valuable to manufacturing plants engaged in war production —and more valuable to the armed forces.

Each week an increasing number of these youths are leaving NYA shops to join the battle of production in defense areas—in Kentucky and in other states. Already more than 500 Kentucky youth have gone to war jobs in Eastern states at starting pay ranging from 55c to $1.00 an hour. These young men sent to Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maryland, and New Jersey through the National Youth Administration's interstate transfer plan to bring trained workers and defense jobs together are helping make submarines, bombers, tanks, guns, fire extinguishers, and other war materials. Hundreds are working in Kentucky, Ohio, and Indiana machine tool industries, radio construction plants and factories making military clothing. The majority of those working in clothing factories and girls trained at NYA power sewing projects. Many girls are also working in radio factories.

All State Employment Service offices and all referral agents accept applications for training in NYA shops. Youth may also apply in person or write to the NYA area office in the McClelland Building, Lexington, Ky.

PETERSBURG Y. W. A.

The Petersburg Y. W. A. met Tuesday, Jan. 20th at the home of Martha Huey, with nine members present.

The topic of our program was, "The Door of Truth." Those taking part were "The Door of Truth" by Eva Campbell; "Christ First for Teh Ying" by Theresa Walton; "My Open Window," by Martha Huey; "Glimpses of a New Mission Field" by Delilah Snyder, and "Now" by Lucille Deck. The program was enjoyed by all.

BOONE AIRPORT SITE APPROVED

BY W. P. A. ACCORDING TO TELEGRAM FROM BRENT SPENCE NOW BEFORE PRESIDENT FOR FINAL SIGNATURE.

In a telegram sent to County Judge N. E. Riddell, Monday afternoon, it was disclosed that the Boone County Airport site had been approved by W. P. A. and has now gone to the President for final approval.

The telegram which was received from Congressman Brent Spence follows: "WPA has approved Boone County airport. Goes to President for his approval. Brent Spence."

The application for the project called for expenditure of $218,437 in Federal funds and $109,323 by the Boone Fiscal Court, sponsor of the project.

The site of the proposed airport is north of Florence, and approximately a mile south of Constance, which is just across the Ohio River from Anderson's Ferry.

Sponsors of the project pointed out that the site is 12 miles from Fountain Square in Cincinnati and that the Commonwealth of Kentucky had agreed to build a direct highway to connect the airport with Cincinnati.

The Kentucky House of Representatives already has approved by a vote of 55-0 a bill introduced by Representative James E. Quill to permit Covington and Kenton County to help sponsor the airport project. The bill is awaiting action by the Kentucky Senate.

J. Lyter Donaldson, Kentucky Highway Commissioner, said in Frankfort that his department had been holding up a survey on the proposed highway from the airport to Cincinnati until the WPA approved the project. He added that there probably would be nothing definite done until work actually was started on the airport.

The Boone County site was presented for consideration by the Civil Aeronautics Authority last summer after the Kentucky Highway Department had made a topographic survey of the area, comprising more than 700 acres.

It was submitted as a WPA project last fall by Boone Fiscal Court. Original plans called for development of four landing strips 500 feet in width and ranging from 4,000 feet to 6,760 feet in length, each strip to have a 150-foot wide surfaced runway throughout its entire length.

At the suggestion of CAA officials, the plan was modified to provide for stage construction with the 6,760-foot and a 5,000-foot landing strip to be cleared, excavated, grubbed, graded, and drained immediately. On advice of the War Department, the length of the landing strips was reduced to 4,700 feet.

The second stage of construction calls for grading and draining of the two additional strips. The first stage called for 60 per cent of the total grading with only 40 percent being required for the second stage, according to engineers who prepared the master plan for development of the airport. The third stage will be the pairing of runways, lighting of the field, and erection of buildings.

According to Washington dispatches, substantiated by engineers' figures, the first stage of development of the airport will cost $327,760, of which the WPA will put up $218,437. Of this amount $108,448 is to be expended for labor and $109,989 for equipment and material.

The local sponsor is to advance $109,323 of which $90,000 is to go for acquisition of land, $16,323 for engineering services, $2,000 for legal work, and $1,000 for incidental expenses.

At present Boone Fiscal Court is listed as the local sponsor but the bill in the Kentucky General Assembly, expected to be passed by the Senate this week, will permit Kenton County and Covington to join Boone County or to supplant Boone County as the sponsor.

Washington dispatches indicated that point CAA and WPA approval made ultimate development of the Boone County airport into a Class 4 (highest type) airport almost a certainty.

According to a dispatch in The Cincinnati Enquirer, Wednesday's edition, the airport project is still uncertain, due to the fact that it has not been approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, which is withholding its approval until certain conditions are met.

FARM BUSINESS IS REFLECTED

BY REPAYMENT INCREASE—W. GAHM TO SPEAK AT ANNUAL MEETING IN WILLIAMSTOWN FEBRUARY 13.

A definite indication of the increased farm business in Boone, Campbell, Carroll, Gallatin, Grant, Kenton, Owen and Pendleton Counties which are served by the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association is reflected by the greater amount of cash repayments made by farmer-members of the association during 1941 over 1940.

Figures just released by Leonard C. Taylor, Secretary-Treasurer of the association; show that members made each repayments on their short term loans totaling $302,900.00 in 1941, while the repayments during 1940 amounted to $254,838.00. For the entire state, the increase in the last year's cash repayments total over 1940 came to $1,202,745.00.

The 677 members of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Ass'n., a cooperative, short-term credit organization, obtained 636 loans amounting to $368,250.00 last year.

On February 13, the Stockholders' Annual Meeting will be held in Williamstown and an interesting program has been arranged. One highlight of the program will be an address by Mr. W. G. Gahm, President of the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville. His subject will be "Your Association's Part in the National Emergency."

FARM LEADERS WILL MEET TUES.

IN COVINGTON FOR DISTRICT CONFERENCE—1942 "LIVE AT HOME" PROGRAM WILL BE DISCUSSED.

Plans for making more effective the 1942 "Live at Home" program will be discussed at a District Conference at the County Agent's Office, Federal Building, Covington, on Tuesday, February 10th, at 9:30 a. m., according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. All community and county gardens and "Live at Home" program leaders are urged to attend.

The "Live at Home" program is a program designed to encourage our people to produce abundantly on the farm all needed foods possible and to so prepare these foods that there is a maximum all year round supply to cheaply and properly feed the family. The program thus involves not only food production but preserving this food through canning, curing, storing, etc., and the better feeding of our families through better balanced diets and better prepared foods.

The Boone County "Live at Home" program conducted during the past three years has been most successful. Our people are growing more and greater varieties of vegetables and small fruits in their gardens; producing more of their home meat supply, including pork, lamb, beef and poultry; using larger quantities of dairy and poultry products throughout the year; learning new and better methods of canning, cooking and preparing these food products and are better feeding our farm families.

This program is more important today than ever before. The war emergency makes it necessary that we do a better job this year.

Mrs. Mary Borders

Mrs. Mary Borders, 63, passed away at her home on Gunpowder, Thursday, January 29, after an illness of several months.

She is survived by her husband Edward Borders; three sons, William, Elmer and Woodrow; two daughters, Mrs. Helen Pierce and Mrs. Mary Dameron; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Long and Mrs. Lizzie Dickerson of Union and Miss Jennie Crisler, of Florence, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at the Hopeful Lutheran Church Sunday afternoon, February 1, by Rev. Roy Johnson. Burial was in Hopeful cemetery.

WALTON WINNERS IN BENEFIT TILT

BY DEFEATING NEW HAVEN 37 TO 19 — BURLINGTON FIVE WINS ONE, LOSES ONE IN WEEK-END GAMES.

Walton's Bearcats chalked up their 15th victory of the season in the Boone County basketball conference when they trounced the New Haven five by a 37-19 score Friday night on the losers floor.

Simpson led the Bearcat attack with 13 points, while Judge and Stephens had six each for the losers.

In a preliminary game Walton's reserves won 34-15.

The Tigers came back Saturday night to defeat Cold Springs 37-17. The Boone team took an early lead and the outcome was never in doubt.

The Bearcats marked up another game on the win side of the ledger Saturday night, when they defeated the Holmes High Bulldogs by a 44-30 count. Walton took the lead in the first quarter and mantained a safe majority throughout the game. The Bearcats led at the first qaurter 10 to 0, 20 to 8 at the half and 27-17 at the close of the third quarter.

Demoisey was high point man for the winners with 18 and Hungler led for the losers with 14.

In the preliminary game, Holmes trounced the Walton-Verona reserves 28 to 21.

Walton waded through the Beechwood hoopsters Tuesday night, to the tune of 52-49 on the losers floor. Demoisey racked up nine field goals and two free throws for a total of 20 points, while Zeidler was high point man for the Beechwood Tigers with 26.

The Walton reserves defeated the Beechwood reserves 38-18.

In a Boone County Conference game, Burlington's Eagles turned back the Florence Knights to the tune of 47 to 22, Friday night on the Burlington Hardwood. Burlington is close on the heels of the Walton Bearcats in the Boone County Conference standing, having lost only one game, while Walton has a clean slate in the loss column.

Jarrell and William Tinkelenberg scored 14 and 11, respectively for the winners, while R. Cason led the attack for the losers with 7.

Burlington reserves topped the Florence reserves 28-6.

Burlington suffered a setback Saturday night when they met the strong A. J. Jolly team on Jolly's home floor. Jolly led at the end of the first quarter 10-8 and 20-18 at the half. Burlington took the offensive during the third period, forging ahead 34-33. Jolly connected with the hoop in the final frame, going ahead 42-38 at the final whistle. Porter and Huey divided scoring honors for Burlington with 12 each, while C. Ahrman scored 12 points for Jolly.

Burlington's reserves lost to their hosts of the evening by a score of 21-14.

Hebron's basketball squad suffered a setback in the week-end games when Silver Grove turned them back 38-24 on the winners floor, Friday night.

In a preliminary, Silver Grove reserves won 28-25.

HENRY CLORE ANSWERS CALL

WAS ENGAGED IN MERCANTILE BUSINESS AT BELLEVIEW FOR MANY YEARS—FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FRIDAY.

Henry Clore, 85, son of the late Jonas and Virinda Aylor Clore, passed away at home, Belleview, January 27, after an extended illness.

He was born on a farm near Waterloo, Boone County, January 17, 1857. He united in marriage with Sophia Smith Dec. 23, 1880, and to this union one daughter, Mrs. Alline Brady was born.

Oct. 25, 1910, ne united with Belleview Baptist Church during a revival held at that church under Rev. Oscar Huey.

Mr. Clore was the last of his immediate family, three brothers, William, Perry, Lewis and one, sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Berkshire, preceded him in death many years ago. His wife was called to her heavenly home July 19, 1936.

He is survived by his daughter Alline Brady, a granddaughter, Mary Jane Jones and a great-granddaughter Linda, and a number of nephews and nieces. He also leaves one sister-in-law, Mrs. Lizzie Smith.

Mr. Clore was a successful business man, being engaged in the mercantile business at Belleview for a number of years with the late J. J. Huey and J. J. Walton as partners. At one time he was engaged extensively in buying and selling tobacco and livestock. He was treasurer of Belleview Baptist Sunday School for 30 years, a director of Peoples Deposit Bank, Burlington, and vice-president of the Citizen's Deposit Bank at Grant for years and held these positions at the time of his death. He also was a charter member of Alline Lodge No. 19, I. O. O. F., that lodge being named in honor of his daughter.

Uncle "Pete" as he was known, had many friends and business associates in Boone County and elsewhere.

The daughter and granddaughters have lost a devoted father and grandfather, the nieces and nephews a good uncle, the community a loyal friend and neighbor, and the Church a faithful member.

Funeral services were conducted at Belleview Baptist Church, Friday at 2 p. m., with Rev. Oscar Huey, assisted by Rev. W. C. Guth, officiating. Services were completed at the family lot in Belleview cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers were A. B. Renaker, W. P. Beemon, C. F. Blankenbeker, W. G. Kite, J. D. McNeely, John Rogers. Acting pallbearers were J. J. Maurer, A. S. Burcham, Williard Ryle, H. R. Hensley, Bernard Rogers, Wm. Rogers, Jr.

LLOYD SOCIETY TO MEET

The Lloyd Society will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Lloyd Home, Saturday, February 7th. This will be an all-day session and all members are urged to attend.

BOY SCOUTS HEAR BAKKEN

AT SPECIAL MEETING OF GUNPOWDER DISTRICT — PLANS MADE FOR A LONE SCOUT TRIBE IN BOONE COUNTY.

E. A. Bakken, National Director of Rural Scouting, Boy Scouts of America addressed a special meeting of the Gunpowder District Boy Scout Committee Monday evening at the Burlington courthouse.

Among those present were: E. M. Poston, Ben P. Tanner, Robert Clore, Wilson Fullerton, Kirtley Cropper, Rev. T. O. Harrison, Rev. R. A. Johnson, Courtney Kelly, Bill Walton, A. W. Weaver, A. H. Jones, Scout Executives W. A. Friend and William Q. Potter, Jr.

Mr. Bakken pointed out to the group present the tremendous job being done by the Boy Scouts of America throughout the Nation relative to Civil and National Defense. The Boy Scouts cooperating with other agencies recently completed a drive for scrap aluminum. Scout units are now engaged in the collection of waste paper and scrap metals—so badly needed in the armament program.

Throughout the country Senior Scouts are organizing into Emergency Service Corps in cooperation with the office of Civilian Defense. These units organized on a District basis are for the purpose of giving service in the fields of auxillary first aid and communications. Harold Weaver of Union has accepted the leadership of the Gunpowder District Emergency Service Corps, included in the organization are Scouts from all over Boone County.

Preliminary plans were made for the formation of a Lone Scout Tribe in Boone County. The purpose of the Lone Scout Tribe is to permit any boy anywhere in the Gunpowder District to take part in the Scouting program, and thus shoulder to the wheel our Country's defense effort. Mr. Bakken also invited the attention of the committee to the possibilities of a Neighborhood Patrol plan of bringing Scouting to every boy.

Mr. Bakken spoke of the increasing load of responsibilities that are to be carried by the youth of the nation. Through the Scouting program boys are being shown how to best serve their country and community. Because of Scout training, boys make better citizens and are more interested in helping with their community problems.

E. M. Poston, District Chairman, anounced the meeting for all Boone County Workers in the Boy Scout Finance Campaign, Feb. 13th to 23. The Boone County meeting will be held Thursday, February 12th at Doc's Place in Erlanger, 7:30 p. m. This will be a dinner meeting.

Utz-Tanner

Last Wednesday, January 28, at 2 p. m. the marriage of Mrs. Minta Surface Utz and Mr. Robt. E. Tanner was solemnized at the beautiful home of Rev. and Mrs. T. Crume in a very impressive ceremony by Rev. Crume in the presence of a few close friends and the attendants, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Allen.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom were entertained with a six o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neiberding, of Covington.

Their many friends join together in wishing this couple a future of happiness and contentment.

FLORENCE P.-T. A. TO MEET

The Florence P.-T. A. will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday night, February 9 at 7:45 in the school auditorium. We are looking forward to an interesting Founders Day program, followed by a silver tea at which hour our first presidents will pour. All parents are urged to attend to add to the success of our meeting.

Fred Kleemeier, Sr.

Fred Kleemeier, Sr., 66 years, passed away at his home, 1633 Freeman Ave., Cincinnati, following an illness of two years. Mr. Kleemeier was a staunch supporter of the Republican party.

He is survived by his wife Mrs. Bircha Kleemeier; one son Fred Kleemeier, of Florence; and one step-daughter Mrs. Bonnie Luck, of Florence.

Services were conducted from the Tharp & Stith funeral home Friday afternoon at 2 p. m., with Rev. H. M. Hauter officiating. Burial was in Hopeful cemetery.

Tharp & Stith were in charge of arrangements.

Citizens Asked To Save Scrap Material

All persons living within a radius of five miles of Burlington are notified to save all old scrap material for National Defense.

A call to Burlington 477 will bring some member of the Boy Scouts to your home to remove this scrap. All old papers, magazines, tin cans, wire, auto tires, tubes, and etc., are wanted. In this manner you will be helping the Boy Scouts as well as aiding your Government.

Former Boone Youth Lost In Sea Disaster

Roy Bingham, 28, was killed in a ship disaster on the Atlantic Ocean, December 29. Roy was a member of the United States Navy for the past eight years, and was serving in that branch of the service at the time of his death.

He was a former resident of this county, graduating from Verona school. He was an outstanding basketball player and an exceptionaly good swimmer.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Bingham, of Demossville; three brothers, W. B. Bingham, of Dayton, O., R. T. Bingham of Newport, and F. G. Bingham of Verona and Hobert Bingham of Pendleton County; one aunt Mrs. Cam Kennedy, of Hopeful; one uncle A. W. Bingham, of Burlington, and one sister of Pendleton county.

Democrat Meeting Set Thursday Nigh

There will be a meeting of the Young Democratic Club of Boone County at the courthouse Thursday night, February 5th at 8 p. m.

In his announcement this week Malone Ligon, president of the club urged all members to be present.

REGISTRATION DATE IS SET

FOR CIVILIAN DEFENSE IN COMMUNITIES OF BURLINGTON, GRANT AND HAMILTON DISTRICT, SATURDAY, FEB. 7TH.

The local school district composed of Grant, Waterloo, Rabbit Hash and a part of Hamilton, will conduct a registration for Civilian defense at several places throughout the district on Saturday, Feb. 7th, according to W. C. Brown, Coordinator for the Burlington school district.

At a meeting of interested citizens Saturday night at the courthouse, Harry D. Mayhugh, County Coordinator set up the Burlington school district to include all communities in this district. Walter C. Brown, deputy State Fire Marshal, was named coordinator for the local district; J. K. Cropper, chairman; A. E. Stephens, Miss Lucille Cotton and R. S. Hensley, vice chairmen, secretary and treasurer, respectively. The council was selected as follows: Mrs. Garnett Tolin, Mrs. Rena Gaines, Bernard Rogers, Mrs. Roscoe Akin, Mrs. Ed Rogers, Wilton Stephens, Mrs. J. P. Brothers, J. P. Brothers, D. H. Norris, Rev. Will Smith, Mrs. Will Smith, C. L. Cropper, Franklin Clore, Mrs. Franklin Clore, A. D. Yelton, George Walton, J. G. Smith, W. H. Presser, H. E. White, W. W. Jarrell, E. M. Poston, N. E. Riddell, John Ryle, A. B. Renaker, Sherman Burcham, C. D. Benson, J. T. Williams, H. R. Forkner and Lillard Scott.

All those whom were selected to serve on the Council will not be asked to register Saturday, since they will be directly under the supervision of the local Coordinator. They will serve as key men in their community and meet with the local Burlington school district council.

The registration Saturday is for every man woman and child in this district who desire to do their part in Civilian defense. The places of registration will be as follows.

George Walton's Store 8:00 a. m. to 9 p. m., Wm. Presser in charge.

Ryle's Store, Rabbit Hash, 8 a. m. to 7 p. m., Londa Lee Ryle and Kathryn Acra in charge.

R. S. Hensley's Store, Grant, 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., Lucinda Burcham and Jane Jones in charge.

Courthouse, Burlington 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., girls of local high school in charge.

The Florence school district was organized last week and Mrs. J. C. Layne was named Coordinator. A complete list of officers and councilmen from Florence and Hebron districts will appear in the next issue of The Recorder.

FIRE DESTROYS GUNNING HOME

IN CONSTANCE TUESDAY MORNING—YOUTH SUFFERS FRACTURED LEG WHEN STRUCK BY FALLING CHIMNEY.

Fire completely destroyed the home of Richard Gunning, Constance, early Tuesday morning, causing an estimated damage of $2,700.00 according to Earl Aylor, Chief of the Hebron Fire Department.

James Elliston, 13, also of Constance, suffered a fractured leg when the brick chimney toppled upon him as he entered a gate to view the fire. He was removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where his condition is reported as good.

Mrs. Gunning suffered burns on the hands and face as she attempted to prevent the flames from spreading and also to reach some money in the kitchen, which was in vain. Her condition is not said to be serious.

The Gunning family were newlyweds and lived in the home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lane. Neither the house nor its contents were covered by insurance it was stated.

Both Hebron and Ludlow Fire Departments were called. However, the Hebron Department reached the scene first and were highly praised for the efficient manner in which they worked in order to save some twelve nearby buildings.

The Hebron Department deserves much credit for their ability and effectiveness in fire fighting and has above the average equipment for a small community.

New Haven Donates $61.72 To Red Cross Fund

An unusually large crowd witnessed the New Haven-Walton basketball game on the New Haven hardwood Friday night, January 30. Net proceeds of this game which amounted to $61.72 was donated to the Red Cross War Fund The New Haven P.-T. A. generously gave the net receipts from the lunchroom to this fund. The exact amount has not been announced, but will probably be about $10.

The entire student body has been organized for the purpose of purchasing defense stamps. Each student is putting forth an effort to save a small sum weekly. New Haven is proud of the wave of patriotism which has swept the student body with a determination to have a share in the winning of this war.

CHARTER ISSUED BOONE DISTRICT

UNDER STATE SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT LAW—TWO DISTRICT SUPERVISORS ARE NAMED.

The Boone County Soil Conservation District was issued a Charter by the Secretary of State on January 24th. The Charter was issued under the State Soil Conservation District Law on the application of C. Liston Hempfling, Constance, and Grover C. Ransom, Verona, District Supervisors for Boone County Soil Conservation Service.

Mr. Hempfling and Mr. Ransom were recently appointed as District Supervisors by the State Committee. The County District will be governed by a board of five supervisors. Two are appointed by the State Soil Conservation District Committee and three are elected by landowners in the county.

The remaining three supervisors will be landowners in the county and will be elected by landowners in an election to be held soon after February 24th. Nomination petitions will be circulated previous to February 24th for names to be placed on the election ballots. Farmers in local meetings have recommended that the supervisors be elected so that they give a well distributed representation of each farming area in the county. Mr. Hempfling, one of the State appointed supervisors, represents the North Section of the county, while Mr. Ransom represents the South section.

The supervisors at the present time serve without pay and are responsible for developing a sound Soil Conservation District Program of work.

UNITED NATIONS AT WAR

It is related that President Roosevelt gave considerable thought to the term that should be applied to the nations engaged in the war against aggression and that, finally, he decided upon the "United Nations," which is strongly reminiscent of the "United States" which formed the American Government.

So far as we know the first official use of the term "United Nations" occurred in Java, Netherlands East Indies, on January 2d, when the "Southwest Pacific Headquarters of the United Nations" issued its No. 1 Communique of the war, telling of attacks upon an enemy convoy attempting "to pass southward through the Strait of Macassar."

In the course of years, it is quite probable that the United Nations will play as important a role in the history of the world as that which has been played by the American colonies, referred to in our Constitution as the "United States."

APPRAISING THE WAR NEWS

It is very easy for a careless-thinking American to get the wrong idea of what is taking place in the Far East. Naturally, the newspapers give big headlines to daring exploits of Americans and radio commentators play up incidents like the sinking of a Japanese warship by an American bomber.

These incidents are welcome, but they should not cause us to misunderstand the relative importance of their effect on the far-reaching offensive of Japan.

The stirring allied victory in the Strait of Macassar is refreshing but it does not obviate the fact that Japanese forces have occupied Dutch Islands more than 3,000 miles from Japan and that the Japanese drive extends almost 4,000 miles from the Bismarck Archipelago to the western coast of Malaya.

In much the same fashion, we must understand that Russian victories, including the recapture of significant points, may not represent a decisive result. Naturally, the headlines and experts tell us what will happen "if and when" but we must have sense enough to understand that only the future can reveal the proper perspective of these events.

Undoubtedly, it is encouraging to hear of successes which contrast brightly with the long record of staggering blows that the enemy has dealt, but we must not permit small scale victory to blind us to large-scale strategic defeats.

In other words, American should understand that the Allies are desperately attempting to hold positions, the loss of which might possibly prolong the war by years, and to hasten the production of machines and the training of men that must be available to overwhelm the Axis before the world will be safe again.

NO "COMPROMISE PEACE"

You can read almost anything about the war, including "certified" accounts of internal trouble in Germany and authentic repetitions of "peace feelers" being put out by Germany.

It is just as well for the United Nations to make up their minds to win the present war by force of arms, without regard to weakness in Germany, and to discount all stories which relate to German yearnings for peace on the basis of the 1927 status quo.

It may be somewhat difficult for us to realize that Germany and Japan believe that together they can win the present war. The leaders of these nations understand the potential resources of their enemies but they are confident that, upon vital battle areas, they can exert superior force.

There is no logic whatever in any compromise peace between the nations now at war. The aggressors have set up a new standard of international conduct and assert the superior rights of their people as compared with other peoples. Neither Germany nor Japan has recognized the restraint of accepted morality because they do not give recognition to the divine personality of mankind.

The present struggle can end only in the death of the German and Japanese ideal, or the extinction of free peoples accustomed to liberty and the ways of democracy. The decision must be completed, final and everlasting. The winner, whichever side it may be, will dominate the world for hundreds of years and impose upon the vanquished the victor's ideas of organization, including economic, political and social organizations.

FARM WAGES

When 1942 began, farm wages were at their highest level since April, 1930, according to a report of the Department of Agriculture.

For those who are "convinced" that there is no farm problem, we call attention to the fact that farm wages averaged $37.08 per month, with board, and $47.77, without board. This is approximately the wages that a good workman in industry receives in one week.

In view of the fact that more than one-fourth of the population of this country resides on the farms of the nation, this is important. Farm workers are receiving approximately one-fourth as much for their labor as the men and women who leave the farm for industrial employment.

Certainly, few Americans can be satisfied with an economic condition which compels approximately one-fourth of our population and more than one-fourth of our children to get along on an income that is approximately one-fourth of that enjoyed by industrial workers.

ALCOHOL AT PEARL HARBOR

There has been considerable speculation recently as to whether the success of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor was partly, or wholly, due to the consumption of alcoholic beverages by the officers of the Army and Navy stationed there.

The Boone County Recorder has refrained from commenting on this theory, because it has no unbiased facts from which to draw conclusion. Now, however, the facts of the Pearl Harbor incident have been revealed by the President-appointed investigating commission, headed by Supreme Court Justice Roberts.

We quote from the text of the commission's report:

"Thorough inquiry disclosed there is no evidence of excessive drinking by any officer of either service on that night (Dec. 6th)."

This clears the American officers from the unfounded accusations of excessive drinking. The commission also checked up on the commanding officer of each ship:

"Of seventy-five vessels of the fleet, of all kinds, forty-nine commanding officers were aboard during the attack, and twenty-two were en route to their ships, one was on another ship, and one was on authorized leave, which leaves two for which we are unable to account."

The fact that only two of the seventy-five commanding officers were not on duty is praiseworthy. This is a high degree of efficiency.

In reporting on the entire personnel of the Army and Navy on the morning of the attack, this non-partisan commission reaches this conclusion:

"When the attack developed on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, the officers and enlisted men of both services were present in sufficient number and were in fit condition to perform any duty. Except for a negligible number, the use of intoxicating liquor on the preceding evening did not affect their efficiency."

It is refreshing to note that the American sailors and soldiers at Pearl Harbor have been cleared of the charge of "impaired efficiency because of drinking." The refutation of this carelessly circulated slander is convincing in view of the hard-hitting conclusions of the investigating board which pulled no punches.

That such a serious allegation was almost immediately circulated in this country by individuals and organizations, entirely uninformed and without accurate sources of information, is a reflection, not upon the brave soldiers, sailors, aviators and Marines at Pearl Harbor, but upon the "patriots" who bestir themselves actively upon the home front.

ASSAULT WITH A DEADLY WEAPON

In a neighboring state a man charged with assault with a deadly weapon plead guilty. He was ordered to leave the state within forty-eight hours for a period of three years.

Of course, it is impossible for us to know the facts about this case after reading only a small news item. However, it is true that as a usual thing it is not a good policy to run criminals from one county to another as a means of punishment. Law and order must be kept in a civilized country, and the only way that this can be done is by punishing those who break the law.

And, moreover, if a man is undesired in one community, the chances are that he is not wanted in another. The people of Boone County certainly don't want the criminals of surrounding counties; the same thing applies to the rest of the people of the United States.

—o—

STRATEGY AND GEOGRAPHY

By the time the present war is over millions of Americans will have acquired a fundamental knowledge of geography, including the location of unheard of places and the juxtaposition of strange areas.

Even those who learned the location of Crete, Sicily and the Dodecanese Islands in the Mediterranean and the locations of Syria, Iraq and Iran in relation to Turkey and Russia have had to take something of a post-graduate course to separate the Strait of Malacca from the Molucca passage and to locate Mountmein, Penang, Kuching and larger entities, like the Bismarck Archipelago and Celebes.

Before the battle is over Americans will become world-minded, understanding the threats that arise against this nation's peace and security in far-distant places. Moreover, we will begin to suspect that, after all, there are other good peoples and fair lands outside of continental United States.

—o—

$693 PER PERSON

The national income in 1941 amounted to $693 a person, according to estimates of government economists.

The nation as a whole, enjoyed an income of $92,000,000,000, which is not what one would call alfalfa. It was $14,200,000,000 above the 1940 income.

We have not studied the report but we are inclined to believe that, even if every person did not receive his or her $693, the national income was more equitably distributed than in any previous year in the history of this republic.

A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:21-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day.—Revelation 1:10.

The Sabbath of the Jew and the Lord's Day (Sunday) of the Christian were both intended to be days of rest. The ordinary activities of life were to cease and one was to be free to worship and to rest. The manner in which a man uses this God-given day of rest is a remarkably accurate indicator of his spiritual condition.

We have before us the account of a very busy Sabbath day which our Lord spent in Capernaum, the city in which most of His mighty works were done, but which ignored Him and His teaching to its own destruction (see Matt. 11:23, 24). As we look at our Lord's activity on that day we learn what we may do with our Sundays to make them bear fruit for eternity. We find Him in three places.

I. In the Church (vv. 21-28).

The Sabbath day found our Lord with His people in the synagogue, their place of worship. The service of worship was probably formal and lacking in spiritual vitality, but none-the-less He was there. What have we to say if we miss the opportunity for fellowship and service which church attendance brings us?

Observe that because He was there He (as a distinguished religious teacher) was called upon to teach the people. He taught them in the serene consciousness of His divine authority, and the people were delighted and astonished at His message. We may not serve exactly as He did, but if we present ourselves in God's house on His day we will find the way opening for us to share in the worship.

Jesus not only spoke, but He performed a miracle. Certain it is that we could not do what He did, but we can be ready to give ourselves in service as well as in worship, or in speaking. There is much work to be done in the church, and God's people should be ready and willing to do it.

II. In the Home (vv. 29-31).

From the synagogue Christ went into the home. How appropriate! We too should go from the church to the home, always bringing with us the strength and blessing of the worship service.

The daughter of a great preacher and Bible teacher said the thing she most loved in her father was that he did not give out the "cream" of his Christianity in his meetings and bring home the "skim milk." Too often we fail to bring into the home the power and beauty of the service in the church. We who have been very sweet and spiritual in the church should not come home to be sour and crabbed.

Jesus brought a blessing into Peter's home, miraculously healing his mother-in-law of a great fever, setting her free to serve. Here again we cannot do what He did, but we can, in His name, bring power and blessing into our homes.

III. In the City (vv. 32-34).

From the home the ministry of Jesus reached out to the entire city. As the strict laws forbidding travel on the Jewish Sabbath were set aside by the coming of sundown, not only the city but the entire countryside brought their sick and needy to Him.

The scene staggers the imagination as one attempts to conceive of this coming together of troubled humanity for the Master's touch. Mark tells us that He healed many; Matthew, that He healed all, and Luke, the physician, is emphatic in saying that He healed every one of them.

We may learn from this incident that our Christian faith, which has been developed and strengthened by our time of worship and service in the church, should not only reflect itself in the home, but should reach out into the life of the community in which we live. The primary interest of the Christian in his city or the place of his residence should be spiritual, a desire to bring to bear upon the people of the community the power of the gospel.

There is, however, a secondary responsibility which is of much importance and that is the extending of Christian influence into every phase of school, social, political, and business life. It is said that when D. L. Moody came into a barber shop the entire course of the conversation changed. The Christian should have an influence on problems of social welfare, the work of the public schools, the proper conduct of business in the community, and surely upon its political life. It is said that if every Christian in America would vote according to his professed convictions we could put the saloons out of business in a single election. Why not do it?

The Recorder has always urged its readers to join and support the church of their choice; today, this advice is as vital as ever.

Luckily for the human race, adults, who grow cynical, are replaced by youngsters with enthusiasm, hope, faith and love.

The Blood Stream

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The blood stream has several important functions. For instance it feeds the tissues from the products of digestion; it carries away waste matter and it aids in equalizing the temperature and the water content of the body.

Blood is not just plain fluid, but has two parts. A yellowish fluid called PLASMA, in which float solid particles called corpuscles. Then there are three kinds of corpuscles; red corpuscles; white corpuscles, and blood platelets. The red corpuscles are the oxygen carriers of the body. The white corpuscles are the protectors of the body and multiply at a great rate of speed. In other words, the white corpuscles enable the body to resist infections and throw off contagious disease.

Friends, now that we understand how important a part our blood stream plays in the health of our entire body, it is easy to see that we should be careful not to choke or cramp this blood stream in any way.

When you cramp blood vessels and shut off blood supply to any part of the foot, every school physiology book tells us that you not only deprive it of the food it should have to keep healthy, but the slower blood stream cannot clear away waste matter as it should. We find chemical deposits form at the joints of the feet and the legs and then inflamation develops leading to pain and discomfort that makes you miserable all over. These symptoms are often mistaken for arthritis rheumatism or some other ailment. Backaches, headaches and many body ills may be traced to the feet.—Adv.

HOMEMAKERS ATTEND MEET

HELD AT LEXINGTON BY FEDERATION—LOCAL GROUP IS HEADED BY MRS. SAM SLEET, DISTRICT DIRECTOR.

A delegation of Boone County Homemakers, headed by Mrs. Sam Sleet, director of the Blue Grass District of Kentucky Homemakers Federation, attended the Annual Farm and Home Convention held at the University of Kentucky Lexington, last week. Reports of the convention will be given at local meetings during February.

The program theme "Homemakers, Defenders of America" featured Washington personalities who brought current information on questions vital to every American woman. Other speakers were widely known authorities who also presented timely topics. Homemakers on the home front must know how to work together, how to work individually, and how to censor propaganda in order to build the health and citizenship for National Victory.

Delegates who will report on the Convention are: Mrs. Alan Gaines, Mrs. John Vest; Mrs. Bedinger Walton; Mrs. Vernon Pope, Burlington; Mrs. Joe Hogan, Hebron; Mrs. Albert Willis, Bullittsville; Mrs. Orville Willeford, Florence; Mrs. Sam Sleet, Mrs. Jake Cleek, New Haven; and Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Acting Home Demonstration Agent, accompanied the delegation.

The Boone County delegation was proud to hear Mrs. Sibbia Reimer relate the work being done in the Boone County Schools to improve the lunch room programs. Her talk was one of several presented by Homemakers from all sections of the State, concerning special accomplishments of the Nutrition committees.

MONEY TALKS

By Frederick W. Stamm, Economist and Director of Adult Education University of Louisville

Congress is now worrying over the new budget for the next federal fiscal year which begins July 1, 1942. And it has reason to worry. This new budget calls for a total expenditure of $58,928,000,000. Can you realize how much 58 billion dollars is? Very few Americans can.

This proposed budget is three times as large as the largest for World War I, and unlike any other budget we have ever had, 90 percent of it goes for war materials. Thus of the 58 billion, defense and war activities take over 52 billion while non-defense activities account for only 6 billion.

We all know what the defense activities are, but let us look at the non-defense expenditures. Of this 6 billion, aids to agriculture will take 854 million, interest on the federal debt, 1,750 million, relief agencies (such as WPA, PWA, etc.), a little over one billion while general expenditures will take about two and one-half billion.

Now where are we going to get this money? The Government now figures that it will secure 23 billion from taxes and a little over 35 billion by borrowing from its citizens. Of the 23 billion it will collect in taxes, corporation income tax will account for over 6 billion, individual income tax for over 5 billion, excise taxes (such as those on cigarettes, whiskey, radios, furs, etc.) for over 3 billion and miscellaneous revenues for about one billion. That leaves about 7 billion unaccounted for. This means but one thing—increasing present taxes and adding a number of new ones. We can expect much higher income tax rates next year along with much lower exemptions. We can also expect a federal sales tax. Don't expect to get off lightly. There never has been a budget like this. It is the world's largest, and it will call for sacrifice on the part of every citizen.

CERTIFICATES FOR 55 LEE FAMILIES

For producing most of their food on their farms, 55 families in Lee county, Kentucky, were awarded certificates of achievement by the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Their gardens averaged an acre and a tenth. They canned a total of 20,586 quarts of fruits and vegetables and stores 945 bushels of food products. Four Wills Are Probated Monday

Four wills were probated in Judge Riddell's court Monday, with only regular business to be transacted.

The will of Henry Clore named Alline Brady as administratrix and on her motion, John Maurer, C. E. McNeely and W. B. Rogers were appointed appraisers for the estate.

Henry Gatje named his wife Ella Gatje as executrix of the estate and on her motion named Emmett Riddell, Israel Rouse and Wm. Goodridge, appraisers.

In the will of Belle Hutsell, John S. Taylor was named administrator and on his motion it was ordered that Kathryn Baker be appointed administratrix. Mrs. Baker then named J. F. Cleek, J. Russell Cross and B. F. Bedinger as appraisers.

The will of G. R. Fisher named Belle Winn Fisher executrix of the estate, and on her motion, J. C. Bedinger, D. L. Lusby and Walter Clemons were named appraisers.

U. C. Evening Officials Have High Opinion Of Boone County Residents

University of Cincinnati Evening College officials have a high opinion of Boone County residents, Prof. G. W. Kingsbury, assistant to the dean, has indicated in a dispatch to this paper.

Five Boone County towns, although among the smaller towns in Northern Kentucky, send a greater percentage of their residents to the Evening College than does any other Bluegrass community.

Florence is represented by seven students, Union and Burlington by three each, Petersburg by two and Constance by one.

"The fact that residents of these towns take the time and trouble to travel great distances each week, stamps the county and the community as forward looking," Prof. Kingsbury said.

At present the Evening College has an enrollment of 1388, the largest in its history and the fourth largest Evening College in the country.

This number is expected to be increased in the second semester which opens next week. Registration is being held each night this week and next. New students are being admitted to 143 new classes in many fields of engineering, commerce, liberal arts and applied arts.

The fact that the nation is expanding its industry is bringing many new persons to the class room.

"They are anxious," Prof. Kingsbury pointed out, "to obtain new training in order to qualify for better positions. That employers are seeking trained workers is indicated in the many calls coming to the Evening College Employment Bureau. This bureau is open to all students without charge and many have obtained good positions thru its facilities.

ARMY TO FORM 10 AVIATION CADET EXAMINING BOARDS

Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Columbus, O., today announced plans to establish 10 Army Aviation Cadet Examining Boards in key localities of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana.

The Boards, starting operations February 1, will be equipped to examine candidates physically and mentally and send them to training centers the same day they apply.

Permanent boards will be established at the Fort Hayes, O., Camp Perry, O., Fort Harrison, Ind., and Fort Thomas, Ky., reception centers.

Semi-permanent boards will be organized in Lexington, Ky., Wheeling, W. Va., Charleston, W. Va., Bloomington, Ind., Lafayette, Ind., and Cleveland, O. They will have permanent headquarters but will occasionally visit nearby cities to examine groups of applicants.

Boards now operating permanently at Patterson Field, near Dayton, O., Bowman Field, near Louisville, Ky., and at Baer Field, near Fort Wayne, Ind., will continue to function.

Applications may be made direct to the boards or to any Army Recruiting Station. Any healthy male American citizen, either single or married, who is at least 18 years old and not yet 27, is eligible to make application regardless of the amount of education he has had. Qualification is based on a simple aptitude test and a physical examination.

"DENTAL TRAILER" USED IN BREATHITT

Four-H'ers in Breathitt county taking the health project—160 of them, in fact—were able to get dental attention at a "dental trailer" ponsored jointly by the county health department and the Kiwanis club. The trailer was stationed at Quicksand and 4-H'ers more than 12 years old and needing dental care were given it. Says Fern Johnson, home demonstration agent: "Army rejections due to bad teeth show how widespread is the need for early and adequate dental care. This excellent care provided at the dental trailer in Breathitt county should bring results now and also years from now, in good health and efficiency."

ARMY DELUGED WITH APPLICANTS FOR AVIATION TRAINING

A landslide of applications for Army Aviation Cadet training under simplified requirements has forced temporary modification of the immediate enlistment plan and renewal of a "waiting list," Fifth Corps Area Headquarters announced today.

They pointed out that the new plan would not prevent any qualified youth from taking cadet training but would result only in a momentary delay. Applications will continue to be received at all Army Recruiting Stations and will be processed just as rapidly as possible. Successful candidates will be placed on a "waiting list." Then they will be called for enlistment and sent to air training stations as vacancies occur.

Officials emphasized the temporary nature of the "waiting list" plan which they said was not expected to delay enlistment of any applicant more than a few weeks. They predicted an early return to the immediate enlistment procedure.

Part of the current "peak load" was traced to applications on hand when simplified requirements were announced. Many of these candidates and many rejected earlier because they lacked college training, became eligible and were enlisted immediately under new requirements.

Candidates must be at least 18 years old and not yet 27 and may be either single or married. A simple aptitude or intelligence test has been substituted for former high school and college requirements.

Hunting For Scapegoats

By J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C.—While President Roosevelt was engaged in charting and proclaiming his 56 billion dollar arms goal, and OPM was calling for suspension of automobile production, the Congress of Industrial Organizations broke loose in page advertisements in Washington newspapers accusing the motor manufacturers with having failed to reach expectations in delivery of war supplies.

The advertisements demanded that the unions should be given direct representation in a new conversion committee with broad powers that would enable them to determine the destinies of the auto industry during the war's duration.

The official records show that motor manufacturers have complied with every request from the President and the OPM and other administrators. No cars for private use will be produced after the end of January, because automobile plants will devote themselves to arms and nothing else.

The C. I. O. makes demands that would, and are intended to break down the existing industrial system. Their bold proposal might serve as an entering wedge to change the form of our Government so radically that it would cease to be a bona fide Democracy.

Arthur Krock is top-man in Washington for the New York Times, and National Capital newsmen hold him in high esteem. He says that C. I. O. has opened an attack designed to "make industry the scapegoat" for what may have been called failures in production during the past year. Krock quotes from C. I. O.'s "Scapegoat Safari" as follows: "Intolerable as they (the strikes) are, they are not the main cause of the inadequate performance. We have argued . . . quite rightly that the administrative organization in Washington lacks responsibility and centralized authority."

That's how the government and industry are accused of going wrong.

The lack of fair play on the part of C. I. O. and the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement workers is obviously intentional because honest current history records official figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor published before the close of 1941, that showed in the first eleven months of 1941 there was a tremendous increase in strikes, that involved 2,389,685 workers with a resultant loss of 22,448,787 mandays. The year before was bad enough as it involved 534,373 men with resultant loss of 6,242,558 man-days, but the number was less than one-third of the bitter strikes in 1941.

Search as one may to find something in the record to support the demand of unions for an economic high command of industry, with power to pool facilities, place contracts as between individual companies, and carry out general programs of conversion and where do we find a place to land? The answer is nowhere.

Things have never been done that way in the United States at any time since Washington's first term in the Presidency, and the adoption of C. I. O.'s suggestions would be only another load for the Administration to pile on top of the war production program.

Joe Davies Rings The Bell

A new book recently appeared entitled: "Mission to Moscow." The author is Joseph E. Davies, fromer Ambassador to Soviet Russia.

There has been a flood of books written about Russia in the past few years by Americans who went on "missions" to Soviet Russia. But the book that tops them all in interest, information, impression, and explanatios, and is the best seller is the one written by this American diplomat.

Davies jumped from private practice as a Wisconsin country lawyer in 1912 into the confidence of Woodrow Wilson, who approved his energies and qualifications as secretary of the Democratic National Committee and appointed him to be the first Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. But, men's work is more important than biographies, and judged by his new book, "Mission to Moscow," Joe Davies knows the lowdown, and the facts, and trends and he has reported them so well that those who have read the book are unaminous in agreeting that he "rang the bell."

Two Great Men

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are in entire agreement on war plans and both of these leaders set 1943 for the end of the war. They say that the offensive actions will be carried into enemies' lands.

Congress agrees with the general principles at stake; nevertheless there will be a lot of discussion over these 56 billions of dollars, to do the job.

Speeding The War Effort

As a means of increasing its contribution to the war effort through the further stimulation of the production of war materials, General Motors has organized seven of its leading executives into a new War Emergency Committee that will have responsibility for all the Corporation's activities connected with the war emergency for its duration, but will automatically be dissolved at the conclusion of the war.

It was encouraging that as early as June, 1940 certain organizational changes were effected within this same Corporation "to facilitate an aggressive execution of such part of the national defense program as may be assigned to General Motors." These changes included the organization of a Defense Material Relationships Committee, now superseded by the War Emergency Committee. The importance of the latter is attested by its membership. Headed by Donaldson Brown, Vice Chairman of the Board of Directors and Vice President of the Corporation, this emergency board included: Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Chairman of General Motors; C. E. Wilson, President, and four other ranking vice presidents of this great manufacturing company.

As so well illustrated by General Motors, the brains of the entire automobile industry are being concentrated upon winning the war.

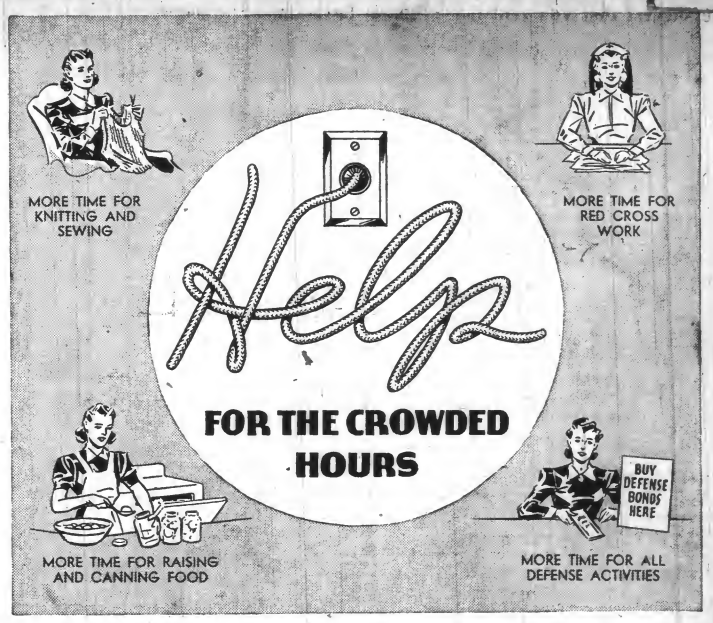
The Railroads

American railroads are holding their chins up and they show that they have successfully handled the greatest volume of passenger and freight transportation in their history during the past year. The rail lines handled the oil shortage that was alleged to have threatened the Eastern Seaboard. Diesel engines, air-conditioning, more efficient management and service are all legacies that the railroad inherited from the motor industry and highway builders. Transportation on land and sea has actually been made over and modernized since mass production gave us the automobile age this twentieth century.

MEN OF BELL ASK FOR WHOLE WHEAT



In Balkan community in Bell county, as in many other areas, use of whole wheat flour was not immediately popular—so found the home demonstration agent, Miss Sunshine Colley. If it was distributed, it had a way of being thrown to the pigs and chickens. One pay day, the homemakers' club served at the commissary piping hot whole wheat biscuits and muffins with good Kentucky butter and preserves. At the same time, 400 typed pages of whole wheat and other recipes were handed out. No suggestion was made (other than the mental suggestion of good food), but two weeks later the men thronged the commissary asking where to obtain the flour and for more recipes.

ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES SAVE TIME FOR DEFENSE WORK

With our country engaged in its most gigantic war effort of all time, patriotic women everywhere are eager and anxious to do their bit. Busy as they are with the cares and responsibilities of their homes and families, they are devoting many hours to working for the Red Cross . . . training for civilian defense . . . cooperating in the food conservation program . . . knitting and sewing . . . and otherwise assisting in the national defense program. Electrical appliances are helping them meet the increasing demands upon their time by speeding up housework and releasing time and energy that would otherwise be spent in slow hand work. By using their appliances wisely, but not wastefully, they are able to make the most of each day and contribute a patriotic service to their country. In the home, as in industry, electricity is on the job, helping to pave the way to victory.

JOHNSON BACKS MORATORIUM ON DRUNK DRIVING

Governor Keen Johnson has enlisted Kentucky in the nationwide proposal for a moratorium thruout 1942 against drunken driving. In endorsing the idea Governor Johnson said, "I am heartily in accord with efforts to declare a moratorium on drunken driving. If we can make the public conscious of the results of this type of driving, we can do much to lessen the number of deaths all over the country."

The proposal for a year's moratorium against drunken driving in the United States has been urged by the American Business Men's Research Foundation as a major step in bringing a reduction in automobile accidents. The Foundation's offices have received endorsements for the suggestion from governors, local and state traffic authorities and others high in public life. The Foundation made a similar proposal last summer for over the three-day July 4 holiday period which received nationwide acceptance and was said to have been an important factor in reducing the number of holiday deaths by 100 less than in 1940.

Personally, we are ready to back the judgment of Roosevelt and Churchill as to the strategy of the present war.

Mrs. Brothers stated further, that all workers in the Limaburg community are invited and that if they contact her by phone they will be informed of the details.

Finn Brothers Sell Crop For Good Average

Aubrey, Ernest and Russell Finn Jr., spent Monday and Tuesday in Lexington, where they sold their tobacco crop. Russell Finn sold his crop of 1,946 for an average of $33.95, and Aubrey and Ernst sold their crop of 4100 pounds for an average of $30.58. Considering the time of marketing, this is an exceptionally good average.

Petersburg In A Nutshell

The following business card was handed this writer last week by Ray Gaines, who found the card when repairing their home sometime ago.

The card is supposed to have belonged to James Duncan, former County Clerk of Boone County, who occupied the room in the Gaines home many years ago.

Printed on the card was:

Petersburg in a Nut Shell

Population 1,00. Boone County Distilling Co., capacity 2,500 bushels per day. Flour mills, four Stores, two Drug Stores, Confectionery, Bank, Shoe Shop ,two Blacksmith Shops, Carriage Shop, Meat Shop, Good Hotel, two Steamers, Grist Mill, two Cooper Shops, two Good Physicians, Good Schools and Churches. Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias; Odd Fellows, Masons, Young People's Society Christian Endeavor and Epworth League. Building Association, First Class Uniformed Brass Band, and many other things of interest too numerous to mention. A good town to locate in. Pay the city and Hardin & Helms' Shop a visit.

The card advertised the Hardin and Helms Mecca Barber Shop in Petersburg, and it is supposed to be something over 50 years old.

CONSTANCE P-T. A.

The regular meeting of the Constance P.-T. A. will be held at the school February 11th. After the business meeting there will be a Founder's Day program, and lunch will be served. All members are asked to bring a donation for the lunchroom at this meeting. Meeting will start promptly at 1:30 (fast time).

RECORD SALE OF SEALS REPORTED

IN 1941 CAMPAIGN—CHAIRMAN LENTS THANKS ALL RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCCESS OF DRIVE.

According to the report just released by R. V. Lents, chairman of the tuberculosis seal sale organization in Boone County, all records for the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals in Boone County have been smashed. The report shows the sale amounted to $433.58 or an increase of $82.27 over last year's sales.

By having a full-time county nurse, sixty-five percent of the proceeds will be used in this county to help in carrying on the campaign against tuberculosis. However the cost of stationery, stamps, and prizes for the school children selling the seals must come out of the county's portion of the money. The remainder will be used to aid directly or indirectly those in the county that have tuberculosis.

Mr. Lents stated that you may still contribute to the sale of the seals by mailing anything that you wish to him at Constance.

Mr. Lents expresses his appreciation to those who were responsible for the success of the campaign in the following letter:

"I wish to thank all the school children in the county who sold seals; the teachers for their hearty cooperation in directing the campaign; all the civic-minded citzens who bought the bright colored stamps, and the Walton Advertiser and Boone County Recorder for the numerous lines of publicity given to the sales campaign."

The following is a statement of sales by communities: Belleview, $13.75; Burlington, $52.90; Burlington (colored) $6.00; Constance $38.76; Beaver (colored) $1.00; Walton $52.19; New Haven $36.40; Anonymous $3.35; Florence $83.86; Petersburg $22.05; Florence (St. Paul) $9.16; Hebron $72.39; Verona $21.35; Hamilton $20.42.

Fifty prizes were given to school children selling the most seals in their respective schools.

Lydia Bell Wilson

Mrs. Lydia Bell Wilson passed away at her home on Wilson Road, Kenton County, Wednesday, January 21, following an illness of four weeks. Mrs. Wilson was 83 years old and a life-long resident of Kenton county.

She is survived by her husband, Louis N. Wilson; two sons Clyde Wilson, of Pittsburgh, Pa., Clifford Wilson of Independence; 1 brother Robt W. Jones, of Walton; 6 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at Independence Christian Church, Friday, January 23 at 2 p. m. Burial in Independence cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

Fruit Insectary Group Meets Friday

The Northern Kentucky Fruit Growers Insectary program committee will meet at the County Agent's office, New Post Office Building in Covington on this Friday, February 6th, at 1:30 p. m. (Eastern Time), according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

All fruit growers are invited to attend this meeting and assist in making plans to report timely information on 1942 spray schedules and orchard management problems. W. W. Magill, Orchard Field Agent, College of Agriculture, is assisting in the meeting.

Our idea of a hard day's work is that of a Boone County citizen who spent one whole day trying to dodge his bill collectors.

The young woman whose education does not fit her to become a better wife and mother has wasted a lot of valuable time.

GOAL OF 400 IS SET BY FOUR-H

IN SECURING MEMBERSHIP FOR YEAR 1942—CLUBS WILL COOPERATE IN NATIONAL VICTORY EFFORT.

Boone County 4-H Clubs were reorganized in January, when more than 60 officers in all community clubs were elected to advance 4-H work in their local clubs. In cooperation with their community leaders, these officers have immediately set out to secure the 1942 membership goal of 400 members, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

Goals for community clubs are as follows: Burlington, 70; Constance, 25; Florence, 60; Grant, 25; Hamilton, 25; Hebron, 50; New Haven, 65; Petersburg, 25; Walton, 20; and Verona, 25.

Popular projects with boys this year are gardens, poultry, dairy, swine and tobacco. These projects, with the exception of tobacco, offer basic training that should enable club members to more efficiently produce commodities now urgently requested by the U. S. Department ment of Agriculture. Girls have chosen such projects as clothing, canning, foods, school lunches, and room improvement.

Four-H clubs in the County have made plans for all possible cooperation in the Victory effort, an expansion of the enrollment, better project work among both boys and girls, and more efficient community organizations.

EXPECT SHEEP TO CONTINUE TO PAY

Increased demands for meats and a strong wool market are expected to maintain lamb and sheep prices this year. Cash income from the sale of wool in 1941 was the largest in 20 years, and this year's income may be even larger, says the outlook report of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Quality of lambs will continue to play an important part in profits, and the college's economists suggest that sheepmen feed well, so they can sell well-finished lambs early.

OYSTERS ANY STYLE

A Week Of The War

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill created three Anglo-American boards to pool American and British munitions, shipping and raw materials. The boards will confer with representatives of the Soviet Union, China and others of the 26 United Nations as necessary "to attain common purposes." U. S. representatives are: Harry Hopkins, Munitions Board; Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, Shipping Board; and William L. Batt, Raw Materials Board.

The President told his press conference great progress has been made in unification of American Army and Navy commands. He said such unification has been going on for the past two months and does not result from the Pearl Harbor inquiry board report. Mr. Roosevelt said he is still studying this report, which placed the blame for lack of American alertness at Hawaii on Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, but Presidential Secretary Early indicated further action in regard to the commanders will rest with Navy Secretary Knox and War Secretary Stimson.

Price Control Legislation Signed

President Roosevelt signed the Price Control Bill which provides for a license system to enforce price regulations, calls for a single administrator and contains provisions to permit farm prices to rise as high as 110 percent of parity. The President said, however, he may ask Congress to correct certain gaps in the bill, particularly the agriculture provisions. He said the prohibition against farm price ceilings at less than 110 percent of parity is a direct threat to the cost of living, although the licensing, rent control and other provisions are useful weapons against inflation. The Department of Agriculture reported the average of farm product prices on January 15 was 102 percent of parity.

The War Front

The Army reported the Japanese were making heavy reinforcements in the Philippines preparatory to resumption of a large scale offensive against Gen. MacArthur's forces which were continuing to hold strong positions in the Bataan Peninsula. In the Philippine area U. S. forces destroyed a 5,000-ton enemy vessel and at least five enemy planes, while in the Macassar Straits, Army and Navy forces sank three large enemy transports, set two more afire, torpedoed an aircraft carrier, blew up another large ship and scored hits which probably sank others. The Army announced United States Army forces arrived in Northern Ireland, and Maj. Gen. James E. Chaney took over command of all U. S. Army forces in the United Kingdom. President Roosevelt told his press conference this force is one of six, eight or 10 American expeditionary forces outside the U. S. in various parts of the world. U-boat activity resulted in the sinking off the Atlantic coast of two American ships and a Norwegian tanker. The U. S. garrison at Midway Island sank an enemy submarine attempting to attack the island.

Army

The President signed the Fourth Supplemental National Defense Bill carrying a $12,600,000,000 appropriation for 33,000 Army planes and equipment. War Secretary Stimson announced plans to speed training of 30,000 pilots, observers, navigators and other personnel to match airplane production. War Secretary Stimson announced 20,000 men have been released for duty with combat troops since the Army began replacement of enlisted men engaged in clerical and housekeeping activities by civilian employees, some of them women. He said entrance requirements for officer candidate schools have been changed to allow qualified enlisted men from 18 to 45 to win commissions within six months.

Navy

The House passed and sent to the Senate a record naval appropriation bill of $18 billion in cash and an additional $4 billion in contract authorizations to build the Navy to unprecedented strength. The Senate Appropriations Committee, at the request of President Roosevelt, added another $6 billion to the bill to strengthen the naval air arm. The Marine Corps announced regulations for enlistment of 6,000 men 30 to 50 for guard duty at naval shore stations. The Corps revised requirements to permit only college juniors and seniors and qualified enlisted men to enroll in its reserve officers' candidate class. The Navy waived minimum age requirement of 25 years for leaders, leadingmen and quartermen in Navy yards and plants under Navy jurisdiction. The Navy is recruiting skilled construction workers for work at naval bases outside continental United States.

Production

The Army Ordnance Department estimated it has been spending $21 million a day for the past five weeks for 1,200 various types of items including ammunition, small arms, artillery, tanks, etc. The Army announced its new 105 mm. howitzer is now in mass production. War Production Chairman Nelson told a meeting in New York City the job facing businessmen is to rush war contracts thru to completion "without stopping to count the cost."

The War Production Board announced a simplified production requirements plan to speed conversion of small manufacturers doing less than $100,000 business a year. The Board also sent up a special section to collect information on all vacant industrial buildings so the Army and Navy procurement branches can award contracts in such a way as to utilize these buildings.

Conversion of Automobile Industry

Ernest Kanzler, WPB official in charge of converting the automobile industry to war production, said the industry up to January 16 had orders for $8 billion worth of guns, tanks, planes and other war material. He said the industry's present employment of 500,000 workers may be doubled when peak war production is reached late this year. He said lack of machine tools is the present bottleneck in the conversion effort but labor supply may be the next big problem.

Aliens

Attorney General Biddle ordered all German, Japanese and Italian nationals to leave specified areas in San Francisco and Los Angeles by February 24. Mr. Biddle said 27 additional prohibited areas recommended by the War Department would be published later.

Priorities And Allocations

The Senate passed and sent to the House a second War Powers Bill extending the Government's requistitioning power and carrying criminal penalties for violations of the priorities system. The WPB cut radio production by 40 percent, prohibited use of aluminum except on war contracts, and restricted consumption of nickel, brass and copper for advertising and decorative purposes to 50 percent of last year. The Board also announced it will withhold a percentage of canned goods in 1942 to insure ample supplies of certain foods for the armed forces.

War Production Chairman Nelson placed full authority in the Office of Price Administration to ration all goods and commodities sold on the retail market and for goods to satisfy personal needs. Price Administrator Henderson said initial sugar sales under the rationing plan to be inaugurated next month will be restricted to 12 ounces a week for each individual. The Department of Justice announced the Antitrust Division is investigating the practice of requiring customers to purchase designated amounted of groceries in order to obtain limited amounts of sugar.

Labor

Labor Secretary Perkins said labor shortages require temporary "relaxation in accepted standards," and asked labor and management to place war production on a 24-hour, 7-day basis immediately. WPB Labor Director Hillman announced ratification by unions and owners of an agreement for continuous shipbuilding operations on the Pacific coast. The agreement will be extended to the Atlantic, Gulf and Great Lakes zones, Mr. Hillman said. The National Resources Planning Board outlined in a 19-page pamphlet a plan for full employment following the war.

SATURDAY

Youthful Gloria Jean and blonde young Susan Miller add unique musical interest to Universal's new W. C. Fields comedy, "Never Give A Sucker An Even Break."

Thirteen-year-old Gloria lifts her coloratura voice in two famous songs, "Otchi Tehornia" or "Dark Eyes" by Salama, and "Sstrellita."

In "Never Give A Sucker An Even Break," with Fields, Gloria and Miss Miller, are such well known players as Leon Errol, Butch and Buddy, Franklin Pangborn, Charles Lang and Margaret Dumont.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

The first woman destined to become the screen's only actress-director-producer is in support of William Powell and Myrna Loy in "Shadow of the Thin Man," newest of M-G-M's popular "Thin Man" dramas.

She is Stella Adler, well-known Broadway actress and director, who has been signed to a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract and who will become a member of the production department as assistant Producer to Arthur Freed.

In "Shadow of the Thin Man" Miss Adler plays the role of a typical blonde gangster's moll. When she is threatened with blackmail by a former admirer, a murder results which adds to the mysteries which Detective Nick Charles played by Powell, is forced to unravel.

Don't miss this big picture—you will like it from beginning to end.

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

Gordon Wiles, director of Paramount's smashing story of fifth column sky raiders, "Forced Landing," to be shown at the Gayety, Tuesday, holds several international awards for motion picture direction. In 1932, he won the Academy Award for Art Direction. "Forced Landing" boasts an unusual cast including the veteran pilot-actor Richard Arlen; J. Carrol Naish, distinguished character player; Nils Asther; and Hollywood's newest glamour girl, Eva Gabor, the "sweater-voiced" girl.

When an impetuous young lady leaves a titled finance at the altar and runs off to marry a poor clerk in her father's department store, it must be love. And it's just that kind of love that motivates the exciting plot of "Repent at Leisure" RKO Radio film co-featuring Kent Taylor and Wendy Barrie.

Replete with hilarious comedy, trenchant drama and fast-paced action, "Repent at Leisure" was directed by Frank Woodruff. The supporting cast includes George Barbier, Rafael Storm, Nella Walker and Thurston Hall.

HAMILTON GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

January 31 the Hamilton grade school basketball team had an interesting practice game which was followed by an independent game between Hamilton Independents and Milan, Ind. The Hamilton quintet nosed the Hoosiers out by a 5 point margin, the score 56-51. The game was a hard fought contest throughout. Hansell Williamson was high point man for Hamilton with 23, while French collected 16 points for the Hoosiers.

February 6 Hamilton Grade team will motor to Burlington to meet the Burlington Grade squad in a preliminary to the Silver Grove-Burlington high school games.

The January honor roll was unusual in that it listed only two names from the 7th and 8th, Mattie M. Miller and Ruby F. Ryle.

Friday, Jan. 30, Rev. Roy Johnson gave a very interesting address to our student body during our chapel program.

The scarlet fever, which we were afraid would be an epidemic has to date infected only three of our pupils. We are still taking precautionary measures against this fear and certainly hope that we have "stamped it out"

RABBIT HASH HOMEMAKERS

Rabbit Hash Homemakers' Club held its regular meeting at the cream station on the second Tuesday, with six members and several visitors present.

As most of the members were late in arriving, time before lunch was spent visiting with each other.

At noon our hostess, Mrs. Mary Wilson served a delicious lunch of vegetable soup, salad, pie and coffee.

In the afternoon we sewed for the Red Cross. We also took several pieces of clothing home, on which to work.

Mrs. Moose gave a very interesting "Flag Quiz" which we enjoyed very much.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Ida Mae Ryle, Mrs. Mary Wilson, Mrs. Martin Williamson, Mrs. Minnie Stephens, Mrs. Adah Wilson, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Ethel Wilson and our visitors were Mrs. Carrie Hightower, and Mrs. Beulah Riggs and daughter. We were very glad to have them with us.

Next meeting will be on second Tuesday in February, with Mrs. Opal Kelly as hostess.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

The January meeting of the Bullittsville Homemakers' Club was held at the home of Mrs. M. M. Lucas.

The vice president, Mrs. Huey Aylor presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Haynes Bruce. There was a motion made and carried that the club sponsor a chicken supper for the benefit of the Red Cross. The supper was planned to be held at the Bullittsville Church on February 14th.

After the business session Mrs. J. R. Williams gave a talk on keeping a scrap book on foods. She also gave the lesson in a very interesting manner. The lesson was "Meals For Special Occasions.."

Mrs. Moore asked that everyone make a list of foods we must have in our daily meals. She also gave a talk on the "Sound Home For Defense." She announced that the lesson for February will be "Victory Begins At Home."

After a delicious lunch the meeting was again called to order and Mrs. Engle the exterior beautification chairman gave a talk on the "Winter Care of Evergreens and Planting of Flowers." She also gave a talk on the Clubs' beautification project, which is planting a model mile on the roadside in the Bullittsville community. She asked Mrs. Huey Aylor, Mrs. Jonas Stevens and Mrs. Albert Willis to assist her with soliciting and digging shrubs.

Mrs. Jonas Stevens, citizenship chairman, gave a very interesting talk on the location and importance of the Island and City of Singapore.

The club sent Mrs. Albert Willis as a delegate to the Farm and Home Convention at Lexington.

The February meeting will be held at the Bullittsville Barber Shop on the 25th of the month.

NEW HAVEN 4-H CLUB NOTES

Our first 4-H Club meeting of this year was held January 23rd. The meeting was called to order and we proceeded with the election of new officers. Officers elected were Mary Kathryn Shields, president; Mary Cecil Ryan, vice president; Mary Alice Black, secretary; Ella Ruth Black, reporter; Evelyn Franks, song and cheer leader; and Mrs. Master, community leader.

After the officers were elected, Mrs. Moore presented Evelyn Franks with her second premium award, which she won at Chicago in food judging. We are very proud of Evelyn and we are hoping that she will do as well this year.

Evelyn led us in the 4-H Club pledge, and our meeting was adjourned.

Ella Ruth Black, Reporter.

The idea that the Japs are not prepared to risk national existence in war with the English-speaking nations has disappeared.

What has become of the moaning prophets who were so certain, a few years ago, that the national debt would wreck this republic?

NORTH BEND ROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McArthur and family, of Belleview, spent Sunday with Alice Eggleston.

Mrs. C. S. Riddell spent from Friday until Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Raymond Baker and family, of Ohio.

Glad to report Mrs. Walter Arnold greatly improved at this writing.

A large crowd attended the shower Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Clifford for their son and bride, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clifford. They received many useful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wilson and daughter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wilson.

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS

The meeting of the Hebron Homemakers came to order by everyone singing "America," after which we repeated the pledge of allegiance. The "collect" was read in union.

Stella Nichols, foods leader, reported that nine members planned simple meals for Christmas.

The roll call was answered by "My Wish for the New Year."

Mrs. Reimer of Boone County has been asked to speak at Farm and Home Week about planning school lunchroom menus.

Norma Aylor has asked us to meet with her next month. The hostesses will be Norma Aylor, Alberta Dickey, Lorena Clore, Mrs. Hunter.

Ruth Tanner and Marie Asbury have been appointed Home Furnishing leaders. Marietta Garnett has replaced Nancy Campbell, who has moved from our community, as Foods leader.

Our president talked to us on "Leadership.'

Seven of our members would like to take courses in Home Hygiene and twelve voted for a First Aid class. Each chairman reported.

The citizenship chairman suggested that each member take a 4-H Club member to help and sponsor. The reading chairman asked for books for the soldiers, fiction, geometry, algebra, science in particular.

Mrs. Moore read to us from a booklet called "You Can Defend America."

The motion was made by Libby Youell and seconded by Lorena Clore that the meeting be adjourned

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in Red Cross sewing and knitting.

Katherine Peel, Secretary.

ATWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dunn, of Atwood spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Perry, of Independence.

F. D. Mullins, of Union is now stationed at San Francisco, Calif., with U. S. Army.

BELLEVIEW CHURCH OF CHRIST
Sam Hamilton, Minister

Bible School 9:30 C. S. T. Russell Rogers, Supt.

Worship Service 10:30.

The sermon Sunday will be a chart sermon on the subject of the Tabernacle of Moses. This is a study of type and anti-type, or the picture prophecy of the Old Testament and its fullfilment in the New. The sermon ought to be of special interest to those who are familiar with the structure and ceremony of Solomon's Temple. In this day and age when such a babble of voices clamor for attention in the religious world and the average man is in a quandry to answer the pressing questions, "Whom shall I believe—which is the true Church?" We sincerely believe this study will be very helpful. Bring your Bibles and bring your friends.

AIRPORT O. K.'D. BY PRESIDENT

COVINGTON WILL BE PERMITTED TO AID IN PROJECT'S COST UNDER NEW LAW PROVISION.

According to a telegram received by Judge N. E. Riddell from Alben W. Barkley, President Roosevelt gave his approval Monday to the Boone County airport, with certain attached conditions, requiring purchase by local sponsors of land for the project and specifying conditions under which this must be done.

In Frankfort, the Senate passed 32-0, and sent to Governor Keen Johnson a bill providing for establishment of airports by cities and counties. The bill had been introduced in the House by Representative James E. Quill, Kenton County, where it was approved, 85-0.

Piloted through the Senate by Senator Alex Howard, Kenton County, this bill paves the way for Kenton County and the City of Covington to sponsor or assist Boone County in promoting the airport if Boone County is unable to put up $109,323 required as its share of the cost.

Work Projects Administration officers said the President's approval was rushed through in conditional form because the project was classed as a defense item and the government wants to avoid possible delay.

The three conditions attached by President Roosevelt are:

(1) That the sponsors must secure deeds to any private property in the site.

(2) If the deeds do not contain reversionary clauses the sponsors' legal representatives shall file a statement showing the property in fee simple and showing that the deeds have been properly recorded.

(3) If the deeds do not contain reversionary clauses, then the deeds must be submited to WPA for approval.

WPA officials said no date was specified as the dead line for the sponsor to acquire property. They added that "reasonable time" would be allowed.

If other conditions are met, they said, the WPA Administrator for Kentucky then will have the final say on whether the project should be carried out and will set the time to start construction.

GIRL RESERVES WILL SPONSOR SALE THURS.

The Girl Reserves of the Burlington high school will sponsor a sale at the courthouse Thursday, beginning at 10:15 Eastern War Time. Chickens, eggs, cakes, doughnuts, homemade candy and cream will be sold. The club is buying Defense Stamps now.

SOILS LEADERS TO MEET FEB. 19

AT COUNTY AGENTS' OFFICE IN BURLINGTON—RECORDS FOR PAST YEAR SHOW LIMESTONE GREATLY INCREASED YIELDS.

Boone County soils leaders and AAA committeemen will meet at the County Agent's office in Burlington on Thursday, February 19, at 10:00 a. m. (Eastern War Time), according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The purpose of the meeting will be to plan a 1942 Soils Improvement Program.

Goals set in the 1941 program included the following:

Phosphate—Use 1,200,000 pounds. The goal was exceeded by 252,000 pounds.

Limestone—Goal to use 13,000 tons. Eleven thousand and thirty-nine tons were used. The largest amount of any year on recofd, and 16.8 percent larger than in 1940.

Records the past year from 26 soil demonstration farms in the county show that limestone increased yields 41.5 percent and phosphate 39.5 percent. Based on extremely low yield due to drouth last year and hay valued at $12.00 per ton, limestone and phosphate used increased yields $43,672.00 in crops. This increased yield on this investment will be larger in 1942 and for several years to come. One good application of phosphate will last four years or more, while an application of limestone will give results from ten to twenty or more years.

A large increase in better seedings and alfalfa acreage resulted from work included in this past year's program.

Livestock Marketing And Outlook Meeting Scheduled February 18

Boone County farmers will hold a livestock marketing and outlook meeting on Wednesday, February 18th, at 1:30 p. m., Eastern War Time, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Mr. L. A. Vennes, field agent in agricultural outlook, and Roy Proctor, farm management specialist, will speak on the program.

The Cincinnati Producers Cooperative Livestock Marketing Association will cooperate in the meeting supplying salesmen on the market to discuss the better handling of livestock in order to secure better price on the market.

Knowing the market outlook for various livestock and crops is more important now than any time in recent years. The balancing up of farm production to both meet National Defense needs and to secure greatest return is a vital problem for 1942. All farmers are urged to attend the meeting.

Lassing Huey Buys Registered Bull

Mr. Lassing Huey, Union, recently purchased a purebred registered Shorthorn bull to add to his steadily growing registered herd.

The purchase was made from G. K. Taylor, of Union, who has a splendid reputation for the breeding and handling of the dual type Shorthorns.

WAR TIME SCHEDULES

ARE ANNOUNCED FOR BANKS AND SCHOOLS THROUGOUT COUNTY—ONLY TEMPORARY SCHEDULES NOW AVAILABLE

Boone Countians arose Monday morning realizing that somewhere during the night they lost an hour of sleep, as the nation's clocks moved up one hour this week to comply with the new War Time invoked by Congress, to remain in force for six months after the war.

In an effort to simplify the time situation as much as possible, and to avoid confusion, it will be the policy of this paper to use only Eastern War Time, and all times published will be one hour ahead of Eastern Time which was adopted here several months ago.

Banks and schools throughout the county can only set up temporary schedules until official schedules can be secured. The temporary schedules effective probably through February will be as follows:

Florence Deposit Bank, 8:30 to 3:30; Farmers Bank 9:00 to 5:00; Hebron Bank 9:00 to 5:00; Citizens Bank, 9:00 to 5:00; Dixie State Bank 9:00 to 3:30; Verona Bank 10:00 to 5:30; Union Bank 8:30 to 3:30; Peoples Bank 9:00 to 4:00; All schools 10:15 to 5:15; courthouse 9:00 to 5:00. All times are Eastern War Time.

Legally, the new time can be enforced only upon common carriers, the Federal Government, and the hour at which acts or orders of the Federal Government are effective. However, the nation as a whole, and its people, its businesses and institutions went along with the time change by common consent. Whether or not the change will be advantageous for this particular community is questionable, however, due to our close relationship with Cincinnati, it is more convenient for us to have the same time.

Democrat Club Will Sponsor Benefit Dance

The Young Democratic Club of Boone County will sponsor a dance for the benefit of the American Red Cross at the Hilltop Inn, according to Malone Ligon, president of the organization.

The dance is scheduled for Thursday night, February 19th with all proceeds to go to the Red Cross. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Hilltop Band. Admission will be 25c. Everyone invited.

Friends of Joseph Bullock, formerly of Hebron, will be interested to learn that he and his wife Emilie Bullock, are the proud parents of a nine pound son, Joseph Daniel, born at Christ Hospital January 23. At home, 2554 Erie Ave., Hyde Park, Cincinnati, since February 4th.

NEW HAVEN FIVE WINNERS FRIDAY

IN CONFERENCE TILT—BURLINGTON AND WALTON MARK UP VICTORIES IN WEEK-END SKIRMISHES.

New Haven, advanced their standing in the Boone County basketball conference when they defeated the Florence Knights by a 31-20 count, after leading at the quarters by 12-5, 17-10, and 27-14. R. Cason of Florence was high point man of the evening with 10 points, while Judge had nine, Ryan eight and Newman seven for the winners.

New Haven's reserves won by a score of 25-9.

In a non-conference tilt Friday night, Burlington, out scoring their opponents, Silver Grove, during the last three quarters of play, emerged victors by a 34-28 count, on the local floor. Silver Grove led at the first quarter 6-2, but Burling ton took the lead at the half 11-10 and 24-16 at the close of the third quarter.

Forter was high point man for the locals with 11, followed by Huey with 9, while Brown of Silver Grove hit the hoop for 16.

In a preliminary game, Burlington reserves won over the visitors by a 23-11 count.

Walton Bearcats, Boone's Conference leaders easily won over the Hebron squad Friday night by a 44-18 count. Scores by quarters were 11-2, 28-4, and 34-10.

Kroger, Demoisey and Simpson, Walton, each had nine points, while Getker scored five for the Hebron team.

Walton's reserves defeated the Hebron second-stringers by a score of 25-16.

METAL TRAINING COURSE IS SET

FOR YOUNG MEN BETWEEN 17 AND 25 YEARS OF AGE—CALVIN CRESS WILL ACT AS INSTRUCTOR.

The Boone County Board of Education, in cooperation with the Government, is again giving the out-of-school young men of Boone County an opportunity to secure special defense training. The course this year will be in metal work and will be held in the new farm shop at Hebron School.

Any young man between the age of 17 and 25, not enrolled in school, is eligible for the free training. This year mileage for transportation of students is available if several ride together.

Anyone interested in this course should get in touch with Supt. D. H. Norris, Burlington or James R. Huey, Hebron, and enroll at once as the school is planning to begin at once, and only sixteen can be enrolled.

Any young man should take advantage of this instruction, whether he plans to secure work in a defense industry or remain on the farm. It is not often that we have the opportunity to receive free training of this type. The class will meet in the evenings.

The school is fortunate in securing as teacher, Mr. Calvin Cress. Mr. Cress is well qualified for this type of work.

County Nutrition Committee Will Meet February 12

There will be a meeting of the county nutrition committee in the County Agent's office on Thursday evening, February 12, at 8:00 (E. S. W. T.). The purpose of this meeting is to check up on goals for planning for further work in the effort to inform everyone in the county on "Food for Victory Program," and stress the importance of participating in it.

Chairmen of the local nutrition committees have also been asked to attend this meeting, according to Mrs. Moore, Acting Home Demonstration Agent.

Kenton Co. Youth Arrested Here Sat.

BOONE SCHOOLS TO PARTICIPATE

IN SERIES OF DRAMATIC CONTESTS, WITH FIRST PROGRAM AT HEBRON SCHOOL, THURSDAY FEBRUARY 12.

The four Junior high schools of the county will hold the first of a series of dramatic contests at the Hebron school auditorium, Thursday, February 12, at 8:00 Eastern Standard Time. The object of this contest is to promote work in the Junior high schools. The participating schools are: Belleview, Constance, Hamilton and Petersburg.

Belleview school presents, "How Lucy Served Her Country." Characters follow: Mr. Fitch, Eugene Purdy; Mrs. Fitch, Betty Jane Pendry; John Fitch (their son) Bobby Lee Walton; Lucy Fitch (their daughter) Mary Presser. Time: Revolutionary War period.

Petersburg school presents, "Sister Sue." The characters are: Sue Spencer, Frances Bonta; Mrs. Spencer, Dorothy Nixon; Mr. Spencer, Sam Huey; Carol Spencer, Mary K. Setters; Maybelline Spencer, Betty Brown; Tommy Shotwell; Billy Toadvine; Allan Marsh, Marian Campbell; Radio Announcer, Earl Kirkpatrick.

Hamilton school presents "Character Sketch of Abraham Lincoln." Characters are: Abe Lincoln, Hansell Ashcraft; Master Swaney, Jimmie Wilson; Jimmie, Donald Pitcher; Widow Slocum, Wilma Hodges; Pete, Floyd Shields; Dave Lewis Feldhaus; Bill, Bobby Acra.

Constance school presents "Henry's Mail Order Wife." The synopsis follows: Abe Smithers and Henry Gubbons, old bachelor cattle ranchers, have lived together long enough to get tired of each other and pork and beans. Henry, much to the consternation of his partner, has a hankering to get married and advertises for a wife. Jim Jones, a rider, learns of this and cannot resist a practical joke. By a clever scheme he learns the name of the "mail order bride" and the day of her arrival. Impersonating the fiancee he arrives at the shack a little prematurely and embarrasses Henry by his gushing ways. Becky Simpson, a designing maiden, lady across the way, finally takes Mrs. Tucker, the bride-to-be over to her ranch until the bachelors can fix up the house. Much to Henry's horrow a second woman appears who also claims to be Mrs. Tucker, his future wife. Henry is distracted and finally, when all seems hopeless, the hoax is disclosed and Henry loses a saddle, but gains a wife.

The public is cordially invited to attend this entertainment. Admission will be children 17c and adults 28c.

Vegetable Allotments Discarded For Year 1942

Commercial vegetable allotments have been discarded for 1942. The only vegetable that there will still be no increased asked for, is commercial potatoes. Everyone is urged to have at least as much, if not more planted to home gardens.

Tomatoes, corn, beans and peas will be used in increased amounts for canning purposes. Poultry was the only needed commodity that was asked for in the National Defense Program a few weeks ago, that did not show as much increase as was needed. Any further increases possible, are therefore urged to be made for the 1942 season.

WILL CONTINUE FRUIT PROGRAM

IS WORD FROM NORTHERN KENTUCKY FRUIT GROWERS FOLLOWING MEET HELD FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Northern Kentucky fruit growers will continue the Insectary program started in 1940, according to fruit growers attending a meeting at the County Agent's office in Covington last Friday afternoon. Reports on insectary and disease development in selected orchards in Boone, Kenton, Campbell and Bracken counties will be gathered throughout the season and in cooperation with the College of Agriculture will be made available to all growers.

The purpose of the program is to keep fruit growers informed on injurious insect activity, the development of apple scab and other disease factors and to keep available for them best recommendations on timely problems in producing quality fruit. The best growers are familiar with their orchard management problems and will not in most instances wait for the insectary program reports. They will use the reports to check their local opinions and experiences with those of the district and State in cooperation with the College and other leading growers. The service of the program were considered to be valuable.

The members of the Boone County Insectary committee are B. C. Stephens, F. H. Rouse and Charles L. Hempfling.

THE MAN FORGOT

Something of a lesson comes from another state where a woman, suffering from a mental ailment, turned on the gas one night killing herself, her husband and two children.

Knowing that his wife had suicidal tendencies, the husband placed a padlock on the door leading to the kitchen. It was his habit to lock the door every night. That night he overlooked it.

This is an example of how human beings, after maintaining vigilance against dangers, almost inevitably forget. Naturally, the perial closes in upon them.

The incident may teach all of us in Boone County to be a little more careful of the things that we think will not happen and also to use greater precaution against the things that we think might happen. The careful and prudent person never knows how many times he may have saved his life.

RELIEF FOR MacARTHUR

Announcement that troops of the United States have landed in North Ireland moved several Senators to express the opinion that an expedition "across the Pacific" would have been "much better."

Such comments, disclose an amazing ignorance of the conditions existing in the Far East. It would not be surprising in the average American, but seems out of place on the part of senators who are supposed to be well-informed and capable of making important decisions for the government.

American soldiers can be sent safely to North Ireland because the waters of the North Atlantic are under the control of the British and American fleets. They cannot be sent to the Far East, particularly the Philippines, unless guarded by adequate warships and airplanes. At present, Japan has an almost absolute supremacy in the air and on the water around the Philippine Islands.

The dispatch of airplanes to General MacArthur, whose intelligent leadership of his brave men has moved Americans to grieve over the inability of this nation to reinforce them, is impossible because the Japanese have possession of the air bases necessary for the operation of airplanes in that region.

While it may be possible to get together a fleet of sufficient size to protect transports and cargo ships going to Australia or the Netherlands Indies, it would require larger forces than are now available to break the supremacy which Japan has established in the China Sea.

Naturally, all American hope that General MacArthur and his men will be able to perform a miracle and hold out until it is possible to assemble adequate naval forces to relieve the siege. If this is done, however, it will be accomplished by the manpower and material at present available to the General in the Philippines and not by the early arrival of a relief expedition.

JAPAN'S GIFT: UNITY

The unity of purpose which now motivates the American people was produced by the treacherous attack of Japan upon Pearl Harbor. War in the Pacific was not expected, even by those who proclaimed that the President was gradually edging this country into war with Germany. Moreover, the long policy of the United States, since the war began between China and Japan, had consistently included patience with Japan in an effort to keep her quiet until the great war in Europe ended.

Now that we are at war, because of Japanese attack and the declarations of war upon us by Germany and Italy, it is obvious to every citizen of this country that the Axis nations are acting in concert against us. The fact that Germany and Italy followed the Japanese attack by declaring war against the United States proves beyond argument that the three nations intended, sooner or later, to join forces in an effort to overthrow this republic.

About four years ago, American Admirals were flouted and derided, because, in arguing for naval appropriations, they compared the naval strength of the United States with that of the combined fleets of Germany, Italy and Japan. Today, it is clear that their argument was based upon sound judgment. We know today that we are at war and that the Navy, which was whittled away by the disarmament folly, is inadequate to take care of the responsibility of sending the necessary supplies to vital areas. We must not forget also that the situation in the Pacific is partly due to the willingness of the United States to forego the fortification of its islands in the fighting area.

Our failure to properly prepare for defense, from the end of the World War until the present struggle began, cannot be corrected in two months, or three months. We must pay the price for our national policy and the coin will include the "blood, sweat and tears" that Mr. Churchill speaks about.

A SHOCK FOR JAPAN

Dr. Helmut Landsberg, seismologist of the University of Chicago, says that Japan may be "reasonably" expected to suffer an earthquake" of tremendous dimensions" sometime after 1943.

The professor bases his prediction upon the fact that the Japanese Islands are the most active earthquake region in the world. He points out that every twenty or thirty years, a terrible shock hits the country and that the last one occurred in 1923.

The seismologist may be perfectly correct in his prediction but we would not advise the people of the United States to wait on nature to produce the disturbance that will disable the Japanese. We think the Japanese will suffer a shock, not later than 1943, without the intervention of nature.

EIRE RECORDS A PROTEST

For many years, there has been bitter feeling among the people of Southern Ireland in regard to their relationship to the British Empire.

In 1920, the British Parliament attempted to settle the long drawn out controversy by permitting Southern Ireland to be free of obligations to the Empire and, at the same time, providing that the six counties of Northern Ireland, known as Ulster, which wished to remain in the British Empire, could have a Parliament of its own.

By virtue of its practical independence, for the past four years, the Irish Government of Prime Minister Eamon de Valera has maintained neutrality in the present war. Mr. de Valera has made it clear that his government will resist by force any attempt to occupy any part of Southern Ireland.

The truth of the matter is, as everybody knows, that Southern Ireland would be easily and quickly conquered by Hitler's Nazi troops, and Eire would become a dependency of Germany, if it was not protected by British warships and aerial forces.

As it is, the inability of Eire to protect itself from German invasion creates a threat to the safety of England and Scotland and refusal to permit the British fleet to use bases in Southern Ireland, as was the case in the last war, makes more difficult the task of defeating the German submarine campaign.

Notwithstanding these facts, when troops of the United States landed in North Ireland, the government of Eire protested, saying it had not been consulted either by the British Government or the American Government. Inasmuch as Northern Ireland is considered a separate State, there was no occasion to ask Mr. de Valera's permission to land American soldiers in Ulster.

FLYING THE FLAG

We read in the newspapers that a mother in another state wants to display a large flag of the United States in front of home, day and night, in honor of her son now serving in the Army Air Corps.

The lady ran into the objections of neighbors who persuaded policemen to advise her as to the proper respect for the flag. Even the United States Flag Association rules that she should lower the flag each night.

Everybody is entitled to his or her opinion on this subject, but it seems a little silly for other people, most of them probably above the fighting age, to advise the mother of a man serving his country how to respect the American flag.

Mothers who give their sons to the service of their country, in the fulness of faith in its institutions, show sufficient respect for the national emblem and should be permitted to fly a flag when and where they please.

MONEY TALKS

By Frederick W. Stamm, Economist and Director of Adult Education, University of Louisville

The United States for many years has supplied Japan with cotton and scrap iron, two essential commodities in times of war. In fact, Japan has depended to a large extent upon our products to aid her in the Chinese War.

We now have been at war with Japan for two months, and she has returned our cotton and scrap iron in the form of bombs and bullets.

Our post policy of exporting scrap iron has caused a real shortage of this value product in the United States. During the past month I have read several articles which state that some of our steel mills have been forced to close part of their furnaces because they had no scrap. The Government has appealed to everyone to gather up all the old iron and sell it to the "junk man."

There are very few of us that do not have some old worn-out iron articles that should be discarded. This is especially true in the case of farmers.

In several communities, town and country folk have organized a campaign to collect all the old iron available. One farmer found over a thousand pounds of discarded iron products lying around his barnyard. Multiply this by hundreds of thousands of farmers and you can easily see how necessary it is for us to get busy and see that this valuable scrap gets into the hands of those who can use it. The Government is not asking you to give this away. You can sell it and with the money buy Defense Stamps and Defense Bonds.

Why not organize a campaign in your community to gather up all the scrap iron available? Scrap iron lying around our back yards and in our fence corners is not a credit to any community. Here is an opportunity to help yourself, your community, and your government!

CARD OF THANKS

Having sold my Service Station near Union, I wish to take this opportunity to thank my many friends for their splendid patronage in the past. 1t-p

Battleships require protection from air attacks just like they require protection from submarine attacks, but so long as the world's freight moves upon the waters of the world, the nations that control the seven seas will control the earth.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE HEALING MINISTRY OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—3:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus . . . was moved with compassion toward them, and he healed their sick.—Matthew 14:14.

Man is more than a body. He is made up of body, soul, and spirit. In a physical world where he is so much in touch with physical nature, and the needs of his body are so much before him, he is prone to forget that there is within a spiritual nature which is his real self.

God is interested in both the physical and the spiritual side of man. He provides all that we need for our bodies, and above all, He meets the all-important spiritual hunger of man's inner being. We find the Lord Jesus in our lesson graciously touching both spirit and body of the palsied man in response to the faith of his friends.

I. Faith Brings a Double Need to Christ (vv. 1-4).

This faith-stimulating story faces us first with

1. An Impossible Situation. Incurably afflicted and helpless physically and far more deeply afflicted spiritually, this man had no one who could heal his body and restore his soul. Apart from the power of God in Jesus Christ his situation was hopeless, and thus he may well typify every one of us except for the grace of Christ.

Furthermore, his circumstances were such as to make it impossible for him to get to Jesus, who was there in his city. Even when his four friends came to his help and bore him to the house where Jesus was, they could not enter because of the crowds. So a journey begun in hope was evidently to close in despair. But wait, these men had

2. An Undeniable Faith. "Where there's a will there's a way." Where there is faith the obstacles may be surmounted. Having begun a good work they persevered in it.

Had these men been bound by convention or custom they would never have put their friend at Jesus' feet. They did try to make a proper entry through the door, but it was blocked. The way to Jesus is often closed, by some custom, a vain philosophy, or a religious ceremony. Let us, like these believing men, open the roof if necessary to bring our needs and our needy friends to Him.

Although mention is made only of the palsy of this man, it is probable that both he and they knew that his need was for a double cure, for he was yet in his sins.

They brought him to Jesus, where their

II. Faith Receives a Double Reward From Christ (vv. 5-12).

Immediately Jesus "saw their faith" (v. 5), just as He always does. God is on the lookout for faith and is quick to reward it. The two-fold need here brought a double blessing.

1. Spiritual Cleansing. The man's physical affliction thus proved to be his greatest blessing, for it brought him to Jesus, who cleansed him of all unrighteousness. If he had not been palsied he might never have met the Lord. Suffering, then, may be a means of grace. That is more than a pious platitude, for it has been proved repeatedly in the existence of men and women.

Certain scribes "sitting there" (they were not doing a thing to help) began to reason in their hearts that Jesus was blaspheming because only God can forgive sin. Their theology was faultless and their reasoning was logical, but the premise of their argument was wrong. Only God can forgive sin, but Jesus is God, something which they in their wisdom did not realize or accept.

We (especially young people in school) should be careful that the fluent smoothness of some unbelieving philosopher's logic does not lead us astray, and away from God's truth.

Note also the solemnizing thought that Jesus knew what they were thinking in their hearts. Let us remember that "all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do" (Heb. 4:13). What does He see when He looks into our hearts?

The challenge of these questioning scribes is met by

2. Physical Healing. Forgiving sins was harder than healing the body, but these enemies of Jesus lived so much in the realm of the physical that He had to give them a demonstration of His almighty power which they could see. It was a gracious thing for Him to do, and perhaps necessary in those early days of His life and ministry.

Today, with all the light of history upon the work of God, we need to beware that we do not sit in the seat of the scornful and demand a physical sign before we will believe. God is doing great things in the spiritual realm even in our day, in which Christian men and women may share by faith.

Ninety-nine out of a hundred babies are born with good feet, even if they do appear to be flat at the start. We say babies are born with flat feet because the bony masses in a new-born baby's feet are held in place by fat pads. As the baby starts to stand and walk, these fatty pads are absorbed and muscles take their place. By about the third year the arch of the foot should be pretty well defined if the child is going to have any arch. We say if, because every one isn't intended to have a high arched contour to the foot, any more than every one is meant to have the same color of hair or eyes. Perhaps when the child starts to stand he is overweight, or undernourished or has gone thru a serious illness. In that event the muscles may not develop enough to produce an arch in his foot. He then grows with a natural flat foot. The condition is rarely painful. However, many cases of flat feet can be averted if the child is provided with shoes that hold the weak foot in alignment. Such shoes are usually wedged slightly under the inner border of the heel bone. This prevents tipping in of the ankles and by over correction has a tendency to cause the muscles on the inner border of the leg to shorten. These muscles are the ones which keep the foot arched.—Adv.

SAVE $1.00 On Medicine

THIS WEEK ONLY

ALL WHO SUFFER! Don't Buy Medicine Until You Read This

Many Northern Kentucky people are now turning to the New, Scientific Mixture of Juices from Nature's Plants, known as Systone, which is being introduced to crowds daily here at M. C. Owens' Drug Store at Pike and Washington, Covington. Although this new medicine was introduced here only a few weeks ago already thousands of Kentucky men and women are taking—and praising—this advanced, modern preparation.

Systone Man at Owen's Drug

Always Constipated

Victims of Bowel and Stomach Acid scarcely know what is wrong with them. They can't digest food properly, swell with gas after meals, have a thick bad taste, unpleasant breath, are headachy, worn-out—ALWAYS CONSTIPATED.

Such suffering people will now find—in SYSTONE—a REAL measure of RELIEF. This medicine contains juices from 12 of Nature's finest medicinal plants and—taken shortly before meals—mixes with the food in one's stomach thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles and permitting the kidneys and liver to function properly. It often acts within 10 minutes to stop acid risings, bloat and belching and will bring out distressing gases and impurities (frquently from the first dose) which may have been contaminating your blood and inner-organs.

Systone aids Nature to clear out toxic poisons and other impure substances due to fermentation and constipation. Such impurities often form a coating on the lining of the stomach, thus causing stomach "trouble." Cleansing out these impure substances permits freer flow of the digestive juices, makes the digestive organs sweet and clean and usually gives complete relief from shortness of breath lump in stomach and dyspepsia. Likewise, it has Great Action on the kidneys and liver, thus cleansing and improving the system in general.

Due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Systone is reasonable. In fact, you can actually tak this Amazing Formula—with its 12 Natural Ingredients—for just a few cents per day. So don't hesitate. Get Systone—NOW—and start taking it.

A Special Systone Representative, known as The SYSTONE Man, is daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this Remarkable Compound at Owens Drug Store, Pike and Washington, Covington.

WHY DO WICKARD AND HENDERSON DESIRE TO CRUICIFY THE FARMER?

Editorial by Tom Linder in the Georgia Market Bulletin of February 11, 1942.

Henderson and Wickard have gotten together like two peas in one pod.

They are also together with Time magazine, published in New York and Chicago. They are also together with the Wall Street Journal. They are also together with the Washington Post and the New York Times. All these papers are most unfriendly to the farmers interest.

Time magazine of February 2, 1942, on page 18, pictures the farm bloc as a hog.

Let's see just how the farmer is faring today.

The following figures are taken from the catalog of Sears, Roebuck & Company, for things which the farmer buys, and from New York, New Orleans and Chicago quotations on things which the farmer sells.

In 1919 a two-horse wagon cost $86.40, while today the same wagon is $89.90.

To buy this wagon in 1919 would have required 228 pounds of cotton. Today is requires 473 pounds—more than twice as much.

During the year 1919 cotton was 38c per pound; cotton seed oil was 21c per pound; peanut oil was 24c per pound; corn was $1.52 per bushel, and wheat was $2.13 per bushel.

Today cotton is 19c per pound; cotton seed oil and peanut oil is 12c per pound; corn is 83c per bushel, and wheat is $1.29 per bushel.

In 1919 a farmer could have gone to town and purchased the following fifteen items, to wit: 2-horse wagon, 2 section drag harrow, 2-horse hay rake, 1-row corn planter, 2-horse turn plow, fertilizer distributor, pitch fork, shovel, horse collar, 100 pounds of nails, 1 work shirt, 1 pair overalls, 1 hand saw, 1 ax, and 1 pair of shoes for $197.47.

If the farmer bought all of these fifteen articles today they would cost him $217.45.

If the farmer bought all of these articles today and paid for them with cotton, he would have to give 1,144 pounds. In 1919 he would only have had to pay 519 pounds for all fifteen articles.

It takes two and one-half times as much cotton in 1942 as it did in 1919 to buy these same farm supplies.

If a farmer bought these fifteen articles in 1919 he could have paid for them with 519 pounds of cotton or 130 bushels of corn or 93 bushels of wheat.

If he buys them today it requires 1,144 pounds of cotton or 260 bushels of corn or 168 bushels of wheat.

It takes twice as much cotton seed and peanuts to buy these articles now as it did in 1919.

Prices of the things the farmer buys are higher than they were in 1919, while farm prices as a whole have been reduced more than fifty per cent.

There is no other major group in America today getting less than they were in 1919 except the farmer. The farmers are the only group that have been radically deflated.

For Wickard, Ginsberg, Henderson, Baruch and Company, to have the gall and effrontery to charge the American farmer with being a hog and causing inflation, is disgusting to thinking men.

The farmer cannot continue producing under these conditions. It is impossible.

The farmer in America today is very much in the same situation as the pioneers were in the war of the Revolution.

While they are fighting a foreign foe, they are compelled at all times to defend themselves against the Tories at home.

Our boys are on the firing line in many foreign countries. A steady production of farm products is as vital to winning the war as the production of war materials.

Food for our boys over the seas, and food for our city populations, is as necessary as anything for which we are gladly spending billions every day.

If Congress cannot correct this condition the farmers themselves will be compelled to take strong action to free their hands from these impossible chains that Wickard, Ginsberg, Henderson, Baruch and Company, are forging on them.

It is time for the farmers to organize thoroughly. It is time for the Grange, the Guild, the Farm Federation, and all other farm organizations to be prepared to throw their combined strength into the fight.

It is time for each organization to see that it is headed by men who can neither be influenced or intimidated.

It looks now as though the time is rapidly approaching when the only salvation of the American farmer will be an organization as strong as the other groups which are now able to protect themselves in Washington.

Secretary Wickard deceived Congress when he appeared before the Senate Committee and pretended that he was in favor of adequate prices for the farmers.

He deceived all those senators and congressmen who are friends of the farmer and who voted for amendments to curb Henderson's depredations on the farmer.

He deceived the farmers when he appeared before the Senate Committee and pretended that he was not in accord with Leon Henderson's starvation prices for farm products.

He betrayed his own farm organization, operating under his own Department, when he deceived them into getting telegrams to Washington asking that he be given the veto power in the case of ceilings on farm products. They were deceived into believing that he was not as hostile to agriculture as Henderson.

The Commissioners, Secretaries and Directors of Agriculture of the several states, together with representatives of all farm groups, should have a national convention at once and agree upon an affirmative course to pursue.

Unless this is done—unless Ginsberg, Wickard, Morgenthau Henderson, Baruch and Company, are stopped, they will create confusion and unpreparedness by the side of which Pearl Harbor will be as child's play.

Secretary Wickard is supposed to be the friend of the farmer. I would like for him to answer one question: Why should the American farmer pay more for supplies than he paid in 1919, and at the same time sell his products for less than half of what he received in 1919?

TOM LINDER,
Commissioner of Agriculture.

SAYS FLOWERS HELP LIFT WAR BURDENS

Persons seeking help to endure the thoughts of burdens of war should grow flowers, in the opinion of Prof. N. R. Elliott, landscape expert at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. "Every homemakers," he says, "should grow some flowers during this year. There is no one thing that will do so much to life the burdens of war as the growing of flowers. The home with its interests and attraction should become of more importance to us during these trying times."

SAYS CAR BAN MAY BRING BACK "GOOD OLD DAYS" ON FARM

The ban on tires and the lack of new cars may bring back "the good old days" in many neighborhoods, believes Merton Oyler of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Oyler has just completed a study of the use of automobiles and other modern conveniences on farms.

He found that the period from 1920 to 1930 was the heyday of automobile buying by farmers of Kentucky. In 1920 only about a tenth of the farmers of the state drove cars. Then the number of cars on farms increased rapidly until about 1930, after which the increase was more gradual, except around cities.

In commercial farming areas, the war may not affect the use of cars and trucks as much as in other areas. The labor shortage and the lack of repair parts and of new machinery may tend to make cars even more necessary, says Oyler.

Here are some of the things Oyler found in his study:

Automobiles on farms increased most rapidly from 1920 to 1930.

Electricity took the field in the 1930's. In 1930 only slightly more than 2 percent of the farms had electricity, while in 1940 this percentage had jumped to 17.

The high point in the use of telephones on farms was before 1920. In 1940 only 15 percent of the farm of Kentucky had telephones.

The day is dawning when the people of this country will place a high premium on character instead of on the amount of his possessions.

BULLITTSVILLE

Several folk around here are ill with colds and grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lancaster are moving to a portion of A. D. Hunter's residence at top of River Hill.

Mrs. Haynes Bruce and Mrs. Huey Aylor called on Mrs. Albert Willis, Monday.

Mrs. John Holsenfoster has been removed from the hospital to her home and is convalescing nicely.

Quite a number of folks from Bullittsville attended the shower given Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clifford at Idlewild.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cave spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Eggleston.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reitmann had as their guests Sunday night, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clifford.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnam Roberts and Mrs. Sam Patrick and son spent Sunday with D. L. Roberts, of Devon.

Several of the Bullittsville Homemakers met at Engle's Store and organized a Red Cross Sewing center. Many garments were cut and made for this work. They will continue to meet here on Friday of each week.

Lela and Betty Fay Eggleston spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cave.

Miss Jenny Singletree and Miss Sally Wagontongue were visiting in Bullittsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassius Sullivan will move to one of the William's apartment which is being vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams, who are moving to Erlanger.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cave had as Sunday guests, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cave, from Bullittsville.

RED CROSS SEWING CENTER IS OPENED

The Bullittsville Homemakers' Club has opened a Red Cross sewing and knitting center at Bullittsville and the ladies will give one day a week to the work, and will take extra work home. Sewing machines have been donated by several women and brought to the center.

Friday of each week is the day set to meet, and all ladies are invited to come out and help with this work.

INITIATION SERVICES SET FOR FUTURE FARMERS

The F. F. A. club will have its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, February 17th, at the school house. We will initiate the green hands to Future Farmers, using the regular Chapter ceremony. The club had a weekly meeting January 27, with only the members in school meeting. At this meeting it was decided to sell Hybrid sugar corn seed. This seed was raised in different plots in the county last year, proving very successful.

The club will publish a news letter sometime in February. This news letter is a summary of the activities that the club is going to accomplish.

Mr. Farmer:

Do You Know Your Yearly Income?

Could you raise your right hand in court and take an oath as to the exact amount you have taken in this past year from all sources on your farm?

Before you place your notarized signature upon your income tax report for the government you should have information just as accurate as you would want if you were going to testify to it before a judge.

Figures less accurate than this may be a cause of embarrassment when your report of your income is investigated and may make you liable to penalties under the law.

Equally important is an accurate knowledge of farm expenses, many of which may be deducted from your income, thus reducing the amount of tax to be paid. Errors either in income or expense figures may be costly and a source of trouble.

Only the farmer who has kept thorough and accurate records can be certain of the figures he includes in his income report.

"Agricultural Records," the easy farm record system, helps you provide every fact the government asks but is so simple that any school girl or boy can keep it. This amazing system is offered at a great saving in connection with your subscription to this paper by the plan outlined below.

Call at the office next time you are in town and let us explain "Agricultural Records" to you.

NEW STANDARD OIL MAP AIDS MOTORING ECONOMY

"Save While You See the Sights" is a slogan that will appeal to American motorists, for saving is the order of the day—saving tires, saving gasoline, saving the car itself.

And one way to save is to get more out of each trip, to see more with less mileage. Visitors and residents in Kentucky will be able to do just that by carefully planning their trips in advance with the aid of the new 1942 road map of Kentucky just issued by the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated in Kentucky).

Most helpful feature of the new map in this respect is the Pictorial Guide, which has been thoroughly revised and is now printed in four colors for the first time. On it are depicted in full color nearly four score outstanding touring attractions of the Bluegrass State. Thirty of these are further described in accompanying text which gives information about visiting hours, admission prices, and principal features. Additional points of interest are named and located on a special inset map of the Bluegrass Region, including forty stock farms for which this section is famous.

With this Standard Oil map at hand the motorist can avoid aimless driving in search of the numerous attractions in Kentucky, can pack each day's trip with the maximum of pleasure, can enjoy many sights that he may otherwise overlook right along his proposed route.

The road map itself has been enlarged and brought right up to date with the latest changes in road conditions, highway numbers, population, points of interest and all other data that make traveling easier, safer, and more economical.

Motorists may obtain this map free of charge from Standard Oil Service Station and dealers throughout Kentucky and at many points in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, and Mississippi.

FARM RECORDS MADE AVAILABLE

BY NEWSPAPER — SUBSCRIBERS OFFERED ACCOUNTING PLAN FOR FARM INCOME REPORTS.

A special offer helpful to its farm readers is made in this issue of The Recorder. As a result of arrangements completed through the state newspaper association this paper can offer a copy of "Agricultural Records," the easy accounting system for farmers, with each one year new or renewal subscription to this newspaper for a total combination price of $3.50.

This newspaper has arranged to make this offer possible because of the increased importance of farm records under the new federal revenue law which requires millions of farmers throughout the nation to file an income tax return this year for the first time.

Law Requires Records

The revenue law specifically requires the keeping of records as well as the filing of an income tax return by all farmers who have an annual gross income of $750, if single, or $1,500 if married. The law (Section 54 (A) reads:

"Every person liable to any tax imposed by this tile or for the collections thereof, shall keep such records, render under oath such statements, make such returns and comply with such rules and regulations as the Commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary, may from time to time prescribe."

Penalties Listed by Law

Another section of the act (Section 145 (A) further provides:

"Any person required under this title to pay any tax, or required by law or regulations made under authority thereof to make a return, keep any records, or supply any information, for the purpose of the computation, assessment, or collection of any tax imposed, by this title, who wilfully fails to pay such tax, make such return, keep such records, or supply such information, at the time or times required by law, be guilty of misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than $10,000—or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both, together with the costs of prosecution."

Form 1040F which must be filled out with the income tax return requires a detailed record of all income from live stock, grain, hay, cotton, tobacco, potatoes, sugar beets, vegetables, fruit, nuts, dairy products, eggs, meat products, poultry dressed, wool, honey, sorghum, merchandise received for produce, machine work, hire of teams, breeding fees, rent received in crop shares, work off farm, and forest products.

Records Must Be Complete

The farmer must also report sale of livestock and other items purchased, depreciation of property and equipment, and farm operating expenses, which are broken down into 17 classifications.

Because it is obvious that no farmer can make the report required by this income tax form without a careful system of records, this newspaper is making its present offer to aid him in handling this task with the least trouble. "Agricultural Records," which is being offered to farm readers by hundreds of newspapers throughout the nation, is a simple system of records which requires no knowledge of bookkeeping and little time. It will enable the farmer to keep the facts required for income tax filing with less trouble than any other system which has come to our attention.

A copy of "Agricultural Records" will be on display at The Recorder office. A member of the paper's staff will be glad to explain the working of the record system to any farmer who calls at the office for that purpose. Complete details of the special combination offer will be found in an advertisement in this issue.

BURLINGTON 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Burlington 4-H Club girls met at the Burlington school Friday, Feb. 6, for the first meeting of this year, with 13 members and Mrs. Moore, present.

The meeting was called to order by acting president, Jewell Vice. The following officers were elected: President, Corinne Walton; vice president, Barbara Norris; secretary, Jewell Vice; cheer leaders, Mary Lou Williamson and Martha Lizer; Sergeant-at-arms, Mary Jean Hensley.

Mrs. Moore told us about some of the activities for this club year, and showed us Evelyn Franks' medal that she won at Chicago.

The cheer leaders led us in a pledge to the Flag and the singing of one verse of "The Star Spangled Banner." The meeting was adjourned by repeating the club pledge.

We are all looking forward to a better and more prosperous year for 1942.

Jewell Vice, Reporter.

Home Economics Leaders To Meet

Leaders of the Home Economics project groups in 4-H Clubs of Boone County will meet in the office of Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Acting Home Demonstration Agent at the courthouse in Burlington on Wednesday, February 11, to plan their program for 1942. Miss Edith Lacy, subject matter specialist from the State 4-H Club Department, University of Kentucky, Lexington, will lead the discussion.

Foods project leaders will assemble at 1:30 Eastern Standard War Time. They are to take up problems and plans for conducting their work.

Clothing project leaders will meet at 1:30 p. m. (E. S. W. T.) to study means of making their efforts more effective.

Representatives from clubs at Grant, Petersburg, Hebron, Constance, Florence, New Haven, Hamilton, Walton, Verona and Burlington have been asked to attend. The 4-H projects are to be started within the next two weeks.

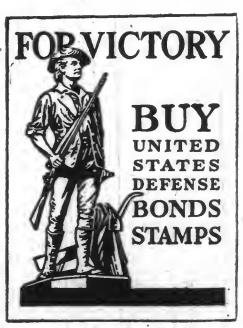
HOT DOGS "OUT" AND CARROTS IN SAYS BOYD AGENT

"Food will win the war" only if everyone—from tots to 100-year-oldsters—eats the right kind for good health. So says Lois H. Sharp, Boyd county home demonstration agent. When the Kentucky Nutrition Committee set up nutrition and health standards, and they were applied to Boyd county, it was found that the school lunch provided a major problem, reports Mrs. Sharp.



The usual school lunch for many of the youngsters consisted of chili, hot dogs, candy bars and soft drinks most of the time. The cafeteria managers agreed that it was unfortunate, but said the children demanded highly-seasoned foods. Local home economists argued that the school children would select other foods if they were properly prepared and the hot dogs and soft drinks were less available.

Recipes were furnished emphasizing whole wheat, carrots, greens, etc. The Surplus Commodities agency had products available for rural schools, P.-T. A. groups and others, enabling consumers to get grapefruit, prunes, beans and potatoes. Many recipes were printed in the county newspaper so that parents could use them at home.

Now—a few months later—

The children are satisfied with plate lunches of simple foods, properly balanced. They like carrots and whole wheat muffins and rich milk and butter, and greens. Hot dogs? They don't see them, and they don't ask for them—they like the "new" lunches so much better.

Children who like simple lunches at school sometimes eat other foods at home, so now homemakers are starting a "health drive" throughout the county to spread the gospel of better health thru better foods.

Phosphate Received At Erlanger This Week

One carload of 20 percent phosphate has been received at Erlanger this week, and producers have been notified. Forty tons are now being shipped to the car.

Another carload is expected within the next few days and there are not sufficient orders on file at present, according to John E. Crigler, Secretary of the Association, to take up this car. Producers are urged to place immediate orders for this material as it is becoming more difficult to obtain, and shipments can not always be made at the time they are desired.

MASTER FARMERS HONORED AT FARM AND HOME MEETING

"Master farm families" recognized at annual Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky are Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bottorff, Oldham county; Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Gill, Todd county; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hardin, Greenup county; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Stokes, Fayette county, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex B. Veech, Shelby county. The awards were made cooperatively by the College of Agriculture and home Economics and The Progressive Farmer magazine.

The vital place that farming and homemaking hold in winning the war was stressed in the programs of the convention. Larger production is the order of the day, so there may be abundant food for the armed forces and peoples of this and other nations. Farmers have been asked to supply more vegetables, more meat, and more poultry and dairy products. Food will be a big factor in winning the war and writing the peace.

From 1,200 to 1,500 women attended all sessions for homemakers, and unusually large crowds of farmers were present each day. The farm programs were of a general nature for two days, and then devoted to special problems of crop production, livestock raising, poultry keeping, cooperative marketing, bee keeping, dairy, tobacco production, disease and insect control, and the like.

Gov. Keen Johnson was the principal speaker at the annual banquet attended by 665 men and women.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my deep appreciation to my friends for their kindness and thoughtfulness during the illness and death of my father,

Fred Kleemeier, Sr.

Especially do I wish to thank Rev. Hatter for his words of comfort; Dr. Rouse for her untiring efforts; those who brought the message in song and music; donors of beautiful floral pieces and Tharp and Stith for the efficient manner in which they conducted the funeral. 1c

RECREATION TO PLAY IMPORTANT ROLE IN WAR PREPARATION

Fun and recreation are to play an important part in America's war preparation according to Dr. Delbert Oberteuffer, of the Fifth Region Civilian Defense staff.

"School athletics and community sport and recreation are to be continued. They stand firmly in the center of things as important cogs in the whole machine and no community or school board need debate five minutes on the question of continuance," Dr. Oberteuffer continued.

All sport programs—for both boys and girls—are a part of the program of defense, a part of the war effort, and as a means of supplying a wholesome form of recreation for thousands of spectators they are to be supported, promoted, and encouraged at every turn.

Dr. Oberteuffer and Miss Gladys Palmer, who shares with him the promotion of the Physical Fitness program in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana, do emphasize, however, that they will drive more for actual participation than for any increase in spectator sport.

"If we can get," said Miss Palmer, "as many as five thousand new people out and into the open in recreation they enjoy—that will be real success." Both she and Dr. Oberteuffer joined in setting additional goals, however:

To get ten large communities to establish Recreation Commissions.

To get one hundred boards of education to throw their buildings open for community recreation.

To get one hundred new playgrounds in operation.

To get twenty-five communities to build swimming pools.

To get three hundred schools to put in a physical education program for all pupils (not just competition of the best players).

To get two hundred schools hire physicians to make orde periodic physical examination of all pupils.

To get one hundred communities to build an immunization and tuberculosis testing program.

Dr. Obterteuffer and Miss Palmer agreed that if a substantial share of these goals could be reached in the next six months that the Physical Fitness program would be an unqualified success. "These are all reasonable goals—not even open to challenge. With an awakened citizenship we could reach all of them—and to our unending betterment.

"And through it all, let's have fun. Having fun through recreation brings our sober objective—physical fitness—right along with it—they belong together."

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

The Burlington Homemakers met at the court house on their regular meeting day, Thursday, Feb. 5.

Interes in the Homemakers is not lagging as there were sixteen ladies present. Due to so many other activities, such as Red Cross work and other Civilian Defense meetings, one would be inclined to think that women would put them in the foreground.

A Homemaker realizes more and more that defense begins in the home. She is not going to neglect what is an essential duty to herself, her home, her family and her country. She knows that a sound country is built upon its homes. The homes must be well managed, happy and contented. Her children must be nourished properly, good ideals and commendable attitudes kept before them.

As Farm and Home convention was held the preceding week, Mrs. Vernon Pope, as delegate, gave an account of the meeting. In her report she told many interesting things, a few which stand out are: The University of Kentucky is 75 years old this year; the State of Kentucky is 150; the University has 500 in extension work in the field; the Homemakers canned 3,000,000 quarts of food, valued at a million dollars; women are urged to vote and to see that her neighbor votes regardless of how.

One of the speakers, Dr. Tauesth talking on Citizenship asked "What is the most important event in the world?" And answered by saying "the birth of a healthy baby." He then went on to illustrate how defense and a winning country is dependent upon a healthy nation. He pointed out that it is a duty and responsibility to keep children healthy.

Another speaker, Dr. Fortune, from the Christian Church in his address, asked, "If there is anything certain in this uncertain world?" He said that Christ, God and the Bible are certain, that love is sure and that right will ultimately win.

The ladies were told that Mrs. Reimer, a Boone County Homemaker and one of a symposium on the program did justice to her county. Her topic was "The Luncheon Program in the Schools of the County."

After this report the meeting adjourned for lunch. The hostesses had an interesting new main dish—meat balls which had rice mixed into the ball and baked in tomato sauce—very good.

Now is the time of year one starts studying catalogs and planning gardens. Professor Elliott in his lesson to the Exterior Beautification chairman stressed the importance of growing flowers as well as vegetables. Growing flowers keeps up morale and ones spirits are always buoyed up at the sight of a lovely flower garden. Trees and true flowers are "musts" but to watch a new flower or vegetable grow is a delight to the soul. If one can not have a garden fenced off to keep chickens out, it is well to plant flowers in rows in the vegetable garden—especially cut flowers. Do not make the mistake of having a garden larger than can well be taken care of. A small garden which shows attention is something of which to be proud, while a large neglected flower bed is usually an eye-sore.

As to vegetable gardens, the club was urged to adopt as a slogan, "Let's Produce More." Not only would this be a help during the war, but in so doing would be preparing for peace. The chairman quoted Mrs. Roosevelt as saying in a speech, "Women must use things which they ordinarily wasted," and that "military strength depended upon what we can do without."

A woman to help in the Civilian Defense should be resourceful, she should have health, energy, time, tools and material. These can be had by proper management and arrangement, not harum, scarum, or hit and miss, and also by getting the required rest and learning to relax at will.

The Citizenship chairman asked for a report of Red Cross work. Many finished garments were reported, one woman alone having made 2159 hours work, reported from the group. Mrs. A. D. Yelton read the proper and improper ways to use the American flag. She then told of the goal as set up by the citizenship group which is: To sponsor free school lunches; have a flag in every school room; proper salute to the flag and pledge; promote Red Cross work; enlist new members; sponsor 4-H work.

The meeting was then adjourned for the day. Taken by and large the day was a profitable one. Such remarks as: "Wasn't it an interesting day?" and "I enjoyed the meeting, didn't you?" were many.

Don't forget to put the books for soldiers in boxes placed throughout the community for same.

Nell Garrison, Reporter.

CONSTANCE HOMEMAKERS

The Constance Homemakers' February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Grace Dolwick. Our president, Mrs. Fanny Peeno called the meeting to order, with all singing "America," and pledge to our flag. All read the prayer "collect" for club women.

We had a fine attendance with 20 members, 6 visitors and our demonstration agent, Mrs. Moore, present. Mrs. Moore gave a very interesting talk about Farm and Home Week Convention and explained what everyone can do to help win the war.

About 1200 women attended the meeting at Lexington. It was explained how much good Homemakers' can do to help keep up the morale of the country.

Nutritious food is very important to benefit our bodies to keep good health. Garments given out by Mrs. Kenyon for Red Cross were returned, finished.

Home furnishing chairman, Mrs. Dye gave ideas how to refinish linoleum and remodel kitchens with handy cabinets. Mrs. Geb. Kottmyer, our beautification chairman suggested we all send for our flower seed catalogue and prepare to plant seeds early and try and encourage others to do the same.

Mrs. Prable, our clothing chairman spoke on buying wooled clothing, as there will be a scarcity later on.

Our March meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. John Hempfling. Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Reeves Mrs. Prable, Mrs. Heist and Mrs. Tunning will prepare the lunch.

BELLEVIEW W. M. S. MEETS

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Belleview Baptist Church met Wednesday, Feb. 4th at the home of Mrs. Florence McArthur. The president, Mrs. Helen Rogers opened the meeting.

We had a fine lesson on "Honesty and Stewardship." Different members had parts to bring out the lesson of being as honest with God as we are with our fellowman.

The W. M. S. will observe the March Week of Prayer for Home Missions the 2nd, 3rd and 4th of March at the following homes: Mrs. Clara Hensley on Monday afternoon; Mrs. Lou Maurer's, Tuesday afternoon and Mrs. Helen Rogers, Wednesday for the regular monthly meeting which will be all-day. Come and help with this work. Your presence is desired at these meetings.

We had eighteen members present at this meeting.

Mrs. Josie Cason dismissed us with prayer.

Missouri Rice, Reporter.

A Powerful Weapon in the WAR AGAINST WASTE

A campaign against waste of all kinds—particularly of food—is being launched by the Consumers Division, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. "Buy food wisely, cook it carefully, stop and think before you throw away even a single tablespoonful of leftover potatoes," is the plea of this organization, which is asking consumers all over the nation to pledge themselves to a program of rigid conservation.

Saving food is not only a patriotic duty; good household management demands it in these days of rising prices. Your electric refrigerator can be a big help to you in your personal program of food conservation. It prevents spoilage . . . permits you to utilize every scrap of leftovers . . . enables you to buy in quantities at bargain prices . . . and does all these things at the cost of a few pennies per day.

There was a time when a certain amount of food spoilage in the home was unavoidable, but today, thanks to cheap electricity and your dependable electric refrigerator, you can prevent this waste . . . make your food and food dollars go further . . . and contribute to the war effort by helping to conserve an essential national resource.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Universal constructed an expansive and complete amusement park on one of its sound stages for one sequence in its new Abbott and Costello laugh success, "Keep 'Em Flying."

More than 25 carnival attractions were included in the layout among them a lavish tunnel of love, crazy house, hit-the-umpire concession and a cafe.

Martha Raye and Carol Bruce have featured roles.

SATURDAY

It is fortunate that George Montgomery is more rugged than his movie wardrobe. For his starring role in Zane Grey's "Riders of the Purple Sage," the 20th Century Fox film, the ex-Montana cowboy was fitted with four pairs of trousers, six cowboy shirts and three ten-gallon hats.

During two weeks of location work near Lone Pine, California, George wore out all but one pair of trousers as well as four shirts and a sombrero.

Mary Howard, Robert Barrat, Lynn Roberts and Kane Richmond are featured in "Riders of the Purple Sage."

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Virginia Gilmore would not dye her hair black for her role in 20th Century-Fox's "Swamp Water," the picturization of Vereen Bell's best selling novel.

The character of Mabel McKenzie, to which the blonde Virginia had been assigned, called for a black-haired girl. But she would not let the make-up department touch her hair.

"I wouldn't dye my hair black for anything," said Virginia. "It's a natural blonde, and I want to keep it that way. Besides, if I dyed it, people would say that I was copying Hedy Lamarr or Joan Bennett, and I don't want to be called a copycat."

The studio agreed with her, so she will be a blonde "Mabel McKenzie."

Walter Brennan, Walter Houston Anne Baxter and Dana Andrews head the featured cast of "Swamp Water."

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy appear in their first comedy in more than a year in 20th Century-Fox's "Great Guns" which will be shown at the Gayety Tuesday and Wednesday.

In this comedy about Uncle Sam's new Army, Stan and Ollie conduct a blitz on the blues as two "nitwitz" in khaki who are a pain in the sergeant's neck.

Directed by Monty Banks, "Great Guns" features Sheila Ryan, Dick Nelson and Edmund MacDonald.

Fruit Growers Plan 1942 Program

Boone County fruit growers held two winter field meetings on Wednesday of last week, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Growers reported good prospects for an apple crop but that the zero weather of recent weeks had killed most of the peaches in the bud stage.

The educational program planned for the remainder of the year included.

1. Summer tour of local orchards
2. Summer tour to Joe Bray's orchard in Trimble County.
3. Cooperate in Northern Kentucky Insectary program.
4. Winter planning meeting for 1943.
5. Use of Haromone sprays for ripening apples on the tree

The morning meeting was held at the farm of F. H. Rouse, Burlington, and the afternoon meeting at the farm of Emmett Riddell of near Constance.

WOODS MANAGEMENT STUDIES LAUNCHED

Fourteen woods management projects were established in Kentucky last year, through the cooperation of farmers, county agents and the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The owners' needs for fuel, fence posts and lumber annually for the next 10 years were ascertained and incorporated in the recommendations. Information on quantities of material now in the woods was seperated on the basis of the trees which should be cut and disposed of, and on the basis of the trees which should be left after the cutting is completed.

It was recommended that cutting be done now of trees which will probably die in the next 10 years but which will make saw logs; also that smaller trees be removed to benefit remaining stands. Borings were made in selected trees to measure the diameter growth per year.

The Home Front

This war is going to be won on the home front. The home front is all-important in total war. The home front saved Britain after Dunkerque, it was to the home front—to the betrayed and deluded people of Germany—that Hitler addressed himself with between-the-lines hysteria last week-end.

We Americans are all-out for victory on this front. We're all of us determined to keep the raw materials for Victory flowing into our industrial plants and the finished weapons of war streaming from those plants to the fighting zones until Adolf is in the ashcan, and Japan on the junkheap, and the poor, misguided Italians are ready to dunk Il Duce in the Tiber.

Of course, every victory has its price. Right now we can begin to see clearly what Victory is going to cost the home front, and it's plenty, although a small sum to pay for such values as liberty, and the right to pursue happiness and work for a decent sort of world.

Victory is going to cost some manufacturers their business for the duration as metals are diverted from—let's say new pots and pans—to guns and tanks. Victory is going to mean virtual conscription of hundreds of industries grief to management and distress to workers as they shift from the uses of peace to the uses of war.

In the home itself, the price of Victory will include increasingly drastic rationing. Sugar and tires were just starters. We can look forward to a time when a new radio may be just as hard to come by as a new car. Scarcity of materials needed for Army and Navy and Lend-Lease is going to combine with scarcity of industrial facilities—as more and more factories are drafted into the war effort—to change our lives tremendously. The needs of Army and Navy are going to affect the styling of our clothes, as well as our diets. We know we may count on the new price control act to operate, along with rationing, in the direction of fair prices. But we also know that the farm price provisions of the act may lead to an increase in the cost of foodstuffs.

Almost all the trends developed during the past week have direct bearing on the home. There's a War Production Board survey now going on which, taken with WPB's warning of stringent rationing to come, points the direction in which we're headed. WPB is questioning 10,000 manufacturers to find out just how much minimum civilian production they must maintain along with maximum military production.

Such things foreshadow change, and change we will have—change in the familiar contents of the kitchen shelves, in the contents of our closets and bureau drawers, in our living rooms.

We're going to see a lot less of the tin can, which is going thru this war primarily as a container of meat and vegetables. Already WPB has halved the amount of tin which may be used in cans for baking powder, beer, biscuits, candy, cereals, flour, chocolate and cocoa, dog food, spices, condiments, petroleum products, tobacco.

There's been a lot of beer poured into tins. In 1941 beer cans consume 1,600 tons of scare tin—more than was used to can any vegetable except tomatoes . . . along with the cans, WPB is drafting a part of their contents, plans an order withholding a percentage of the 1942 fruit and vegetable pack as a reserve for the armed forces and Lend-Lease . . . sales of sugar may be limited to three-quarters of a pound per person per week . . . that's enough . . . there'll probably be enough of the commoner spices, too, except cinnamon . . . we've more than two years supply of East Indian pepper in the warehouses. . . . WPB found it possible to relax restrictions on fats and oils . . . a break for makers and users of salad oils, shortening, lard, soaps, and paint.

Women's styles probably will be altered by the need to conserve all kinds of cloth; chances are we're in for a period of slim silhoutees and short skirts. But it looks as though the foundations are safe, anways . . . WPB's rubber branch is going to make a limited amount of crude rubber available for foundation garments, girdles, corsets. manufacturers will conserve by design changes, partial substitutions.

As for coats and dresses, members of the women's coat and suit industry have assured WPB that women will be well-styled and warmly clad—whatever amount of wool the Government gives us . . . plan is to blend used and reworked wool with cotton, rayon, and virgin wool . . . there'll be more rayon stockings . . . silk stock are virtually used up, most of the nylon supply will soon be needed for military purposes.

Women and the work of war—(1) WPB doesn't want A broad wave of knitting that will consume millions of pounds of wool needed for more essential purposes. It does want women to knit sweaters when Commanding Officers have asked for them. To be sure, ask the Red Cross. (2) WPB Labor Director Sidney Hillman says more than a million women will be needed for work in war industry. (3) America's more than 3,000 women pilots were called "Indispensible" to the Civil Air Patrol by its national commander . . . the Air Patrol, organized by the Office of Civilian Defense, invites college flyers and aviation followers to join up . . . training courses are being prepared . . . WPB won't grant priorities for steel to be used in air raid shelters, steel offers better protection when it's in guns or ships.

Having cut the output of radios and radio-phonographs by more than 40 percent—and there probably are still further cuts ahead—WPB moved to reduce production of non-essential" incandescent lamps by 50 per cent . . . The Price Administrator's office has asked makers of electric hearing aids not to raise prices . . . OPA has begun a checkup of dealers in new tires and tubes throughout the country to find out who has been breaking rationing regulations . . . WPB's Industrial Conservation Bureau has launched a drive on auto boneyards . . . the goal—five or six million old cars in six months for scrap metal . . . more than 15,000 retail merchants throughout the country are aiding the drive to salvage materials for war and WPB is receiving new pledges at the rate of thousands each day . . . the country's entire supply of aluminum has now been marshalled for war.

FIRESTONE TO SPEED CONSTRUCTION OF BOMB SHELTER

The following article, along with pictures and drawings of bomb shelters being constructed by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., of Akron, Ohio, were handed us by C. A. Fowler, whose daughter is a resident of that city. The article follows:

Completion of the proposed Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.'s 50-man gas-proof shelter in the near future, possibly within a few weeks was seen, following the company's announcement that it would build such a refuge to acqaint the public with the approved type used in London.

The bomb-proof room will be covered with three feet of earth and its entrance will be equipped with an "explosion wall" designed to protect occupants from a possible bomb hit at the door. It will also have a gas-lock chamber and an escape tunnel for use as an emergency exit.

The shelter walls will be of rolled steel and by the way of realism, it will be equipped with a ventilating system to provide fresh air under any conditions, food lockers, tables, seats, dishes, cooking utensils, oil stove, water storage tank, a chemical toilet, fire fighting and first aid equipment.

STATE USES VAST AMOUNTS OF LIME

A report issued by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics shows that Kentucky farmers have used 8,582,511 tons of lime materials on their lands in the past 17 years, or since 1925. Last year, 1,627,374 tons were used, or an increase of 12 percent over 1940.

S. C. Jones of the college says this lime should return 125 to 150 million dollars to farmers in the next few years. Tests made by the Agricultural Experiment Station found limestoné worth more than $21 a ton in increased yields of corn, wheat and hay, valuing corn at 60 cents a bushel, wheat at 80 cents a bushel and hay at $12 a ton.

As a state, Kentucky for four years has ranked second in the use of lime, and first in the use of lime per crop acre.

MORE TOMATOES AND PEAS TO CAN ASKED

State United States Department of Agriculture War Boards have been asked to seek for canning about a fourth more tomatoes and about a third more peas than were produced last year. It is announced that the Department of Agriculture will buy at prices which will enable cooperating canners to pay growers at least $5 a ton above the comparable average 1940 price for tomatoes for canning and $17.50 a ton above the comparable average 1940 price for peas for canning. The Department of Agriculture does not guarantee prices to individual growers, who should produce on contract with canners. State War Boards are expected to recommend minimum prices, but growers are free to contract for high prices.

WALTON CANNERY PLANS INCREASE

IN TOMATO CONTRACTS FOR 1942—PRICE WILL BE INCREASED FROM $11.66 TON TO $13.50 PER TON.

The Walton Cannery will increase the acreage of tomatoes contracted for canning this year from aproximately 175 acres in 1941 to approximately 350 acres in 1942. The price will be increased from 35 cents per bushel, or approximately $11.66 per ton in 1941, to 52½ cents, or approximately $17.50 per ton, according to information supplied by Mr. John Woods, manager of the cannery.

The cannery is planning full cooperation in our National Defense program, according to the Boone County Agricultural War Board. Tomatoes is one of the crops the Government is asking a 25 percent increase in production this year over the record 1941 crop. There are no restrictions as to any amount of tomato acreages grown this year, according to John E. Crigler, secretary of the County AAA Association. Farmers are urged to increase their acreages of food crops.

Mr. Woods has advised the county agent's office that he has already contracted for a major part of his 1942 supply. Farmers who are interested in producing tomatoes for the cannery are urged to personally contact Mr. Woods at the cannery immediately before the full capacity of the cannery is contracted.

Leading farmers taking part in local community program planning meetings have reported that $17.50 per ton would normally give farmers a good profit in cannery tomato production. This crop should enable many farmers to increase their total farm cash income for 1942.

Pvt. Willard Stephens Returns To Nebraska After Brief Furlough

Pvt. Willard L. Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Stephens, Burlington, left here Wednesday to return to Ft. Omaha, Omaha, Neb., where he is stationed in the Quartermaster's Division.

Pvt. Stephens arrived here last Saturday, February 8th and reported that he is well pleased with army life and has gained several pounds since he was inducted.

C. G. Lamb Will Be Guest Speaker At Layman's Day Services

Sunday, February 22nd will be Layman's Day at the Florence Methodist Church, according to an announcement this week. A special service will be held at the 11:00 o'clock hour. The laymen will have charge of the service.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Prof. C. G. Lamb, of Covington. A men's choir will sing. The pastor will preach at 7:30 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to attend both of these services.

PRODUCTION TO BE DISCUSSED

AT ANNUAL WINTER POULTRY MEETING FEBRUARY 25TH—INCREASED PRODUCTION IS ASKED BY GOVERNMENT.

Increased poultry production to meet National Defense needs will be stressed at the annual Winter Poultry School to be held at Burlington on next Wednesday, Feb. 25th, between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 3:00 p. m. (Eastern War Time), according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Speakers on the program will include James Humphrey and Prof. Wm. Insko of the College of Agriculture; Grant Maddox, Hubert Conner, Mrs. C. H. Sullivan, Miss Lucy Lee Grant, Sterling Rouse, Franklin Frazier and Homemaker Club representatives.

The government is asking for a 17 percent increase in egg production in Boone County for 1942. This increase can best be secured through a better understanding of new and improved production methods. Special emphasis will be placed on home flock production. All who can are urged to attend.

Civilian Defense Councils To Meet At Florence Feb. 20

All Civilian Defense Councils of Boone County are requested to be present at the Florence Baptist Church, Florence, Ky., at 8:00 p. m. War Time, Friday, February 20. All the Coordinators and chairmen will see to it that every member of their councils are notified. This is a very important meeting as all councils will receive their literature for the training of wardens and all volunteers. This training must begin at once.

Three officials of the Kenton County Civilian Defense Councils will be present as speakers. They are Russell Olsner, Coordinator of Kenton County, the Hon. Martin Brown, Director of Covington Councils and J. A. Caywood, Supt. of Kenton County Schools. These men will have messages of importance.

Councils to be present are as follows: Burlington; Hebron, New Haven, Florence and Walton-Verona. All others who are interested in Civilian Defense are invited to attend.

Prof. and Mrs. E. M. Brodt, of Ft. Mitchell spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Norris and family.

NPC ASSOCIATION ELECT OFFICERS

AT ANNUAL MEETING HELD AT WILLIAMSTOWN FEBRUARY 13—PARKER AND MARQUETTE ARE CHOSEN.

At the Annual Stockholder's meeting on February 13 at Williamstown, members of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association reelected Mr. W. H. Parker of Carroll County, and elected Mr. Frank Marquette of Pendleton County to the vacancies on the Board of Directors. These men are elected for a term of three years. Mr. Parker has served in this capacity for seven years and is an outstanding farmer and breeder of Southdown sheep and good horses. Mr. Marquette is an outstanding dairyman and is President of Pendleton County Farm Bureau.

There were 165 interested members and friends of the association present at the annual meeting. The members were enthusiastic about the action taken by the Board of Directors in creating the two field offices in Boone and Owen counties, and endorse the policy of more rapid and efficient service to the members.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, Leonard C. Taylor, showed that the Association had loaned $34,000 more in 1941 than in 1940. He predicted a continued increase in farm prices for 1942, and stated that the Association would probably loan $100,000 more money this year than in 1941 as the government was urging upon the farmers to greatly increase production.

Mr. Gahm, president of the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville, urged the farmers to not speculate in land, to pay off debts, and enter the after-war-period free of debts or in such a reduced amount that they would not hamper his operations. He stressed that farmers should get their line of credit thoroughly established with their Production Credit Associations during this period. It was pointed out in his address that farmers must cooperate with the government and produce the necessary farm products, and thereby, do their part in winning this war.

Pheasant Caught By Youth On Drift Pile

Jack Rowland, son of Grover Rowland, who is staying at home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Batchelor, of near McVille, caught a Pheasant rooster last week with his bare hands.

According to Mr. Batchelor, the youth was rowing across the Ohio River when he noticed the pheasant floating down the river on a small drift pile. He rowed the boat over the drift pile, threw some corn to the bird, and with no difficulty whatsoever, picked up the bird.

The bird was taken to the home of Mr. Batchelor where it was fed and cared for. Mr. Batchelor stated that the pheasant would eat corn from the youth's hand.

This is a very unusual happening, as ordinarily the pheasant is a very wild fowl.

SCOUT CAMPAIGN GETS UNDER WAY

AT DINNER MEETING THURSDAY—SHORT ADDRESS AND NATURE PICTURE ARE HIGHLIGHTS OF OCCASION

The Boy Scout Finance Campaign for Boone County got under way at an enthusiastic dinner meeting Thursday, February 12th. Finance campaign workers from Florence, Union, Richwood and Burlington were present and completed plans for their work in Boone County.

Bob Clore of Burlington is the Boone County Campaign Chairman. He is assisted by the following Community Chairman: Ben P. Tanner, Union; Kirt Cropper, Burlington; and Wilson Fullerton, Florence. The following men and women make up the complete organization: Florence, Mayor A. M. Yealey, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. George Morith, John Martin, Ralph Stith, Bob Robinson and Carol Washburn; Union, Harold Weaver, Norm Laibley, Malone Ligon, Mrs. Norma Huey, Walter Ferguson, Mrs. Emlie Cleek, Irvin Rouse; Burlington, E. M. Poston, Courtney Kelly, A. D. Yelton, A. H. Jones, and Bob Clore.

Bob Clore was Chairman of the meeting, which opened with the Invocation by Rev. J. Russell Cross of Union. Following the dinner Boone County Scoutmasters were asked to tell some of the incidents that had occurred in their Troops indicating the value of Scout training. Rev. J. Russell Cross, Scoutmaster Troop 128, Union; Virgil Grayson, Troop 1, Florence; and Rev. T. O. Harrison, Troop 122, Burlington were most inspirational in their endorsements.

Rev. R. A. Johnson of Burlington, in a short address pointed out the value of the Scout program in the development of a boy's character and initiative. Rev. Johnson laid stress on the fact that Scouting is a Christian way of life and that the Scout Oath and Law present every boy with a workable code of life.

Assistant Scout Executive William Q. Potter explained briefly the Scout Emergency Service Corps. This program, under the direction of Harold Weaver of Union, is organized on a County basis and presents to the people of Boone County a group of Senior Scouts, trained for service and ready for immediate use. Emergency Service Scouts are trained in Rescue Work, First Aid, Fire Prevention and Control, Communication, Personal Health and Public Health. The Boy Scouts of America have been assigned specific duties in the Civilian Defense program by the National Office of Civilian Defense.

Frank Dix, Deputy Regional Executive of the National Office, Boy Scouts of America explained to the group present that "we are asking the people of Boone County to invest in boy power, future man power, that these boys will have the leadership and courage to carry on the affairs of the world they will inherit from us."

Organization reports were made for each community and all present felt that a good finance organization had been built up. After the Workers' Kits and cards had been distributed, the meeting was closed with the showing of a Scout moving picture, "Northern Kentucky Scouts in Canada." This film of a Senior Scout trip in the woods and lakes of Canada was presented by Scout Executive Willard A. Friend.

Mrs. Madge Grubbs

Mrs. Madge Holder Grubbs, age 63, died at her home in Covington Sunday night, February 15, after an illness of five years. Mrs. Grubbs was a former resident of this county, but had lived in Covington for the past 10 years.

She is survived by her husband I. T. Grubbs; one son Wallace Grubbs, Walton; 1 daughter Mrs. Myrtle Wright and six grandchildren.

She was a member of the Walton Christian Church and the Eastern Star.

Funeral services were conducted at the Chambers & Grubbs funeral home at 2 p. m. Tuesday, February 17 with Rev. Demoisey and Rev. C. J. Alford officiating. Burial was in Walton cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of funeral arrangements.

The many friends of Mrs. John Grant will be sorry to learn that she has been seriously ill for the past several days. Her many friends wish for her a speedy recovery.

Boone County Boy Scouts are looking forward to a return of summer, which to them, is the season of camping and week-end hikes. Taken last summer was this picture of a group from Troop No. 1, Florence, which is the Boone County troop.

The annual campaign of the Northern Kentucky Council for funds to carry on the work is now under way. Robert W. Clore is the chairman of the Gunpowder District, which includes all of Boone County.

COORDINATOR IS SELECTED

FOR HEBRON SCHOOL DISTRICT AT COUNCIL MEETING FRIDAY—OFFICERS AND RATIONING COMMITTEES NAMED.

On Friday evening, Feb. 13th, at a meeting at Hebron School, a Civilian Defense Council was organized for the Hebron District. Those attending will be the Executive Committee of the Council.

Our Coordinator, Vaughn Hempfling, led the meeting and introduced the county coordinator, Mr. Harry Mayhugh.

Officers elected are as follows: President, S. M. Graves; vice president, Edgar Snyder; secretary Mrs. Omer Dolwick; assistant secretary, B. F. Hossman; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Aylor. Mr. Mayhugh outlined the committees to be appointed and their duties.

The time and place of registration for defense duties were agreed upon. Registrars for each community were appointed.

CONFERENCE SET FOR 4-H LEADERS

AT BURLINGTON SATURDAY—E. E. FISH AND EDITH LACY FROM STATE OFFICE WILL ADDRESS GATHERING.

Leaders of Boone County will meet at the courthouse Saturday to discuss the 4-H Club program for 1942 and give recognition to those who have rendered valuable and faithful service during the past year, according to Franklin Frazier, assistant county agent.

Since the World crisis affects tremendously the opportunities and obligations of rural youth, new adjustments are being made hourly which will affect agriculture in this county. Therefore, at this meeting the challenge as to how these adjustments can best be met will be presented to the leaders.

E. E. Fish and Edith Lacy from the State 4-H Club office in Lexington will discuss "Objectives of 4-H Club Work in Kentucky This Year." D. H. Norris will speak on "The Place of Rural Youth in the Program for Victory." Other features of the program will include viewpoints from the parent, leader and member about the opportunities in 4-H Club work. A round table discussion as to how leaders can advance 4-H Club work, recognition of 4-H leaders and outstanding clubs, and the building of the 1942 program of work will be a part of the program.

Bro. Hamilton and family were the dinner guests of the Tandy Wolfe family of McVille, Sunday.

Local Hatcherymen To Assist 4-H Club Members

Conner's Hatchery, Hebron, and Grant Maddox, Florence, have arranged to provide baby chicks to Boone County 4-H club members without cash outlay at the time of receipt of the chickens, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

These local hatcherymen are offering this service to all club members enrolled in the poultry project. Boys or girls receiving these chicks will return 50 pounds of broilers for each 100 birds received, or the cash equivalent based upon the current Cincinnati market quotations.

It is expected that some club members will want to secure early chicks and in some cases they should be ordered a few weeks in advance. All common breeds will be included in this service.

Club members interested should contact the County Agent's office for further information regarding this plan.

BURLINGTON HOLDS FIRM

IN CONFERENCE TILT WITH NEW HAVEN TIGERS—WALTON CHALKS UP 20TH VICTORY—HEBRON EASY WINNERS

After trailing the New Haven Tigers through the greater part of the game, Burlington forged ahead in the last quarter to defeat that quintet on the loser's floor Friday night by a 26-19 count.

Huey, who had been unable to hit the hoop during the first part of the game, started connecting, chalking up 11 for his team, to pull them out in front. Judge scored nine points for the losers.

New Haven led 6-2 at the quarter, 11-11 at the half and 19-17 at the end of the third frame. In the last quarter Burlington score nine points while holding their rivals scoreless. This victory leaves Burlington with an undisputed second place standing in the conference with Walton first.

Walton's Bearcats stepped out again Friday night for their 20th victory when they defeated the Dayton Devils on their home floor by a 44-36 margin, clinching their current claim for top ranking in the northern Kentucky area, with only one defeat.

Walton led all the way and held off a Devil rally in the closing quarter. With five minutes to play Dayton battled its way to within a point of the leaders as the score stood 36-35. Then Walton pulled away for its eight-point final margin and its 15th consecutive victory.

Demoisey, Walton's center led the attack with 14 points, followed by Welch with 11 and Groger with 10. Dorna was high for Dayton with 12, followed by Perr with 11.

In the second team game Dayton trounced the Walton five by a 28-24 count.

Walton high school downed their Simon Kenton rivals from Independence, 43-41, in a topsy-turvy game at Walton, Tuesday night. The game was nip-and-tuck throughout, with the outcome in doubt until the final whistle. The victory was Walton's twenty-second against one defeat.

Demoisey hit the hoop for the winners with 16, followed by Simpson with 12. Breeden was high point man for the losers with 10.

In a reserve game Simon Kenton defeated Walton's reserves by a score of 25-21.

Hebron gave the St. Henry team of Elsmere a setback Friday night when they chalked up a 34-14 victory, in an easy battle on the local floor. Hebron led throughout the game, with quarter scores being 7-4, 16-4, and 22-9.

Buckler and Getker led the attack for the winners scoring eight points each, while three players had four each for St. Henry.

In a preliminary game, Hebron won over the visitors 28-8.

Schedule This Week

Hebron at Burlington, Friday.
Crittenden at Florence, Friday.
Warsaw at New Haven, Friday.
Walton at Holmes, Saturday.

New Haven trounced the Crittenden hoopsters last Saturday night on the Crittenden floor by a 36-32 count.

FINES METED TO OHIO MEN

ON DRUNKEN CHARGES IN N. E. RIDDELL'S COURT MONDAY—CONSTANCE HOME IS MOLESTED THURSDAY MORNING.

Two Cincinnati men were arrested last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Mary Jackson, Constance, by Sheriff J. T. Williams, after receiving several complaints against the two men.

The men gave their names as F. F. Hogan, 6534 Revere Ave., and Er Welshans, 5000 River Road, both of Cincinnati. Hogan was charged with breach of the peace and drunkenness and Welshans was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. When brought before Judge Riddell Thursday, Hogan was placed under $1000 bond and Welshans under $200 bond.

According to witnesses, the two men ran their car into a ditch near Constance, and Hogan, under the influence of liquor left the parked car at approximately 7:00 a. m. and entered the Highline bus, operated by Harry Prable. According to Prable, Hogan was entirely out of his mind and insisted that Prable show him how the radio in the bus operated. After considerable persuasion, Hogan left the parked bus and was next noticed when he entered the kitchen door of the home of Mrs. Mary Jackson. Mrs. Jackson was frightened, but was able to get out the front door of her home and went to a filling station where she reported the stranger in a drunken condition.

After Sheriff Williams was called, Hogan made no attempt to escape and apparently had no intentions of robbery. After the sheriff arrived, Welshans, who had been in the car, came to the filling station and admitted being with Hogan. He was also under the influence of liquor.

Judge Riddell set the hearing of the case for Monday, and six witnesses were summoned. The witnesses were James Stull, Earl Reeves, Mrs. Elmer Peeno, Harry Prable, Mrs. Mary Jackson and Shirley Hempfling. After brief discussion, both men were given fines of $42.38 each, which included court costs and witness fees.

Both men were employed at the New York Central Railroad in Cincinnati, and according to records of the company, neither had any bad marks against their character before this affair.

Burlington Methodist Sponsor Day Of Prayer

The community is invited to join the members of the Burlington Methodist Church in a day of prayer, Friday, Feb. 20. The Church will be open from 10 a. m. Eastern War Time to 4 p. m. Eastern War Time. The pastor or someone else will be present throughout the day to lead the meditation and prayer. If it is impossible for you to come for any length of time, you are urged to attend in your spare moments and join in prayer with others for the needs of the world.

The ladies of the Woman's Society of Christian Service are sponsoring this observance.

714 REGISTER IN BOONE COUNTY

AS THIRD MILITARY REGISTRATION IS COMPLETED HERE MONDAY NIGHT—TWENTY-FOUR NON-RESIDENTS LISTED

The local Draft Board No. 9 completed its registration Monday night of all men between the ages of 20 and 45 years, in accordance with the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, it was announced by C. G. Kelly, Clerk of the local board.

"For Over Fifty Years"

YOUR PART IN THE WAR

The serious situation confronting the United States, as a result of the surprise attack upon us by Japan, Germany and Italy, creates new responsibilities for the citizens of Boone County.

The first obligation of a good citizen is to be intelligent in regard to the war in general and the second is to loyally cooperate in all measures that may be necessary on the home-front.

Those who cannot serve in the trenches, in the air or on ships can render valuable service, without which the war cannot be won. We can maintain morale, increase production and make available adequate supplies to the fighting forces.

In addition, we can buy Defense Bonds and Stamps to the limit of our ability. This simple act of faith in the American Government is an act in support of every armed service man. It insures that our fighters will have the guns, tanks, planes and ships that will give them an even break when they meet the enemy in combat.

Every loyal American should resolutely accept the privations that may be ahead. To do without automobile tires and cut down on sugar consumption is little, compared with exposing one's self to hostile bullets under the disadvantages that every soldier of the democracies must temporarily accept.

Let's get behind this country in the only way that we can. There's no use to talk about patriotism unless it is translated into actual deeds. What the nation needs today is doers, not talkers.

EXPLAINS CAPITAL SHIP LOSSES

The sinking of the British battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse off the Malayan coast by Japanese torpedo-carrying planes was recently explained by Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons.

Churchill said that the capital ships were sent to the Far East in the hope of deterring Japan from going to war, or, failing that, deterring her from sending convoys into the Gulf of Siam. He explained that it was impossible to send an aircraft carrier with the capital ships because "with the exception of an aircraft carrier in home water," all others were under repair.

The Prime Minister pointed out that the Admiral, knowing that Japanese transports "with weak fighting escort," were moving toward Malaya, decided that "drastic and urgent naval action was required." He continued, "Admiral Phillips was fully aware of the risk he was taking." Only after he left the harbor was he informed "that fighter protection could not be provided."

Subsequently, the British Board of Admiralty expressed the opinion that the risks taken by the Admiral "were fair and reasonable." Moreover, Captain W. P. Tennant, who commanded the Repulse, has just been promoted to the rank of Rear-Admiral.

FRANCO PAYS ITALY FOR AID

During the civil war in Spain, Italy and Germany denied that they were assisting General Francisco Franco.

Of course, practically everyone with sense enough to understand the printed word knew better. Strange to say, for reasons of their own, the British and French Governments chose to ignore the participation of Germany and Italy in the Spanish war.

Early this month, however, the Spanish dictator, Franco, ordered transferred to Rome five billion lira in Spanish Treasury bonds to "regularize" Spain's debt to Italy for war materials furnished during the internal warfare which enabled General Franco to become dictator.

LAGGING SUPPLIES TO RUSSIA

Some concern is reported in Washington over the failure of the United States to deliver to Russia, in the last three months, more than half of the war equipment contemplated under the wording of the Moscow Proctocol.

Knowing the extent of German preparations for a new Spring offensive against Moscow, officials are anxious to make good on the implied promise of the United States. It is realized that unless supplies are shipped in great quantities soon, they will not reach the Russians before the Germans attack.

The problem is complicated by our own entry into the war which created pressing demands for material and shipping. Moreover, it requires between six and eight weeks for material from the United States to reach the battlefronts of Russia.

American officials understand the vital importance of assisting the Russian Army in the forthcoming attack. To keep the Red Army fighting is one of the prime objectives of leaders in this country and Great Britain and it is pointed out that the British have attempted to keep their deliveries to Russia on schedule, despite pressing needs in the Middle and Far East.

WE CAN AFFORD SHIPS AND PLANES

We are very glad to note that the United States, in preparing for all-out warfare, is providing more than $6,000,000,000 for the air arm of the United States Navy, but we are also glad that something like $8,000,000,000 is being used in the construction of warships.

There is no use for this country to gamble on the ultimate decision as to the importance of warships and airplanes. We have the money, the labor and the materials to possess both in sufficient numbers to take care of the United States.

It is interesting, in this connection, to learn that Admiral Luetzow, the German radio naval spokesman, recently stressed the great value of seapower, telling the German people that "the domination of the sea will remain in the hands of the greatest naval powers" and warning his German listeners that the initial Japanese successes against American and British navies should not lead to under-estimation of naval power as against air power.

The German Admiral ought to know something about the problem. When France collapsed in the early summer of 1940, Germany possessed an overwhelming air force. It was used for an offensive against the British Isles until late in the Autumn. Despite the aerial superiority, the German offensive got nowhere in so far as the destruction of the British Navy was concerned.

U-BOAT TOLL INCREASES

The battle of the Atlantic, which was proceeding very favorably, has taken a turn for the worst since German submarines began to operate off the Canadian and United States coast.

The U-Boats have destroyed shipping, mostly tankers, at the rate of one every two days, since January 14. It is believed that the Germans have concentrated a heavy submarine force in the Western Atlantic. Experts believe that the U-boats, crossing the ocean, at economical speeds, are able to remain off our coast for ten or twelve days.

The German campaign is not surprising. Naturally, the Nazis seek to compel the United States to weaken its patrol forces in the North Atlantic and attacks along the coast of North America are the logical method to accomplish the result.

The answer to the enemy foray requires greater numbers of patrol ships and airplanes. Until the defense is available, losses will continue.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for February 22

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS APPOINTS AND TEACHES THE TWELVE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 6:12-26.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

God is sovereign and has all power. He might, therefore, perform His works without the help of man, and on many an occasion He does just that.

That fact makes it all the more glorious that He ordinarily works through men, giving to them the privilege of companionship with Him in service. Sinful and weak though they may have been, they become strong and holy in Him, able to do valiant service in His name.

I. Appointed to Serve Christ (vv. 1-19).

It is the constant teaching of Scripture that those called to serve God are not self-appointed. They are

1. Chosen by Him (vv. 12, 13). He chooses whom He will, gives them the gifts and the grace for ministry (and both are important!), and provides them a place of service. It is vital to the servant of Christ that he know that he has been chosen and called of the Lord. Only with that assurance can he meet the problems and bear the burdens of the work.

Observe that it was after a night of prayer that Jesus appointed the twelve. How many churches give that much prayer to the choosing of its leaders? Do we not need it far more than did our Lord?

2. Called from Many Walks of Life (vv. 14-16). The apostles were men of widely differing gifts, temperaments, and personal characteristics. Some had unusual ability, others apparently were of ordinary qualifications. They were of many occupations, fishermen, a tax gatherer, etc.; but not one was by profession a preacher or priest.

Were men to choose for such offices they would look within the narrow limits of a few learned professions, with certain nationalities preferred, and with position in life an important factor. God cuts across every man-made limitation and calls His workers as He sees fit.

3. Companions in Service (vv. 17-19). At once the twelve received their introduction to service to the great multitude diseased, demon possessed, in spiritual need. It was Jesus who healed them (and notice that "he healed them all," v. 19), but verse 17 tells us that the newly appointed apostles came and stood with Him. They had fellowship with the healing and serving Christ, just as we may have it in service for Him today.

II. Prepared to Live for Christ (vv. 20-26).

Service for Christ is as much (perhaps we should say, more) by life as by ministry. The twelve needed instruction that their spiritual perspective might be right. He tells them

1. How to Meet Difficulties (vv. 20-23). Poverty, hunger, weeping, being hated for Christ's sake, these were the things that Jesus knew His servants might expect, so He prepared them. They were told that these things need not disturb them, for there is a kingdom coming; there will be a time when every hunger will be satisfied, when weeping shall turn to laughter.

Hatred for Christ's sake is declared to be the occasion for an outburst of joy because of the reward which awaits in heaven. Scripture speaks much of rewards, and we do well to encourage ourselves and other Christians by the blessed prospect.

Meeting difficulties is a matter of having mental and spiritual eyes rightly focused. If we do, we can see right through them and see that on the other side there is blessing.

But there are temptations in another direction, so He tells them

2. How to Avoid Dangers (vv. 24-26). Jesus is here speaking of those who, lacking true spiritual vision, revel in the satisfaction of worldly things without a thought of God. The passage, however, may well be applied to the worker for Christ. Often he will be tempted to covet the wealth, the prosperity, the pleasures, and popularity of those round about him.

The question which comes to him is, Why should I and my family not share these pleasant things? Therein lies a temptation to become worldly-minded, centered in the temporalities of life. Let him learn that money in itself cannot bring lasting joy; that the fullness of this world is soon exchanged for an eternal emptiness; that the shallow laughter of this world's fun rapidly gives way to weeping.

The praise of men—popularity with those who know not Christ—is a fickle thing. One day they will praise a man to the skies, and the next day no evil word or disgraceful treatment is spared to destroy and dishearten him.

Weak Feet Affect Body

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLES SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the boney structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits, or waste matter form at the joints. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism, arthritis, and many other ailments. Altho when you cramp the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished muscle tone is impaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eight-seven diseases are indirectly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, happiness and peace of mind. With foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

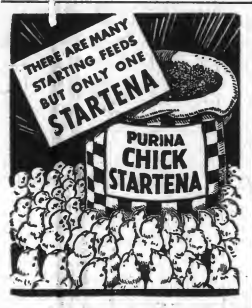
BUY GOOD SEEDS SAYS CO. AGENT

ENORMOUS LOSSES SUFFERED THROUGH PURCHASE OF INFERIOR SEEDS—CHECK TAGS ON ALL SEED BAGS.

Boone County farmers are urged to buy good seeds and only good seeds, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Some reports of this year indicate that many farmers are buying inferior seeds of high noxious weed content because these seeds can be purchased at slightly cheaper prices.

Be sure that you are getting good seeds following the following important points:

1. Be sure that there is a Kentucky Seed Law Tag on all seed and that this tag is filled out. This is a Kentucky law for your protection.



2. Be sure that no noxious weed seeds are listed on this tag. One cannot easily tell if weed seeds are present. The dealer under the Kentucky Law must present the official tag showing how much and kinds of weed seed present. Some of these weed seeds are bad.

3. Check the tag for the year the seed was grown.

4. Check the percent germination.

Mr. Encil Dean of the State Seed Inspection will meet with farmers sometime in the near future to explain how many farmers are incurring enormous losses each year in buying their seeds. Greater return from our dollars spent for seeds is an important agricultural problem.

Income Tax Articles To Aid Farm Readers

To help farm readers with questions connected with their income tax return for 1941, The Recorder will print a column devoted to farm income tax problems beginning with its next issue.

Information for these articles will be supplied by accounting and legal experts of the Agricultural Records Company, publishers of the easy accounting system made especially for farmers.

All the chief requirements of the new tax law as it applies to farmers will be explained in his series of weekly articles which will be published until the final date for filing of federal income tax returns March 15. Watch for this new income tax feature next week

HOME ECONOMICS NOTES OF FLORENCE 4-H CLUB

The second meeting of the Florence X-L-All 4-H club was called to order by our new president, Betty Mullins on Feb. 9, 1942. Our membership goal for 1942 was set at 40 members. We discussed the leaders and officers meeting and made plans for attending it. Plans for project work were discussed and definite dates were set for beginning work.

In our group the following projects have been selected: Clothing, foods, school lunches, and canning. After a citizenship program, the meeting adjourned by repeating the club pledge.

SKILLED WORKERS BADLY NEEDED

IN KENTUCKY'S WAR INDUSTRIES—AGE AND PHYSICAL DEFECTS ARE NO LONGER A HANDICAP.

Reports from Kentucky's war industries and from neighboring states show that they are not producing at capacity because of the lack of skilled workers. Skilled machinists and machine operators with machine shop experience are in urgent demand.

Men who formerly worked in skilled or machine trades, but have lost some of their skills through unemployment or through working in other occupations now have a chance to get back to their former crafts. These men can be referred to training classes through any office of the United States Employment Service, so that they may brush up on their former occupations. The fact that a worker has not worked at his skill for several years will not keep him from returning to his trade.

If a worker is skilled, physical defects are no longer a handicap if these are not serious enough to endager the worker and his fellow workers. The age of a worker is no longer a barrier as long as a man is active and can produce satisfactorily.

It is not only the patriotic duty but vital to victory that all persons possessing mechanical skills let it be known through the nearest office of the United States Employment Service. There is an office conveniently located at 26 East Seventh street in Covington.

It is not necessary that qualified skilled men report in person. The employment office will give full particulars of the current labor demands by telephone or letter. The telephone number of the Covington office is Hemlock 5241.

Council Names Affairs Committee For Florence

The Town Council of Florence has named the following men to look after the affairs of the town: Street and cemetery committee, Clifford Coyle and R. G. Eades; Water and light committee, E. A. Beall and Alfred Becker.

REFRIGERATOR SALE IS ANNOUNCED BY EDW. COOPER

Edward P. Cooper, 805 Madison Avenue, Covington, announces a big sale of rebuilt and refinished refrigerators, G. E., Frigidaire, Norge, Crosley and Grunows. During the sale Maytag, Boss, Easy, and Thor Washers will be sold at special low prices. Radios will be offered at $6.00 and up.

Mr. Cooper considers himself fortunate in receiving a large shipment of new electric refrigerators and washers, considering conditions created by the national emergency.

All merchandise purchased at Cooper's is guaranteed, and may be had on a low-down payment.

Red Cross Asks For Old Automobile Tags

Persons purchasing their new 1942 automobile tags are requested to bring their old tags to the courthouse or leave them with their precinct collector. These tags will be gathered for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Persons in Constance precinct are requested to leave their tags with Bertha Lane.

AMERICA NEEDS HEALTHY PEOPLE NOW! MORE THAN EVER

Sufferers From Stomach Distress, Lazy Liver, Constipation and Sluggish Kidneys! Do You Retard the Defense Effort?

Every one now days whether working directly in defense work or not is contributing to America's war effort in some way or another. If suffering is impairing your work making you less productive, then you owe it to yourself and your country to do something about this condition.

You can do this something about your condition by taking the new scientific formula called SYSTONE.

What is SYSTONE?

SYSTONE is a Great Compound of 20 ingredients. Yes, that is correct! Over 20 ingredients in one Medicine, including 12 Costly Natural Herbs! Thus SYSTONE is like Several Medicinies in the Same Compound! No wonder it is So Amazing! No wonder it is being sold in Such Great Quantities! Twenty ingredients all mixed and blended scientifically into one medcine!

SYSTONE is absolutely new in this section, as it has never been sold here or introduced here in the past. Contains No Alcohol, No Harsh Stimulants, No Habit-Forming Drugs—whatever!

HOW SYSTONE ACTS!

SYSTONE brings forth awful gas and bloat from stomach and intestines, giving Blessed Relief from Bloat Pressure and Gas Pain in Stomach and Chest! improving Appetite and Digestion.

SYSTONE acts on Bowels as a Laxative and helps clear out old decayed food waster, relieving headaches, coated tongue, bad taste, skin eruptions and foul breath, caused by inactive, clogged bowel organs.

IT HELPS NATURE!

SYSTONE acts as a Splendid Diuretic to Sluggish Kidneys, thereby helping Nature flush out the impurities from kidneys and bladder which cause backache, sharp pains, fiery, irritated bladder and broken sleep from night rising.

SYSTONE stimulates Liver Bile Flow, relieving billiousness, worn-out feeling and sick headache, caused thereby.

SYSTONE relieves the awful pain of Rheumatic and Neuritic trouble, when due to poisonous accumulations in Bowels and Stomach.

DON'T WAIT LONGER!

SUFFERERS! Don't wait any longer! Get SYSTONE! This Great Formula has been tested by the sale of thousands of bottles.

COME TO THE OWENS' DRUG STORE, PIKE AND WASHINGTON AVE., IN COVINGTON. Ask Mr. Owens what this remarkable medicine is doing for thousands throughout Boone County and the rest of Northern Kentucky.

Mr. Farmer:

Don't Cheat Uncle Sam

If inadequate records should cause any of us to "short change" Uncle Sam when we make out our income tax returns, our faces would be mighty red.

A fellow does not wish to appear to be a tax dodger in these days of national sacrifice. The least anyone can do is to pay his far share of the taxes needed to help defend us all against the gangster nations.

None of us intentionally would cheat our country of a single penny in its time of need. But it is so easy to cheat with the best intentions in the world if, when we come to reporting our income and filling out tax forms, we have not kep systematic financial records.

Receipts and other individual records tucked away from time to time for safe-keeping will not add up to a complete record of either income or expense when an accurate report is needed for tax purposes.

Only by recording income as it is received and expenses as they are paid week by week through the year can the farmer compile accurate records. The best system for such farm records which has come to the attention of this newspaper is known as "Agricultural Records." To aid farmers of this vicinity in keeping careful records for the government we have arranged to supply them this system at an unusually low price in connection with subscriptions to the paper.

Ask us about the offer made below next time you're in town.

"Agricultural Records"	$5.50
Year's Subscription	$1.50

HITLER AND THE DEVIL

Hitler called the devil on the phone one day,
The girl at central listened to all they had to say;
"Hello," she heard Hitler say "is old man satan home?
Just tell him it's the dictator who wants to talk to him on the phone."
The devil said "Howdy," and Hitler, "How are you?
I'm running a hell here on earth
So tell me what to do."
The devil said, "Dear old pal of mine,
It seems you don't need any help you're doing mighty fine."
"Yes, I was doing very good until a while ago
When a man named Roosevelt, wired me to go slow."
He said to me 'Dear Hitler,
We don't want to be unkind
But you have raised hell enough so you'd better change your mind.'
I thought his lend lease bill was just a bluff
And that he'd never get it through
He soon put me on the spot
When he showed what he could do.
So that's why I called you Satan dear
I need advice from you,
For I know you will tell me
Just what I ought to do."
"My dear Hitler, there is not much to tell
For Uncle Sam will make it hotter
Than I can here in hell.
I have been a mean old Devil
But not half as mean as you,
So the minute you get here the job is yours to do.
I'll be ready for your coming
And I'll keep the fires all bright
And I'll have your room all ready
When Sam begins to fight,
For I can see your days are numbered
And there's nothing left to tell,
So hang up the phone
Get your hat and meet me here in hell.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

The Bullittsville Homemakers wish to express their appreciation to all who contributed in anyway to the supper given for the Red Cross. Proceeds in the amount of $43.00 will be given to the War Fund.

Conservation IS THE KEYNOTE OF WARTIME AMERICA

Uncle Sam Says:

"Take Good Care of the Things You Have"

Your Electrical Appliances Can Help You Save

As America's military might grows, more and more of the nation's supply of food, metals, textiles and other resources must be devoted to war uses, leaving less and less for civilian consumption. That means that all of us must learn to conserve what we have in order that essential raw materials may be released for war purposes. Uncle Sam says: "Buy carefully; take good care of the things you have; waste nothing."

Your electrical appliances can help you in this program of conservation. Intelligent use of your electrical equipment not only enables you to prevent food waste and prolong the life of clothes, linens, rugs and other household furnishings; it also conserves your time and energy and helps safeguard your health and eyesight.

There is no room for waste in wartime America. It is up to all of us to conserve what we use and own . . . to make things last as long as possible. Your electrical appliances, by helping you save, enable you to do your part in the conservation program and at the same time maintain your family's health and morale at a high level.

Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association's Part In The National Emergency

By G. W. Gahm

Many things have happened since your last annual meeting. We have all recognized for a long time that we were living in a world of ever-changing conditions but perhaps never before have we seen such revolutionary changes as occurred during the past year. For the second time within a generation we are engaged in a World War. Such wars inevitably bring about violent price fluctuations which in turn create serious problems for farmers and in the field of agricultural credit. Realizing this we would be derelict in our responsibility if we did not anticipate those problems and take measures to soften their effect before it is too late.

Prices of both agricultural and non-agricultural commodities have been advancing rather rapidly for the past year, with agricultural commodities rising more rapidly than non-agricultural. It is expected that the general wholesale commodity price level in 1942 will be 10 percent higher than in 1941 with the price for farm products showing an increase greater than 10 percent. With continued improvement in demand for farm products and increased production under the "food for freedom" program, a cash farm income of thirteen billion dollars has been forecast for 1942 compared with slightly over eleven billion dollars in 1941. When we consider the disparities that have handicapped farmers for a decade, we must recognize that this comparatively large increase in net returns to farmers is deserved. Therefore, it seems to me that the farmers may well accept these increases without any apologies whatsoever. While it is true that in some instances farm incomes have not advanced as fast as costs, the rise in cost has not been very marked. For the country as a whole farm prices are rising more than farm operating costs. Farm wages have risen fastest among cost items on the farm, but in the case of a good many other items advances have not been very excessive.

Very few people, I expect, will object to the farmers' realization of a better economic position, but we do need to be very careful that the rising farm incomes and higher prices do not become the instruments for over capitalization of agriculture and an undue expansion of debts. If we are careful, many headaches of the post-war conditions of World War I can be avoided in the period following World War II when Hitlerism and everything that it stands for will be doomed. May I enumerate a few things which I think every farmer and every institution lending money to farmers should take into consideration.

1. Avoid land speculation. The price paid for farm land should be no more than its normal agricultural value based on probable prices of crops and livestock over a long period of years.

2. Study circumstances under which the present purchase of land should prove profitable and desirable—to increase the farm acreage to an adequate size, for example. Be sure that the purchase price is no more than the normal agricultural value of the land.

3. Pay debts and bring the existing farm plant up to a high state of efficiency or productivity, rather than purchase land, build barns, etc., not normally needed in your farm program.

4. Prepare to enter the period after the war debt-free or with a debt which can easily be met. If you are one of the fortunate folks who have no debt, use some of your present earnings to build your own financial reserves. There is no safer or more patriotic way to do this than to purchase Defense Bonds.

5. Be sure to establish a line of credit with an institution that can render you a maximum service not only during the present prosperous period but one that can and will continue to finance your needs after the war. In other words, establish yourself with a permanent, dependable source of agricultural credit.

The American farmer has been called upon to produce as he has never produced before. National, state, and county goals have been set for the production of certain commodities needed in our defense program. Secretary Wickard, as you all know, has said, "Food will win the war and write the peace." The American farmer faces a tremendous task in the "food for freedom" program. It is a challenge to his ability and ingenuity which will be met with success in spite of the fact that there is already a sizable labor shortage which normally would call for increased machinery, the use of more and larger equipment which will be limited, but in my opinion adequately met when we take into consideration the machinery repair program which is being so forecfully called to the attention of the farmer.

I am sure that with the cooperation of the farmers and all interested agencies the production goals will be met. With the many shifts in agriculture that will be needed, the shortage of labor, increased need for machinery, and increased cost of many other items incident to farming, certainly there will be a need for considerable expansion in the extension of agricultural credit. Fortunately for the American farmer, he already has his own credit machinery in the Farm Credit Administration to furnish the credit he needs to do his full share in the production program so important in winning the war. Within this agricultural credit organization are to be found the federal land bank and the 441 national farm loan associations in this district, which offer farmers capital or land credit on a long-term repayment plan at a fixed low rate of interest that insures a minimum carrying charge for this important item of overhead. The Bank for Cooperatives does an excellent job in financing farmers' cooperative associations with three types of loans, facility, operating, and commodity. When special financial problems arise because of the defense program this bank will assist in solving them. And, for the short-time financing so very important in this present emergency, we find a machine timed and geared to fit the needs of every farmer who has a basis for sound credit. I refer, of course, to the production credit system, which includes your own local production credit association, the production credit corporation which serves as a supervising agency for all production credit associations, and the federal intermediated credit bank which obtains funds from the investing public for the associations.

The associations have now had eight years of valuable experience during which time they have developed a service second to none and have built reserves that give them financial strength. Before an army is sent into the field of battle it is always properly organized and trained. For the past four years the associations have been giving special courses of employee training to equip every employee to render the best possible service. During last November, statewide meetings were held of all production credit association executive committees for the purpose of taking inventory to find out what further steps could be taken and policy changes effected that would bring to the farmer a better service in this national emergency and at the lowest possible cost consistent with sound business. In such training and preparation by the directors, officers and employees, I am sure you see the answer to what part production credit will take in this national emergency. We feel that the associations are fully prepared to finance the farmer's credit needs for the tremendous task that he faces. They are service organizations that have your welfare at heart first, last, and always. Let me say in closing that this is not only a service organization but a cooperative organization. Each member not only has an interest in the service that this machine can render but each member has a financial interest just the same as he has in his grain binder. It is the responsibility of your members to select the board of directors who fix the policies and guide the machine while the hired employees actually run it.

Now, as a part owner of this machine, it seems to me that you should be interested in doing all you can to keep it running at full speed because by so doing it will be rendering greater service to more farmers and at the same time effect economy in operation, which in time comes back to you as a part owner. So, in behalf of your directors and employees may I ask you to take this suggestion to heart seriously and tell other good farmers about the service that this production credit machine can render to them. You will be performing a service to yourself, to your neighbor, and to the cause of agriculture, and, finally, to your country in winning this war which we must and will do.

Now that the teachers are to issue sugar rationing books, we suppose it will be all right to call them sugar-babies.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Hollywood aquatic experts had to teach 600 longhorn steers how to swim!

The longhorns comprise the herd purchased by Columbia for the action-filled drives in "Texas," stirring drama of the early Texas cattle wars and starring William Holden, Claire Trevor and Glenn Ford at the Gayety.

Although cattle usually take to water without flinching, the Texas longhorns were raised in the arid desert of Mexico and had never seen water outside a drinking trough.

As they had to swim wide Sherwood Lake in the Hollywood mountains for one thrill scene, Director George Marshall employed a score of cowboys to drive the longhorns back and forth across the lake to acquaint them with bovine swimming technique.

It took a movie to do it, but one of Lynne Overman's fondest dreams came true.

"That makes it," Overman told his co-stars, Fred MacMurray, Mary Martin and Robert Preston, "the greatest—but most un-lifelike—part I've ever played."

Beech Grove Jersey Farm Buys New Bull

Sammy 423542, a calf, out of Samuel's Design Dottrina No. 1118535 with a test of 7803 pounds of milk, 473 pounds fat in 304 days as a three-year-old. (A recent test made 92.5 pounds butterfat in one month).

Samuel Design Dottrina is out of Design's Dotterina No. 924191, a silver medal cow and full sister to the Superior and Gold Medal sire Dootrena Design, both being out of the Gold Medal cow Dottrena and by the Gold Medal Bull Design Fern Oxford.

The calf, Astor Design B. Sammy is my Astor Design Brampton Lad 408858, a young sire out of Ivanhoe's Golden Coulisse's with AAA test of 511 pounds butterfat in 305 days and classified very good.

Ivanhoe's Golden Coulisse is by the Gold and Silver Medal Superior Sire Boutillieres Ivanhoe No. 332786 classified excellent and out of Boutillieres Coulisse with Silver Medal in Class AAA 534 pounds fat as a three-year-old and classified very good.

Astor Design Brompton Lad's sire is Astor Design, a silver medal and superior sire by the Gold Medal bull Design Fern Oxford. His dam is Vonluteers Astor with a test of 604 pounds butterfat at 12 years old and classified excellent.

His new owners have hope for both production and type from Astor Design B. Sammy.

Nothing is as hopeless as an average American trying to pronounce foreign names and places.

Letter Received From Youth In Trinidad, B. W. I.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Henry Black from Linville Isaacs, a cousin, who is with the U. S. Forces in Trinidad, British West Indies. The letter follows:

U. S. Forces
in Trinidad British West Indies.
February 6, 1942.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black
Union, Ky., R. 1.

Dear Cousins,

Just a few lines to see if I can hear from any of you. I am in the very best of health, weigh more than I ever weighed in my life.

I am in Trinidad in the U. S. forces and it is a very fine place for a boy like me to be. I have seen a large portion of the world which I shall never forget.

Tell all my friends in dear old Boone County, "hello" for me and give them my love. Tell my mother and dad when you see them I have written to you and I am O. K.

Well, Ethel I shall write more next time. If you receive this answer at once as I am very anxious to hear all the news about my relatives and friends.

So bye, bye, May God bless you and everyone at home,

Your Cousin,
P. A. C. Linville Isaacs,

4-H Leaders Train For Work

Miss Edith Lacy, Subject Matter Specialist from the State 4-H Club office, University of Kentucky, Lexington, conducted classes for Boone County 4-H club leaders at the office of the Home Demonstration Agent last Wednesday.

Foods leaders met in the forenoon and studied new project outlines, illustrative materials, and discussed problems.

The clothing leaders profited by the afternoon class in ways and means of conducting their project groups.

Those present were: Mrs. A. W. Fullerton, Jr., Florence; Mrs. Hugh McArthur, and Mrs. Wm. Rogers, Jr., Grant; Mrs. Vernon Pope, Burlington; Mrs. Albert Willis, Mrs. Albert Pfalzgraf, Hebron; Mrs. Walter Ferguson, and Mrs. Mary Moore, New Haven; Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Acting Home Demonstration Agent, planned the meeting.

Home Agent Notes

The times call for wise conservation of many things. "Victory begins at Home" and may well begin with a war against waste. Waste of paper, scrap metal and rubber, of course, but just as truly a waste of money, time, energy and health.

The new pattern of living is being adapted as surely as our Country moves into this fight for peace. Each Boone County family must enlist early if we would help our country. The following are a few of the things needed now.

1. Enlist in the campaign to raise at least 75 percent of food stuffs used in the home. Sign up with the Extension Service campaign so you may be recognized.

2. Save all paper and cardboard, old rags, scrap metal and rubber. Turn this over to organizations cooperating with Salvage Committees.

3. Refrain from hoarding limited commodities.

4. Conserve sugar, use molasses and honey in every possible way. (Natural sweets are most healthful).

5. Order any canning supplies which may be needed this summer, now. The merchants must place their order for such equipment soon in order to get in ahead of a priority ruling on metals.

6. Stress proper food for everyone—the "must haves" in the daily diets are: Milk, 1 quart for children; 1 pint for adults; eggs, 1 each day, at least 3 per week, as such, or in foods; whole grain, as cereals or bread, 2 servings each day; vegetables, 2 servings besides potatoes per day, 1 raw, 1 green 1 yellow; fruit, 2 servings per day, 1 raw, 1 cooked, 1 citrus (orange, grapefruit, lemon, tomato); meat 1 serving of lean meat per day.

7. Make equipment and supplies on hand last and use any available money for Defense Bonds and Stamps.

When you have done these things, you are surely doing your part on the "Home Front."

School Lunch Committees

Plans are being made for a meeting of all school lunch committees and supervisors to be held at the Florence school lunch room on Thursday evening, February 26. The time will be announced later.

Mrs. Pearl J. Haak, Nutrition Specialist from the Extension Service of the University of Kentucky will conduct a demonstration on management and organization in the lunch room kitchen.

Mrs. Sibbie Reimer, chairman Boone County lunch room committee, and Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Acting Home Demonstration Agent are arranging for the meeting.

4-H Officers Training School To Be Held Sat.

Officers of all 4-H clubs in the county will meet at 10:00 a. m. Eastern War Time in the County Agent's office for the first officers' training school of the year, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

The program will include a discussion of responsibilities of 4-H officers, how to conduct a 4-H Club meeting and parlimentary procedure in club work. After the program, games will be played.

Despite the uproar in the House of Representatives about fan-dancers, most of us would rather see a fan-dancer than a Congressman.

POSTED

All persons are hereby notified that the lands of the following are posted against hunting, and trespassing. Violators of this notice are subject to fines:

Catherine Hehman, East Bend Road, Burlington, Ky.

NOTE—Names will be added to the above list for $1.00 each and will be carried in this paper each week throughout the year. Three posted cards will be furnished with each name. Additional cards can be purchased at the rate of 3 cards for 10c.

DAIRYMEN:—The special demand for milk in our community is handing you a profit opportunity unequalled in the last 10 to 20 years.

This is an opportunity to take advantage of by feeding and managing your herd for all the milk you can get.

Drop in and talk to us about the famous Purina Plan. It's a Plan that not only helps you get lots of milk—but also keeps up condition of your cows so that they can milk at high levels for year after year.

Think it over. Milk prices already are way up over a year ago. Many dairymen are going to get EXTRA MONEY from MORE MILK TO SELL. Drop in and see what Cow Chow and the Purina Plan can do for you, too.

On The Sick List

Mrs. Florence Smith remains seriously ill at the home of Rev. Will Smith, Burlington. She is 85 years old.

Walter Brown, State Fire Marshall, suffered a serious attack of acute indigestion Saturday. He is much better at this writing.

Mrs. J. W. Grant is some improved at this writing. She has been quite ill since last Tuesday with pleurisy.

Mrs. Virgil Campbell, of North Bend Bottoms is suffering with inflamatory rheumatism.

Miss Ruby Ryle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ryle of Lick Creek is ill with a severe case of grippe.

When get-rich-quick schemes boom, you can take it for granted that an economic collapse is on the way.

STATE SOIL CONSERVATION COMMITTEE OF KENTUCKY. NOTICE OF ELECTION OF SUPERVISORS TO BE HELD FOR THE BOONE COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT.

To all owners of lands lying within the boundaries of the Boone County Soil Conservation District, notice is hereby given that on the 14th day of March, 1942, between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m. an election will be held for the election of three supervisors for the Boone County Soil Conservation District of the State of Kentucky.

All persons, firms and corporations who hold title to any lands lying within the boundaries of the said district as owners are eligible to vote at the said election. Only such persons, firms or corporations are eligible to vote.

Voting divisions and polling places for the election are as follows:

Division No. 1. Comprising lands within the voting precincts of Petersburg, Bullittsville, Hebron, and Constance; polling place located at Hebron, Boone County, in the Hebron Bank.

Division No. 2. Comprising lands within the voting precincts of Grant, Burlington, and Florence; pooling place located at Burlington, Boone County, in the court house.

Division No. 3. Comprising lands within the voting precincts of Hamilton and Carlton; polling place located at Hamilton, Boone County, in the school house.

DRAWING MADE FOR TOURNEY

WALTON AND BURLINGTON PLACED IN TOP BRACKET OF CLASS A DIVISION—FLORENCE WILL BE PLACE OF TOURNEY.

Boone County basketball coaches met Wednesday of last week for the official drawing of the 33rd district high school tournament, which resulted in the placing of Burlington and Walton, in the top bracket. In the lower bracket are Florence, New Haven and Hebron.

The regular tournament will open Wednesday March 4th at 9:30 with a game between Florence and New Haven. Walton and Burlington drew byes in the first round, and will meet in a semi-final game at 9:30 p. m. Thursday, March 5th. The Florence-New Haven winner will play Hebron in the other semi-final at 9:30 p. m., Friday, March 6th. Finals are slated for 9:30 p. m. March 7th.

In the class B tourney, Hebron and Walton will meet at 8:30 p. m. March 4th; New Haven and Florence will battle it out in a semi-final game at 8:30 p. m. March 5; Burlington will meet the Walton-Hebron winner in a semi-final at 8 p. m. March 6th and finals will be played at 8:30 p.m. March 7.

Both the winner and runner-up in Class A tournament will advance to the Ninth Regional tournament.

F. L. Caton, principal of Florence high school is tournament manager and Edgar McNabb and Dick Bourne will act as referees. Court Kelly has been selected as official timer and Bob Gordon as official scorekeeper.

Prof. Caton announced that all games will be played on Eastern War Time. Admission prices will be 25c and 40c, tax included. Mr. Caton announced that teachers' season passes are void.

Forty-Three Youths Are Examined Tuesday

The local Draft Board No. 9 announced Tuesday that forty-three more Boone County boys were examined Tuesday by Dr. S. B. Nunnelley at the courthouse and that a large part of this group would be sent to Ft. Thomas soon for final examination.

The next call from Boone County will be March 10th, at which time nine more of our boys will be inducted into service. Thirty boys will report at Ft. Thomas on March 6th for their final examination.

We have been requested to make only brief statements regarding army activity and the induction of boys into service. We must therefore, print only the information as recommended by the government and nothing that would be of any benefit to our enemy. Please bear this in mind when articles appear about boys in camp are very brief and certain parts withheld entirely.

BUREAU OFFERS NEW TREATMENT

FOR ELIMINATING BANGS DISEASE—HERD IN BOONE COUNTY WILL BE SELECTED FOR DEMONSTRATION.

One Boone County dairy herd owner will be offered an opportunity to eliminate Bangs Disease from his herd through the calfhood vaccination plan, according to an offer of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry received at the County Agent's office the past week. This herd will be used as a demonstration and the owner will receive the service free of charge.

The herd selected for this demonstration should be one that is of sufficient size and infection has been in the herd for a good many years and one that due to surroundings and conditions make it impossible to eliminate the disease through the test, slaughter and clean up method.

The program has proven effective where it has been found impracticable under the present used present test slaughter program is still considered the more desirable plan where it can be followed. Dairymen who think they may have a dairy herd that would make a good demonstration should contact H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Governor Johnson Signs Airport Bill

Another step toward realization of the establishment of an airport in Boone County was taken at Frankfort, Thursday, when Gov. Keen Johnson signed the Legislature's airport authorization bill.

The measure had been sponsored by Rep. James Quill, Kenton County, and back by other northern Kentucky legislators.

The bill authorizes cities or counties jointly, to establish and operate airports either within or without their own boundary limits.

It is under this legislation that Covington and Kenton county are expected to press for the establishment of a proposed airport in Boone County, for which a federal grant already has been approved.

FARM PRODUCTS GAIN IN PRICE

ACCORDING TO G. P. SUMMERS, FIELD AGENT IN MARKETING IN ADDRESS TO BOONE FARMERS.

Farm prices up to date are following a price cycle similar to previous wars, according to G. P. Summers, field agent in marketing, who addressed fifty Boone County livestock producers in a meeting at Burlington last Wednesday afternoon. The rise in farm prices recently has been more rapid than industrial prices in recent months and are now for the first time in many years above parity. The outlook for 1942 is for continued improvement in the farm income.

Roy Proctor, farm management specialist, warned farmers against land speculation and wild changes in the farm organization. Now is the time to postpone permanent improvements and to concentrate on efficient and economical production. Surplus earnings should be used to pay off farm debts and purchase of Government Bonds to carry over the depression years that always follow war periods.

Reuben Asbury, field representative, Edward Schurter, calf salesman, and Danny Welch, sheep salesman, of the Cincinnati Producers Cooperative Marketing Association advised farmers on ways and means of preparing their stock to secure highest prices on the market.

The severe snow storm starting about an hour before the meeting reduced the number of farmers who were able to attend the meeting.

Deputy Collector Of Internal Revenue To Be Here March 9 And 10

Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, Geo. C. Staubach, will be at the court house in Burlington on March 9th and 10th, for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in filing income tax returns. This service is free and everyone in this section who may be liable under the income tax law and needing assistance in preparing the return should see Mr. Staubach in Burlington on one of the above dates.

Every single person with a gross income of $750.00 and every married person with a gross income of $1500.00 must file a return, even though in the final analysis no tax is due. A penalty is assessed against any one failing to file a return if they are liable under this law.

Before calling on the deputy collector you should work out your items of income and expenses, carefully itemizing each amount and bring your work sheet with you.

Erlanger-Elsmere To Hold Defense Meeting

Citizens of Erlanger and Elsmere are urged to attend a Civilian Defense meeting Monday, March 2nd at Lloyd high school.

This is an important meeting, as officers and citizens will be instructed in methods used during an air raid, blackouts, etc., connected with Civilian Defense.

The public is requested to attend this meeting.

Herbert Snyder and wife were dinner guests last Saturday night of Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Tolin.

Forgive Us, Lord

"We have been a pleasure-loving people, dishonoring God's day, picnicking and bathing; now the seashores are barred, no picnics, no bathing. We have preferred motor travel to churchgoing; now there is a shortage of fuel oil. We have ignored the ringing of the church bells calling us to worship; now the bells cannot ring except to warn of invasion. We have left the churches half empty when they should have been filled with worshipers; now they are in ruins. We would not listen to the way of peace; now we are forced to listen to the way of war. The money we would not give to the Lord's work now is taken from us in taxes and higher prices. The food for which we forgot to say thanks now is unobtainable. The service we refused to give God now is conscripted for the country. Lives we refused to live under God's control now are under the nation's control. Nights we would not spend in watching unto prayer now are spent in anxious air-raid precautions."

The above confession was written by a preacher in a much-bombed country, no doubt England. But not one of us knows when similar changes will come in our circumstances. There is no guarantee that the security we enjoy today will be ours tomorrow. If we have been guilty of neglect, of slothfulness, of indifference, in the affairs of His kingdom, or of those things that pertain to eternal life, God grant that we may awake before it is too late. In every truth the night cometh, when no one can work.

FOUR-H LEADERS ADJUST PROGRAM

TO VICTORY EFFORT—EVERY PHASE OF WORK DIRECTLY RELATED TO VICTORY EFFORT, SAYS D. H. NORRIS.

Sixty 4-H leaders and officers made plans for adjusting the 4-H program this year to the Victory effort at the leaders' conference held in the courthouse at Burlington, Saturday, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

Prof. D. H. Norris, President of the Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Council, while speaking on the "Place of Rural Youth in Victory Program" said, "Every phase of 4-H Club work is directly related to the Victory effort. Rural youth has a greater goal to meet—a worthy while goal to be met with hard work that will better prepare boys and girls to meet present requirements in the Victory Program.

Work with garden, poultry, dairy and other production projects should be greatly increased, Norris said. Girls with canning projects should preserve farm products that otherwise might be wasted. Additional means of conserving for Victory might include proper cooking and reclamping of discarded garments.

Mr. Marion Toadvine, leader of the Petersburg 4-H Club, in discussing "Opportunities of 4-H Club Work," said, "4-H Club Work renders four great services: Learning, social contacts, earning and teaching. (1) Members learn by doing through early participation in meetings and projects (2) offers social contact, a great rural need; (3) members may earn money and at the same time taught principles of thrift; (4) 4-H Club work teaches the boy or girl the meaning of service to his or her community."

Mrs. Marie Pennington, in giving the parent's view of opportunities in 4-H Club work, said she believed it encouraged the boy or girl to do something worthwhile, to see the need and sense the responsibilities of the farm and home. Many boys and girls may find their life's work through participation in 4-H activities, Mrs. Pennington stated.

Opportunities of 4-H Club members were discussed by Evelyn Franks, member of the New Haven Club.

E. E. Fish and Edith Lacy from the State 4-H office in Lexington, told of 4-H work being done by other counties. The Boone County program of work was discussed by leaders, H. R. Forkner, Franklin Frazier and Mary Scott Moore, Extension Agents.

Miss Ruby Ryle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ryle, of Burlington, R. 1. has been quite ill for the past several days. At this writing she is much improved.

Saturday Last Day To Purchase Auto Licenses

Saturday, February 28th is last day of grace for automobile owners using old 1941 license plates, according to C. D. Benson, County Clerk. In order to accommodate car owners throughout the county Mr. Benson will keep his office open until 9:00 p. m. both Friday and Saturday evenings.

Automobile owners are asked to bring their old license receipt with them when purchasing new tags in order to avoid delay.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Ryle, of Walton left Monday morning of this week on the Royal Palm, for Tampa, Fla., where they will spend a few weeks.

1500 ACRES NEW SEEDING PLANNED

BY BOONE COUNTY FARMERS AT COMMITTEE MEETING IN BURLINGTON, THURSDAY — ALFALFA BEST HAY CROP.

The Boone County Soils Committee met at Burlington last Thursday to review the soil improvement progress of the past year and to set goals of accomplishments for 1942, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. A 25 percent increase in alfalfa acreage and a goal of 1500 acres of new seeding was included in the 1942 program.

Alfalfa was considered the cheapest and most valuable hay crop produced in the county. The large acreage of land that has been limed and phosphated now needs only a properly prepared seed bed and seed inoculated to secure satisfactory crops. Grasses such as timothy, orchard grass or bluegrass and around two pounds of alsike clover were recommended to be seeded with the alfalfa in most instances. The high price of seed this year should not prevent expansion of acreage when the returns from the crops are considered.

The committee set up additional goals for 1942 including use of 700 tons or 1,400,000 pounds of phosphate; 11,000 tons of limestone; 26 phosphate, potash, lime and grass demonstrations; the local saving of Balbo rye, barley and Fulwin Winter oats seed, the patching up of old pastures; the seeding of 100 percent of cultivated upland to winter cover crops and one cover crop demonstration on the various varieties of barley, rye, wheat and vetch cover crops being used by our farmers.

Leaders selected to serve on the various soil project committees were: J. F. Cleek, Albert Parker, H. E. White, B. C. Stephens, Mark Cook, F. H. Rouse, Lillard Scott, Ira Tanner, Wilton Stephens, John J. Klopp, Lehman Goodridge and Joe Huey. Wm. Hill was elected chairman of the soils project committee.

BURLINGTON TRIMS HEBRON

IN CONFERENCE TILT FRIDAY NIGHT—NEW HAVEN TURNS BACK GALLATIN TEAM—WALTON SUFFERS SECOND LOSS.

In Boone County's only conference game, Burlington turned back the Hebron five Friday night on the Burlington floor by a score of 36-24, giving Burlington six victories with only one defeat.

Hebron, in a first quarter drive chalked up 9 points while Burlington collected only 3. Burlington, clicking both offensively and defensively went ahead in the second frame, scoring 12 points, while holding Hebron scoreless, ending the half with a count of 15-9. At the close of the third quarter the Burlington five led by a count of 25-13.

Porter was high point man for the winners with 12, while Hogan and Vahlsing had 7 points each for the losers.

In the reserve game Hebron won over Burlington 21-15.

In a non-conference tilt, New Haven trounced Warsaw on the local floor by a score of 40-25, leading all the way. Ryan had 16 points and Judge 11 for the winners.

Florence suffered defeat Friday night in another non-conference game, after leading the visitors for three periods. The final score was 29-22 in favor of Crittenden, the visitors. Mullins, Crittenden center scored 20 points, while R. Cason collected 10 and K. Cason 8 for the Florence Knights.

Walton suffered their second defeat of the season Saturday night when they met the Holmes High Bulldogs of Covington. The final score was 36-29 in favor of Covington. Although the score would indicate a nip-and-tuck battle, Covington led all the way, being out in front 11-4 at the quarter. 22-12 at the half, and 28-15 at the end of the third frame.

Charles Smith, Covington center held Demoisey to eight points while chalking up 12 himself.

Covington's reserves defeated Walton's second team 32-19 in a preliminary game.

Games This Week

Walton at Burlington Friday.
Florence at Hebron Friday.
Warsaw at Florence, Saturday.
St. Henry Erlanger at New Haven, Friday night.

Buy Tobacco Canvas Early

Tobacco growers are urged to conserve their old tobacco canvas early, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The total supply of tobacco canvas is limited. Old canvas should be sterilized and both old and new canvas should be used so as to get the maximum amount of service. Growers who postpone buying their canvas may find it difficult to obtain.

REPAIR FARM MACHINERY

IS PLEA OF COUNTY AGENT—FARM MACHINERY IS ESSENTIAL PART OF OUR WAR PROGRAM.

Boone County farmers are urged to cooperate fully and immediately in the National Farm Machinery Repair program, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Machinery repaired and ready to use is the prime essential in most efficient food production and time and labor saving under the war emergency program.

Farm machinery is an essential part of our war program. No time should be lost in making all necessary repairs and where new parts are needed to order and use them immediately.

The County School system is rendering splendid cooperation in making a farm survey of machinery needs. While the great good that will come from this survey is action on the part of farmers, another very essential part of the survey is important. That part is the filling out of the machinery report form and returning it to the school. This report gives both a record of the progress being made and a list of surplus equipment that may be for sale or used equipment that farmers desire to purchase.

Cooperate! If you have not turned in your farm machinery report, do so now. Schools are urged to complete their surveys and turn in their reports at the earliest possible date.

Hebron School Sets Pace In Defense Bond-Stamp Sale

The first report from the Hebron school on the sale of Defense Bonds and Stamps was made public this week when it was announced that the school had sold a total of $1,016.90 in Bonds and Stamps since they began their drive a short time ago.

All twelve grades took part in the purchasing of Stamps and Bonds and the amounts according to grades are as follows: First, $29.40; second $38.80; third $62.25; fourth $3.90; fifth $6.35; sixth $1[illegible].20; seventh $157.25; eighth $[illegible].50; ninth $159.75; tenth $126.10; eleventh $239.85; twelfth $10.45.

The above record is worthy of recognition and shows that even though our purchases are but small, when added up all over these United States, they will buy a lot of planes and guns necessary to spell disaster for Hitler and his band of organized gangsters.

TROPHIES ARE PRESENTED

GRANT AND NEW HAVEN 4-H CLUBS FOR HAVING HIGHEST SCORE FOR YEAR IN CLUB WORK.

Grant and New Haven 4-H Clubs were presented the Banker's Trophy by Mr. A. B. Renaker, representing the Boone County Bankers' Association, at the leaders' conference Saturday. These trophies are awarded each year to the 4-H Club in graded and high schools having the highest score for the year's club work.

Mrs. F. F. Moore, Grant 4-H Club leader, received the trophy won by that club for two consecutive years. Since a club may keep the trophy if it has won it two out of three years, the Grant Club may now keep this trophy permanently.

Mary Katherine and Clinton Shield, presidents of the Home Economics and Agricultural groups, received the trophy for the New Haven Club.

HOUSE VOTE ON GUAM

On Feb. 23, 1939, before the war in Europe began, the House of Representatives voted 205 to 168 to strike out of the Naval Works bill the appropriation of $5,000,000 for improving Guam harbor.

This was the initial step in transforming the island into a fortified base. In 1940 when Admiral Morrell again asked for the money the House committee turned him down.

In view of these votes, the Navy did not ask for more money for the fortification of Guam but it is absurd for Congressmen to claim now that the Navy never asked for any appropriation to "fortify" Guam.

Since Dec. 7th the opinion of many Americans has changed as to the importance of fortifying Guam. This includes members of the House, many of whom would give much if they had not voted against the item.

FARMERS ARE PATRIOTIC

The armed forces of the United States will include the sons of farmers, laborers, professional men and other workers in the United States.

It is natural to expect that each class will gladly contribute to the national war effort and, at the same time, the safety of its sons.

We feel sure that the farmers of Boone County, like the other workers, will accept every necessary regulation that speeds the day of victory. If this means crop regulation [illegible] good. Whatever it means, our farmers will not lag behind the rest of the population in expressing true patriotism.

THERE'LL ALWAYS BE AN AMERICA.

We have been taught that in the beginning the population of the Earth consisted of one man, and that following a rib removal there was a woman added to the census. There have always been husbands and wives—and always will be, regardless of the apples.

Within the past 150 years great industries have been built up in the United States by American genius, science and invention. Differences of opinion in all groups that were carrying on were smoothed out through negotiations and other peaceable processes. For more than a century the industrial machine in the nation worked smoothly.

During late years there has been an unreasonable amount of conflict between employers and workers. Patient Presidents have been untiring in their efforts to smooth out threatening situations.

Sit-down strikes and riots escaped from Pandora's box only a few years ago. Within the past few weeks radicals in the C. I. O. have been warned that the war program cannot be held up—that the "closed shop" is not nearly as important as more war production.

Now, a fresh demand has been put up to the War Labor Board for a general increase in wgaes of $1 a day in some industries; and another demand for double-pay on Sunday. Leon Henderson, whom we have all taken a crack at as Price Administrator, butted-bravely in and denounced the attempt to break down established war wage agreements. He directed attention to the dangerous trend towards inflation, and helped to preserve the status quo.

The so-called Reuther plan that would result in representatives from union labor organizations sharing the responsibilities of employers and executives in large industries has been discussed in Government official circles, and it has been laid aside as just another crack pot proposal.

"Adolf, my boy, if you could see what I have been seeing around Detroit, you would get yourself a quarter's worth of clothesline and do it today," is the opening paragraph of an article by Westbrook Pegler, favorite-scalper among columnists. "Not only that, Adolf," Pegler continues, "but the Americans are building, in Detroit, alone new plants in your honor which will at least double the fabulous Detroit motor center which you and the rest of the world have heard so much about."

Ernest Lindley reports to his papers that "two days in the Detroit area renews one's confidence in the ability of the United States to outrace the World in arms production."

The country's ablest writers including Mark Sullivan, Richard L. Strout, Phelps Adams, John W. Love and Mark Foote and Blair Moody have described the industrial war being waged in Detroit. They have furnished a lot of convincing and comforting copy to assure us that there'll always be an America provided we all get our coats off, our sleeves rolled up and pitch in, like the man in the automobile industry.

A WAR REPORT FROM WASHINGTON
By J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C.—Early in February the British Parliament gave Prime Minister Winston Churchill a vote of confidence by an almost unanimous majority, and before the month was a little more than half out his leadership was again challenged. Under the British system the head of the Government may be thrown out on a day's notice from Parliament.

The President of the United States is chosen for four years, and the elections, and voters control that program in our Democracy. Since we have entered the war the position of the President has been strengthened day by day and week by week.

When you consider that Roosevelt and Churchill are avowed comrades" and working in entire agreement it is a little difficult to understand why England is aiming such bitter criticism at Churchill, while the United States follows and generally approves the leadership of President Roosevelt. If one is right, they must both be right. If one is wrong, they must both be wrong.

In the first World War the political leaders of the "Democracies" called themselves "Allies" and they all stuck together. It is a matter of history that they didn't come out very well in the end. General Pershing, the World's greatest military leader, withdrew American troops from Allied control, and marched his forces to battle and won the war.

When the politicians and diplomats went into conference at Versailles they made a peace treaty that failed to preserve peace. They cuttled the American President. There are millions of people in the United States living today who still believe that Woodrow Wilson was about the only man at the peace table who honestly supported Democracy.

Are we back where we left off in 1918-19? The Nations on the Western Hemisphere are "United Nations" but they were not united in the First World War. The "United Nations" headed by the United States and Britain are accepted as a genuine front for Democracy.

Churchill has to fight constantly to maintain his leadership. President Roosevelt is definitely accepted as America's political and military leader. The American people respectfully differ on most of his policies, and he is being criticized right now because of a lack of action by the Pacific part of our alleged "two-ocean-navy" and air force. The Philippines, Hawaii and other regions under the control of the United States have been undefended.

In answer to these demands for news and explanations the American people are told that the United States is in co-partnership with the "United Nations" around the world.

That is the basic situation which I have tried to summarize in this correspondence to The Recorder, without dragging in heated differences of opinion, pro and con, that are being aired on Capitol Hill. It is, at least, comforting to report that practically all of the 533 members of the two branches of Congress are confident that the United States will win our war in the Pacific. But none of them seem to know how—any more than you and I.

CONSIDER COMPULSORY ATHLETICS

It is interesting to learn that a system of compulsory athletics for all students is being considered by the Presidents of Harvard, Princeton and Yale universities.

The information comes from the Harvard Crimson, a student publication, which says that details of the program will be released soon.

We are certainly delighted that some of the larger universities are taking the lead in this matter. In time, it might not be too much to expect that the "me-too" boys and girls in the educational set-up of the nation will follow suit.

The editor of The Recorder has been impressed by the practical failure of local schools, colleges and universities to give sufficient attention to the physical development of students. Despite the emphasis on "athletics" and a few other minor sports, the budget of the average educational institution provides practically nothing for the physical well-being of most of the growing boys and girls in attendance.

That this absurd condition is permitted to continue in a nation as enlightened as the United States is sufficient indication of the lack of interest in school activities by adults. Grown-ups are guilty of more than lack of interest; they display a childish enthusiasm over a winning team but seem unable to gear their mental faculties to any appreciation of a non-spectacular, but result-producing system of physical education, which should include proper recreational activities.

We have no hesitation in saying, so far as our own opinion is concerned, that any individual, occupying a position of authority in connection with any educational institution, is hopelessly out-of-date if he or she, fails to appreciate the vital contribution that the schools and colleges of the nation can make and should make, to the happiness and prosperity of our people through adopting physical fitness as one of the ends of education.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for March 1

THE PARABLES BY THE SEA

LESSON TEXT—Mark 4:26-32; Matthew 13:44-50.
GOLDEN TEXT—Never man spake like this man.—John 7:46.

Parables as a means of conveying truth reached perfection in the hands of the Master Teacher, Jesus. Taking short stories of well-known events or facts from daily life, He presented profound truth in the most simple and attractive form.

Except for the parable of the four kinds of seed which He interpreted (Matt. 13:18-23), He left it to His listeners to make their own application. This has led to some difference of opinion, but in general the parables are received as excellent and helpful portions of God's Word.

In the two passages of Scripture assigned for our lesson, we have five parables, each with a distinctive message, yet together pointing out that there is a time of growth leading to harvest and judgment, and that our gracious God has at great cost provided a way of redemption.

I. Normal Growth Is Blessed (Mark 4:26-29).

God is patient. He awaits the normal, healthy, steady growth of the seed. Man is so impatient he must have forced growth, artificial stimulation, and even artificial ripening of the fruit.

The same attitude enters into his care of his children. They must get ahead in school beyond their years. They must get out and make a living long years before they have learned to make a life. Why not let them mature in the orderly, God-given way?

The same is true in the work of the church. There must be immediate "tangible" results or he will not give his support. Anyone with judgment knows that spiritual life takes time to develop, and that spiritual results cannot be judged by physical or tangible standards.

Seedtime, growing time, normal ripening, then harvest — that is God's order and it is a good one.

II. Abnormal Growth Is Dangerous (Mark 4:30-32).

Normally the mustard tree is a small plant, and when it grew into a great tree something abnormal had taken place. Birds (which always denote something unclean in Scripture) came to lodge in its branches.

Just so, Christianity was never intended to be made up of a nominally Christian world empire in which ungodly men (the dark birds of the evil one, Matt. 13:19) should find comfortable lodgment. Unfortunately, that is just what happened to Christianity in the so-called conquest of the Roman empire at the time of Constantine. The results were disastrous. The same principle is evident today in the control of much of the church by worldly men.

III. Redemption Is Costly (Matt. 13:44-46).

While it is true that our redemption is worth more than anything else in all the world and that the Christian would gladly set aside (or would he?) everything for Christ's sake, yet that does not fulfill the thought of this parable. After all, what has a sinner (whose own righteousness is described in Scripture as "filthy rags") to sell in order to obtain redemption? And is it for sale? (See Eph. 2:8.)

Obviously we here have the Saviour with His all-seeing eye and loving heart noting in fallen humanity the pearl of great price, His own Church. He then gives up all the glory He had with the Father, comes to the earth, and even becomes sin for us that He may bring us to God.

Salvation in Christ is no little thing, not something which was purchased with gold or silver, but with the precious blood of Christ. We ought to value it highly, and because we are bought with a price we ought always to glorify God (I Cor. 6:28).

IV. Judgment Is Certain (Matt. 13:47-50).

All kinds of fish were in the net, and until the cord was drawn and the net emptied they looked much alike and enjoyed much the same standing as "citizens" of the sea. But when they faced the fisherman there was a quick division, and a final judgment upon the bad ones.

It is true that in God's kingdom (as it is now manifested in "mystery" in the Church) there are many who have come in by false profession, through carelessness of pastors or church officials, etc. They go through the motions, they look and act much like Christians (although even here they create questions in the minds of true followers of Christ). The day is coming, however, when they shall stand in judgment before the Christ whom they profess to love and follow. How terrible shall be their doom!

They need not wait in fear for that day. They may now, today, make right their relationship with God.

Most fortunes are monuments to the selfishness and rapacity of man or to the stinginess of the offspring.

Health hint: If you believe your doctor, do what he advises; if you don't believe him, do it anyway.

Why Be Old At 40?

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Do you have severe pains in the muscles of your legs?

Do you walk with toes pointed out?

Are you bedeviled by a thousand demons tearing at your back?

Do you hate to get up in the morning?

Do you experience foot pain when walking?

Can you be on your feet all day without fatigue?

Any or all of these conditions may indicate that one or more of the four arches of your feet are on the verge of collapse. There is really no end to the trouble that such a condition could cause. Around the bones and muscles of your feet are numerous nerves, all of which are directly connected with the nerve center. Severe pains in your feet are transmitted to every part of your body.

What can you do about it?

For years men and women have withstood the aches and misery due to some foot condition and have always decided "There is nothing you can do about it."

Now Comes a Sure Way to Relief for many aches and pains due to faulty foot condition. You will be eager to rise each morning and meet the conditions of the new day. You will have the springy active step of a youngtser of eighteen. You will not be old at forty! There is no secret to it. You don't have to take a long rest, nor a change of climate. You need only to be correctly fitted in a pair of surgical shoes. You may think this is a simple way to end all of pain and misery, you have been suffering for a good many years, but after all don't the simplest things in life bring the greatest joy?

Resolve today that you will pronounce the death sentence on the misery, aches and pains due to foot trouble.—Adv.

Gayety Theater News

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Rosalind Russell, who has run a wide gamut in her screen characterizations, now emerges as a lady judge in M-G-M's "Design for Scandal," which will be shown at the Gayety. It is a role which proves once and for all that as a comedienne Miss Russell comes close to leading the Hollywood field.

Teamed with Walter Pidgeon, in the role of a magazine photographer who attempts to involve Rosalind in a scandal, the actress once again demonstrates her flair for comedy timing and the ability to give a fresh accent to almost any situation.

She has an able foil in Pidgeon. As the man who makes himself agreeable to the lady judge only with the hope of unseating her from the bench, he makes his "Jeff Sherman" not only likeable but completely believable.

SATURDAY

With characteristic level-headedness, "Scattergood Baines" converts a near calamity into a profitable venture when he encounters Manhattan in his latest adventure, "Scattergood Meets Broadway." Third of the popular series based on the Clarence Budington Kelland stories, this picture stars the versatile veteran, Guy Kibbee, in the same role.

* * *

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Five men went for her in a big way . . . yet they all had reasons for wanting her out of the way. That is the background of the year's most eristing mystery drama 20th Centur-Fox's "I Wake Up Screaming" which is slated for Sunday and Monday at the Gayety.

Hollywood's three most thrilling personalities, Betty Grable, Victor Mature and Carole Landis, have the leading roles in this story of the girl who was taken out of the hash house and made the darling of cafe society.

* * *

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Swift and low-down. The soft wail of a muted trumpet. The dull pulsating rhythms of a bass drum. Music of the people. The streets. Of slamming doors and roaring trains. That's the sort of music you hear in "Blues In The Night," the new Warner Bros.' film, which will start its local run at the Gayety for Tuesday and Wednesday. It is a down to earth story of a barn-storming jazz band whose musicians have their own idea of what "swing music" means.

In the starring roles are newcomer Richard Whorf, lovely Priscilla Lane and Betty Field. Besides such fine performers in the lead, the rest of the cast consists of one of the season's finest group of supporting players—Lloyd Nolan, Jack Carson, Elia Kazan, Wally Ford and many others.

Several from here attended the Producers' Cooperative Commission 17th Annual Meeting at the Netherland Plaza Hotel, Thursday.

UNION W. M. U. NOTES

The Woman's Missionary Union of the Union Baptist Church held their regular monthly meeting at the church Wednesday, Feb. 11. The meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock by our president, Mrs. Kirtley McWethy with the singing of our hymn for the year, "The Light of The World is Jesus" and repeating our Watchword in unison. The marking of our standard and roll call was given by our secretary, Mrs. Winston Mason, with twelve members present.

Plans were made at this time to observe our Day of Prayer for Home Missions on Wednesday, March 4th at 11 o'clock D. S. T. It was also voted upon and passed, that all future W. M. U. meetings will begin at 1 p. m. D. S. T. with lunch omitted.

A discussion was given by Mrs. McWethy upon "Enlistment" and the important part it has in our society, being able to maintain its standing as an A-1 Union. We were then dismissed for lunch with a beautiful prayer by Mrs. Myrtle Marshall.

Mrs. Sally Huey was in charge Brethren" which opened our afternoon program. In the absence of our program chairman, Mrs. William Greenup, Mrs. Irvin Rouse was in charge and gave an interesting talk on our topic for this month, "Think On These Things; Whatsoever things are Honest."

Parts were given out and enlightening discussions were given by the following members: "Honest With God" by Mrs. McWethy; song, "Trust, Try and Prove Me"; "DeDenominational Honest" by Mrs. Mason; prayer of Thanksgiving, by Miss Lucy Newman; "Paying Honest Debts" was read and discussed by Mrs. Raymond Newman; "These Are Honest" by Mrs. J. T. Bristow; song "I Gave My Life For Thee"; "Training Our Youth In Honest" by Mrs. Emerson Smith; dismissal prayer by Mrs. Viola Friend, which brought this very interesting meeting to a close at 3:00.

Our next meeting will be held at the church on Wednesday, March 11, and we ask all members to be present, and to remember the change in time.

Mrs. W. S. Friend, Reporter.

Over Two Ton Litter

A sow weighing 705 pounds and her litter of 11 pigs, eight months old, weighing a record of 4350 pounds were sold at the Cincinnati Stock Yards, Friday, January 6th by Estey Kimmel, Eldorado, Ohio, through the Norris Brock Company.

It was the heaviest litter sold at the yards in nearly 25 years, it was said. The J. & F. Schroth Packing Company made the purchase.

GRADUATING STUDENTS SHOULD SECURE SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT CARDS

Students who are being graduated this month and who have jobs in commerce or industry will need social security account numbers when they begin work. The fact that a student has not yet reached age 21 makes no difference under the Social Security Act, as his wages in jobs of this character are subject to the tax for old-age and survivors insurance. Students may obtain their account cards from the Covington, Ky., field office of the Social Security Board. The office is in the Post Office building, Frank B. Decker Jr., being manager.

RABBIT HASH HOMEMAKERS

The Rabbit Hash Homemakers' Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Cream Station on the second Tuesday, with Mrs. Opal Kelly as hostess. There were 6 members and one visitor present.

The roll call was answered with "Some important person born in February and what he did."

Mrs. Ida Mae Ryle gave a very interesting lesson on "Style Trends."

We were sorry Mrs. Moore could not be with us.

After our business meeting patriotic songs were sung.

Next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in March at the Cream Station with Mrs. Ida Mae Ryle as hostess. Visitors are always welcome.

Red Cross Thanks Roll Call Workers

Last week a card of thanks reading, "The American National Red Cross and the Boone County Chapter express their appreciation of the valued services rendered by _____ in support of the 25th Annual Roll Call." These thank you notes were signed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, President; Norman H. Davis, Chairman Central Committee; and J. Russell Cross, Boone County Chapter Chairman.

They were sent to the following Boone Countians who helped to make the Roll Call in November a big success: Mrs. James G. Smith, Mrs. C. D. Bennett, Miss Estelle Huey, Miss Betty Cason, Elva G. Akin, Mrs. J. Kirtley Cropper, Mrs. Zora Cason, Mrs. J. C. Aylor, Miss Lucy Lee Grant, Mrs. Charles W. Riley, Mrs. Albert Willis, Mrs. George Kottmyer, Mrs. C. L. Cropper, Miss Jane Bristow, Mrs. A. Huey, Mrs. Irene Bush, Mrs. Mabel Webster, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Grace Rice, Mrs. Ora Stone, Mrs. J. C. Bedinger, and Rev. Sam Branham.

WALTON HOMEMAKERS

Mrs. D. L. Lusby was hostess to the Walton Homemakers Club on Friday, Feb. 13th. The meeting was called to order by the president.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Fifteen members answered the roll call, after which the president presented for discussion the project of combining our club with the Red Cross, and gave a report on the meeting held in Burlington for officers.

Mrs. Ganell Flynn gave a quiz on food having the right vitamins. We were then invited to the dining room to a most nutritious lunch prepared by Mrs. Louise Rouse, Mrs. Hope Vest, Mrs. Hollie Sturgeon, Mrs. Jane Carpenter.

After lunch we assembled again for business. Mrs. Lusby gave a report from the Burlington meeting. Mrs. Moore our leader gave an outline of the important talk made at the annual meeting of the Farm and Home Convention held in Lexington. Mrs. Edna Vest also gave a report from the same meeting and emphasized the wonderful talk Mr. Cooper gave to the farmers. Both reports were very interesting.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edna Vest.

Record Roll Call Made By Boone County

The Boone County Chapter of the American Red Cross made its final report on the 1942 Roll Call, according to J. Russell Cross, Chapter Chairman, and C. L. Cropper, Chapter Treasurer, last week.

One thousand one hundred forty-seven Boone Countians became members of the Red Cross on the $1.00 membership basis, 25 in the $5.00 group, 2 in the $10.00 group. $45.48 was received in contributions of less than one dallor. This made a total of 1219 members in the local chapter for the present year.

Precincts ranked as follows in the Roll Call: Florence, 165 members; Walton, 158; Union 158; Burlington, 147; Hebron 107; Belleview 93; Constance 90; Petersburg 86; Richwood 68; Verona 68; Bullittsville 42; Beaver 23; Big Bone 12; and Taylorsport 4.

A KENTUCKY MAN SWOLLEN LIKE A BALLOON WITH GAS

Recently, a Kentucky man stated that he used to feel like a swollen balloon after every meal. He would bloat full of gas and spit up acidous liquids for hours after eating. Had headaches daily. Was terribly constipated. This man is one of the hundreds in this city who now praises Systone. He states he was amazed at the results when he took this new, scientific formula which contains juices from 12 of Nature's Finest Medicinal Plants. Now he eats what he wants without gas or bloating; has no more headache and bowels are regular. He feels like a new man.

HOW IT ACTS

Systone is taken shortly before meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach trouble and permitting the liver and bowels to function properly. It will bring out awful gases and impurities which cause pain, bloat and swelling; gives the bowels a great cleansing and brings out the foul, acidous impurities that causes headaches, skin eruptions, foul breath, coated tongue, thick, bad taste and worn out feeling. Benefits come so quickly that many weak, miserable people often feel like different men and women OVER NIGHT.

Another thing, it costs only a few cents a day to take this amazing liquid compound, with its 12 natural ingredients. So don't go on suffering. Get Systone—TODAY—at Owen's Drug Store, Pike and Washington, Covington.

Five Run-Away Youths Are Returned To Cincinnati Home

Five youths on bicycles were detained at the Pointer and Setter Inn, on U. S. 42 Monday night until Cincinnati authorities were notified and the boys returned to the General Provident Institution, Cincinnati, according to deputy sheriff Irvin Rouse, was the local officer in charge.

Sheriff Rouse stated he was called to the Pointer and Setter Inn when the five boys applied for a cabin for the night. After questioning the boys they gave their ages from 12 to 14 years and said that they were going to Evansville, Ind., on a fishing trip. They finally admitted running away from the Boys' Home in Cincinnati, and were returned to that place by officials of the Home.

Sam Stacey, age 37 years, was arrested at Beaver Sunday afternoon on charges of robbery of George Griffith, Limaburg, for whom he worked a short time ago.

Stacey was brought to Burlington jail by deputy sheriff Rouse. No date has been set for a hearing.

Missionaries To Speak At Belleview Church

Rev. and Mrs. Harold McClure, who are graduates of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill., are to speak at the Belleview Baptist Church, Grant, on Sunday, March 1st.

They are now home on furlough, having arrived in the U. S. shortly before war was declared. They have been serving in French Equatorial Africa under the Baptist Mid-Mission Board which has 152 missionaries on various fields.

At the present writing we also expect Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Larsen of Barbourville, Ky., to be with us for the evening service and to tell of their work in the Kentucky mountains.

We know all these missionaries will have worthwhile messages and experiences to relate and the public is cordially invited to attend all these services.

The time of the morning service is 11:30 C. W. T. and the evening service will be at 7:30 C. W. T.

Civilian Defense News

Our County Civil Defense Councils have all been organized. There are five councils covering the five County school districts, and at the head of each district council is a Coordinator and Chairman. These two officials from each of the five Councils make up the Executive County Committee headed by the County Coordinator.

These committees are ready to organize the wardens for training, which will begin immediately. These sub-committees consist of fire wardens, air raid wardens, auxiliary police, first aid and nursing, rationing and entertainment.

All our executive committees are citizens from all over the county. They have been selected as far as possible, having to represent every town, village and farming community. These people are interested in protecting the lives and property of every citizen of the county. They have gone out of their way to attend meetings called by the Coordinator to perfect these councils. They are working hard and are going to work harder to see that all volunteers are given a part in Defense and trained for that part.

In some district where we have held registration days for your convenience, we find the number of registrants are not enough for these communities. This is disappointing to your local councils. We all are wondering what has caused all these people not to register. It can't be you are so busy you couldn't find time to register. We don't like to think you don't care what happens to your county or community. We do believe every man and women in the county is patriotic enough to register so that you may help in time of emergency. We are sure also that you know there is a war going on between the United States and the most ruthless nations in the world. We are sure you are interested in your county and want to back up the boys in the service.

We will still register you. All you need do is get in touch with your local council and they will see that you have your application blanks.

We figured 75 percent of the people over the age of 16 years would register in Boone County. We leave it up to you.

H. D. MAYHUGH,
Coordinator.

Thirty-Five Officers Attend Meeting Sat.

Thirty-five officers, representing nine community 4-H clubs in Boone County, attended the officers' training school held in the County Agent's office, Burlington, Saturday.

J. F. Moore, leader of the Grant 4-H Club, in speaking to the group on "Responsibilities of 4-H Officers" urged that each officer faithfully perform his or her duty, since the best organizations were brought about by cooperative efforts of every officer and member. Mr. Moore also gave valuable suggestions as to what each officer should do to accomplish this purpose.

Mr. E. E. Fish, Field Agent in Club Work, from Lexington spoke on "Outstanding 4-H Club members." He pointed out that ribbons and prizes alone did not make an outstanding Four-H Club member that the work of a boy, for example, should be measured more in terms of Agricultural improvement than in terms of ribbons and prizes.

Discussion of parlimentary procedure was lead by Mary S. Moore, Acting Home Demonstration Agent.

A Week Of The War

Secretary of War Stimson told his press conference this nation is confronted with a situation in which we cannot "buy our way out or produce our way out," and the only way left is to "fight our way out by intelligent offensive action." Every effort is being made to build powerful armed forces, he said, and when conditions warrant, they will "seize every opportunity" to strike at the enemy. In the meantime, the U. S. must be prepared to take sporadic attacks along its coasts, Mr. Stimson said, because "if we scatter our forces for the defensive, it is the surest way to defeat."

President Roosevelt told his press conference that under certain conditions enemy planes could bomb cities as far inland as Detroit, or enemy ships could shell New York City. Congress completed action on the $100,000,000 appropriation for the Office of Civilian Defense, to provide fire-fighting equipment, gas masks, protective clothing and emergency medical supplies.

Assistant Secretary of State Berle, speaking in Des Moines, Iowa, said the U. S. is determined to fight an aggressive war, rather than a defensive one, and "the fruits of victory will be available to every free people throughout the world." Mr. Berle said "We can no longer think of ourselves as a supply base . . . Our work is more than that of making guns and planes and tanks. Winning the war is now America's job." He said all signs point to big offensives this spring against the United States.

Foreign Relations

President Roosevelt announced a new loan to Russia is planned because the original Lend-Lease authorization of a billion dollars has been obligated for future deliveries. Commitments for making American war materials available to Russia were maintained up to schedule until December 7. Delivery of supplies for the Soviet Union slowed down in December and January, he said, but will be brought back up to schedule by March 1. Under Secretary of State Welles said answers from the Vichy Government to this country in regard to French aid to Axis forces in North Africa were considered unsatisfactory. Mr. Welles said the French Ambassador had reported, however, no commitments have been made by the French to Japan in regard to Madagascar.

Production and Conversion

The War Production Board announced war production of the "big three" automobile companies—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford—will be running at a rate of almost $11 billion when they reach peak production on present orders. The companies will need 900,000 to 1,000,000 workers as compared with a peacetime peak of 550,000. The Board said far expenditures authorized by Congress, including pending bills and Lend-Lease, totaled $145 billion on February 15.

Chairman Nelson issued a set of regulations regarding the employment of dollar-a-year men by the Government. The Army Ordnance Department ordered ordnance chiefs in the 13 districts of the U. S. to provide engineering assistance to small manufacturers whose plants could be converted to arms production.

Army

The House passed and sent to the senate the new $32 billion War Appropriation Bill which provides $23 billion for the Army and more than $5 billion for Lend-Lease. The Senate passed a bill to authorize payment of allotments for one year to dependents of military personnel captured or listed as missing. Voluntary enlistments in January totaled 90,000—double the highest World War I figures. The Army announced formation of the first Filipino Infantry Batallion at Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., to provide loyal Filipinos a means of serving in the U. S. armed forces and the eventual opportunity of fighting in their homeland. The War Department reported American pilots in the Chinese Air Forces "are giving Japanese airmen their worst licking of the war . . . knocking down more than 10 Jap planes for every loss" of their own. The Army Signal Corps is seeking civilian engineers to fill radio and telephone positions in Civil Service jobs paying $2,600 to $3,800 annually.

Selective Service Headquarters announced new Army physical standards for inductees will permit reclassification as Class 1-A of thousands of men now deferred due to teeth and eye defects. SS Director Hershey instructed local draft boards to defer labor leaders and Government labor liaison men to permit continuance of their work in aiding war production and to defer men engaged in maintenance of essential agricultural activities. Men registered February 16 will be called for induction only after local boards have exhausted their existing lists, he said. A lottery in March will determine the order of classification and induction. Questionnaires on vocational experience will be sent to every registrant who has not yet been called for service.

The War Front

Gen. MacArthur reported continuous fighting on the Bataan Peninsula and battery attacks on the fortifications throughout the week. The Navy announced the destroyer Shaw, previously reported lost at Pearl Harbor December 7, arrived at a U. S. West coast port, is being repaired and within a few weeks will be in service again on the high seas. A U. S. tanker was torpedoed in the Atlantic area, while U. S. forces inflicted enemy losses which included: 10 planes, one large and one small enemy transport and one 5,000-ton cargo ship sunk, and two enemy barges destroyed.

Navy

Navy Secretary Knox said the Navy, operating over three-fourths of the globe under the heaviest burden in its history, must now protect U. S. shores and coastal commerce, strategic areas vital to our defense, the American Republics and the flow of supplies to Great Britain. It must check Japanese aggression until "we can muster our forces and send it hurtling back whence it came." The Navy announced launching of a battleship, four destroyers and a submarine chaser. The Navy said 1,000 Naval and Marine Corps officers and enlisted men and 1,200 civilians in the Pacific war area presumably were taken prisoners of war by the Japanese after December 7. The Portland, Oregon, recruiting office topped all others in January with 114 enlistments for each 100,000 persons in its area. The nation's schools started work on a program to make 500,000 accurate scale models of United Nations and enemy warplanes for U. S. naval, military and civilian defense forces.

The Chief of Naval Operations ordered representatives of local Naval District Commandants to arrange with ship owners to do preliminary work when ships are in port loading or unloading to speed arming of American merchant vessels. The House passed and sent to the Senate the War Appropriation Bill providing nearly $4 billion to expand the merchant fleet. The Senate passed a bill authorizing an additional $100,000-000 appropriation for expanded Navy manufacturing and production facilities.

Rationing

Price Administrator Henderson announced three consumer forms for sugar rationing are expected to be printed and distributed by March 7. He said there will be two registrations for rationing cards, one for housewives and another for small commercial users. Petroleum Coordinator Ickes said nation-wide rationing of petroleum products may be necessary if other methods fail to prevent shortages on other coasts. He announced regulations governing sales of fuel oil to all East coast consumers to keep stocks at a reasonable minimum and to prevent hoarding. The Justice Department said it is prepared to prosecute all violators of wartime industrial regulations including priorities, allocations, rationing and price control.

Protection From Sabotage

President Roosevelt authorized the Secretary of War to move out of vital defense areas any persons believed inimical to the U. S. war effort—citizens and aliens alike. Attorney General Biddle said the FBI has apprehended almost 4,000 alien enemies since the outbreak of the war. Approximately one-third of these are Japanese from California, Oregon and Washington.

Priorities And Allocations

The WPB froze all stocks of new mechanical refrigerators except those in the hands of retailers, in preparation for conversion of this $280,000,000 industry and its 36,000 workers to war production. All refrigerator production will end April 30, the Board said. It also assumed full control of the entire 1942 raw cane sugar supply, curtailed use of critical materials in manufacture of all musical instruments, and restricted use of natural gas.

ELIGIBLE FARMERS WILL BE FINANCED BY CROP AND FEED LOAN OFFICE

According to W. H. Pieratt, Field Supervisor for the St. Louis Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office, all farmers are being urged to cooperate with the farm defense program sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture by planting and cultivating crops, both for sale and for home use. The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office of St. Louis, in cooperation with this program, is prepared to finance all eligible farmers. Applicants will, of course, be required to plant home gardens to produce sufficient feed for their workstock and subsistence animals, and to comply with the soil conservation program.

These loans are made primarily to small farmers—owners or tenants—who have land and the necessary implements and workstock or power with which to operate, and who are unable to secure assistance on reasonable terms from any private source or from a Production Credit Association.

The crop loans will be made in amounts commensurate with an applicant's actual cash needs in producing his 1942 crop, plus the necessary expenses incident to complying with the defense program. These loans are secured by a first mortgage on the crops to be financed.

Feed loans to finance the purchase and production of feed are made to farmers who are maintaining livestock to be fed for the market, as breeding animals with increase to be marketed, or for production of dairy products, wool, etc. These loans are secured by a first mortgage on the stock to be fed.

The emergency crop and feed loans are available to all farmers who can establish their eligibility according to the rules and regulations, and to those farmers who have received prior loans and whose record of repayment indicates a conscientious effort to discharge their obligations. Both types of loans made bear interest at the rate of four percent per annum. Funds are immediately available in Boone County, and farmers wishing to take advantage of the loans should apply at the County Agent's office.

THANKS

The Young Democratic Club of Boone County wish to express their sincere thanks to the many friends and patrons who made the dance, given for the benefit of the Red Cross, Thursday, Feb. 19, such a success. Especially do we wish to thank Jack Holt for the use of his club rooms and his orchestra for their music.

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS

The Hebron Homemakers' meeting was held at Mrs. Norma Aylor's on Feb. 11. The "collect" was read in unison and everyone joined in singing "America."

The minutes of the last meeting and the Treasurer's report were read and approved. It was voted by the members that each one take her turn making a small article to be raffled off at the meetings for one eent a chance.

The group decided that we meet at the Junior Order Hall next month. The hostesses will be the members whose homes are too small to entertain the club.

Mrs. Hilda Hogan, our delegate to Farm and Home Week, gave a very interesting review of the meeting.

The meeting adjourned for a very palatable lunch prepared by the hostesses Norma Aylor, Alberta Dickey, Lorena Clore, Mrs. A. D. Hunter. The lunch consisted of hominy with eggs a la Golden Rod, wedges of lettuce served with chopped beets and mayonnaise, white and whole wheat bread, and peppermint sticks for dessert.

Mrs. Katherine Peel reported on the County Officers' meeting held at Burlington, Feb. 3. Several of the chairmen have agreed to write articles to be published in the county papers..

Mrs. Stella Nichols, the Foods leader, suggested that the lunch for next month's meeting be a variety of sandwiches, lettuce, pineapple and cottage cheese, egg salad, liver and onion, fresh fruits and a drink.

Mrs. Ruth Tanner, home furnishing leader, gave an excellent report on the meeting she attended several days ago at Burlington, bringing out several ideas:

1. Have gardens
2. Instill the right ideas in small children.
3. Wholesome recreation.
4. Medical, dental, mental care.
5. Save time and energy.
6. Cooperation.
7. Conserve electricity.

We were very happy to have Miss Lowry, the Red Cross Nurse with us. She explained the difference between Home Hygiene and First Aid. It was decided that all who are interested in taking the Home Hygiene class meet at Libby Youell's Tuesday evening at 7:30 Eastern War Time.

Mrs. Moore couldn't be with us for the day, but she was present for a few minutes in the afternoon.

Sixteen members answered Roll Call. Mrs. Wardlow was our other visitor for the day, we hope she will join the club soon.

The meeting adjourned after spending a very pleasant day.

Katherine Peel, Sec'y.

FLORENCE HOMEMAKERS

The Florence Homemakers' Club met at the Town Hall on Friday, Feb. 20, and even with the cold weather we had an attendance of 21 adults and two children.

The meeting opened with the Salute to the Flag and reading the collect, led by Mrs. Gertie Fossett. After roll call and the business meeting the president, Mrs. Laverna Willeford, who was our delegate to Farm and Home Week at Lexington, gave a most comprehensive and interesting report of that convention.

The lunch consisted of meat loaf, broccoli, hominy with creole sauce, beet and gelatine salad, bread and butter, prune chiffon pie and coffee or tea, and by selling what was left the lunch cost 23 cents each.

After dinner the lesson on "Defense Begins at Home" was given by Mrs. Ann Conner and Mrs. Pauline Grayson and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Two new members Mrs. Beall and Mrs Dill were welcomed into the club. Mrs. Moore, our acting H. D. A. did not get to our meeting until the afternoon, but we are glad to have even a little of her time, if she cannot spare us more.

We are planning a St. Patrick's Day party and jitney supper at the Methodist Church on Monday night, March 16th.

Mabel G. Sayre, Reporter.

CONSTANCE HOMEMAKERS

The Constance Homemakers will hold their regular meeting on March 4th, beginning at 10:30 at the home of Mrs. John Hempfling. It is hoped that all members will be present.

PETERSBURG 4-H CLUB

The meeting was called to order by the president, Thelma Lyons. Dorothy Nixon read the minutes and called the roll. The following talks were given: "Breeds of Poultry Most in Favor," by Sammy Huey; "Housing Needs for the 4-H Beginner" by Walter Kirkpatrick; "What Are Clean Chicks?" by Lewis Surface; "Feed Chicks Well" by Dorothy Nixon; "Uncle Sam Wants Poultry" by Frances Bonta. Mrs. Moore, Mr. Toadvine and Mr Frazier all made very good talks

We discussed having a community garden. The boys would rais the food and the girls can it. Th meeting was adjourned. We ha a yell.

We reached the membership honor roll.

Garnett Surface, Reporter.

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

The Burlington Homemakers will meet at the courthouse on March 5th for their regular meeting.

The hostess plan of luncheon has been dispensed with for the present. Instead the lunch will be a "covered dish" affair.

The Home Defense program is a vital one and should be of interest to all women. Delicious dinners, nutritious yet inexpensive, content children and happy homes, lend make a bulwark of strength to fighting people. Join up with is line of defense. Remember e meeting date March 5th.

LIBRARY NEWS

The people of Boone County are enjoying the privileges of the library. Many of the new books and most all of the books suggested by the "Books of the Month Club" are available.

The local library now boasts of 110 books. There are books covering many subjects: Music, Biography, Family Relations, Foods and Cooking, Home Management, Gardening, Travel, Historical, Recreation and Hobbies, Clothing, The Mystery Stories and Fiction included in the collection. If one cannot find the particular book which she would like to have—it can be obtained from the State Library thru the local library chairman. The State Library loans the books to the local library for a period of two months without any charge.

A few of the many good fiction books are: "The Rains Came," by Louis Bromfield; "Wuthering Heights," E. Bronte; "Rebecca," by Daphne de Maurier; "With Malice Toward Some" by Margaret Halsey; "Mrs. Miniver," by Jan Struther, and "Sapphira and The Stone Girl," by Willa Cather.

The books are in the office of the Home Demonstration Agent in the court house, and are available to all the women of Burlington at any time. All that is necessary is for one to select the book wanted, have the date when due stamped in it(which is a month hence from the day taken out) and the book is hers to enjoy for that period.

SPECIAL TRAINING NOW BEING OFFERED AT U. C. CLASSES

With demands of the front line drawing more and more young men into the armed service, the University of Cincinnati Evening College has re-organized many of its second semester courses to assist older men and women to obtain needed training to take over the vacancies in industry.

Dean Norman P. Auburn has sent invitations to residents of Boone to visit the Evening College offices for cosultation on study programs. Members of the faculty, he said ,are making special plans to be at the evening offices each night throughout the month. Individual conferences will be held and no appointments are necessary.

Due to the demands of the unlimited national emergency, the college is opening 143 new courses in all fields of commerce, engineering, applied arts and liberal arts. Registration will be held each evening the week of January 26, while first class sessions are scheduled the first week in February.

The Evening College policy of refunding tuition to all who are drafted or who enlist will be continued during the second term, Dean Auburn said.

In a year or two, if the war brings us enough suffering, people will talk of the common good and mean it.

Boone County will do its part in the defense of the nation and the valor of our sons will not be surpassed.

The silly pacifists in this country unwittingly played Japan's game until the Mikado was ready to fight.

Walton Youth Joins Marines

Ernest Roscoe Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Price, Walton, Ky., volunteered his services to the U. S. Marines. He left January 13th for San Diego, Calif, where he is now stationed.

Mr. Price was a graduate of the '41 class at Florence high school, Florence, Ky. After graduation in May, he secured a position in Covington, where he worked until leaving for California.

Friends wishing to correspond with him will address mail to: Ernest R. Price P. L. 100 R. D.—M. C. B. San Diego, California.

Word was received a week or so ago that he had been appointed Squad Leader.

STEPHENSON MILL ROAD

Willie Hanks was home on a 10-day furlough with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Pennington and family entertained for dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Ferguson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Pennington and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Amos Pennington and daughter, all of Dayton, O., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pennington and son of Alexandria and Lewis Trapp and Ellis Baker of the Green Road. MARCH TIRE ALLOTMENT SET

THIRTY-EIGHT TIRES AND TWELVE RETREADS IS TOTAL FOR ENTIRE MONTH—FIRST NEW CAR ALLOTED.

The Boone County Tire Rationing Board announced Monday that the March allotment of tires and tubes consist of 10 passenger tires, 8 tubes, 28 truck tires, 12 retreads and 32 tubes for retreads and trucks.

The first new automobile to be allowed in Boone County was issued Monday to Earl Aylor, Hebron. So far, this is the first car to be purchased in Boone since all new automobiles were frozen sometime ago and are now under the supervision of the rationing boards.

Those to receive tires in the last two weeks were as follows: Boone County Roads, 4 grader tires and tubes; town of Walton, 2 tires and tubes; Dr. S. B. Nunnelley, one tire and tube; H. J. May, 2 tires and tubes; Roscoe Akin, 1 tire and Elijah Stephens, one tire.

Truck Tires

Kenneth Aylor, 2 tires and tubes; Walton-Verona Schools, two tires and tubes; Lowell Tanner, two tires; Boone County Schools, 4 truck tires and tubes; Walton & Readnour, 2 tires and Ryle Bros. 1 tire.

Retreads

Robert Eades, 4 tires and tubes, Lou Williamson, 2 tires and Benj. Scroggin, 2 tires.

In addition to the above list, there were twenty-four obsolete tires and 18 tubes prorated in the past two weeks.

Fat Pig Contest Announced For Local Four-H Club Members

A number of Boone County 4-H Club members are making plans to participate in a fat pig contest this year, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

All members will start their projects at approximately the same time by securing a barrow weighing from 40 to 60 pounds. Weights of the pig will be taken at the beginning of the project, again after a three-month feeding period, and when the pigs are brought to the county 4-H and Utopia Club Fair in August. Members whose pigs make the largest average daily gain during the feeding period will be awarded prizes.

The purpose of this project will be to encourage better and more profitable methods of feeding swine.

BENSON TO FILL WARTIME POST

AS REGULATOR FOR EXPLOSIVES IN BOONE COUNTY—VIOLATORS SUBJECT TO $5,000 FINE AND IMPRISONMENT.

C. D. Benson, County Court Clerk, Burlington, was named to the post of Explosives Licensing Agent for Boone County in accordance with the Federal Explosives Act of December 26, 1941, which is to be in force for the duration of the war.

All persons over the age of 21 years, who desire to purchase explosives, either for use or for resale, and anyone who has explosives in their possession at any time, are required to register same and secure a license as authorized by law. These regulations are for the control of explosives and their ingredients in time of war and national emergency.

Persons violating the above regulation is guilty of a misdemeanor which is punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000.00 and imprisonment for not more than one year.

Articles most likely to be affected in Boone County will include blasting powder, blasting caps, dynamite, flashlight powder, fuse of all varieties and fireworks. Small arms or shotgun cartridges are not classed as explosives.

If you have occasion to buy, use or sell any of the above items, it would be best to contact Mr. Benson before doing so, and he will be glad to advise you on the subject.

Mrs. Genie Green returned one day last week after spending the past several days with her sister, Mrs. Elias M. Boyle who has been seriously ill at Hamilton, Ohio.

Mr. Riley was educated in the common schools of Boone County, Kentucky, Early Select School at Petersburg, Moores Hill College in Indiana, Occidental College in Los Angeles, Transylvania College, College of the Bible and the University of Kentucky. He holds his Bachelors Degree from Transylvania and Masters Degree from the University of Kentucky.

He served two terms as superintendent of Boone County schools, five years as Promotional Secretary of Transylvania and the College of the Bible and the University Business and Promotional Director at Midway since March 1, 1926. When Mr. Riley came to Midway the school had an indebtedness of $190,000.00 and an available endowment of $200,000.00. The indebtedness has all been paid and the available endowment is $750,000.00, a similar amount invested in the plant while there is also annuities and trust funds of the same amount. The school now has room for 225 girls and all vacancies are filled.

FIRE DESTROYS RICHWOOD HOME

BUILDING AND CONTENTS ARE COMPLETELY DESTROYED BY BLAZE, CAUSED FROM STOVE EXPLOSION.

Fire destroyed the nine-room frame residence of George S. Knox at Richwood, Friday, it was announced Tuesday by F. H. Rouse, Secretary of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Burlington.

It was thought that the fire was started from a stove exploding, the home. The building and all its contents were completely destroyed by the blaze.

Information as to the loss suffered by Mr. Knox was not available. However, the dwelling was insured in the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co., for $4,000, and furniture was insured for $950.00.

Other losses paid by the Farmers' Mutual Tuesday are as follows: B. F. Hossman, damage to dwelling by fire $200.00; Bertha Lane, loss of dwelling by fire $800.00; Chas. Lewis, damages to dwelling $15.00. W. E. Johnson reported damages to a dwelling owned by Charlie Wilson which was insured and is now being repaired.

All the above losses, paid by the local insurance company occurred during the month of February.

Mrs. Louise White

Services for Mrs. Louise White, 426 Spring St., Elsmere, who died Sunday at Jewish Hospital, Cincinnati were conducted at 1:30 Wednesday at the Taliaferro funeral home, Erlanger, with additional services at Elsmere Baptist Church. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery, Cincinnati.

She is survived by her husband, Archibald White; six sons, Charles, David, Russell, William, Robert, and Clifford White; a daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth White; two brothers Charles and George Grimm, both of Cincinnati; a sister Mrs. Lula Schneider, Newport and four grandchildren survive her.

He was a native of Gallatin county, and a member of the Petersburg Christian Church.

Mr. Krutz is survived by one sister Mrs. Nellie J. Helms; three nephews, Frank Helms, stationed in Hawaiian islands, Edward Helms of Petersburg and Elbin Earl Helms of Petersburg.

Funeral services were held Saturday, Feb. 28 at 2 p. m. at the Petersburg Christian Church, with Rev. Noble Lucas, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Petersburg cemetery.

Chambers & Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

Defense Council Of Florence To Meet

In order to complete registration of citizens in the town of Florence, a Civilian Defense meeting will be held at the Florence school Sunday, afternoon, March 8 at 3 p. m., according to A. M. Yealey, chairman of the council.

Able speakers have been secured, and everyone is urged to come out and register for defense work.

Motorists Advised To Save Anti-Freeze

Owners of automobiles and trucks are advised to save the anti-freeze mixtures they drain from the cooling system of their cars this spring for use next winter, according to a recommendation issued by Herbert L. Clay, Secretary of the Kentucky Petroleum Marketers Association. The chemicals used in anti-freeze preparations are vitally needed in the manufacture of explosives and there will probably be little if any anti-freeze available next fall. Motorists who desire to avoid draining the water out of their car each night and filling it up next morning are urged to save the anti-freeze mixture they now have.

In severe cold weather it is dangerous to operate a car without anti-freeze as the radiator will freeze and often burst. "Trouble and repair expenses next winter may be avoided by taking care of the solution you now have," Mr. Clay said.

SUPERVISORS NOMINAT[illegible]

IN SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT—THREE NAMES WILL BE PLACED ON BALLOT FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 14TH.

Three Soil Conservation District Supervisor nominations have been officially received and their names will be placed on the Soil Conservation District election ballot on Saturday, March 14th, according to reports of C. L. Hempfling, County Polling Superintendent. Those nominated are Wm. H. Presser, of Carlton precinct; H. E. White, Burlington and J. C. Bedinger, Walton

The Soil Conservation District will be governed by a body of five farmers, two of which are appointed by the State Soil Conservation District Committee and three are elected by landowners in the district. C. L. Hempfling of Constance and G. C. Ransom of Verona have already been elected by the State Committee. The supervisors serve for a period of three years.

All farmers are urged to vote in the election of supervisors on Saturday, March 14th.

GARDENS TO BE DISCUSSED

FOR RAISING ONE HUNDRED 4-H GARDENS—CLUB MEMBERS WILL BE REQUIRED TO KEEP RECORDS.

Gardens for Freedom will be discussed at community 4-H club meetings this month, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent. "Why Have a Garden?" and "How 4-H Members May Help in Gardens," are subjects of talks to be given by members at several of these meetings.

The garden project, with an enrollment of more than 50 Four-H boys and girls, has become the most popular agricultural project with Boone County 4-H members. Plans will be made this month for more than doubling the present enrollment.

If the family garden is used for this project, cooperation of parents and members is expected in planning the project, studying methods of controlling insects and diseases, and producing the vegetables. Club members will be required to keep a complete record of activities involved in raising the garden, and make a report at the end of the year.

BURLINGTON AND WALTON TANGLE

IN 33RD DISTRICT TOURNAMENT TONIGHT (THURSDAY) IN A DIVISION—NEW HAVEN AND FLORENCE IN B CLASS.

Most basketball fans throughout this section are expecting to see a battle to the finish, tonight (Thursday) when the Burlington team tangles with Walton's Bearcats at 9:30. Burlington has suffered two defeats from the Walton hoopsters and no doubt will be out for revenge, with an eye on the regional tournament. The loser of this battle will be eliminated from the tourney with no chance to participate in the regional meet.

Walton finished the season with eight victories in the Boone County Conference against no defeats, which is quite a record, and have lost only two games during the entire season.

Burlington has played an improved brand of ball during the last few weeks, and have spent many hours in hard work outs for the final event. Coach Voshell has only one handicap in the writer's opinion and that is the lack of first string reserves, while Coach Shields has a splendid reserve list.

Many followers of the sport believe that the winner of tonight's match will go to the state tournament. Therefore, fans can expect a battle to the finish in this game.

According to the dope bucket, New Haven will go to the regionals as runner-up or winners of the district title. This prediction is made by local fans who have watched Coach Maurer's squad in action throughout the season.

With the opening game at 8:30 New Haven and Florence will do battle in the "B" division. New Haven is reported to have a strong second string team. However, upsets have been registered before in tournaments and this may be no exception.

Friday at 8:30 Burlington "B" squad will meet the winner of the Hebron-Walton game in the first game of the evening. Friday at 9:30 Hebron will meet the winner of the Florence-New Haven team in the "A" class.

Finals will be played Saturday at 8:30 in the "B" division and at 9:30 in the "A" class.

Chester Lee Works

Chester Lee Works, 24, native of Pendleton county, was fatally injured when struck by a falling tree on Stevenson Mill Road, near Walton, Thursday.

He is survived by one half-brother Newton Greenbury, Grassy Creek; two sisters, Mrs. Rachel Sharon of Walton, where he made his home, Mrs. Pauline Hill, Demossville; his father Ed Works of Morningview.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday morning, Feb. 28 at the Wilmington Baptist Church, with Rev. C. J. Alford, his pastor, officiating. Burial was in Fiskburg cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Specialist To Assist Fair Grounds Program

Mr. N. R. Elliott, Landscape Architect and Earl Welch, Agricultural Engineer, College of Agriculture, will advise with the Boone County Fair Grounds committee on Tuesday, March 10, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The specialists will assist the committee in making blueprints plans for location of buildings, tress and other landscape specifications for the lake to be constructed. Noel Walton, County Engineer, has already completed a preliminary engineer's sketch of the grounds.

Howard R. Ryle Enlists In United States Navy

Great Lakes, Ill.—Howard R. Ryle, 25, son of Solon B. Ryle, Burlington, Ky., R. 2, has been received at the U. S. Naval Training Station here and will undergo several weeks intensive training in the fundamentals of seamanship. Upon the completion of this training and upon the basis of aptitude tests, he may receive further instruction at one of the Navy's numerous trade and service schools or be sent directly to sea for service afloat.

Mrs. Al Hue Named Head Of Florence Salvage

A drive to salvage all scrap metal, metal tubes, paper, rags, license plates, aluminum and all materials necessary for national defense in and around the town of Florence was started this week, under the leadership of Mrs. Al Hue, Chairman.

Persons having any such materials are urged to call the chairman at Florence 67, and arrangements will be made to pick up the scrap and get it into the hands of the government at once.

All funds derived from the sale of this scrap will go to the Florence Civilian Defense Council for the purchasing of necessary supplies for which there are no funds at present.

LLOYD SOCIETY TO MEET

There will be an all-day meeting at the Lloyd Memorial Home in Florence on Saturday, March 7th. Everyone is urged to attend.

CONSTANCE P.-T. A.

The regular meeting of the Constance P.-T. A. will be held Wednesday, March 11th at the school. All members are urged to present. The meeting will start promptly at 2 o'clock Eastern War Time.

Mrs. James Dye, Reporter.

165 ENROLLED IN HOME ECONOMICS

PROJECTS IN BOONE COUNTY—WEEKLY CLASSES DEVOTED TO FOODS AND CLOTHING—LEADERS NAMED.

Home Economics projects for 4-H Clubs in Boone County have been organized and class work has been started during the last week. To-date there are 165 girls enrolled for 4-H club work. The groups are still working to increase this number, according to Mary S. Moore, Acting HDA.

Through the splendid cooperation of the school faculties, county school superintendent, and Homemakers' organizations, it has been possible to outline regular weekly class work for groups studying foods and clothing. Canning projects will be set up later in the spring when canning season opens.

The project work is to be given to girls of 10 years and up in our school system through the 4-H Club organization. These classes are conducted by trained local leaders who volunteer their time and ability to this worthwhile work. Leaders who have been secured for work this year are as follows:

Burlington, Mrs. Margaret Stephens, Mrs. Addie Scott and Mrs. H. R. Forkner; Constance, Mrs. Oscar Fugate; Florence, Mrs. Virgil Grayson, Mrs. Geo. Kobman, Mrs. A. W. Fullerton, Mrs. Geo. Morith and Mrs. Jones; Grant, Mrs. Hugh McArthur, Mrs. Mildred Rogers and Mrs. Wm. Rogers; Hebron, Mrs. Albert Pfalzgraf, Mrs. Albert Willis and Mrs. Raymond Beacom; New Haven, Mrs. Walter Pennington, Mrs. Walter Ferguson, Mrs. Harry Moore, and Mrs. Harry Woods; Petersburg, Mrs. Harry Jarbo and Mrs. Lena Surface; Hamilton, Mrs. Mary Wilson; Verona, Mrs. Melvin Wasson, Mrs. Walter King; Walton, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. D. L. Lusby, and Mrs. Glenna Cleek.

Coppins 69th Anniversary Sale

Coppin's is celebrating its 69th Anniversary Sale. Born shortly after the Civil War, this well known Covington department store has been serving Northern Kentucky thru three wars. A steady march of progress has been going on especially during the past few years in which the store has been completely remodeled, and late last summer air conditioning equipment was purchased for installation in 1942, which is to be the greatest improvement for this year.

Coppin's buyers long ago planned for this big event and with the cooperation of their manufacturers are offering new Spring Quality Merchandise at great savings in price. Because of the scarcity of merchandise in many lines, they ask you not to buy more than you need so there will be enough for the other fellow.

Mrs. Wilbur Denniston returned to her home in Norwood, Ohio, last Saturday, after staying with Mrs. John Holbrook for two weeks on account of illness.

OFFICERS SEIZE LIQUOR, STILL

ON FARM NEAR BURLINGTON LATE WEDNESDAY OF LAST WEEK—THREE MEN ARRESTED IN RAID.

Alcohol Tax Unit Investigators seized sixteen hundred pounds of sugar, 450 gallons of whisky mash, and a 200-gallon copper still late Wednesday of last week on the farm of John C. Hollis, Youell Road, Boone County, according to Aubrey G. Keeney, investigator.

Hollis, with Truman Drake 516 Powell Street, and Sylvester Buchanmeier, both of Newport, was arrested by Keeney and Investigators Robert Perkins, Lester Weatherton, and W. E. Kitchen. The officers charged the three men with possessing and operating a non-registered still, possession of mash, and possession of untax-paid whisky.

When arraigned Thursday before William O. Ware, United States Commissioner at Covington, Buckanmeier and Drake pleaded "not guilty" and waived examination. Remanded to Newport jail under $1,000 bond, they will be held for the April session of the Federal Grand Jury.

Hollis, pleaded "not guilty," and asked for a continuance of his case.

The agents also seized 70 fifty-gallon wooden fermentors, a 100-gallon copper whisky cistern, gas burner, pressure tanks, fuel heaters, rubber hose, steel drums, kerosene, gasoline, and an automobile.

Cadet Wm. H. Green Now Stationed At Shepperd Field, Texas

In a message this week from Cadet Bill Green, who recently joined the Air Corps, he stated that he was now stationed at 408th School Squadron, Flight No. 1, Barracks No. 294, Shepperd Field, Texas, but expects to move in the near future.

Bill stated that he likes his training very much and up to now he has been kept very busy attending school in the mornings and drilling in the afternoons, and then school again in the evenings.

He sent greetings to all his friends here and said he would write to all of them just as soon as there was available time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jockey, of Walton spent one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jockey.

CONFERENCE CUP WON BY WALTON

BY DEFEATING BURLINGTON FRIDAY NIGHT—HEBRON DEFEATS FLORENCE TO CLINCH FOURTH PLACE.

Walton's Bearcat basketball team clinched the Boone County Conference title Friday night by trouncing Burlington on the loser's floor for a 52-19 score. This victory gave Walton a perfect score in conferences games with a record of 8-0. Burlington finished second with 6-2, both games being lost to Walton. Third and fourth place is held by New Haven and Hebron, respectively.

The Bearcats led all the way. Score by quarters was 15-3, 28-11, 46-14 and 52-19. Demoisey, playing only part of the game chalked up 13 points for the winners, followed by Pennington with 7. Huey collected 11 for Burlington, while Jarrell hit the hoop for four.

Walton's reserves won the confence title in the "B" division by defeating Burlington's reserves in the most exciting game of the season, in the third overtime period by a score of 23-21. Score by quarters was, 7-7; Walton 11, Burlington 10, 17-15, 17-17, 21-21.

By winning 27-6 from the Florence Knights, on the Hebron floor Friday night, Hebron clinched fourth place with a 2-6 record and Florence remained last at 0-8. Hogan paced Hebron with seven points and Zimmerman had seven for Florence.

In a preliminary, Hebron reserves won by a 38-20 count.

Florence suffered their second defeat of the week Saturday night, when they entertained the Warsaw basketball teams. The final score was 28 to 27 in favor of Warsaw.

WAR AND THE PUBLIC SCHOOL

All Americans are agreed that our war against aggression must come first in everything that we do. Production must be geared for war; priorities depend on war needs; the action of every American should depend upon whether that action will help win the war.

War should come first. This is true in industry, and it should be true in education. Educators today have an excellent opportunity to help win the war. They are in a position to strengthen America for the future through their important contacts with the younger generation.

Many teachers are, for example, explaining to the younger generation our ideals of freedom and democracy, and the importance of protecting them. They intelligently reveal the issues, aims and progress of the war; thus, many of the young generation are able to accurately appraise the value of our heritage.

Teachers in the public schools have a great responsibility today. They must prepare the minds of the youths of the nation to withstand the terrible ordeal ahead, they must keep morale high.

—o—

THE FIFTH-COLUMN DANGER

Almost every day one reads of the arrest of Japanese or Germans long residents in this country, accused of possessing contraband, including ammunition, short-wave radios and binoculars.

Americans should not overlook the possibility that there are large numbers of Japanese and German people in this country, ready to act in concert with any force that approaches our shores with hostile intent.

The situation on the West Coast where thousands of Japanese reside, is reported serious. Our little brown brothers have been adept in espionage and there is reason to believe that they are well provided for fifth column activities.

The behaviour of the Japanese and Germans in the present war has been so treacherous and dangerous to the countries in which they reside that other countries are justified in excluding them from residence altogether. This would undoubtely work a hardship on certain good people but there is no way for another nation to distinguish between the good members and the bad.

In calling attention to the possible danger that may exist in this country from Japanese and Germans, now in our midst, we do not wish to arouse undue public anxiety. Certainly, we do not intend to instigate any persecution against the members of these races wherever they may reside. It is just as well however for us to recognize the potentialities of the facts in the case.

—o—

DISUNITY MEANS DEFEAT

Even before we hear the clash of battle, the clamor of political strife begins the congressional campaign of 1942.

Only a people united can win a modern war. Knowing this no loyal American will lend aid and comfort to our enemies by dividing this nation.

Patriotic citizens, in considering candidates, should have a single question to ask: "Have you helped, or hindered the nation in its struggle to live and to preserve liberty?"

Every official should be approved, or condemned, on the record that appears when the question is answered. Not on words, but on deeds, should the judgment be rendered.

No man, be he a Democratic or a Republican, is fit to serve Americans in Congress, when this nation of peace has been attacked, regardless of what he says, if he has foolishly or intentionally delayed the united effort of Americans to defend their country against treacherous, but determined and powerful foes.

Today, citizens and officials, must serve freedom by deeds, not words. Just as our soldiers and sailors obey orders, with faith in their leaders, so must we, as free citizens of a great and glorious democracy, support the men who fight and those who die.

There is only one way to victory-national unity. There is no loyalty except complete loyalty, with faith and confidence in our institutions and our leaders.

DISCOVERING WHY PEOPLE DRINK BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 43:34; Psalm 104:14, 15; Proverbs 31:4-7; Ecclesiastes 2:1-3, 10, 11; Isaiah 56:12; I Corinthians 10:6, 7.

GOLDEN TEXT—Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.—Proverbs 20:1.

The alcohol problem receives attention in four lessons of each year. This is the first one for 1942 and brings before us a number of scriptures not often used, in order to suggest the drinker's reasons for drinking. Other matters appear, but we shall limit ourselves to presenting these reasons, together with the Christian answer to each one.

Why do men drink?

I. To Be Sociable (Gen. 43:34).

At the banquet prepared by Joseph the allowance for Benjamin was greatly increased, and they "drank and were merry." How often that has been the plea which has led into drinking and into drunkenness. The "social glass" has often led to the drunkard's grave.

Well, surely God wants us to be sociable. Yes, He does, and the perfect provision for man's social nature is found in Christian fellowship.

II. To Be Happy (Ps. 104:14, 15).

Wine is supposed to bring happiness, and we may admit that it does bring a temporary lift which some call happiness. But who is satisfied with happiness? It depends entirely on what "happens." If the wrong thing happens we are unhappy. We need a deep abiding joy, and only a right relationship to God can give that.

III. To Evade Responsibility (Prov. 31:4, 5).

When life's burdens become too much for him the weakling seeks relief and evades his responsibilities in the deadening power of alcohol. But that doesn't solve the problem. It is still there when sobriety returns, and usually more serious than ever. What can a man do? The answer is, turn to God. He gives wisdom, grace and strength.

IV. To Forget Sorrow (Prov. 31:6).

"Drown your sorrows" is the deceptive promise of liquor; but they stand right there beside man, and when his poor befuddled head begins to clear they present themselves more persistently than ever. What's the answer? The God of all comfort is ready to bear man's sorrows or to give him grace to bear them and to lead him out into a place of peace and victory.

V. To Forget Poverty (Prov. 31:7).

Heavy is the affliction of poverty in a world of plenty. Sometimes it is the result of carelessness or of sin, but often it is the lot of those who are innocently caught in its grip. Men have tried to forget, to "drown" even this problem in drink, and have only made their poverty worse and more unbearable.

VI. To Find Satisfaction (Eccl. 2: 1-3, 10, 11).

The book of Ecclesiastes gives the account of a man "under the sun," that is, apart from God's guidance and blessing, seeking to satisfy the cravings of his heart in many ways. All of them prove vain, including the effort to find it in wine and in pleasure.

Frustrated souls often seek release through intoxicants. They gain a measure of liberty and a sense of masterful power, but it is all as delusive as the dreams of grandeur of the insane. It is even worse, for it is a false condition, deliberately created and soon lost, together with lost character and decency of life. The morning after brings only the deepened despair of greater dissatisfaction.

VII. To Stimulate Hope (Isa. 56:12).

A certain fearful looking forward to the time of judgment tends to dampen the drinker's enthusiasm. So he drinks more to reawaken in his heart the "hope" that tomorrow will not bring reckoning, but will be another "good" day. The world has no real hope, in fact, the word itself has lost its true meaning and indicates only a sort of wishful thinking. Is there any real hope? Oh, yes, and the Christian has it, hope that is a confident expectation of the fulfillment of God's every promise. That kind of hope takes care of tomorrow—and all the tomorrows.

VIII. To Encourage Play (I Cor. 10:6, 7).

Paul warns against the folly of the "eat, drink, and be merry" philosophy. That road ends in disaster.

Does not God want us to play? Indeed He does. He gave us the instinct for recreation. We need pleasant relaxation, and He has provided for us all the beauties of nature, all the pleasures of wholesome play, and all in the finest of fellowship with His people and with Himself. Thus we find real recreation—not just fun that leaves us empty and dissatisfied.

Courage alone justifies survival of a people, a nation or an individual.

When the young swain calls his sweetie "sugar" nowadays he is certainly paying her a compliment.

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE

814-816 Madison, Covington

Poor posture may be directly caused by defective reasons, eyestrain, impaired hearing, or bone defects which may occur in children during adolescence. Thrusting the head forward to see better may be associated with nearsightedness. Coking the head toward a speaker may indicate loss of hearing, or bone defects which may indicate loss of hearing in one ear. Marked "round shoulders" may be a sign of some disease of the bones of the spine. All children should have competent and thorough physical examination, including tests of sight and hearing, before entering school, and at regular intervals thereafter.

If the mind and the body are healthy, the will is after all, the directing factor in maintaining good posture or correcting bad posture. The feet play a very important part in body balance, as they support the entire weight of the body both in standing and in moving and holding it upright against the downward pull of gravity. The feet being the foundation of the body are very important in regard to good posture and without proper fitted shoes, weakness will develop in the muscles causing the bones of the feet to sag and throwing the whole body out of posture. You cannot have good health and unhappy feet.—Adv.

MARKETING STUDIES SPONSORED BY FARM YOUTH ASSOCIATION

Amhurst, Mass.—A $5,000 national scholarship program, planned to help acquaint Kentucky farm youth with efficient marketing methods, was announced by the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association.

J. S. Gardner of Lexington, extension horticultural specialist at the University of Kentucky, has been appointed state chairman of the national program, it was reported by Professor Grant B. Snyder of Massachusetts State College, the association's advisory chairman.

Gardner will be assisted in administering the state program by the chairman of the southern states regional committee, G. L. Herrington of Knoxville, Tennessee, state 4-H Club leader in the extension service at the University of Tennessee, Snyder said. He explained that application blanks and further information regarding the program may be obtained from either Gardner or Herrington, and added that applications will not be accepted after March 1.

It was brought out that entries between the ages of 14 and 21 will be eligible to compete for a $500 grand national award, four regional awards of $250 each and 35 individual prizes of $100 each from a scholarship fund established by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company for the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association.

Snyder said cash awards may be used to help defray agricultural college expenses of winners or to purchase farm equipment.

He listed the four objectives of the program as follows:

1. To stimulate among young people an interest in the growing and marketing of vegetables.

2. To provide an added means for young people to acquire the knowledge and develop the skills essential to the growing and marketing of vegetables.

3. To stimulate an appreciation of the importance of vegetables in the diet and to increase their use by the farm family.

4. To develop better methods of vegetable marketing.

Snyder explained that the program is built around an extension course in produce marketing, designed to provide students of agriculture with the opportunity to make first-hand studies of various methods used in moving food from growers to consumers.

The national scholarship awards committee headed by Snyder, includes Miss Louise Mullen of Stafford, New York, president of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association; C. R. Potter, field agent and 4-H Club director in the U. S. Department of Agriculture; H. O. Sampson, New Jerrsey supervisor of vocational education, and H. D. Brown, professor of vegetable gardening at Ohio State University and secretary of the Vegetable Growers' Association of America.

IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM SPONSORED BY WOMAN'S AUXILIARY AT HOSPITAL

An improvement and beautification program that includes the landscaping of the new auxiliary building and the erection of a retaining wall and the installation of a parking lot for doctors was planned by the Woman's Auxiliary of Booth Memorial Hospital at a meeting on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

The auxiliary also voted to purchase new type screen for rooms in the men's and women's wards to provide patients greater privacy.

Mrs. Rodney Bryson, president of the auxiliary, conducted a board meeting prior to the general meeting.

It was announced that there is an urgent need for used men's, women's and children's clothing to replenish wardrobes of needy patients. Anyone having outgrown baby clothes or blankets has been asked to give them to the auxiliary after they have been freshly laundried. The Kenton County Republican Women's Club has decided to donate and sew baby garments for the hospital's worthy patients.

Luncheon will now be served the sewing units in the new hospital annex for a charge of 25 cents.

The auxiliary is inviting every woman who has a little spare time each month, to sew at the hospital. Unit No. 1 meets each fourth Wednesday at the hospital from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. Luncheon will be served by the hospital for 25 cents each. Materials for making hospital garments will be furnished. Only sewers are needed, according to the Auxiliary.

Unit No. 2 meets each first Thursday of the months, at the above hours and place.

The regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary is held each third Thursday of the month. Membership fees $1.00 a year, as an absentee or regular attendance.

The new annex built by the hospital was equipped beautifully by the Auxiliary with a modern kitchen, and lovely meeting room, where all are welcome.

A brief outline of work being sponsored by the Auxiliary follows:

Six cubiciles in children's ward and 1 for isolation cases installed and financed by Auxiliary. Over 1,500 pieces of reading matter provided for patients, holiday favors on trays; 3,000 garments made in past year by sewing Units 1 and 2, including baby garments, warm blankets, clothing and baby caps.

The Auxiliary will appreciate a donation of old or new baby garments, at any time. These are given to the needy patients from all over the state, regardless of color or creed, under the supervision of Major Florence Turkington.

The Auxiliary supports the maintenance drive each year, and for the coming year, beginning in March, are to furnish screen for privacy for both the men's and women's wards.

Program for March will include a baby shower for our needy young mothers, a collection of women's, men's, boys', and girls' clothing, to be given where needed.

Each new members is welcomed by the Auxiliary, each donation is thankfully received and carefully distributed. The quarters are restful to work in, pleasing to meet in.

Soft green walls, venetian blinds, antique furniture, large seating arrangements, new piano, modern kitchen, red and white china, cloak room and telephone, all paid for by Auxiliary members, through bakery sales, dinners and membership dues.

Boone County women are again invited to join the William Booth Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary in March and to visit the fine hospital where every room is filled with cheer and kindly nurses.

SCHOOL TO BE CONDUCTED BY F. B. I. AT LOUISVILLE

According to H. K. Moss, Special Agent in Charge of the Louisville Field Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the FBI War Traffic School for Police throughout the entire State of Kentucky, will be conducted in a six day session, to be held at the Ship Room of the Kentucky Hotel at Louisville, Kentucky, from March 9 through March 14, 1942.

This school is one of a series of similar schools currently being conducted throughout the entire United States and sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in order to provide uniform instruction on new problems arising out of the war emergency, and now confronting or threatening to confront local, county, and state law enforcement agencies. Each school will be of six days' duration and the instruction will be presented by outstanding traffic experts whose services as Special Employees have been obtained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for this purpose. This series of War Traffic Schools for Police was inaugurated by the FBI on February 9, 1942.

These schools will furnish to police personnel uniform and specific information on such problems as the following:

1. Bomb damage to streets during air raids.
2. Bomb damage to buildings creating traffic hazards during air raids.
3. Operation of vehicles without full traffic light control during blackouts.
4. Damage to electrical systems of traffic control during air raids.
5. Accidents occurring during blackouts.
6. Accumulation and handling of crowds as evacuation points during air raids.
7. Accumulation and handling of crowds at points of damage following air raids.
8. Pedestrian traffic control during air raids.
9. Planning and maintenance of traffic control maps.
10. Planning and marking of traffic routes.
11. Provision of military convoy routes.
12. Expediting movement of military units and rerouting of civilian vehicle traffic.
13. Provision of routes for the safe transportation of explosives.
14. Preparation of plans for bomb removal routes following air raids.
15. Blacking out of traffic signals.
16. Blacking out of police vehicles.
17. Blacking out of police buildings.
18. Planning of action for the provision of priorities for the movement of military, police, fire, and Civilian Defense vehicles during air raids.
19. Planning for the obtaining of equipment to be used in handling traffic during blackouts.
20. Handling of heavy daylight traffic loads caused by the cars of civilians returning to their homes before blackouts.
21. Traffic problems which might arise during chemical warfare.

In addition to providing instruction on the above-mentioned problems, training will be given in other phases of traffic as a whole.

This program of training is an adjunct of the FBI Civilian Defense Courses for Police presently being conducted throughout the country, and constitutes a part of the FBI Law Enforcement Officers' Mobilization Plan for National Defense. This program of training is in line with the FBI'S traditional policy of acting as a national clearing house for dissemination of information of uniform crime statistics matters, and police training matters. The schools to be conducted have the approval of outstanding traffic authorities and organizations throughout the country.

A certificate of attendance and completion will be awarded to every police officer who attends regularly all sessions of this six-day course to be held at Louisville. There will be no costs in connection with attending the schools, and those eligible to attend will be the heads of law enforcement organizations; traffic officers associated with local, county or state law enforcement organizations who are in charge of or may assist in convoy work; instructors of police training schools in local, county and state law enforcement organizations; executives and officers of railroad police organizations and railway express agency police departments; and auxiliary police officers who have already entered on duty in local, county and state law enforcement organizations.

Two FBI Special Employees will instruct at this meeting. They are: Mr. Cornelius F. Van Blankensteyn, presently on a leave of absence from the Michigan State Police, and now employed as a Special Employee Traffic Instructor for the FBI. He was assistant to the Captain in charge of the Safety, Traffic and Operator's License Department of the Michigan State Police. He receive awards for meritorious service in June, 1939 and January, 1941; and Mr. George W. Barton, who since August, 1938 has held the position of Traffic Engineer with the Chicago Motor Club. He is likewise on a leave of absence from the Motor Club to be employed by the FBI as a Special Employee Traffic Instructor.

In view of the fact that convoy work as well as other kindred traffic problems arising out of the national defense efforts, will be one of extreme importance to all law enforcement agencies in the near future, Mr. Moss urged that all law enforcement agencies and others eligible to attend this school, should have due representation at this six-day session.

Democracy: Melvin Douglas, movie actor, who fought in the World War, giving up a Hollywood salary to serve the nation and being smeared by Congressmen who have done neither.

No, Geraldine, there is no truth in the report that Congressmen, who voted against the two-ocean navy, have volunteered for immediate service.

He stated that after the war is over he will return to his work. A large crowd was present and enjoyed the message.

YOUTHS BEING PREPARED FOR ESSENTIAL JOBS

Geared to the nation's effort for all-out war production, the National Youth Administration in Kentucky is now preparing 4,500 out-of-school youth for essential jobs as part of a nation-wide total of 182,000, it was reported today by Robert K. Salyers, State Youth Administrator.

Production of planes, guns, ships tanks and munitions of all kinds for the armed forces is urgent and by preparing young people for jobs in factories ,shipyards and armament's plants the NYA in Kentucky and throughout the country is making its most important contribution to the war program, Salyers said.

NYA mechanical shop and production projects are giving on-the-job training to more than 2,000 young men and young women in Kentucky and 83,700 nationally. In workshops organized along industrial lines these young people are getting practical experience through the production of goods and learning their job through doing a job. The types of work carried on in the NYA shops includes metal and mechanical work, radio and electrical work, woodworking and industrial sewing. In shops located at Mayfield, Bowling Green Ashland, Covington, Providence, Louisville, London, Richmond, Vine Grove and Carrollton, youth make such articles as gun parts, tools, desks and cabinets for the army, public address systems, and army field kitchens.

In Kentucky 774 youth are employed on NYA professional and clerical projects, which are giving experience to 48,700 young people throughout the nation. Closely related to the war program, these projects include such activities as the training of hospital attendents some of them to become registered nurses, and the performance of clerical services for such defense agencies as Fort Knox, the Selective Service and Tire Rationing Boards. The majority of youths engaged in clerical services are girls gaining practical work experience in typing, shorthand and general office work. Other NYA girls plan, prepare and serve lunches to thousands of Kentucky school children.

NYA construction projects employ 17,500 youth, of whom 486 are Kentucky youth. NYA construction has been devoted largely to the building of public facilities, such as farm shops, (for the repair of farm machinery) school buildings and defense training shops.)

NYA resident projects where young people live and work at the job site employ 800 Kentucky youth. The national total of youth in resident centers is 32,100. These centers were established primarily to give work experience and training to youth from rural areas and from small communities where job training facilities do not exist. The types of work done on resident projects include all of the major activities in the NYA program with emphasis on production shop work. Shops at the Richmond, Vine Grove and Carrollton Centers have adequate modern equipment for training youth for war jobs. The Richmond and Vine Grove centers concentrate on training for jobs in machine shop, sheet metal and welding, while Carrollton concentrates on woodwork, mechanics, and radio.

SERMON OF THE MONTH

The following sermon was prepared by Rev. T. O. Harrison, a member of the Boone County Ministerial Association. A series of sermons will be published in this paper, appearing once each month, and will be composed by members of the association. The sermon follows:

"Quit you like men, be strong." I Cor. 16:13.

The word "quit" as used here means "to conduct." If we would put these inspired words of the Apostle Paul into every day language we would say "Don't be like children; conduct yourselves as real men. Be strong." These words are tremendously needed in Christendom today.

The gospel has never been a message of softness. It is a message of strength, of power. The Christ who gave us the gospel was no weakling. There is no account in any of our records where He ever exhibited any sign of weakness. He knew what it was to be tired at the end of a day's toil. He knew how to face hardship without flinching. He walked in the midst of sickness and suffering and sin and death and He always met the need of the hour with a calmness that amazed those around Him. He knew how to suffer without complaint. Men turned against Him when He had come only to seek and to save the lost; yet He never complained. The church cast Him out because He spoke the truth, but He never spoke one word in His own defense. He was tried unjustly, He was condemned to die against the will of Pilate, the judge. He was cruicifed on a wooden cross between two criminals. He died with a prayer on His lips for those who took His life, but never in the midst of it all did he show any sign of weakness. Even his' cry on the cross, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" was no question of fear. It was the cry of the sinless Son of God whose heart was breaking over the sin of the world. It was not fear of death that made Him cry out. It was compassion for the sin of the world on His own spotless soul. No, our Christ has the right to say "Be strong, conduct yourselves like men" because He himself was strong.

And His call to men is a call not to softness and indulgence but to hardship and suffering. "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." (Matt. 16:24). "Suffer hardship as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." (II Tim. 2:3). "So likewise, whosoever he be that forsaketh not all he hath, he cannot be my disciple." (Lk. 14:33). His appeal is to the courageous, the daring, those who are strong enough to take the hard way. And through the centuries He has been traveling this upward way with those courageous souls who have taken the way with Him, saying, "Conduct yourselves like real men; be strong." In at least 3 ways the Christian needs manly strength today:

1. We need it in our thinking. This is a time for clear thinking, right thinking, strong thinking. Weak thoughts make weak men. Wrong thinking makes bad men and a world out of joint. In war times a nation is prone to become hysterical, live on its nerves, and let its emotions run away with its intelligence. One quality of maturity is that its zeal is tempered with judgment and we need that kind of men today. We need them as our national leaders, our industrial leaders, our religious leaders. We need them in every home, in every school, in every church, in every community. God give us men who can think clearly and judge rightly.

2. The Christian must be strong in his moral standards. Weak morals make weak men. Nations have fallen because they became morally rotten within. The universe is geared to stand with the man who is right in his standards of living; it opposes the man whose morals are loose. And, my friends, we can not expect the blessings of God upon us while we are sinning against Him. He has given us a Book which tell us the way to live, and to turn against it means to destroy ourselves. Good intentions won't do. We must actually put into practice God's will. We can't break the Sabbath Day and not suffer for it. To put before the youth of our nation the temptations of drink in saloon, beer parlor, roadhouse, restaurant, and other places is morally wrong. It is putting revenue and material gain before the good of our boys and girls and nothing can make that right. Dishonesty, untruthfulness, covetousness, these things are wrong. It takes men to be honest, truthful, generous.

And, my friends, my conviction is that we have no right to pray for God to let us win this war, while we are sinning. "The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." And the promise is "If my people that are called by my name will humble themselves and pray and seek my face, and turn from their wicked way; then will I hear from heaven and will heal their land." We must be right in our morals before we have the right to ask God to be on our side. And while liquor flows freely in our land; while many of our movies are morally degrading; while the Sabbath Day is forgotten; while gambling and greed, dishonesty and lust are rampant we are not right. Let us be men, morally pure, strong in the right.

3. Let us be men in our faith. If the foundations of civilization seem to totter, let the Christian's faith be strong. God still lives and rules. He can cause the wrath of man to praise Him. And in it all His promises are true, His message has not changed, His power is the same. Faith says, "I believe God has the way out and I will trust Him." It is childish to doubt, to fear, to feel that He has left us alone. If we repent we can be sure that God will forgive. If we trust Him we can be sure that He will not fail us. "Oh for a faith that will not shrink though pressed by every foe, that will not tremble on the brink of any earthly woe." Be men, have strong faith in God. He is the way out.

In conclusion, remember that this command in our text is not one we must keep by human strength alone. There is divine grace operating in the world. If we are giving way to fear, hysteria, "war nerve," we can turn to the Christ of Calvary who says "My grace is sufficient for thee." "Come unto me and I will give you rest." If we have sinned we can turn to the Christ who promised "If we confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness." If we have doubted, thank God, we can say with the Psalmist, "I will trust and not be afraid." And with such a Christ as this who will help us, we can conduct ourselves like real men in right thinking, moral living, strong faith.

A KY. LADY COOKED FINE DINNER; THEN THREW IT TO DOG!

One Kentucky lady recently stated that she used to throw her own dinner to the dog most of the time. It made her sick just to look at anything to eat. She was swollen with gas, full of bloat, had headaches, felt worn out and was badly constipated. Finally she got Systone and says she now eats everything in sight and digets it perfectly. Bowels are regular and normal. She is enjoying life once more and feels like "some other woman" since taking this new, scientific formula which contains juices from 12 of Nature's finest Medicinal Plants.

HOW IT ACTS

Systone is taken shortly before meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the posions that foster stomach troubles and permitting the liver and bowels to function properly. It will bring out awful gases and impurities which cause pain, bloat and swelling; gives the bowels a great cleansing and brings out the foul, acidous impurities that cause headaches, skin eruptions, foul breath, coated tongue, thick, bad taste and worn out feeling. Benefits come so quickly that many weak, miserable people often feel like different men and women OVER NIGHT.

Another thing, it costs only a few cents a day to take this amazing liquid compound, with its 12 natural ingredients. So don't go on suffering. Get Systone—TODAY. Sold at OWENS' STORE, The Reliable Druggist, Pike and Washington, Covington.

The Axis powers are being mauled on one land front and the work is being done by the Red Army. This probably explains why anti-British and pro-Nazi individuals denounce the Soviet army.

INCOME TAX

The Income Tax Department of the Federal Government will have a Deputy Collector at the Court House in Burlington, March 9th and 10th to assist taxpayers in preparing their Income Tax Returns. This service is free and if you are single and your income was $750.00 or more or if married and your income was $1500.00 GROSS you must file a return, even though no tax is due.

A fine is imposed for failure to file a return, if your income is sufficient for filing.

With The Reds

Tampa Fla.—An experiment is being conducted in the training camp of the Cincinnati Reds that is vital to their 1942 success. It involves Big Hank Sauer, first basemen for the Birmingham Barons of the Southern League in 1940 and 1941, and who is the kind of a hitter Bill McKechnie would like to have in his regular Cincinnati lineup.

With Frank McCormick at first, there is fortification at that position already, so the experiment consists of attempting to move the big 23-year-old boy into the outfield, a department in which the Reds are conceded to need bolstering.

Hank was served with the notice of the Reds' intention to experiment with him last fall, when he joined the club after the Southern Association season closed. He was placed in the garden in eight of the the late season games, and inserted in a ninth game as a pinch hitter. His batted average for that short period was .303, and, what's more, he looked like he would be worth attempting to transform into an outfielder. That's the thing that counted most, for there would be little use in conducting an experiment if the foundation wasn't there. What McKechnie saw in those nine games convinced him that Sauer has the basis, has the ambition, and has the sock, and that a serious attempt to convert him into an outfielder would not be time wasted.

The manner in which Hank went at his job when he joined the Reds this spring was still more encouraging to McKechnie. Instead of waiting for the Reds' second squad, Sauer asked for permission to report early. He immediately went to work in the garden and daily could be seen shagging fly balls batted to him by one of the coaches after the remainder of the players had left the field.

That's the thing that convinces McKechnie that he is on the right track with the big fellow. Hard work has helped many a ball player iron out many weaknesses. It can, and should, help Sauer overcome his fielding deficiencies.

Does McKechnie expect Sauer to develop into a great outfielder? The answer is no, but he does expect the fellow to improve sufficiently so as not to disturb to continuity of a fine defensive machine. The Reds, as they are constituted, with their pitching staff the backbone of their club, cannot go along with a defensive clown in any position, regardless of offensive power. Sauer, who is no Harry Craft in the garden now, feels that thru his hard work and natural ability he will improve enough to justify the confidence McKechnie has placed in him.

This natural ability consists of better than average speed, a fine throwing arm and a good pair of hands. He must learn to start quickly, and to properly judge fly balls. He also must learn all the little tricks that go with being a major league outfielder, although some of these things necessarily must wait, as one can't grasp everything at one time.

Rollie Hemsley warms up Johnny Vandermeer daily at the Reds' training camp to learn his mannerisms, etc. Rollie wants to become familiar with Johnny's natural style, so that he can tell immediately if the southpaw is off stride at any time. A great deal is being expected of Vandermeer this year.

Eddie Joost is about a dozen pounds heavier than at the close of last season. The added weight is expected to be a great help to the shortstop, who has been trying to put on poundage for years.

Bucky Walters and Joe Beggs each appeared in 37 games for the Reds last year. Beggs, a relief man hurled 57 innings, while Walters worked 302 innings and 27 complete games.

This is the time for all businessmen, big and little, to understand that unselfishness will pay handsome profits.

This is just about the time of the year when genuine spring garden fiends begin to show signs of the old complaint.

J. H. FEDDERS SON

COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Mr. Charles Fedders Attends Purina Dealer Convention, Hot Springs

Mr. Fedders, who has just returned from a meeting of Purina feed dealers at Hot Springs, Arkansas, reports that American farmers will be expected to produce millions and billions more pounds of meat, milk, and eggs this year to meet the requirements of our soldiers and sailors, of our civilian population, and of the populations of our Allies.

"Over 500 dealers attended the meeting of the South Central States Division," said Mr. Fedders, "the largest delegation ever to attend a convention for this section. Dealers were in attendance from Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma and listened to Purina executives outline plans and programs to help get done the tremendous job of increased production of livestock and poultry."

Good news was given to the dealers in attendance, notifying them that Washington has decreed that retailers of feed will be put on the priority list to receive tires in order to insure delivery of feed to the farmers. It was also announced by Vice President Sample at the Purina meeting that although certain adjustments in feed formulas would have to be made because of curtailments on ingredients such as molasses, nevertheless Purina was well equipped with other ingredients that would fill the bill, so that production of eggs, milk, or meat would not suffer in any way. Because of the 16 years of experimental work that has been done at the Purina Experimental Farm at Gray Summit, Missouri, Purina has been preparing for just such an emergency as faces the nation today, and all types of ingredients and combinations of ingredients have been worked out so as to know just what can be substituted in case of any shortage that develops.

Streamlined sales and merchandising programs were outlined to the 500 dealers in attendance, so as to eliminate non-essentials and have every Purina dealer's store working to capacity to get adequate service and supplies to farmer customers. Never in the history of this country has the farmer been so important as he is today. As Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has said, food will win the war and write the peace. The American farm has become the bread basket of Democracy, and it is important that production of essential food stuffs be stepped up and stepped up quickly. The obligation of the Purina feed merchant in this emergency is to supply the service and supply the feed and supply the program that will do this job.

Mr. Fedders is well equipped now to give this service to farmers in this community. He has brought back with him the very latest information and up to date literature on feeding and feeding programs that should be used. He says it is especially important this year that farmers buy good chicks and good feed and protect the chicks from disease, because we cannot afford to lose chicks and we cannot attempt to do this big job of egg production without chicks that have lots of eggs bred into them and lots of eggs fed into them.

Also, it is important to feed our dairy cows so as to help them produce maximum amounts of milk at the lowest possible cost. And Mr. Fedders announces that a special cycle was outlined at the Purina meeting to help save milk that was formerly fed to calves, to help grow out a big healthy calf, to help bring heifers into production earlier, and to feed dry cows to keep down breeding and calving troubles and help increase milk production during the lactatation period.

Mr. Fedders also says that a special sow to pig to packer program was announced that has increased the number of pigs weaned and marketed as much as two extra pigs per litter over the U. S. average.

More than 100 dealers attending the convention were honored in an evening ceremony for sales growth made in the year 1941. And the convention closed with a dramatic presentation of the obligation of Purina dealers in the present emergency in which all dealers stood and pledged themselves to do their best possible job in 1942.

This Week On The Home Front

Our government's War Production Board is acting with increasing speed. Its acts over the last week have covered the widest conceivable range of products, from egg crates and tiny flash-light bulbs and shotguns and burlap bags, to gigantic stores of aluminum, automobiles and trucks and tires and fertilizer for the farmers' spring planting.

The nation's farmers received reassuring news from the office of Price Administrator, Leon Henderson. Mr. Henderson ordered a 60-day temporary ceiling on fertilizer.

Effective February 27, prices of retailed mixed fertilizers, superphosphate and potash were frozen at the prices charged at retail during February 15-20 inclusive. Mr. Henderson also announced that action to stabilize prices for nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia, cyanamid and other leading fertilizers will be taken within a few days.

"Fertilizer prices have advanced considerably, as compared with a year ago," Mr. Henderson stated. "our farmers are being called upon to produce as never before the vital commodities and foodstuffs that will play so important a part in winning this war. In making this effort, farmers have a right to expect that supplies of fertilizer shall be placed at their disposal at unInflated prices. Higher fertilizer prices at this time can only serve to hinder our national food production program."

* * *

If one undertakes to remodel his home this spring, he will find that certain things have happened to plumbing and heating equipment, its supply and regulation. His plumbing contractor won't advise new and fancy installations, but will suggest repairs, in compliance with the WPB's metal conservation policy just announced. There won't be the variety of fittings because WPB has cut down the types from 8,500 to 3,000 for the same reason. Fancy radiators, concealed piping will now disappear for the duration.

* * *

The June bride this year won't be able to buy fine soft sets of down pillows, when she furnishes her home. The nation's goose and duck feather supply will have been diverted to the manufacture of soldiers sleeping bags only.

The June bride and the old brides will have to do without corsets and girdles, brassiers and foundation garments with elastic rubber in them. The WPB is using all the rubber to streamline our war effort instead.

* * *

It may be hard for her to find a good selection of new rugs, too. Carpet and rug manufacturers were warned by the Bureau of Industry Branches to get into the manufacture of essential war materials, and warned that it might be necessary to "freeze" all jute yarns, used in rugs, but which, unhappily must be shipped from India. "Unfortunately for your industry, carpets are not essential to the winning of the war," the rug men were told.

* * *

New tire quotas for March are out. They are a little easier due to adjustment to spring traveling, substantially above the February quota. The nation's passenger-motorcycle and light truck owners will get this month—104,701 new tires and 84,365 new tubes this month as compared with 80,784 tires and 67,616 tubes they were given in February.

* * *

The new passenger car quota for March, April and May are 43 per cent of the 340,000 to be released to essential users over the 12 months. They are now, it is announced, some 480,000 new 1942 models in the hands of the auto industry. Difference between these figures represents the "stockpile" for rationing in 1943 and thereafter.

* * *

After May 31, there will be no tin cans for beer and coffee. You'll get them the old fashioned way.

* * *

Deliveries of tin cans for home canning will go on, because WPB is encouraging home canning. Incidentally, it is announced that the forthcoming sugar rationing program will contain provision that housewives may obtain additional sugar for home canning without sacrificing her daily family quota.

* * *

The familiar 12-gauge shotgun which custom has always pointed at rabbits and squirrels, will from now on be aimed only at spies and saboteurs, if any new ones are made this year. There will be no manufacture of such guns for any use except by local and federal governments, lease lend countries, to supply a demand for guarding war industries.

Sporting arms manufacturers have also been asked by the Office of Price Administration to stop hiking prices of guns and keep them where they were January 10. Administrator Henderson said: "There is no excuse."

* * *

Laundries which use chlorine for bleaching must stop. A vital war chemical, it can still be used to purify water supply and swimming pool water.

* * *

All coal dealers were asked by Mr. Henderson to maintain prices no higher than those prevailing December 1-31, 1941.

MUST OUR BOYS FIGHT THIS WAR ALONE?

Must our boys fight this war alone
On land and on the sea?
No, there's a fight for everyone
If we keep this nation free.

Upon the land and sea they meet,
The enemies shot and shell;
And won't come home until it's o'er,
How long we cannot tell.

So let us who are left at home,
Stand up and do our part,
By giving all we can each day
And cheer a broken heart.

We can't do all we'd like to do
But surely there's one way,
To help to bring this to an end
Get on our knees and pray.

Pray to the one who knows it all
From beginning to the end,
That He'll help win the victory
And on him we must depend.

He knows of every broken heart
He knows of every tear,
Let's go to Him and ask His help
He'll drive away all fear.

No, they'll not fight this war alone,
Those soldiers brave and true,
There's one who's watching over them
And He's watching o'er us too.

—By Dora Hafer Aylor.

Tarzan, Junior has been given a companion in "Tarzan's Secret Treasure," new jungle adventure to be shown at the Gayety.

Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer signed Cordell Hickman, eight-year-old Negro boy who scored in the stage production of "The Mikado in Swing," and "The Biscut Eater," to play the pal of little Johnny Sheffield, Johnny Weissmuller's foster son in the Tarzan series. In the story the junior Tarzan finds a native lad in the jungle and they strike up a friendship, figuring in many episodes together.

"Tarzan's Secret Treasure" reunites Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan, with a cast that includes Reginald Owen, Philip Dorn, Tom Conway and Barry Fitzgerald, directed by Richard Thorpe.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Sunday, March 1st many friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. Edwin Walton, and surprised him with a basket dinner, the occasion being his birthday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Earl McGlasson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. McGlasson and son and Mrs. Garnett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hempfling and son, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McGlasson and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGlasson, Sr., Mrs. Eva McGlasson, Miss Mabel Dolwick, Earl Glenn Aylor, Weston Rogers and the host, Mr. Edwin Walton and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Walton. Afternoon callers were Mrs. Earl Aylor and daughter, Mrs. George Wohrley and Dean Bloss.

All left at a late hour wishing Mr. Walton many more happy birthdays.

The Recorder serves the public in many ways. It prints, without charge, articles that assist the schools, churches and charitable enterprises of the county and it gives publicity to governmental activities. We mention this because some people seem not to suspect that such services cost money.

Farmers Urged To Repair Machinery

One way in which Kentucky farmers can help avenge "Pearl Harbor" is by repairing their farm machinery now, thereby making sure it will be in good condition for the 1942 Food-for-Freedom production, declares J. F. Cleek, Chairman of the Boone County USDA War Board.

Farmers have a double responsibility in the war effort, Mr. Cleek points out. They have the responsibility for producing the food, feed and fiber needed for an all-out war, and they have the responsibility for conserving metals, rubber, and other materials needed for construction of guns, ships, tanks, and planes.

Immediate repair of existing machinery, therefore, is the first step in the attainment of the 1942 agricultural goals, he says. For this reason, the farm equipment program recently announced by the director of priorities is very important. This program permits the use of materials for farm repair parts at an average rate of about 150 percent of the materials for new machinery to about 83 percent of the 1940 level.

Types of equipment needed in turning out farm products to be increased under 1942 goals have been allotted a higher percentage of essential materials, in comparision with 1940, than types of equipment required for farm product; less essential to the war effort.

For example, Mr. Cleek explains, quotas of metal and rubber for use in the manufacture of dairy machinery and equipment range up to 213 percent of the materials used for similar purposes in 1940, since there is a large increase in the agricultural goals for dairy products.

In contrast, the materials necessary for making a one-horse, single row corn planter are limited to 35 percent of the 1940 level. However, for a combination corn and cotton planter of the same type, which can be used in connection with two crops instead of one, the quota of these materials is 66 percent of the 1940 level.

Many such factors were taken into consideration by the Division of Civilian Supply in drafting the program for farm machinery, after consultation with the Department of Agriculture.

In general, the manufacturers' quotas for new equipment reflect the 1942 agricultural goals of the Food-For-Freedom Program. But in all groups of equipment, attachments and parts, expressed in total weight of all metals and rubber, are considerably above the 1940 level.

It is pointed out that farmers need not secure priorities on most types of equipment but may purchase up to availability of dealer supplies. Priorities must be established through local USDA War Boards, however, in secured equipment such as crawler-type tractors, large electric motors, bull-dozers, drag lines, and out-of-stock irrigation supplies.

Corn Growing Equipment

Many types of machinery used in corn production will be difficult to obtain this year, owing to the need of materials for war use, according to J. T. Cleek chairman of the Boone County USDA War Board.

This means that every available pieee of old equipment will have to be reconditioned and put in use, he points out. The first step in getting equipment ready is to check over all old machinery and order repair parts that may be needed to put it in first-class condition.

Delay in ordering either repair parts or equipment may result in serious disappointments and losses, since transportation facilities are expected to be overloaded with war materials this spring, making it difficult to obtain other items. Additional plant conversions to war use may make it even more difficult to obtain machinery and parts, he warns.

At the present time, use of materials for the manufacture of new farm machinery is restricted to an average of about 83 percent of the materials used for similar purposes in 1940, Mr. Cleek says. Use of materials for repair parts is permitted at an average rate of about 150 percent of the 1940 level.

Allocations of materials for new machinery, attachments, and parts ordinarily used in corn production in the commercial corn area, follow:

Planting and fertilizing machinery: from 63 to 100 percent of the 1940 level; attachments and parts, 140 percent.

Plows and listers: from 30 to 82 percent; attachments and parts, 140 percent.

Harrows, rollers, and pulverizers: from 61 to 78 percent; attachments and parts, 120 percent.

Cultivators and weeders: from 48 to 80 percent; attachments and parts, 150 percent.

Harvesting machinery: from 65 to 86 percent, except one-row corn picker, 134 percent; attachments and parts, 160 percent.

Machines for preparing corn for market or use: from 58 to 100 percent; attachments and parts, 140 percent.

Tractors: from 59 to 81 percent; attachments and parts, 160 percent.

Farm wagons and trucks (not motor trucks): from 75 to 99 percent; attachments and parts, 140 percent.

Dairy Equipment

Because of the importance of dairy products in the Food-for-Freedom Program, use of critical materials for the manufacture of dairy machinery and equipment will be permitted in 1942 at a relatively high rate, according to J. F. Cleek, chairman of the Boone County USDA War Board.

This does not mean that dairymen can delay in ordering necessary new equipment or that possibilities for repair and reconditioning of old equipment should be overlooked.

The board program to make available plenty of farm equipment for carrying out the Department of Agriculture's 1942 food production goals covers the period ending October 31, 1942, Mr. Cleek explained.

The effect of the program is to restrict materials going into new farm machinery to an average of approximately 83 percent of the new farm machinery to an average of approximately 83 percent of the 1940 manufacturing year, and to permit the use of materials for repair parts at an average rate of about 150 percent of the 1940 level.

Allocations of essential materials for manufacture of dairy machinery and equipment, attachments and parts, follow:

Milking machines (complete units) 206 percent of 1940 level.

Cream separators, depending on capacity in pounds per hour, from 67 percent to 213 percent.

Milk coolers, depending on type, from 130 to 179 percent.

Butter-making equipment, 144 percent.

Other farm dairy equipment, expressed in terms of total weight of all metals and rubber, 122 percent.

Attachments and parts for all items in this group (Group 11) 190 percent.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy in the sudden death of our husband and father

John Bowman

We wish especially to thank Revs. J. W. Campbell and Roy Johnson for their words of comfort: and those who brought the message in song and music; and Chambers & Grubbs for the efficient manner in which they conducted the funeral.

FOOD PRODUCTION PROGRAM LAUNCHED

Kentucky has launched a giant "Victory Home Food-Production Program" dealing with the production, conservation and utilization of food under the general supervision of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. It is an enlargement of the 1941 program, streamlined to meet war needs.

The program is two-part:

1. Every farm family in the State to have a victory garden.

2. Every farm family to produce at least 75 percent of its food on the farm.

In other words, to have a garden and an adequate one. In addition to this, canning and preserving food, and proper family nutrition, play a large part in the program.

Every county in the state has been reached through county meetings and through 33 district conferences attended by farm extension workers, Kentucky Nutrition Committee leaders, community leaders, representatives of county health and other organizations, school lunch workers, etc.

Every county and home demket" of literature,ETAETAOISHRD onstration agent has been given a "packet" of literature, including mimeographed suggested, leaflets and circulars, dealing with gardening and with nutrition. Half of the counties in Kentucky have requested and received a set of live-at-home slides to show at community meetings, showing better farm home practices.

Certificates of attainment were given this year to farm families complying with the request to grow 75 percent of the home-used food on the farm. For 1942 this part of the program has been extended, and a much larger number of families are expected to earn the certificates. They are signed by Governor Keen Johnson and Dean Thomas P. Cooper.

UNION STOCK YARD CO. REPRESENTATIVE WILL BE HEARD OVER WSAI

The Cincinnati Union Stock Yard Company will be represented on the "Worker of The Day" program over Cincinnati Station WSAI (1360 on the dial) Thursday, March 5, 1942, at 7:30 p. m. by one of its employees, Mr. Edward Abenz.

This is a program sponsored by the John Shillito Company of Cincinnati, heralding each week one of the industries of Cincinnati. No doubt this program will be of interest to farmers throughout this county.

HEBRON YOUTH DIES OF BURNS

Clyde Akin, 19, of Hebron, was burned to death Thursday night on U. S. 25 one mile north of Corinth when he was pinned in the cab of a Blue and Gray truck which he was driving.

Sergt. Roy Osborne of the Kentucky State Highway Patrol, who arrived at the tragedy a short time after it occurred, said the youth's screams "could be heard for miles."

Young Akins, driving a truck of the Blue an Gray, had passed an auto and had drawn alongside another truck of the company when his own plunged off the road, struck a culvert and overturned. The gasoline tank exploded in the crash and a few minutes later the entire truck and its cargo were in flames. Young Akins, still conscious. was pinned helplessly in the cabin.

Sergt. Osborne, the driver of the other truck, R. L. Florence of Cynthiana and passing motorists fought the flames with every means available, but were unable to subdue the blaze. The truck was destroyed.

When Akins was removed from the cab he was burned beyond recognition.

The body was taken to the Shirley and Rogers funeral home, Corinth, but later was ordered sent to Chambers & Grubbs' funeral home, Walton.

The youth is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clyde Akins, Hebron; three sisters, Mrs. Libby Hawkins, Cincinnati; Mrs. Dorothy Sebastian, Covington, and Miss Hazel Akins, Hebron, and two brothers, Lloyd Akins, Florence, and Robert Akins, Hebron.

Large Number Seek Assistance In Filing Income Tax Returns

A number of people were calling on Deputy Collector, Geo. C. Staubach, at the courthouse, last Monday and Tuesday, seeking assistance in filing their Income Tax Returns for 1941.

Another date to be remembered is April 15th when all single persons with a gross income of $1,500 or if married and with a gross income of $3,000.00 must file a State Income tax return and pay a tax to the State of Kentucky, which is in addition to the Federal return. If you are in this bracket be sure to file your return with the State before April 15th.

FLORENCE P.-T. A.

The Florence P.-T. A. will meet at the school lunch room Friday, March 13th at 2 p. m. Eastern War Time. The Florence Glee Club will entertain.

GOOD GARDENS ARE IMPORTANT

LOCAL COUNTY AGENT URGES ALL FAMILIES TO GROW GOOD GARDENS—IS IMPORTANT TO NATIONAL DEFENSE.

All Boone County families, whether farm or urban, are urged to grow good gardens, both as a most important part of our national Defense and as an important step in better feeding the family at a lower cost, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

March is the time to begin preparations for planting. Besides getting a good garden site and taking care of soil preparations and fertilizer needs, careful attention should be given as to crops to be sown. Among the early vegetables and recommended varieties to be planted in the gardens are: Asparagus, variety, Martha Washington; cabbage, yellows resistant varieties when yellows is present; cauliflower, Snowball; broccoli, Calabrian green sprouting; rhubarm, MacDonald, Linnaeus, Victoria; onions, yellow or white sets of Ebenezer variety or slips of Silverskin, Pricetaker or Bermuda; Lettuce-leaf, back seed Simpson, or the head type, New York or Wonderful, or Bibb; radishes, White Tip Scarlet, Rapid Red; turnips, Purple Top Strap-leaved; mustard, Southern curled; spinach, Bloomsdale Savoy; lettuce, Grand Rapids; peas, Alaska or radio; rape, Dwarf Essex, sometimes called "smooth kale"; potatoes, Irish Cobbler or Bliss Triumph (certified seed).

Many local successful garden growers have other varieties that have given them success. These are also to be recommended in communities where they are successfully grown.

Sweet corn, carrots, beets and many other vegetables should be planted in April and May. From fifteen to thirty-five different vegetables should be planted in a good garden. From one to five or more successive plantings should be made of many of these vegetables.

Fertilizer—10 or more tons of manure per acre. One-fourth acre garden should have 100 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate broadcast and from 100 to 200 pounds of a complete fertilizer (4-8-4 or 5-10-5 or similar analysis).

A good garden under normal times is estimated to produce food in excess of $250.00 for a family of five. The farm is estimated as capable of producing food needed for a family of five in excess of $700.00 per year.

Four-H club members, homemakers' club members and all agricultural improvement organizations, this year, are working toward the most complete "Live at Home" or feed the farm family program in recent years. "Food for Victory" is the 1942 farm food supply program.

Extension Circular No. 376, entitled, "The Vegetable Garden, Month by Month," gives many helpful suggestions on the home garden. This circular is free on request at the county agent's office.

WALTON SQUAD TAKES TOURNEY

IN BOTH DIVISIONS—HEBRON TROUNCES NEW HAVEN FOR ONLY UPSET OF TOURNEY, FINISHING AS RUNNERS-UP.

Walton's Bearcats, Boone County Conference winners took the 33rd district championship last week in the tourney held at Florence, by winning easily over Burlington Thursday night by a 52-19 count, and trouncing the runners-up, Hebron by a score of 60-22.

The district tourney opened Wednesday night when Walton and Hebron, in the B division met with Walton emerging victorious by a score of 21-17.

The second game of the evening was between Florence and New Haven in the A division, with New Haven emerging on the long end of a 41-13 count.

Thursday New Haven and Florence tangled in the B division, with New Haven emerging on the long end of a 28-19 count.

The final game of the evening was the much-talked-of game between Burlington and Walton. Walton took an early lead, adding to this lead as the game progressed. The final score was Walton 54, Burlington 18. Demoisey, playing only part of the game chalked up 15 for Walton, while Huey collected 8 for Burlington.

In the opening game Friday evening found Burlington and Walton scheduled in the B class. Walton's reserves, greatly strengthened by reserves from the first string line-up walked through the Burlington defense for 26 points, while Burlington collected only 12.

In the only upset of the tournament, Hebron trounced the New Haven five, by a 37-32 count. New Haven had been picked as runner-up in the tourney, having defeated the Hebron team in two previous conference games. Gatje collected 14 points [illegible] winners, while Judge mar[illegible]up 17 for New Haven.

New Haven and Walton's B teams battled it out for the championship Saturday night with Walton carrying off the title by a 33-18 score.

The Walton Bearcats were easy winners in the nightcap, when they defeated Hebron by a 60-22 score. Buckler, lead the attack for the losers with 13 points, while Welch was high for the Walton team with 16., following by Groger and Demoisey with 10 each.

142 Pounds Hybrid Sweet Corn Seed Purchased For Demonstrations

One hundred forty-two pounds of hybrid sweet corn seed have been purchased for demonstrations in home garden improvement work, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Varieties that will be included in the demonstrations are: Certified Golden Cross, Bantam, Golden Hummer Hybrid, Ioana, Kingcrost, Spancross C-4 .13 and Silver Cross Evergreen.

Golden Cross Bantam, Ioana, Silver Cross Evergreen and Golden Hummer Hybrid gave marked increased yields and satisfactory results in 1941. Adopted hybrid sugar corn varieties are showing as marked improvement in yields as is hybrid field corn. The demonstration work will be used to further identify the best hybrids and to increase their use. Farmers who have seed from outstanding good open pollinated sugar corn varieties are urged not to change until they have found varieties that are superior.

THE AMERICAN PRESS
"For Over Fifty Years"

WE CAN LOSE

One of the sentences of President Roosevelt's address last week began, "If we lose this war;" another, "We can lose this war only." In previous speeches our President has not even hinted that there was a possibility of our losing the war. This should serve as a warning to the patriotic citizens of Boone County that we will lose this war if we don't focus our entire energy toward crushing the fanatical aggressors.

There are three ways, according to Mr. Roosevelt, that every American can do his part. First, he must not stop work, in order that we may achieve uninterrupted production. Second, he must not demand any special treatment or advantage for any particular group, such as laborers, farmers, big businessmen. And, lastly, every American must be willing to give up conveniences, to endure hardships, and to make other sacrifices.

These are the times that try men's souls" and America will not fold like France!

"ONE COULD BELIEVE"

"To read some our newspapers," says the Atlanta Journal, "one could believe that it isn't the Japanese or the Germans we are fighting, but the Government at Washington."

A week or so ago Walter Winchell referring to the mammoth uproar in Congress over a minor employee, reminded the solons that the nation declared war upon the Japanese, not Mrs. Roosevelt.

DIVE-BOMBERS AND GLIDERS

Time will soon bring us the answer to speculation as to what the Germans will attempt, whether to drive against Suez, a redoubled offensive against Russia or an all-out attack upon the British Isles.

There are reports from Germany that the production drive is at its highest peak, with emphasis upon large numbers of gliders, such as those used in the seizure of the Island of Crete.

Aircraft plants, it is said, are concentrating upon dive-bombers, rather than high-flying bombers, because the Nazi high command has decided that high-altitude bombing does not pay.

If there is truth to the reported manufacture of gliders, the coming months will see the Germans test their efficacy in battle and proving ground might be behind the Russian lines as well as on British soil.

THE ENGLISH ARE FIGHTING

There is a widespread effort to persuade Americans that the British are asking others to do the "fighting and dying for them."

Figures as to casualties prove that this is untrue but, even if it could be established, we would like some super-patriot to point out the difference between British and American policies.

As a mater of fact, honest Americans know full well that millions of people in this country were not only willing, but anxious, for other armies to do all the fighting in this war, even after the United States had been treacherously attacked.

The fact that, as a nation, we have changed our minds reflects credit upon the people of the republic, who now see their duty clearly and are ready to make their contribution, bitter though it be, to the redemption of a world all but captured by the brutal bandits that parade through the nations under the guise of armies fighting for their countries.

Capt. David Margesson, British War Secretary, recently denounced the "insidious and false" idea that the people of the British isles were not doing their share of the empire's fighting and he cited some figures to show that the statement was untrue.

For example, Germany has 80,000,000 population, to which must be added the people of vassal States, about 50,000,00. Italy has 45,000,000.

The British, in the United Kingdom, number 46,000,000. Of the 504,000,000 in the whole empire, the great majority are Asiatics, with Indians in the lead.

Outside the United Kingdom the white population is not very large: Australia, about 8,000,000; Canada 11,000,000 and South Africa 2,000,000. These figures give an estimated white population.

In proportion to population Britain has kept fewer white troops at home than any other white center except New Zealand. "Of every 100 men killed or wounded in the land fighting in Libya since the beginning of the war, about seventy have come" from the United Kingdom.

GOES BACK TWENTY YEARS

The situation in which we find ourselves today, in the Far East, is a direct result of diplomatic bungling that goes back almost twenty years.

After the World War, the United States led the world in a fever of disarmament. We swallowed the sucker-philosophy that the way to avoid war is to have nothing to fight with. The sad moral is that other nations did not accept this theory.

Not content with junking our battleships and formulating a flaky notion of naval limitations, the United States also agreed, in return for Japanese cooperation in disarmament, not to fortify islands west of Hawaii.

This arrangement was made to order for Japan. It gave the Japanese an opportunity to fill the gap between our navy and theirs and a springboard from which to launch a naval building program that challenges us today.

Accepting the five-three ratio and not fortifying our island bases in the Far East, the United States intentionally made itself incapable of successful war against Japan in that area of the world.

CONSTANCE

S. L. Hempfling will be inducted in the U. S. Naval Reserves sometime Monday or Tuesday. Mr. Hempfling is widely known in Christian Church work and also with the Salvation Army. He has held every office that his church bestowed, and is now teaching a Sunday School class of young boys and girls, who will greatly miss him.

Mrs. Emma Hempfling and Mrs. Lee Muenchenback were guests of Mrs. John H. Hempfling one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hempfling had as their guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Jones, of Walnut Hills.

Glad to report that Mrs. Lucy Sprague, who underwent an operation at St. Elizabeth Hospital, is improving rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tunning called on Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rodamer, Sunday afternoon.

R. V. Lents is ill at this writing. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Warner had as guests, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Phillips and daughter for the past few days.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

BY HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Lesson for March 15.

THE MIGHTY WORKS OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 8:23-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him!—Matthew 8:27.

The mighty works of Jesus declared Him to be the Son of God—yes, very God Himself. Unbelieving men who would discredit the Word of God and deny the Godhood of the Son are at much labor and trouble to explain away the miracles, but without any success.

In our lesson for today we have Christ showing His divine power over the forces of nature, and over the demons of the evil spirit world. We find the disciples in the storm—

I. Fearful—but Not in Danger (vv. 23-27).

The Son of God—who had become Son of man—showed His true humanity by that weariness which made Him sleep through a tempestuous storm such as often came upon Lake Galilee. "Like a general in time of war Jesus slept when He could."

As He calmly slept, fear of destruction laid its deadly grip upon the hearts of the disciples. For the moment they saw only the angry waves, the smallness of their craft, the hopelessness of their situation, apparently forgetting that with Christ in the boat they were in no danger, in spite of the fearfulness of their surroundings and circumstances.

Is this not clearly a lesson for us in this day so full of alarms and fears? If we think of circumstances and conditions round about us we shall be overcome with fear—and well we may, if we do not have Christ with us in the boat of life. But if He is there—if we are His in the kinship of regenerating grace—we are in no danger. Shall we not accept the tender rebuke, "Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith?" (v. 26).

The majestic scene of Christ stilling the tempest, reminds us not only that He can control any force of nature, but also that there is no storm of heart or mind or life to which He cannot authoritatively say, "Peace, be still" (Mark 4:39). Will you trust Him with your problem?

On the other side of the lake Christ met another kind of need—and cared for it. He there delivered two men who were—

II. Demon-dominated, but Not Hopeless (vv. 28-34).

There is only one devil, but he has many demons who do his bidding. The evidence is clear that these demons were able to enter into the personality of a human being and take control of the life. This was not insanity or a sickness of the body, but devil domination.

These two men (Mark and Luke speak only of one—perhaps the more violent of the two) were so strong and wicked because of the demon in them, that their relatives and friends had given them up as hopeless and had sent them out to live in the wilderness.

How horrible is the power of the devil in the life of any man or woman. But let us never forget that while no man can control such a situation (Mark 5:4), God is able. "With God all things are possible" (Matt. 19:26). We have not done all we can for our devil dominated friends and relatives until we have brought them to Jesus.

Notice that the demons recognized Christ as the Son of God (v. 29). They knew that He had the power to control them and that the day was to come when He would judge them.

The men were completely cured (Mark 5:15) as the demons were permitted to enter the herd of swine. Those poor beasts, apparently not content to harbor the evil spirits, cast themselves into the sea.

When the people of the land heard what had taken place they asked Jesus to leave. They evidently weighed the relative value of two men in their right mind over against a herd of swine and decided that they could not afford to have men delivered from the devil at such expense.

Unfortunately the "descendants" of those people seem to be in some of our churches today. They can afford anything in the way of luxury for themselves, but they are sure it costs too much to keep the church open — or to provide a preacher—or suitable equipment for the Lord's work. How unspeakably sad!

Perseverance

Soldiers must break step in marching over a bridge, for the vibration caused by their marching in step would shake down the most solid structure. And so it is with the spiritual obstacle you may meet: steady tramping, the plodding doing of your duty day after day, will in time tumble it over. In any task to which God sets you perseverance is all the power you need.

Minorities can give many reasons why majorities should be nice to minorities.

There comes a time, in the lives of some individuals, when life isn't worth the effort. This explains suicides and some unexplained disappearances.

Soldier of industry... guardian of your electric service... the lineman, like the men in uniform, is ready day or night to go where duty calls.

● The men who guard our coastlines are on the alert 24 hours a day. Aircraft spotters, naval patrols, and the pilots who range far out at sea maintain a constant watch for enemy movements. They know that upon their vigilance depends the safety of the nation.

● Unceasing watchfulness is also demanded of the men who provide your electric service. Theirs, too, is a 24-hour-a-day job... the job of maintaining a service vital to war production, to all industry, to business, agriculture and the home. They must be on guard against possible causes of service interruptions... quick to act in case of storms, floods or other emergencies. Day or night, they must be ready to uphold the tradition of the electric business: "The service must not fail."

● On the power front, as on the coast defense lines, unrelenting vigilance is the watchword for the duration.

County Nutrition Committee Hold February Meeting

The Boone County nutrition committee met in February in order to make plans for the Food for Freedom program of 1942.

Plans were made to distribute Nutrition Posters throughout the county, as a guide for wise food selection. Slides were shown concerning food and its effects on the body. The committee has obtained these slides and will be very glad to let any nutrition or other organization use them free of charge.

As a committee, we are urging more "victory" gardens and increased farm production in order to carry on an excellent food for freedom program.

In the near future, the committee plans to distribute garden production record cards to every family. These will help you and will also help us to evaluate our county production. We are asking that you please keep these records and turn them in to your garden chairman at the end of the year.

The garden chairman for each community is as follows: Burlington, D. H. Norris; Constance, Mrs. George Kottmyer; Florence, Grant Maddox; Grant, Lillard Scott; Hebron, Chester Goodridge; New Haven, Lucian Bradford; Petersburg, Noble Lucas; Verona, Will McCormick; Walton, J. G. Rennington.

An evaluation of the work of the nutrition committee during the year 1941 shows a decided upward trend in the school lunch program.

We appreciate the efforts of all our P. T. A. organizations and other groups who have cooperated in making this much needed improvement.

Alfalfa Improves Soil

Alfalfa is a good soil improvement crop if properly placed and seeded in the rotation, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Properly placed in the rotation would be following corn, small grain or tobacco and on land that is in most instances limed and phosphated, and not counted on for hay for more than three years. properly seeded would be with timothy, orchard grass or bluegrass.

Alfalfa will grow on most all soils in Boone County if properly treated. It produces the largest amount of the cheapest and finest roughage and pasture grown on the farm. It is a soil builder if properly handled and a soil destroyer if improperly handled.

There are more than 700 farms in Boone County that should have from one to ten acres of alfalfa seeded this spring. This seeding would increase the profitable production of these farms.

GRANTS REAL PROPERTY OFFERED AT AUCTION

The live stock and farming tools of Don McVein, will be sold at his farm, Grants Bend, Ky., 6 miles south of Decoursey, on Wednesday, March 18, 10:00 a. m. Eastern War Time. A complete list of the many articles will be found in this issue of The Recorder.

Rel C. Wayman, 623 Washington St., Covington will conduct the public auction.

Real estate, consisting of 335 acres will be sold at private sale at the same time. The farm has a frame house, with a modern kitchen, four outbuildings, guest house, barn and tenant house.

The water supply consists of cisterns, reservoir, pond and springs. Electricity and telephone are available. Abundant timber affords an opportunity for building log cabins by the lakes. Bridle paths could be made, and there is an abundance of game.

BURLINGTON RED CROSS

The ladies who make up the Burlington Unit of the Red Cross are enthusiastic and busy persons.

This group with its sister units under the efficient and capable leadership of Mrs. Lee Huey, is turning out its quota in record time.

To date 337 women's cotton dresses, 48 children's dresses, a number of children's skirts and 83 women's woolen dresses have been made. Besides this babies' layettes quilts and bath robes were made.

If anyone is desirious of helping, but feels as though she is not experienced enough in sewing, there are other jobs she can do. She may press, take out bastings, sew in labels or just mark the sizes in the dresses.

The work is done in the court room every Tuesday and Friday afternoon. Come out! Mrs. Huey will welcome all help.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS MAY JOIN NAVY AND CONTINUE SCHOOL

Freshmen and sophomores in college may join the Navy and continue in school until they are qualified to enter Naval Aviation training or a reserve midshipman's school.

In this new program, college men between 17 and 19 who meet physical requirements and who will continue in college at their own expense for the equivalent of two academic years will be enlisted in Class V-1 of the Naval Reserve as apprentice seamen.

Apprentices who successfully complete one and one-half years of college work and who in the second semester of their second semester of their second year can pass a Navy comprehensive examination will be placed in Class V-5, for naval aviation training, or in Class V-7, which leads to a commission as an Ensign in the Navy.

The men placed in class V-7 will remain in college until they receive their degrees, after which they will enter the reserve midshipman school for further training.

140,000 ENLIST IN NAVY SINCE DECEMBER 7TH

The Navy Department announced that enlistments since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, has passed well over the 140,000 mark, and that enlistments are continuing at a heavy rate.

The Navy Department expects to continue enlistments on an entirely voluntary basis.

In answer to many queries coming into the Navy Department, the Chief of the Bureau of Navigation stated that men registered under the Selective Service System are free to enlist voluntarily in the Navy up to the time they are inducted into the Army. It is understood that registrants now are inducted into the Army immediately after examination by the Army Medical Examining Board.

The Chief of the Bureau of Navigation expressed gratification at the response of the thousands of young men who have decided to join the rapidly expanding United States Navy in defense of their country, as an answer to the Axis threat which culminated in the treacherous Japanese attack on December 7.

Why Be Old At 40?

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Do you have severe pains in the muscles of your legs?

Do you walk with toes pointed out?

Are you bedeviled by a thousand demons tearing at your back?

Do you hate to get up in the morning?

Do you experience foot pain when walking?

Can you be on your feet all day without fatigue?

Any or all of these conditions may indicate that one or more of the four arches of your feet are on the verge of collapse. There is really no end to the trouble that such a condition could cause. Around the bones and muscles of your feet are numerous nerves, all of which are directly connected with the nerve center. Severe pains in your feet are transmitted to every part of your body.

What can you do about it?

For years men and women have withstood the aches and misery due to some foot condition and have always decided ::There is nothing you can do about it."

Now Comes a Sure Way to Relief for many aches and pains due to faulty foot condition. You will be eager to rise each morning and meet the conditions of the new day. You will have the springy active step of a youngster of eighteen. You will not be old at forty! There is no secret to it. You don't have to take a long rest, nor a change of climate. You need only to be correctly fitted in a pair of surgical shoes. You may think this is a simple way to end all of pain and misery, you have been suffering for a good many years, but after all don't the simplest things in life bring the greatest joy?

Resolve today that you will pronounce the death sentence on the misery aches and pains due to foot trouble.—Adv.

This Week On The Home Front

Here is a resume of important happenings:

May requistion all tires, new, and used, and in use.

Typewriter sales, new and used, stopped.

No tin cans at stores, everything to be in glass.

County tire quotas subject to revision.

Trucks, truck-tractor, trailer sales to be rationed.

Air conditioning may be affected.

Wall phones must stay, no more dials.

Profiteering stopped in rubber goods.

Bedding equipment prices frozen.

Cigaret prices frozen.

Rent profiteering in defense areas halted.

"Little Business" to get share of war work.

Price ceiling in plumbing, heating fixtures planned.

Junk dealers hit for high hauling charges.

Veterans of Foreign wars mobilized by OCD.

Announcement: 45,000 tanks will be made on schedule this year, also enough aluminum available for 60-000 warplane schedule in '42.

Production records of our speeding war machine are largely military secrets, but a good idea of the rapid progress being made in gearing the nation's stupendous industrial machine to all-out war production can be read in the ever accelerated activities of the War Production Board and its subsidiary authorities.

Orders governing priorities, rationing and prices flash from Washington hourly in ever increasing tempo. While everyone of them spell less and less for the citizen on the home front, there is behind them the heartening assurance that each is an effective step toward victory.

There is no aspect or circumstance of civilian life that is not being affected.

* * *

Sugar rationing is a week nearer and so far as strategic rubber is concerned, it is beginning to look as if even the old tires we now have on our cars, may be requisitioned from us for military use.

* * *

Today you cannot buy a typewriter, either new or used, because the typewriter companies have been ordered to use their machinery to make munitions.

* * *

Tin cans are out for the duration for commercial canning, and your canned goods will soon be coming in glass jars, restricted to uniform shape and larger, to save labor and shipping costs. Only the army and navy will get tinned foods.

* * *

Rubber was taken out of women's corsets and foundation garments two weeks ago, and now the War Production Board has told the men and boys their suits and overcoats must be cut. This for a 26 per cent saving in woolen cloth. Banned is the extra pair of pants, suits for formal wear, the double-breasted tuxedo. On business suits there will be no cuffs on the pants, no pleats anywhere, no belted effects.

* * *

Speaking again of rubber, manufacturers of athletic equipment are trying reclaimed rubber for tennis balls, base-balls, squash balls. There may be fewer runs and more tennis pellets afoul the net. There is yet no solution for the golf-ball problem.

* * *

County quotas of tires and tubes are not altogether rigid, but are being revised on the basic of data being constantly collected by the Office of Price Administration. Original quotas were fixed arbitrarily on the basis of motor vehicle registration. County quotas are now being adjusted to meet local conditions, such as concentrated local defense activities, seasonal demands like harvesting and lumbering, and data on the number of registered vehicles eligible for tire purchase certificates.

* * *

Truck truck-tractor and trailer sales, banned by "freeze orders" since Pearl Harbor, reopened this week by order of the Director of Industry Operations. Like passenger automobiles, they will be allocated. If you hope for a new truck you must apply to one of the nearby field offices of the Federal Bureau of Carriers of inter-state commerce.

* * *

However, the government wants to keep the commercial and industrial vehicles now in use, running, as a war necessity. During the last week it made possible continued supply of spare parts by raising the priority preference rating for parts. Order apply to medium and heavy.

* * *

Farmers who have been longing for a new style phone, must continue going to the wall and cranking, and city folk who are waiting for dials will be disappointed for the duration. WPB has ordered stoppage of luxury installations.

* * *

All this adds up to two items of very good news: (1) midwest plant now has new "M-40" medium tank rolling off the assembly line, and WPB announces that the President's goal of 45,000 tanks will be passed this year. (a) Wm. L. Batt, director of materials, announces that there will be enough aluminum to make the 60,000 planes in 1942 and the 125,000 in 1943, the President's program demanded.

* * *

Up to now binder twine made of agave was restricted to farm use. Now the farmers will have to share it so some can be used to sew sand bags for defense.

* * *

Private manufacturers trying to commercialize sale of gas masks for civilian use are ordered to stop. All masks to be made by order of government and to army specifications, and only for military and Civilian Defense use.

* * *

Cigaret manufacturers must remain where they are by OPA order. While rationing and priorities are causing civilian shortages, Mr. Henderson's squelching attempts to hike prices. For example, last week:

* * *

Practically every type of bedding adjuncts went under a price ceiling and prices were set back to February 23 figure.

Mr. Henderson warned rubber goods dealers against unwarranted price demands: "War in the Pacific—not—an excuse for profiteering," he told the dealers, and asked public to report cases.

* * *

Landlords in 20 defense areas in 20 states who have been upping rents were ordered to put their rates back, given 60 days to comply. Said Mr. Henderson: "We're not going to let anybody profiteer on rents . . ." Government will step in if local rent committees can't or don't enforce. Akron, Youngstown - Warren, Cleveland, Canton and Ravenna landlords included. OPA plans to take similar action soon in 100 additional rent areas.

"Little business" will now have its important place in the nation's war production efofrt. From the office of Chairman Donald Nelson of the WPB come the following directives: (1) A 11 supply contracts will now be by negotiation instead of by competitive bidding, unless specifically authorized otherwise; (2) In placing contracts, emphasis will be placed on speed rather than price; (3) Contracts for simpler articles will get to smaller firms; (4) Contracts go to firms where smallest quantity of new machinery is needed. These new rules, Mr. Nelson points out, will not only speed war production, but will make for "maximum utilization of the productive capacity of the nation."

Plan Mid-Week Trips To Ease Week-End Congestion!

SAVE TIME Pre-arrange Your Trip
SAVE MATERIALS Vital to War Efforts
AVOID CROWDS Go before Mid-Summer

YOU can travel today as before — but you'll be helping yourself as well as your country if you cooperate in several important ways. Wartime conditions tend to crowd transportation facilities on week-ends, the only time many soldiers, sailors, war workers can travel. Taking mid-week trips will relieve congestion—for instance, shopping tours, social visits, business trips, recreational travel, even visits to men at camps. And if you'll arrange to get tickets, schedules, information well before departure time, you'll avoid delays and confusion.

If you're taking a vacation this year plan to go before the mid-summer rush. Going by bus instead of by car, you'll be saving vital materials America needs. Buses carry a passenger several times as far per pound of rubber, per gallon of fuel.

Gayety Theater News

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Romantic trends, changing with public idols, fancy and the years, find quick reflection on the screen, according to Alexander Hall, who has been directing pictures long enough to note the changes.

Hall who directed Fredric March and Loretta Young in Columbia's "Bedtime Story," gay new comedy at the Gayety, has his own explanation for the disappearance of the matinee idols, the Great Lovers of earlier screen history.

"The trend today is toward the Marchs, the Cary Grants and the Gables, who fight off Loretta Youngs and Rosalind Russells for eight reels with seeming nochalance," he pointed out. "Today's hero and heroine express their respective opinions, in biting sarcasm withering wisecracks, seldom, if ever falling into a clinch."

Hall would cite "Bedtime Story" as a perfect example. Hectic story of a Broadway star, "the first lady of the stage," and her playwright-husband.

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

Elements designed to appeal to lovers of a wide range of music as well as suspenseful drama are combined in "They Meet Again," the latest Jean Hersholt starring vehicle in which he plays his popular role of "Dr. Christian."

This is a story of wrong committed by the state on an innocent bank teller, accused and found guilty of a crime he did not commit. "Dr. Christian's" efforts on his behalf, and on behalf of the man's motherless daughter, make for suspense in the plot. The child, a nine-year-old singing prodigy, all but passes away as a result of a broken heart which the country doctor is unable to mend.

Plus

Sydney Toler in "Chan in Rio" will be the second feature of the evening. Don't miss this big double bill.

* * *

WED., THURSDAY & FRIDAY

"Hellzappoin'," modestly described in the greatest smash-bang, eye-filling, tune-filled show to hit New York in a dozen years, has reached the screen with the original stars, Olsen and Johnson, plus Martha Raye, Hugh Herbert, Mischa Auer, Jane Frazee and Robert Paige.

Released by Universal, the Jules Levey Mayfair production boasts many new song hits composed for the picture. Singing and dancing choruses together with a score of unexpected innovations are declared to surpass many highlights of the great Broadway success.

Included in the tune list are "Watch The Birdie," sung by Martha Raye and The Six Hits, "You Were There," sung by Jane Frazee and chorus, "Heaven For Two," warbled by Jane Frazee and Robert Paige and the Martha Raye number, "What Kind of Love Is This?"

Olsen and Johnson, of course play their own crackpot, screwball, zany selves just as they did in the New York play, and Miss Raye has the role of an overgrown kiddie vaudeville player.

HILL TOP

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Akin and family in the death of their son.

A Week Of The War

President Roosevelt wrote War Production Chairman Nelson "The months just ahead are the critical months of the war. Victory depends in large measure on the increased war production we are able to get from our factories and arsenals in the spring and summer of 1942 . . . This is total war. We are under fire—soldiers and civilians alike . . . We are all belligerents. To win we must fight . . ."

Chairman Nelson announced a "continuing national drive" has been undertaken" to increase production immediately in plants which now have war contracts and to convert other plans to war production as speedily and as completely as possible." He said the program will entail 168 hours work per week for every machine in war plants, awards for outstanding industrial accomplishment, and establishment of joint labor-management war plant committees to consider suggestions "from all quarters" for increased production.

The President, in a radio address said "We Americans have been compelled to yield ground, but we will regain it . . . Soon, we and not our enemies will have the offensive; we, not they will win the final battles; and we, not they, will make the final peace . . . Actually we are taking a heavy toll of the enemy every day that goes by . . ."

Mr. Roosevelt said "Germany, Italy, and Japan are very close to their maximum output of planes, guns, tanks and ships. The United Nations are not—especially the United States of America . . ." He asked Americans not to stop work "for a single day . . . until the war is won," not to demand special privileges for any one group, and to give up conveniences cheerfully when necessary.

Foreign Relations

Under Secretary of State Welles announced two agreements signed with Brazil to strengthen hemispheric solidarity and to provide Lease Administrator Settinius re-Lease Administrator Setttinius reported Lend-Lease aid for January reached $462,000,000, and actual shipments have now exceeded two billion dollars. Allocations for Lend Lease purposes totaled more than $12 billion as of February 19.

The U. S. and Britain signed a pact postponing indefinitely final settlement of Lend-Lease costs. The pact commits both nations to virtually unlimited free trade, and provides final terms of the settlement "shall be such as not to burden commerce between the two countries." Mr. Welles announced the Vichy French Government has given the U. S. assurances it will not aid the Axis beyond terms of the armistice agreements.

Production And Conversion

The War Production Board said conversion of peacetime industrial plants to war production will be "over the hump" by late fall. Complete conversion of the automobile industry is expected by September 1, the Board said. The Board announced its industry branch heads are determined amounts of each product needed for the war effort, preparatory to the converting of each industry to war production.

Rationing

Price Administrator Henderson stated national registration for sugar rationing books will be held over a four-day period, probably during the last week in March. Approximately 1,400,000 school teachers will serve as registrars, and 245,000 schools will be used. One adult may register for each "family unit."

The WPB announced a rationing program beginning March 9 for 196,000 new trucks and truck trailers which will be available for rationing during the next 22 months. The rationing will be administered jointly by the WPB and the Office of Defense Transportation. Mr. Henderson said State quotas provide 120,000 new 1942 passenger automobiles for eligible buyers during March, April and May. Total number of cars earmarked for civilian purchase during the next 12 months is 340,000. No passenger car retreaded tires will be available in March, he said.

The War Front

The Navy reported U. S. Naval forces sank 53 enemy ships between December 10, 1941, and February 24, 1942, probably sank seven more and damaged five additional. The Army announced from December 7 to February 27 it probably sank as least 19 Japanese ships, seriously damaged 31 others, and shot down 245 planes—not including 165 Japanese planes shot down by the American volunteer group serving in the Chinese Army. The Navy said in the first two months of this year 116 ships of United Nations registry were attacked in the western half of the Atlantic, and 56 attacks were made by the Navy on enemy submarines. Three U-boats are believed sunk and four are believed damaged.

Gen. MacArthur's troops attacked enemy lines in the Philippines and advanced one to five miles all along the front. Two more U. S. tankers were torpedoed off the Atlantic coast.

Army

Congress completed action on the new $32 billion Appropriation Bill, providing more than $23 billion for the Army, five billion dollars for Lend-Lease, and the remainder for expansion of the merchant marine. The President by Executive Order reorganized the Army to speed up and coordinate military action. The President set up three basic units under the Army Chief of Staff, for ground forces, air forces, and "services of supply"—each with its own commanding general.

The House passed legislation increasing from one month to one year the payment to dependents of the salaries of members of the armed forces captured by the enemy. The legislation would also increase the pay of officers and men serving outside continental U. S. by from 10 to 20 percent. The President established the Army Specialists Corps, a unit of uniformed civilian employees who may be appointed to War Department positions regardless of Civil Service status. War Secretary Stimson announced soldiers are no longer required to obtain permission before they can be married. He said men with dependents may enlist or reenlist if they sign a statement that their dependents have sufficient means of outside support.

Commissions For Men With Dependents

The Army announced a new policy by which men with dependents may enlist for the sole purpose of qualifying as officers, and if they fail to make the grade may be transferred to the enlisted reserves. They would not then be called for active service until their previous classifications in the draft were called. Age limits are 18 to 45. All candidates must serve four months in replacement centers or field units before eligible for officer candidates' schools. The new policy is designed to meet Army needs this year of 75,000 new officers selected from 95,000 candidates.

Selective Service

Selective Service Director Hershey reported the third national lottery to determine order numbers for February 16 registrants will be held in Washington March 17, but new registrants probably will not be called upon before May.

Agriculture

The Agriculture Department announced farmers' 1941 cash income reached almost 12 billion—highest since 1920, and 29 percent greater than 1940. The WPA said its employment schedules for March will be reduced by 62,000, with an equal or greater reduction tentatively set for April, to help meet seasonal farm labor demands. Agriculture Secretary Wickard asked State and county Department of Agriculture War Boards to aid local draft boards in determining occupational deferments of farmers, by furnishing necessary information. Sixteen Agriculture Department agencies were consolidated by Executive Order into three new agencies.

Housing

To eliminate duplication and overlapping of effort, the President by Executive Order consolidated 16 Government housing agencies into one organization to be known as the National Housing Agency, with John Blandford, Jr., Assistant Director of the Budget, as Administrator. At the same time, the President abolished the Federal Loan Agency and transferred all non-housing units of this agency to the Department of Commerce.

FAIR GROUNDS LAKE SURVEYED

BY AGRICULTURAL ENGINEER —LAKE WILL COVER TWO ACRES WITH DAM FIFTEEN FEET HIGH.

Earl Welch, agricultural engineer of the College completed the preliminary blueprint survey of the Boone County 4-H and Utopia Fair Grounds' lake last Friday, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The lake, as surveyed, will cover 2.0 acres of land. The dam will be fifteen feet high, 200 feet long and the water level of the spillway will stand 11 feet deep plus the depth dug out in constructing the dam, which will make 15 feet or more of water at the deeper point. The dam will back the water within one foot elevation of the old Hawkins Spring and within three feet elevation of the low point of the road.

The war, no doubt, will postpone most construction plans for the grounds. However, the 4-H and Utopia Club Council is proceeding to make blueprint plans for the lake, the buildings and the landscaping of the grounds.

John L. Conner, treasurer of the Fair Grounds Committee, reports that all of the $3,651.00 pledged has been paid in, except $184.00 and that these pledges will probably be paid in the near future.

Florence Lady Named On State Salvage Committee

Mrs. Nora G. Layne, Florence, was named to serve on the State Salvage Committee this week by Judge E. C. O'Rear, president of the state organization and General G. Lee McClain, executive secretary.

Mrs. Layne has named Mrs. Allen Gaines of Walton, as chairman of Boone County and will name various community chairman for the entire county in the near future.

Mrs. Allen Gaines and J. B. Heizer have been appointed chairmen of the committee for Defense in Boone County.

FARMERS SOW TOBACCO BEDS

OVER WIDE SECTION OF COUNTY—1123 TOBACCO GROWERS LISTED IN COUNTY THIS YEAR.

Farmers over a wide section of the county began in earnest to burn and sow tobacco plant beds the past week. Rains, the latter part of the week forced many to postpone work on this job.

Boone County this year has 1123 tobacco growers listed under the AAA program with allotments totalling 2261.8 acres.

Golden Burley (of which there are a dozen varieties so called) is the most talked of variety. Experiment Station No. 16 is the next most popular. Where Fusarium will in the river bottoms is a problem the variety Experiment Station No. 33 is both the most popular and the most profitable variety. Experiment Station No. 48 is a new variety that is both root rot resisting and Mosaic resistant.

Many growers last year, due to dry weather, used too much fertilizer on their plant beds and in many instances killed their plants after they came up. Not more than 40 pounds to 50 pounds of a good fertilizer per 100 running feet of a nine foot bed should be used.

Charles L. Hempfling, of Taylorsport is one farmer who will have a cyanamid treated bed that will not have to be burned this year. He has used this method of fertilizing and treating to kill weed seeds for five years with good results.

Growers who received Experiment Station No. 48 tobacco seed this week for small size demonstrations are J. G. Pennington, of Walton; Will McCormick, of Verona; Allen Morris, and Walter King of Verona; S. B. Scott of Grant and Kenneth Stephens, of Hamilton.

Woodruff Wilson

Funeral services for Woodruff Wilson, 80, who died Sunday at 1:30 p. m. were held at Chambers and Grubbs' funeral home, Tuesday at 10:30 a. m., with Rev. R. F. Demoney officiating.

He leaves one brother Lewis Wilson and two nephews of Independence.

Burial was in Independence cemetery, with Rev. Bedinger holding brief services.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Emma McMullen

Services were held at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Tharp & Stith funeral home, Florence, for Mrs. Emma Jane McMullen, who died Friday at her home at Union, Boone County. Burial was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Burlington.

Mrs. McMullen was a life-long resident of Boone County and a member of the Gunpowder Baptist Church.

She is survived by her daughter Mayme; two sons, Charles H. and L. W. McMullen of Lawrenceburg, Ind.; 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Tharp & Stith were in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Edward Maurer

Active in schools and church work for many years, Mrs. Martha Board Maurer, 55, wife of Capt. Edward Maurer, hull inspector for the U. S. Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, died Tuesday night at St. Joseph Infirmary, Louisville.

Mrs. Maurer, whose home was at 2810 W. Kentucky, was stricken with a brain hemorrhage February 22 while playing the piano for her Sunday school class at Parkland Baptist Church.

Native of Meade County, she was president of the Woman's Board of Managers in the Baptist Orphans' Home, former president of the Parkland Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association, and secretary of the Women's Missionary Society of her church.

Surviving, also, son, Joseph E., student at Harvard University Medical School; daughter, Miss Francis B., Louisville, and brother, H. H. Board, Brandenburg.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at Parkland Baptist Church, Louisville. Burial was in Captain Anderson cemetery, Brandenburg.

Sarah Felthaus Now Connected With Beauty Shoppe

Miss Sarah Felthaus, one of Boone County's popular young ladies, a graduate of the Hamilton High School in the class of 1937 has completed a beauty course from the Moler Beauty Culture College.

Miss Felthaus has obtained an outstanding rating from this school and has passed the Ohio Board of Examiner. This past month she went to Frankfort, Ky., where she completed her Kentucky Board of Examiners with an above the average rating.

Miss Felthaus will be connected with the Nell Craig Beauty Shoppe, located at 704 Dixie Highway, Erlanger, Ky. This shoppe is one of the most modern and best equipped salon in this section. Mrs. Craig, the owner and manager of this establishment is also a graduate of the Moler Beauty Culture College and has had many years of experience.

Miss Felthaus will be glad to welcome her many friends to come in and try one of the new Carter permanent waves, or one of the other waves that are featured.

If your hairdo isn't becoming to you, try one of the new personality hairdresses offered at this shoppe by these efficient operators.

Federal Grader To Visit Local School

The correct methods of sorting, grading, stripping and preparing tobacco for the market will be demonstrated at the Hebron High School, on Monday, March 23, by Mr. J. F. Hart, a Federal grader, from the Tobacco Section, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Washington, D. C. He will have with him samples of all the Federal grades of tobacco.

This demonstration will take place in the vocational agriculture department of the school and is open to any person in the community who may be interested in attending.

SEEDS AND CROPS MEETING FRIDAY

W. JOHNSTONE AND ENCIL DEAN WILL BE GUEST SPEAKERS—MEETING WILL BE VERY EDUCATIONAL.

Boone County farmers will have the opportunity to discuss two important subjects Friday, March 20, at the court house in Burlington, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. They are "Better Crops" and "Better Seeds."

Speakers on the program include Wm. Johnstone, crops field agent, and Encil Dean, State seed inspector. The program for the meeting is on Eastern War Time, and as follows:

1:30 p. m.—"A Better Crops Program for 1942," Wm. Johnstone.

2:45 p. m.—"Good Seeds, What They Mean and How to Know Them," Encil Dean, State Seed Inspector.

3:30 p. m.—Seeding experiences of leading farmers.

There is no more important job than getting good seed. Mr. Dean has wide experience as state seed inspector and presents his subject in an instructive and highly educational manner. The meeting is being held in the afternoon on Eastern War Time so that the largest number of farmers may be able to attend. This meeting will be one of the best educational meetings this year for both farmers and seed dealers. Don't miss this meeting!

THREE ELECTED AS SUPERVISORS

OF SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT FOR THREE-YEAR TERM AT ELECTION HELD SATURDAY.

Wm. Presser of Carlton, H. E. White of Burlington, and John C. Bedinger of Walton were elected Soil Conservation District Supervisors for three-year terms by Boone County landowners in the county election held last Saturday, according to C. L. Hempfling, Polling Superintendent.

Grover C. Ransom and C. L. Hempfling were previously appointed under the Soil Conservation District Law by the State Committee. This board of five supervisors will plan the program of work for the district and will enter into agreements with various government agencies on work in soil conservation that will be supplied interested farmers. Approximately four months will be required to complete work agreements and to set up definite Soil Conservation projects that will be offered.

William Q. Potter Honored At Party

Leaders of the Northern Kentucky Boy Scout Council gave a farewell party at the Covington Y. M. C. A. Thursday night in honor of William Q. Potter, the council's assistant scout executive, who assumes duties of the Western Kentucky Council, Owensboro, Monday.

A camera, developing outfit, and a check were presented him. Ira F. Cummins, chairman of the South Kenton Scout District; J. W. Quesnell, committeeman of the Covington District, and Robert Clore, committeeman of the Boone County District, made the presentations.

Mr. Potter goes to western Kentucky after having been local assistant executive for the past 2½ years.

Belleview Church To Present Easter Drama

The Belleview Church of Christ announces the production of an Easter drama entitled, "Lord of Glory," to be presented on Sunday evening, April 5th in the church auditorium. This play is very fine, depicting the events surrounding the death, burial and resurrection of our Lord, and we believe it should be a source of inspiration and renewed faith to all who may witness it.

New scenery and lighting effects as well as an excellent cast ought to insure an unusually good performance.

Inasmuch as the auditorium is a small one, the public is warned if you wish to see the play—come early! At the Christmas play, more than fifty persons could not even find standing room.

The cast is as follows:

Peter—Jack Purdy.
James—Tommy Stevens.
John—John Nead.
Bartholomew—Billy Kruse.
Thomas—Gene Purdy.
Philip—Louis Kelley.
Mary, the mother—Pauline Rouse
Mary Magdalene—Fern Nead.
Salome—Jeanette Purdy.
Johanne—Mrs. Badger (Helen) Buckler.
Nicodemus—George Cook.
Miriam, his wife—Mary Cook.
Eunice the wife of Caiaphas—Irmel White.
Samaritan Woman and Child—Mayme Holbrook and Junior Holbrook.
Annas, the high priest—Russell Rogers.
Attendant Priests — Raymond Hightower and Charles Newman.

Earl Johnson of Ludlow R. 2 was a pleasant caller at this office Saturday. While here Mr. Johnson renewed his subscription for another year.

Several Boone County physicians and their wives attended the Licking Valley Medical Society and its Auxiliary meeting at Williamstown, last Thursday. The next meeting will be held at Burlington in June.

The ladies Gym Class will meet at the school house Friday night of this week at 8:30 Eastern War Time.

WALTON QUINTET REGION CHAMPS

WILL MEET HARTFORD IN OPENING STATE CONTEST TO BE HELD AT LOUISVILLE THIS WEEK.

Walton's Bearcats walked away with the Ninth Regional championship Saturday night at Dixie Heights, when they defeated Covington by a 40-21 count.

In the final game of the tournament Walton took an early lead, with the close of the first quarter finding them on top by a 10-0 count. Walton led by 23-10 at the half, 27-14 at the three-quarter mark.

Demoisey, Walton center, turned in a brilliant performance with eight field goals and three free throws for 19 points. Simpson added eight and Groger had seven for Walton. Covington's attack was led by Shelton with five.

The official all-tournament team chosen by a coaches' committee, follows: Forwards, Harold Johnson, of Erlanger, Peck Perry, of Dayton, Bernard Hungler of Covington, and Russell Groger of Walton; centers, Harry Smith, of Covington and Truett Demoisey, of Walton; guards, Wally Morgan of Simon Kenton, Jack Dorna of Dayton, Myron Reinhardt of Alexandria and Paul Simpson, of Walton.

Winners of 28 of their 30 games this season and with the two defeats properly avenged, the big Walton Bearcat quintet turned its eye toward the 25th annual state high school basketball tournament at Louisville.

The Bearcats will get their opening test in the state play at 8:30 C. W. T., Thursday against Hartford a western Kentucky team.

The Walton team left yesterday (Wednesday) for Louisville, and will be followed by many Boone County supporters when they play Thursday night.

Quarter-finals will be play at 2, 3, 7:30 and 8:30 Friday; semi-finals at 2 and 3 Saturday afternoon; the consolation game between defeated semifinalists at 8:30 Saturday night, and the championship contest at 9:45 Saturday night.

A Week Of The War

The War Production Board said shortages of some materials and manpower were more limiting factors in all-out production than difficulties in obtaining production facilities. The Board reported airplane production, though ahead of schedule, would be more advanced if more materials had been available. Chairman Nelson said he has not "recognized the possibility" that any phase of the production program would fail to meet the goals announced by President Roosevelt.

To speed production Mr. Nelson ordered all war supply contracts to be negotiated instead of determined by competitive bidding. Contracts will be assigned to firms requiring smallest quantities of new equipment to fill orders, he said. The WPB began an inventory of all idle machine tools to make them available for war production.

The WPB said war expenditures during February reached nearly $100 million a day, 18 percent greater than in January. RFC disbursements and Treasury checks for war purposes totaled $2,330 million for the month. The Board announced mass production of tanks making greater use of cast steel and welded hulls has begun. Strip mills that last year made sheet steel for automobile bodies are being converted to manufacture ship plate. The Navy Ordnance Bureau said its contractual obligations increased 49 percent in the two months after Pearl Harbor.

Rationing

Price Administrator Henderson reported United Nations' rubber requirements will not allow any rubber for new or recapped tires for nonessential passenger cars. There is not sufficient rubber now to sustain the rate of military production and the most essential civilian needs, he said. To insure maximum durability of tires now being recapped, Mr. Henderson said he is developing minimum standards for grades of recapping material being manufactured. The WPB reported athletic equipment manufacturers experimenting with reclaimed rubber have developed serviceable squash and tennis balls and are working to develop an all-reclaimed core for baseballs. The WPB Sugar Section began a survey of sugar situation in all non-Axis countries to find all supplies of sugar available to the United Nations.

The WPB stopped all sales and deliveries of new and used typewriters. Chairman Nelson authorized the Office of Price Administration to ration such typewriters at both wholesale and retail levels. Petroleum Coordinator Ickes said gasoline very likely will be rationed if the war council of the petroleum industry recommends such action.

Civilian Defense

President Roosevelt authorized the OCD to begin placing orders for civilian defense workers' equipment and medical supplies. OCD Director Landis requested civic officials not to ask OCD Headquarters for equipment because distribution will be based on a priorities system established by the War and Navy Departments. Priorities will be based on likelihood of attack, vlunerability, and importance of war production of manufacturing plants in the community.

The House passed and sent to conference a bill providing the War Damage Corporation with a fund of a billion dollars to insure property in the U. S. against damage by enemy attack. Director Landis said regional blackouts are planned for later in the spring, and a New England test blackout probably will be held this month. He announced a plan whereby the 3,600 posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will cooperate with local defense councils in civilian mobilization.

The War Front

Gen MacArthur's small air force sank more than 30,000 tons of Japanese shipping in Subic Bay, resulting in the loss of thousands of enemy soldiers. U. S. forces in operations west of the Gilbert Islands destroyed 16 of a firmation of 18 Japanese heavy bombers. U. S. submarines in the Far East torpedoed 10 additional enemy vessels. U. S. submarines in the Far East torpedoed 10 additional enemy vessels. Enemy U-boats in the Atlantic sank the destroyer Jacob Jones, an ore carrier and two freighters. Gen Wavell was relieved of command of United Nations forces in the East Inlies to resume as Commander in Chief of India.

War Taxes

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau asked Congress to increase this year's Federal revenue by at least $7,600 million to reach the $7,600 billion goal set by the President in his Budget Message. Mr. Morgenthau recommended income taxes be doubled on incomes below $10,000 to help raise $3,200 million. He also recommended increases of $3 billion in corporation taxes and $1,340 million in excise taxes. He asked that the national debt limit be raised from $65 to $125 billion.

Army Progress

President Roosevelt signed the $32 billion Fifth Supplemental War Appropriations Bill providing $23 billion for the Army. Congress completed action on legislation increasing the pay of enlisted men and officers serving outside continental United States. The Senate approved a bill providing clothing and equipment allowances of $150 for commissioned officers. Secretary Stimson announced formation of the Seventh Armored Division with 10,000 men at Camp Polk, La. He said sulfanilamide is now standard equipment for all U. S. troops in combat areas because it was found particularly effective in curing abdominal wounds at Pearl Harbor.

The War Department estimated there are approximately a million Selective Service IIIA registrants of whom 150,000 are suitable as prospective officers under the plan calling for four months training in field units and then at least two months in Officer Candidate Schools. The Department said after the March 17 lottery, SS registrants will be placed in two groups—one of the new and the other of the earlier registrants. Local boards will set ratios between the two groups in calling men for induction. Furloughs to adjust civilian affairs in cases of undue hardship caused by immediate induction will be granted hereafter by the Army and not by local boards.

Air

The Civil Aeronautics Administration reported it has given courses to more than 100,000 pilots since 1939 at an average cost of $600. The CAA said it also has given several thousands refresher courses to instructors at a cost of $250 each. The Office of Education said the second set of types of 500,000 model planes being made by American school children for the Army, Navy and civilian defense personnel will be sent local project directors about March 20.

Priorities And Allocations

The WPB ordered manufacture of radios and phonographs for civilian use to be discontinued after April 22, 1942. The industry will manufacture Army Signal Corps equipment and other war production. The Board restricted installations of home and business telephones to save scarce materials. The Board ordered most women's hosiery manufactured after April 1 to be of rayon instead of silk and nylon. Almost the entire output of cotton duck and teak was allocated to the armed services. Greater priority assistance was extended for repair and maintenance of essential mine machinery, and for materials and equipment used by commercial airlines.

Prices

Price Administrator Henderson notified State and local authorities in 20 defense areas in 13 States to reduce inflated rents within 60 days or he will set rent ceilings. He said he plans similar rent action in 100 other areas. Mr. Henderson requested immediate restoration of prices for mechanical refrigerators at February 2 levels. He advised consumers not to purchase rubber products when prices appear excessive, because for many rubber products made months ago there is "no excuse for charging more than before Pearl Harbor."

Labor

The President asked Congress for a $100 million WPA appropriation to relieve communities dislocated by conversion to war industries, and to retrain workers. Federal Security Administrator McNutt said public employment offices are referring workers to war production jobs before filling requests for men in civilian production.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS THE MESSIAH FORETELLS HIS DEATH

LESSON TEXT—Mark 8:27-37.
GOLDEN TEXT—For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it.—Mark 8:35.

Jesus came into the world as the Redeemer of men—and that means He came to die. The prophets who wrote centuries before His coming presented Him as both the suffering and the reigning Messiah. However, to the minds of the Jewish people only the idea of His glory and kingship was acceptable, not of His suffering and death.

Apparently His own disciples had this same impression and it therefore became necessary for Jesus as He came to the last months of His earthly ministry to speak plainly to them about these matters.

I. Recognition of Christ by Faith (vv. 27-30).

As a foundation for right thinking on any spiritual question there must be recognition of Christ's deity. He drew forth such a confession from the disciples by asking who men said that He was. Notice that while there was difference of opinion, all had a high opinion of Him, calling Him John the Baptist, Elijah, or one of the prophets. They knew that a great man was in their midst, and had to admit it, even though they hated and opposed Him. But it is not enough to accept Christ as a great man, as a teacher, a prophet, or an example. Nor is it enough to tell what others think of Him. The question quickly becomes: "Whom say ye that I am?" Have you answered that question? What will you do with Jesus Christ?

Peter responded with a straightforward, heaven-born confession of Christ as the Son of the living God (cf. Matt. 16:16-18) upon which Christ established His church.

II. Rejection and Crucifixion Prophesied (vv. 31, 32).

The foundation of faith in Him having been laid, Christ plainly laid before the disciples the fact of His coming rejection and death. Notice the word "must" in verse 31. "There was an imperative necessity for these things. But why must He die? This question is fully answered elsewhere in the Bible (John 3:14; Heb. 9:22; Isa. 53:4-6; II Cor. 5:21; Gal. 3:13; I Pet. 2:24). There could have been no salvation for any sinner if He had not died (Gal. 3:10, 13; II Cor. 5:21; Rom. 3:20-26)" (John W. Bradbury).

Note also that He "must rise again" (v. 31). He died for our sins, but "was raised again for our justification" (Rom. 4:25).

III. Rebuke of Unbelief (vv. 32, 33).

Peter, quick to accept Jesus as the Son of God, permitted Satan to blind his mind to the necessity of the cross, and thus became a stumbling block of unbelief, calling forth a severe rebuke from Jesus.

It is a striking and humbling thought that the very one who a moment before spoke such acceptable words of recognition of Christ's deity could by unbelief so quickly become the tool of Satan. "My soul, be on thy guard" lest such temptation overtake thee!

May we also learn from this incident that we do well to weigh the words of even good men lest in a moment of weakness or unbelief they say that which may lead us astray. God's Word alone is sure!

IV. Requirements of Discipleship (vv. 34-37).

Following the Christ of Calvary calls for a willingness to say "no" to self (literally, to deny any connection with self-life) and to follow through with Him on the path of shame and crucifixion. No self-will and no compromise are permissible to Christ's disciples.

Foolishly to attempt to hold one's life for self is to lose it. That painful loss has left brokenhearted, wrecked lives all along the path of man's history. But why should any one do it? Equally foolish is the one who supposes that this world has anything to satisfy the human soul. Assuming the possibility of the impossible—that is, attaining the whole world as one's own possession—to do so at the cost of one's soul would be an indescribably poor bargain.

What then shall we say of those who barter their eternal souls for a mess of pottage, a moment of sensual satisfaction, or for a few paltry dollars? "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" It is the unanswerable question.

Right Endures

When Christ preached the Sermon on the Mount he was mocked and later crucified; but the inspired truths that he uttered continue to live through the ages, defying crucifixion. We may doubt the divinity of the Christ, for the proof lies in the hereafter; but only by stultifying ourselves can we doubt the wisdom of the moral precepts he uttered.

People who are already tired of hearing about the war will probably be surprised how much they will have to hear about the war before it is over.

It's mighty hard to fool yourself in the morning when the war-time clock says its time to get up.

Children's Feet

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

I want to talk to you about your children and shoes they wear.

Maybe you never realized that the wrong shoes could be the cause of nervousness in your child.

I say "It is the duty of parents, school teachers and family physicians to help bring stability and strength to nervous systems."

Symptoms of nervousness in children are often forerunners of organic disease. From the physician's standpoint ONLY there are many things that make us nervous. The most important are: 1. Wrong diet. 2. Over fatigue, and 3. Poor posture. Let me repeat the last and most important, POOR POSTURE, because you cannot have good posture unless your feet are fitted with proper shoes.

We all know how important posture is to the physical and mental development of a child. At home we teach our children to stand straight, to sit straight and to walk straight . . . that is we TRY to teach them how important it is. But sometimes, do you find that you are constantly reminding Billy or Mary to "SIT UP"—or "STAND UP STRAIGHT—"almost to the point of nagging and even to the point of scolding.

If your child has poor posture - and it seems hard for him to remember to stand straight—I suggest that you take a look at his feet. And remember, when you want to scold him for drooping that the child is no more responsible for his posture than for the food he is given to eat. There is some reason WHY he isn't standing straight, and that reason may be weak, poorly constructed shoes that do not properly support body weight.—Adv.

W. M. U. NEWS

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Society of the Union Baptist Church was held on Wednesday afternoon, March 11 at the Church with our president Mrs. Kirtley McWethy presiding. As according to the new plan, our meeting was opened promptly at 1 o'clock E. W. T. by the singing of our hymn, "The Light Of The World Is Jesus," the repeating of our Watchword in unison and followed by prayer.

There were twenty-one members present to answer roll call by our secretary, Mrs. Winston Mason and reports given by Mrs. Jimmie Head and Mrs. Austin Gschwind were interesting. The new business was in the appointing of delegates to attend the State meeting at Harrodsburg, on April 8-9. Only two were appointed at this time which leaves opening for other leaders who would care to go, but all reservations must be made through Mrs. WcWethy at once.

Our devotional was brought by Mrs. J. A. Fothergill, the topic being the "Two Visions" from Acts 10:1-20. Several prayers were offered during the program which was in the form of a quiz with the following members taking part: Mrs. Arch Rouse, Mrs. J. A. Huey, Mrs. Anna Smith, Mrs. McWethy, Mrs. Hal Presser, Mrs. Blankenbeker, Mrs. J. T. Bristow, Mrs. Annie Bristow, Mrs. Irvin Rouse, Mrs. Huey Ryle and Mrs. Myrtie Marshall.

Since several of our members and officers will be away at State meeting on our regular meeting date, it was decided to hold our April meeting on the third Wednesday which will be April 15th at the church to begin at 1 o'clock E. W. T.

We were dismissed with prayer by Mrs. McWethy, who gave thanks unto God for the many blessings showered upon us as free Americans.

Mrs. Viola Friend, Reporter.

There's no doubt about it, the sow is the real center of hog profits. Feeders make or lose on what she gives in the litter. Sows need pig-building feed if they're to farrow big litters of heavy pigs — and Purina Sow and Pig Chow is built especially to go with grain to give sows what they need to produce big litters.

Come into the store and see us about Sow and Pig Chow. We'll show you records that prove it's a real-pork-making ration.

SEED CORN

Good Seed Corn is of vital importance to every farmer.

To have a good stand and a good crop, you must have good seed.

We do not buy corn from feed stores and make seed corn of it. Most of our Seed Corn is grown by reliable, reputable, dependable farmers, many of them in your own County.

This corn is carefully selected, butted and tipped according to our specifications. This corn may cost you one dollar a bushel more than ordinary corn, but that would mean only 15 cents extra per acre for seeding and you know how little corn it takes to sell for 15 cents.

We have the following open pollinated varieties in limited quantities and recommend early purchases:

Bill Snyder's 60 day Red Corn (White Cap) grown in Boone County—Bu.	$3.50
White Cap Yellow Dent grown in Boone County—Bu.	$3.50
Early Clarage (90 day) grown in Boone County—Bu.	$3.50
Reids Genuine Yellow Dent grown in Grant County—Bu.	$3.50
Johnson County White grown in Kenton County—Bu.	$3.50
Calico Corn grown in Pendleton County—Bu.	$3.50
Genuine Eureka Ensilage grown in Pendlton County—Bu.	$3.50
Wilson's White Dent (Red Cob) 100 days grown in Pulaski County—Bu	$3.50
90 Day White grown in Grant County—Bu.	$3.50
Hickory Kink grown in Tennessee—Bu.	$3.00

HYBRIDS:

Systone Man at Owens' Drug

Many Northern Kentucky people are now turning to the New; Svientific Mixture of Juices from Nature's Plants, known as Systone, which is being introduced to crowds daily here at M. C. Owens' Drug Store at Pike and Washington, Covington. Although this new medicine was introduced here only a few weeks ago already thousands of Kentucky men and women are taking—and praising—this advanced, modern preparation.

Always Constipated

Victims of Bowel and Stomach Acid scarcely know what is wrong with them. They can't digest food properly, swell with gas after meals, have a thick bad taste, unpleasant breath, are headachy, worn-out—ALWAYS CONSTIPATED.

Such suffering people will now find—in SYSTONE—a REAL, measure of RELIEF. This medicine contains juices from 12 of Nature's finest medicinal plants and—taken shortly before meals—mixes with the food in one's stomach thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles and permitting the kidneys and liver to function.

HOW TO SAVE $1.00

With the coupon below you get the $1.35 size and the 65c size (both for $1) which gives you approximately THREE WEEKS of upbuilding of health for less than 35c a week—a cost that is trifling and insignificant compared to the results obtained. So don't hesitate. Clip the coupon now and get Systone. Find out—for yourself—what this medicine will do.

COUPON Worth $1

This coupon entitles bearer to $2.00 worth of Systone ($1.35 size) and 65c size for $1 at our store.

SUGGESTIONS FOR "WOMEN AND WAR"

Added "women and the war" suggestions from the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics:

Suits are smart this year and will be especially so until the war ends. Those with suits on hand should plan to wear them longer than usual. Make a survey of all old magazines, newspapers and catalogs that could be discarded. Many attics still are filled with unused materials, such as papers, furniture, toys, etc. There may be a call from defense agencies for the collection of these things to be used in the war-effort.

DANGER

BOYS AND GIRLS—PLAY SAFE

Follow These Safety Suggestions

Kite flying is a healthful sport and lots of fun, but danger lurks when kites are flown near electric lines. Don't run the risk of death or serious injury. Follow these precautions and be safe:

1. Fly your kites in open fields as far away as possible from electric power lines.
2. Do not use wire or metallic kite strings.
3. Do not climb poles to retrieve tangled kites.
4. Do not use metal kite sticks or wooden sticks bound with wire.
5. Do not fly kites with wet string or in wet weather.
6. Do not poke sticks at kites caught in wires or try to pull them down by their tails

If you see a kite caught in an electric line, call our office at once. Our employees know how to remove kites without endangering anyone or causing an interruption to electric service.

Community Public Service Issues Timely Warning To Children

With the coming of spring and the kite flying season, Community Public Service Company issues its annual appeal to children not to fly their kites in the vicinity of electric power lines.

"Kite flying is great sport and lots of fun for the children," states R. M. Hall, power company manager, "but it can turn into tragedy if the kites are allowed to come in contact with power lines. Every year scores of lives are needlessly lost in the United States, because children used wire for kite strings or came in contact with power lines while trying to recover kites tangled in wires. We solicit the help of parents and school teachers in seeing that children of this community are warned of the danger in order that similar accidents can be prevented here."

To be on the safe side, Mr. Hall recommends that the following precautions be observed by kite flyers:

Fly kites in open fields as far away as possible from power lines and traffic.

Don't use wire or metallic string. This is extremely dangerous as wire is a conductor of electricity and the string may fall across a power line.

Don't use metal kite sticks or wooden kite frames braced with wire.

Don't fly kites with wet string or wet weather. Water is a conductor of electricity.

Don't try to retrieve a kite caught in the wires by climbing poles, poking sticks or pulling on the tail. You may come in contact with a live wire.

If you see a kite caught in an electric power line, call the office of Community Public Service Company. A trained lineman will remove the kite as soon as it is possible to do so.

Suggests Increase Of Sorghum Acreages

The increasing of sorghum acreages has been suggested by several farmers as one means of meeting the sugar shortage, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Good sorghum molasses along with honey have been recognized by food authorities as wholesome sources of sweet foods rich in minerals and vitamins.

E. N. Fergus, in charge of crops research at the College, advises that growers often encounter difficulty in getting best suited varities when purchasing seed under commercial names. He states the best variety he has tested is known as Williams. This variety is grown in Eastern Kentucky. Mr. C. D. Mann of Scranton, Ky., is reported as a grower of seed of this variety.

Sorghum, sugar tree molasses and honey all form a basis for supplementing part of the extra sugar needs. Farmers in many parts of the State are specializing in producing high quality products of this class. Several local farmers are experienced producers of these crops.

Burlington Fans May Charter Bus For State Finals

Arrangements have been made to charter one of the Dixie Traction Company's buses to take passengers to Louisville Saturday to see the State finals in the basket ball games, provided as many as 30 make reservations by Friday. This bus would leave Burlington about 9:30 A. M. Saturday, reaching Louisville in time for lunch and the afternoon game, remaining over for the night game and return to Burlington after the game.

The cost of the chartered bus, seating 30 people is $60.00, making the cost to each person $2.00 for the round trip. A few more could go along by using chairs in the center of the bus. Make your reservations with C. D. Benson or A. B. Renaker and if as many as 30 reservations are received the bus will be chartered.

Where we made our mistake, before the war, was in not sending our isolationists to Germany, Italy and Japan—they might have converted the aggressors into isolationists.

The universe, visible to science, extends six thousand million billion miles. This convinces us that it is big enough.

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

The Burlington Homemakers held their regular meeting at the courthouse on March 5th, 1942. The president, Mrs. Snyder in the chair.

The ladies who were at the meeting before lunch did Red Cross sewing.

In spite of the fact that there is so much demand upon women's time now, homemaker meetings are not being pushed into the background. There are three lines of defense: Sound Homes, Teamwork in Industry, and a United Nation. Since sound homes is the first line of defense, a homemaker is automatically enlisted to help defend America and win the war. Other things avail nothing if the people and the army are without morale. It was the spirit of the people which caused France to fall. This must be had from the home.

It is a duty and a responsibility for a homemaker to put her home and family first. The rest will not then be a burden to her, but will fill a gap in the line of defense.

America was made up of an honest, unselfish, neighborly, clean and free people. Homemakers must strive to keep America that way in order that she may be a united nation.

One way a homemaker may do this is to give of her time, her skill and her methods to other homemakers who are not enlisted as such. There are a lot of little "do's and don'ts" for instance, which may help a neighbor—then too, just a hint about such a little thing as planting seeds can be a big help and even the exchange of seeds.

The Live at Home chairman stated some interesting facts: She said that sixteen per cent more eggs were being asked for in Boone County, which means that the county's goal is 81,000 dozen. It is advised that chicks be bought rather than hatched. Many reasons were given for this being the better and cheaper way.

Farms on which poultry is not one of the main enterprises, that is flocks from two hundred to five hundred—should keep flocks of only thirty to forty hens. The smaller flocks given only a little attention would be found more profitable than flocks of sixty to eighty hens under similar conditions. Five hens to a person is what it takes for one person's quota of eggs.

Anyone interested in a home-made brooder can get splendid plans for same from the Home Demonstration Agent or from Mr. Forkner's office. It is called the Lantern or Lamp brooder—made very simply and easily. It can be made from scrap material found on most every farm. This type brooder will take care of seventy-five to a hundred chicks.

The Exterior Beautification lesson was given by Mrs. Garnett Tolin in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Courtney Kelly.

England, she said has not abandoned her gardens, but rather is striving for more. Mr. Elliott from the University of Kentucky suggested that more seed beds be made. A very important thing is to sterilize the soil. If planting just a few seeds in plots in the house, sterilize the soil by baking well in the oven and then letting it stand a while. This holds good for both flower and vegetables. Since recreation is going to be limited, one should grow flowers for recreation.

Flower beds may be made patriotic by planting red, white and blue flowers. And also in making V shaped flower beds. The yellow cosmos and the blue morning glory will delight any one who tries them.

There is a shortage of shade trees in Kentucky. While fall planting is desired, it is hoped that five hundred thousand trees will be set in Kentucky this spring.

The community project of planting the old school campus has been approved. The Utility Company will cooperate with the planting project. They will prune all trees carefully and properly. Persons desiring shade trees of quick growth will do well to plant the Chinese Elm. If pruned correctly it will live a long time. This tree is especially good for screening.

This particular club voted to have a tulip show in the spring and to help needy 4-H girls.

A timely hint is: Dustless dust cloths; three tablespoons of linseed oil ,one point of gasoline mixed together is material used. This is enough to saturate fifteen fair-sized cloths. Old underwear is fine for this purpose. They are permanent and practical if hemmed. These are very satisfactory after washing.

Women, enlist with the Homemakers! Help defend America, by building a United Nation.

Publicity Chairman.

CONSTANCE HOMEMAKERS

The Constance Homemakers' meeting for March was held at the home of Mrs. John Hempfling. Our president, Mrs. Fanny Peeno called the meeting to order. There were 18 members and 5 visitors present.

Our exterior beautification chairman, Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer, spoke on "Garden Planning" and urged everyone to plant more trees.

Mrs. Walter Sprague spoke on "Home Canning and Storing" and urged all to can more and to dry fruits.

It was suggested for all to exchange flower seeds and plants and to help others besides members to plan gardens.

Mrs. Fred Prable gave a very interesting talk on clothing for the future. All are advised to buy good clothing as they are better and last longer. Less wool clothing will be used. More silks and rayons in gay colors will be shown. All women are urged to learn how to sew.

Felt and straw hats will be scarce —more silk material will be used.

Mrs. Thos. Kenyon gave out dresses and pieces for quilt blocks for the Red Cross.

Our next meeting will be April 1st at the home of Mrs. Fred Prable.

BURLINGTON R. 2

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shinkle attended the sale of Mrs. Grace Shinkle, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Geo. Walton and children were supper guests one night last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Huey.

Bro. and Mrs. Sam Hamilton were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cason, last Thursday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Elmer Jarrell entertained Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Lambert, of Covington and Mrs. Alton Buckler.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Williamson entertained Sunday, Bro. and Mrs. Sam Hamilton and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Badger Buckler had as Sunday guests, Alton Buckler and brother Theo.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Howe entertained relatives over the week-end.

The way to unity among the people of this country, as they face a bitter war, is through sacrifice, not fault finding and political maneuvering.

Congress would be all right if it was not made-up of Congressmen who have to please the lunatic fringe in their districts.

What with all the cooking schools and home economics courses we might expect better cooking some day in the future.

This Week On The Home Front

Here is a resume of important happenings:

Price ceiling goes on pork products.

Home radio manufacture stopped April 22.

Government calls for worn out tires.

Ban on home washing machines considered.

All trucks and trailers now rationed.

Profiteering on refrigerators hit.

War style for women planned.

Rubber tired farm tractors out after May 1.

Government seeks 16-millimeter sound movie machines.

Nelson checks slow motion manufacturers.

Courts back emergency act.

Henderson threatens law on nylon profiteers.

Nearly all materials reported scarce—including Vitamin A capsules.

No coffee shortage—Henderson.

Donald Nelson's recent speech was vibrant with confidence and accented with a stern determination that American industry, management and worker, will be rapidly mobilized for all-out war.

The strategy on the "Home Front" now stands out in bold outline: Conversion of industrial plants to war purpose—hard work for farmer and laborers—conservation and priorities to insure supply of materials—price fixing and rationing to protect the consumer.

For everybody it looks like labor and patches and taxes for the duration.

* * *

Price Administrator Leon Henderson put price ceiling on 90 per cent of pork products to stop profiteering. Order applies only to packers, wholesalers, processors and slaughterers. OPA found Chicago prices to farmers already above 110 parity. With canned fruits and vegetables already ceilinged, much is already done toward cutting the nation's grocery bill.

February 28 price ceiling on domestic wool, applies to wool on a clean basis only and does not establish a 37.1-cent ceiling for prices growers can receive for grease wool sold on the farm. This statement is made jointly by Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture, and Price Administrator Leon Henderson, because of evidence that certain wool dealers have been deliberately misrepresenting the facts in their negotiations with wool growers and claiming the regulation prohibits them from paying more than 37.1 cents for grease wool on the farm.

The figure represents the average farm price for grease wool as of December 15, and was used merely as a statutory basis for calculation of the clean wool maximums established.

"The deliberate misuse of the 37.1 cents base figure to deceive farmers into selling their grease wool without free negotiation is reprehensible," said Mr. Wickard and Mr. Henderson.

Home radio manufacturer is stopped after April 22, but plans are being devised to main stocks of materials and parts to keep the 60 million sets now in 87 percent of the homes in repair.

* * *

Manufacture of rubber tired farm tractors ends May 1 by War Production Board order: Rubber shortage.

* * *

WPB is thinking about ban on new home washing machines: for big manufacturers April 15, for the small ones, May 15.

* * *

Rationing of all kinds of trucks and trailers started March 8. WPB and Office of Defense Transportation will handle the work.

* * *

Mr. Henderson moved to halt "inflationary and unfair" wholesale and retail profiteering on home refrigerators following freeze of stocks February 14. He "requested" that prices be set back to February 2 quotations.

* * *

After taking cuffs off pants for men, WPB announces intention to "freeze the existing silhouette" of ladies' 1942 apparel to save material. Idea is to keep dresses now in use from going out of style. Order is expected any day.

* * *

Store and restaurant owners worried about repair parts and material for their refrigeration will be provided for.

* * *

Mr. Henderson denies that Brazil's order stopping her ships from carrying coffee and cocoa to United States will affect coffee supply, says American ships can handle it, and warns against panicky hoarding.

* * *

Government asks that totally worn out tires be turned in to junk dealer or charity organization. Mr. Henderson thinks farmers may have a lot of them lying around.

* * *

Military and war industries need all the 16-millimeter sound projecting movie machines obtainable, and government is appealing to all individuals and organizations, even schools, to sell them to the government.

* * *

Donald M. Nelson, WPB Chairman, announced a plan for monthly check up to ascertain how rapidly industries are converting their plants and how closely their production is to contract schedule. If a plant drops behind, reason why is asked. War agencies won two court victories, against evaders.

* * *

War Production Board went into Federal Court in Chicago and obtained an order forcing Chicago Alloy Products Co. to let WPB agents see its books relating to priority order violations. The court jail sentence to company officers if they continued violation of orders issued by Director of Industry Company. Company was charged with dealing in scarce metals, and the court injunction was the first of its kind since war emergency.

* * *

In Norfolk, Va., the Federal District Court upheld the tire delivery freeze order of December 11. One company tried to mandamus a dealer to sell it some tires without Price Administration approval. The court upheld the validity of tire rationing.

* * *

Profiteering by wholesalers of nylon hose brought threat of prosecution from Mr. Henderson, Price Administrator.

* * *

Conservation and substitution Branch of the Bureau of Industrial Conservation lists materials which are scarce. In all 126 are listed as scarce or unavailable for civilian use: 64 must be substituted, 62 must be conserved. The two groups cover nearly all essentials. Clay products like bricks for throwing or building are still plentiful. There is still a supply of cellophane.

Those capsules of Vitamin A they sell in the drugstores are made from the concentrated oils of fish livers, like cod liver. Japan and Norway were our principal pre-war sources. Defense needs and stoppage of imports moved the government this week to urge less use of the capsules. Consumers Division points out that certain vegetables contain Vitamin A, wrapped in yellow and green. Almost any yellow or green vegetable has it.

In connection with vegetables as a war diet the city people are being urged to cultivate victory gardens, to put away the midiron and the mashie and the niblick for the plain old hoe! War may teach many lessons, not the least important of which is to know the distinction between a green pea cooked fresh from the vine, and one which traveled all the way from Texas!

A PENNY for a CHICK'S LIFE!

Many thousands of chicks die every year because they do not get a properly balanced starting feed. If a chick's life is worth one extra penny to you—you can afford to feed the best. For one penny per chick above the cost of an inadequate feed is all it costs to feed Purina Startena. And that extra penny may mean the difference between life and death to your chicks.

We sell Purina Chick Startena and can also fill your other chick-raising needs.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

There seems to be no end to the versatility of Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland.

In "Babes in Arms," they acted as end men in a minstrel show. In "Strike Up the Band," they danced the La Conga. And now in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Babes on Broadway," they do a dance that promises to top any of their combined efforts to date.

They dance a la Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, dancing on table-top and piano-bench, pivoting and tapping through two rooms and singing while doing it. Mickey, just for good measure, adds a cartwheel, somersaults over a divan, and jumps over a table! The youngsters rehearsed the number for only a single day, then recorded and filmed the number in two more days' work.

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

Every so often the teatre bug bites veteran character actor Harry Carey and he yearns for the calcium instead of the Klieg lights. Usually he can fight off the poison but, it seems, that's impossible when Albert Dekker is around.

Both actors will be in the picture, "Among the Living."

Dekker's first horror role was on the stage, in the New York Theatre Guild's production of "R. U. R." Carey, a veteran of 13 years in pictures, has rarely visited Broadway, scene of his triumphs as a young man.

Plus

The "full cooperation" of the Royal Air Force of Great Britain was gladly given the production, "Target for Tonight," which Warner Bros. is currently releasing, and which shows, in previously unequalled detail, the exciting business of bombing Germany by night. Only actual members of the R. A. F. are shown in the film, which will be shown at the Gayety.

WED., THURSDAY and FRIDAY

Errol Flynn used the actual sword employed by Gen. George Armstrong Custer at the tragic battle of Little Big Horn when that momentous fight was reenacted for the big climatic scene in "They Died With Their Boots On."

The Warner Bros. star received the historic blade from a group of patriotic folk of Custer City, South Dakota, who annually celebrate "Custer Day," June 25, in commemoration of the death of Custer in that battle, fought in 1876.

The sword arrived just in time for the filming of the battle of Little Big Horn for "They Died with Their Boots On."

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of my beloved husband, Thomas Richards, who passed away March 18th, 1941.

I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own,
And day by day I miss him more,
As I walk thru life alone.
For somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
He dwells with God in sacred glory
Mid the blue and gold of the skies.

His bereaved wife, 1-p

TEACHERS WILL MEET HERE FRI.

ATTENDANCE EXPECTED TO EXCEED 200—E. H. WALTON WILL PRESIDE AT AFTERNOON SESSION.

A sub district meeting of the Northern Kentucky Education Association will be held from 3 to 9 o'clock Friday at the Burlington High School, with approximately 200 teachers from Northern Kentucky in attendance.

The program has been divided into afternoon and night sessions. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock by members of the local P.-T. A.

E. H. Walton, principal of the Burlington School is to preside at the afternoon session and R. H. Carter will preside at night.

M. J. Belew, president of the N. K. E. A., and Superintendent of Grant County Schools, will give the address of welcome. D. H. Norris, Superintendent of Boone County Schools, will respond. The afternoon program will be divided into discussions of music, science, and dramatics for primary and intermediate grades, and science, social science, mathematics, and English for junior and senior high schools.

H. B. Smith, Holmes High School Covington, will serve as Chairman of a panel discussion at the night session, with Alzada Jennings, Erlanger, Lillian Caldwell, Williamstown, and Dave Evans, Holmes High School, leading the discussions.

Music features of the meeting will be a trio appearing at the afternoon session, and a teachers' chorus under direction of O. T. H. Schmidt, director of music of Covington schools, and a glee club directed by Lillian Faber, director of music of Simon Kenton High School, at the night session.

Constance 4-H Member Purchases Purebred Jersey Heifer, Friday

Earl Washmuth of the Constance 4-H Club purchased a purebred Jersey heifer from Jesse Wilson, Verona, last Friday, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent. The calf was three months old and carried with it a pedigree of many generations of selection for good type and high milk production.

In addition to the dairy project Earl's activities include the garden project and the presidency of his local club.

He is the sixteenth 4-H boys to start a dairy project in Boone County this year.

HARTFORD FIVE DOWNS WALTON

THURSDAY NIGHT IN STATE BASKETBALL TOURNEY IN LOUISVILLE—BEARCATS SLOW IN GETTING STARTED.

The Walton Bearcats lost their first game in the State tourney Thursday night when the strong Hartford five took an early lead which the Bearcats were unable to overcome, although staging a rally in the last quarter. The final score was Hartford 47, Walton 42.

Harford led at the half 28-16 and 37-24 at the third quarter. Welch, a substitute guard for the Bearcats chalked up 14 points, to stage a one-man rally in the last half of the game. He chalked up seven field goals, saving most of them for the finishing moments of the game and almost succeeded in bringing Walton back into the game.

Hartford's height, coupled with the table sniping of John Oldham, who dropped in 22 points, was too much for the Bearcats.

The Walton team deserves much credit for their season's work on the hardwood, and it can be truly said that the Bearcats went down fighting, never relinquishing their attack or defense until the final whistle had sounded.

Demoisey, Walton center collected 14 points, while Welch collected a like amount, playing only half the game.

We congratulate the Walton team for their splendid sportsmanship and play during the 1941-42 season and feel that they represented this section of the State in a very capable and sportsmanlike manner.

Carl Rudicill At Home For 12-Day Furlough

Pvt. F. C. Carl Rudicill, stationed at Camp Claiborne, La., is spending a twelve-day furlough with relatives and friends in Boone and Grant Counties.

He is with the Railway Bn., at Camp Claiborne, and states that he is well satisfied with his job there.

Since entering the army Carl has received two promotions, and another promotion is assured in the near future.

Hebron Boy Promoted

Private Willard E. Barnes expressed thanks to the staff of The Boone County Recorder for sending him the weekly copy of the home paper. He feels it is keeping him in close relationship with relatives and friends back home.

Private Barnes, who has been stationed on the coast at San Diego, Calif., has recently been removed to Fort Bliss, Texas, where he was advanced to First Cook. He said "Cooking is not a bad racket."

He entered service January 13, 1941 as a volunteer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Barnes, of Hebron.

FARMERS HEAR SPECIALISTS

AT MEETING HELD IN BURLINGTON FRIDAY—RECOMMENDS ALFALFA ACREAGE INCREASE FOR PROFITABLE FARMING.

Wm. Johnstone, field agent in crops and Mr. Encil 'Deen, State Seed Inspector, addressed Boone County farmers in a meeting at Burlington last Friday afternoon, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Both speakers rendered interesting and profitable discussions.

Mr. Wm. Johnstone recommended that Boone County increase alfalfa acreages, both as a National Defense measure and as a means of more profitable farming. He states that alfalfa is the surest and best method of getting a good bluegrass stand.

Five essentials for good alfalfa stands are:

1. Well drained, good soil.
2. Lime (enough but not too much) and phosphate.
3. Firm seed bed—don't plow just before seeding.
4. Inoculate seed.
5. Sow grass with every stand.

Mr. Johnstone pointed out there has been marked improvement in crop varieties. Varieties that are giving best results today are:

Wheat—Thorne Variety increases from 3 to 5 bushels.

Ryle—Balbo is by far the most outstanding.

Oats—Winter, the Fulwin variety. Spring, the Columbia variety is the heaviest yielding.

Corn—Hybrid corn increase the income of Kentucky farmers last year by $3,000,000.00. Hybrid corn gave more economical gains with hogs than did Reid's Yellow Dent.

Encil Deen gave the most interesting farm talk that Boone County farmers have heard during the year. No seed short of the best is good seed, according to Deen. No farmer should buy seed except from a reliable dealer and then he should read the Kentucky seed tag on both sides. A dealer can sell any kind of seed in Kentucky, provided it is properly labeled. Heavy penalties are provided for improper labeling and convictions are easily gotten. Ninety Dodder, Buckhorn, wild onions or other noxious weed seed per ounce is not uncommon. This means 1440 per pound and from 14,400 to 35,000 per acre. No seed should be bought that contains noxious weed seeds.

Stephens-Smith

Miss Alma Frances Stephens and Corporal James Smith surprised their many friends by being quietly married last Saturday at the home of Rev. R. A. Johnson, Covington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stephens, of Union. She is a graduate of New Haven High School and has been employed in Cincinnati for the past few months.

Corporal Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Burlington, R. 2. He is a graduate of Hamilton High School and has served in the U. S. Air Corp for over a year. He will soon return to Victoria Falls, Texas.

We wish for this couple much success and happiness in their married life.

COMMITTEEMEN TO BE ELECTED

AT MEETING SET SATURDAY, MARCH 28—COUNTY WILL BE DIVIDED INTO ELEVEN DISTRICTS.

Boone County Agricultural Conservation members will elect the members of the Community Committee and delegates to elect County Committee on Saturday, March 28, 1942 at 2:30 p. m. (E. W. T.)

The County has been for the past few years divided into four districts. It is now being divided into eleven districts so that Committeemen can know their districts and be able to serve their fellow cooperators more efficiently. The average district will contain about 150 farms. The eleven districts and the polling places for the election are:

Beaver, Sleet's Store; Burlington, A. C. Office; Constance, School; Florence, Bank; Grant, Bank; and Walton, Town Hall, according to John E. Crigler, Secretary.

A delegate from each of the eleven districts will meet on Monday, March 30th and elect the County Committee. A person is eligible to vote if he is an owner or tenant on a farm for which a 1942 Farm Plan has been filled out and therefore be eligible for a future 1942 payment or for grant of aid material. A person to be eligible to vote if he is an owner munity offices must have signed a 1942 Farm Plan and in addition have qualified for a 1941 A. C. payment or received 1941 grant of aid material or have had his 1942 application for grant of aid material approved. He must reside within the community boundaries of the community in which elected.

All eligible voters are urged to attend their community election and elect worth and efficient committeemen for their districts.

Mrs. Eliza Jane Judy

Mrs. Eliza Jane Judy. 70 passed away suddenly at the home of her son, Frank Judy, near Hebron Sunday.

She was a native of Owen county, but had been a resident of this county for several years. She was the wife of the late James P. Judy.

She is survived by seven sons, Vernon, Jimmy D., Frank, George, Garvey, Louis B., and J. T. Judy; two daughters, Mrs. Sibbia Reimer, Hebron and Mrs. Virginia Watson, Lexington; one brother R. B. Hearn, Wheatley, Ky.; 18 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 3:00 p. m. at the Verona Baptist Church, with Rev. Noble Lucas, of Petersburg officiating. Burial was in New Bethel cemetery, Verona.

Jesse Hamilton & Sons, Verona undertakers were in charge of funeral arrangements.

Ernest Walton

Ernest Walton, brother of Mrs. R. L. Huey, Burlington, passed away at his home, Plymouth, Ill., Monday evening at 10 o'clock. Burial will be at Plymouth today at 2:30.

Mr. Walton was born and reared in Boone County and has many friends here.

Frank D. Mullins

Frank D. Mullins, age 85, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Horton, of near Union, Wednesday, March 25 at 10:30 p. m., after a brief illness.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 3:00 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Horton, followed by burial in the Burlington I. O. O. F. cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Will Horton, of Union and Mrs. Kenneth Stamper, of Walton; one half brother, Sam Pettit, Burlington and 7 grandchildren. He also leaves a host of other relatives and friends here, as he had spent practically his entire life in Boone County. His presence will be greatly missed.

Tharp & Stith were in charge of funeral arrangements.

Orville Owen Judy Promoted In Rank

Orville Owen Judy above, former Hebron High School graduate was recently promoted to the rank of Staff Sargeant at Moody Field U. S. Air Corps, at Valdosta, Georgia.

Sargeant Judy, 23, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Judy of Hebron, Ky., with whom he has just spent a ten-day furlough, returning Friday to Valdosta, Ga.

Young Judy enlisted in the Air Corps in July 1940 and was sent to Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala. for training, remaining there until April 1941 and was then sent to Patterson Field near Dayton, O., for special technical schooling. Receiving his diploma, he was then sent to Turner Field, Albany, Ga., where he remained until two months ago, and then transferred to Moody Field, Valdosta, where he was promoted to Sargeant.

His many friends in Boone County wish him much success.

Rev. R. A. Johnson Addresses Utopians

Rev. Ray Johnson, pastor of the Burlington Baptist Church, addressed the general Utopia Club meeting last Thursday evening on the subject, "Supporting Victory Needs." The subject wast strongly presented in both an educational and inspirational manner.

Rev. Johnson, himself and ex-service man in the last war, presented the present challenge, the greatest this country has faced. He pleaded that now is the time for all to act and that personal and class differences be forgotten in the unified duty of every citizen to support his government in the all out effort to win the war.

Food production goals were also discussed by Mrs. Vernon Pope and J. O. Griffith.

"Victory" is the theme of all Utopia Club meetings in 1942. Victory practices in poultry production, clothing and style selection will be discussed at the next meeting by John Conner, Betty Williams Utopia members, and Miss Iris Davenport of the College of Agriculture. The next meeting of the club will be held at Burlington at 9:00 p. m. Eastern War Time, on Thursday, April 23.

SUGAR TO GO OFF MARKET

FOR ONE WEEK PRIOR TO RATIONING—WILL BE BIGGEST REGISTRATION EVER ATTEMPTED IN THIS COUNTRY.

Sugar sales in the United States will be suspended for one week beginning at midnight, April 27, as a preliminary to the rationing program, John E. Hamm, Acting Chief of the Office of Price Administration, announced Saturday in Chicago.

Sugar will go off the market the day that registration of industrial and commercial consumers is started. These consumers will register April 28 and 29 in high schools.

Sales will be resumed May 5, the second day of the four-day registration period for individual consumers. Individuals will register May 4, 5, 6 and 7th.

Hamm pointed out that when the sale of sugar is resumed, a purchaser must have a ration book before he will be able to purchase it.

The registration dates were announced earlier in the day by Frank Bane, field chief for the Office of Price Administration, at a meeting of the 48 state rationing administrators and regional supervisors in Chicago.

Bane pointed out that it had not been determined whether the weekly individual ration would be a half-pound or three-quarters of a pound. He said that the stamp books, to be issued at registration, would contain 28 one-pound stamps, sufficient to last more than a year.

The housewife or head of the household may register for the entire family. The registrant must declare the amount of sugar the family has on hand. Stamps will be torn from the books to cover such supplies at the time of registration.

Bane said the sugar registration would be the "biggest registration job ever attempted in this country." He explained that it would exceed the selective service registrations in number of persons affected and the national census in the amount of information required of every resident in the country.

Bane and Hamm agreed that the sugar rationing program would serve as a "basic registration" for all future rationing, including gasoline and other items that may have to be conserved. Hamm said the gasoline rationing program, already in effect in 17 states thru rationing to gasoline stations, eventually would be shifted to a coupon basis.

Future Farmers Collect Scraps For The Scrap

Realizing the absolute necessity of an all out effort on the part of every individual to help win the war, the Future Farmers have launched a program throughout the nation for gathering useful scrap of all kinds, for buying defense stamps and bonds, for repairing farm machinery.

The 8,000 F. F. A. members of Kentucky are doing their share of this necessary work.

The Hebron Chapter has launched its program which will contribute materially to the defense effort. Our chapter plans to collect any type of needed waste by the following plan. We will collect the material and sell it, the proceeds going to one of the following as the person turning in the material directs:

a. Proceeds going to the Red Cross.

b. Proceeds going to any Church Organization.

c. Proceeds going to the Hebron F. F. A. to buy bonds.

On almost any farm there is some waste material which is vitally needed. As your Patriotic Duty won't you notify the Hebron F. F. A. to come and get this material. (paper, iron, rags, etc.)

We have made a good step in buying stamps and bonds. We have approximately $500.00 worth distributed among the members.

In cooperation with the class in metal work we are repairing farm machinery, however we believe there is much more farm machinery in our school area that should be repaired. If your machinery needs to be repaired bring it to our new farm shop and repair it or have it repaired.

C. D. Benson, Donald Kirkpatrick, Albert Sebree, Marion King and Charles Benson spent last Saturday in Louisville attending the State basketball tournament.

Howard R. Ryle Arrives At Naval Training Station

Great Lakes, Ill.—The name of Howard R. Ryle, son of S. B. Ryle, Burlington, R. 2, was added last week to the large roster of men who have enlisted in the U. S. Navy and who are now undergoing recruit training here at Great Lakes. During this recruit training, he will learn the elementary fundamentals of seamanship, and will be given an aptitude test to determine whether he will receive further specialized training in one of the Navy's many service schools, or be sent immediately to sea.

Rev. W. E. Harrison Will Conduct Pre-Easter Services Here

Rev. W. E. Harrison, pastor of Woodlawn Methodist Church, Bardstown and father of Rev. T. O. Harrison, local pastor, will conduct Pre-Easter Services at the Burlington Methodist Church beginning Friday, March 27 and continuing through Sunday, April 5th. Services will be held each evening at 8:30 Eastern War Time.

Rev. Harrison will speak on the subject "The Bible in Its Relation to World Affairs."

The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

HEMP SEED PRODUCTION

IS REQUESTED FOR STATE—35,000 ACRES ASKED FOR 1942—REQUIREMENTS WILL BE EXPLAINED AT CO. OFFICE

Kentucky has been asked to grow between 33,000 and 35,000 acres of Hemp seed in 1942. Boone County farmers who may be interested in growing hemp seed should contact the County Office on growing and requirements for securing seed, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

General information as to growing requirements are as follows:

1. Use only well drained creek or river bottom land that normally produces fifty or more bushels of corn per acre.
2. The seeding rate of 4.4 pounds or one bushel to 10 acres allows for replanting.
3. Seed in hills 4x4 or 5x5 feet.
4. Federal Narcotic permits costing $2.00 are required.
5. Secure seed through County AAA office from Commodity Credit Corporations. Cost $$12.60 per bu.
6. Sign a contract to sell all seed back to Commodity Credit Corporation at $8.00 per bushel. Yields of seed varied from a last year's average of around 12½ bushels to as high as 30 to 40 bushels per acre.

Plans Made For National 4-H Mobilization Week

Four-H members, leaders and parents in every State are making plans for National 4-H Mobilization Week, April 5-11, during which effort shall be concentrated on strengthening the National 4-H program.

President Roosevelt commended the work of 1,500,000 4-H members in the United States for their important worthwhile accomplishments, particularly in National Defense, and asked 4-H'ers to do their part in maintaining our Nation as a great democracy. Secretary Wickard said only a few days ago that 4-H members have a most important and strategic part in meeting war time needs.

War time needs met through 4-H organizations not only build future leaders, but also put steam into the production of food and fiber on the Rural Front.

Boone County Clubs to do their part in strengthening the National organization during 4-H Mobilization Week will secure additional members, sponsor special 4-H discussions, and develop even better community organizations.

Pre-Easter Services Set For Bullittsville

Pre-Easter services will begin at the Bullittsville Christian Church Tuesday evening, March 31, at 8:30 p. m., Eastesn War Time, and will continue through Friday evening, with communion service on Thursday night. Sunrise services will be held on Easter Sunday morning, April 5th. Everyone cordially invited to attend these services.

HELMS PRAISED BY ARMY PAPER

PRINTED AT HICKAM FIELD, HAWAII—IS TRANSFERRED TO HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON, 5TH BOMB GROUP.

The following article appeared in the Hickam Highlights, a publication of Hickam Field, Hawaii, praises Frank B. Helms for his efficient services. The article follows:

February 1, 1942 was a very eventful day in the squadron's history. Our one and only F. B. Helms, our excellent, faithful, duty-bound Top-Kick for the greater part of a year was transferred to the Dq. & Hq. Sq., 5th Bomb Group (H), and it has been regretted by everyone that it had to come about.

Sgt. Helms has given two of the best years of his life in leading and guiding the squadron through every decision always having the interests of the squadron as a whole at heart. Those who knew Sgt. Helms, and especially those having close, daily contact with him will tell you that a better all-around First Sergeant has yet to hold up his right and say "I do."

It has been said that the best First Sergeant is one that knows his supply set-up, his mess set-up, his "line" and have a lot of good common sense. Through years of hard work and actual experience, he has wonderfully qualified himself for this responsible and sometimes nerve-racking position.

Frank first arrived in the Hawaiian Department September 30, 1938 and spent the first year and eight months in the Coast Artillery stationed at Ft. Shafter.

We all heartily congratulate him on his recent promotion and know that he will rise to even greater heights in the service of our country. Our loss is definitely Hq. Squadron's gain, and it will always be remembered that Sgt. Helms commanded the greatest respect and admiration.

Sportsmen To Distribute Quail Saturday, March 28

Boone County's allotment of quail will be distributed Saturday through the Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association, it was announced following the spring meeting of the Northern Kentucky Federation of Sportsmen, held in Covington Sunday.

The number of birds to be planted in Boone County is not definitely known, but regardless of number, they will be evenly distributed throughout the county.

SUPERVISORS TO PLAN PROGRAM

IN SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT, ACCORDING TO C. L. HEMPFLING — THANKS EXPRESSED TO COMMITTEEMEN.

The Boone County Soil Conservation District Supervisors will meet in the near future to plan a Soil Conservation District program, according to C. L. Hempfling, Supervisor.

Mr. Hempfling also served as the County Polling Superintendent in the supervisors election held in the county on the 14th. Mr. Hempfling expressed appreciation to the election committeemen who served without pay in holding the recent elections. Those who served in the elections were:

Hebron—Edgar S. Graves, Chas. Hempfling, Virgil Campbell, and Howard Huey.

Burlington—Mark Cook, L. D. Renneckar, J. G. Smith, and B. C. Stephens.

Hamilton—Hugh Stephens, Lee McNeeley, R. E. Kirtley.

Walton—B. W. Franks, J. G. Pennington, Albert Parker, Jesse Wilson.

New Haven—Pat Maddin, Lassing Huey, James W., Huey, Melvin Townsend.

Wm. H. Presser, H. E. White and John C. Bedinger, were elected by county landowners to serve with the two supervisors, C. L. Hempfling and Grover C. Ransom, to serve for three years as members of the County Board of Supervisors.

J. D. Jarrell spent last Thursday in Louisville attending the State basketball tournament.

THE TRANSFIGURED CHRIST MEETS HUMAN NEED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:28-43a.
GOLDEN TEXT — And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God.—Luke 9:43.

Glory and grace go together. Spirituality finds meaning in service. Holiness is faith in action. Every fine emotion should be translated into conduct.

This is the message of our lesson as it presents the transfigured Christ and the disciples, moved beyond intelligent words by His transcendent glory, going forth into the valley to meet the need of demon-ridden humanity.

I. Amazing Glory (vv. 28-36).

To three of the disciples came the privilege of seeing in the mount the outshining of the deity of Christ through the humanity of His flesh in such amazing glory that Peter could think of nothing more wonderful than to prolong the experience by tarrying in the mount.

One could wish that it were possible in presenting this lesson to get over into the thinking of those who read or hear, a proper conception of the glory of our Christ, but words seem to be such weak and insufficient instruments. One would cry out—"Look at Him—the Son of God with the transfigured face—and the light of heavenly glory shining forth in a dazzling whiteness" (literally, like lightning).

If men would only look upon Him, they would see how untrue are those who take from Him His deity, who speak of Him as only a good man or a great teacher. He, our Saviour, who took upon Himself the limitation of our flesh, was and is eternally God.

Significant it is to note that with Him on the mount were Moses and Elijah. The former had died (Deut. 34:5, 6) and the latter had been translated without death (II Kings 2:11), but both were alive, recognizable, intelligent, interested in the redemptive work which Christ was to work out on the cross (v. 31). This definitely denies such false theories as soul-sleep or annihilation at death.

But the vision of glory becomes a means of blessing as we see

II. Amazing Grace (vv. 37-43a).

Like Peter, there are many folk who think that the thing to do is to remain on the mountaintop, just enjoying the vision of glory and the delightful fellowship of Christ and the redeemed. They do not learn such things from Christ or from the Word of God. The next day (v. 37) He and the disciples met the cry of an anguished father whose boy was possessed of a demon and who had found no help (v. 40). Look then upon the one whose unspeakable glory has just been revealed in the mount, who has just had the approval of God the Father (v. 35), who now in amazing grace meets the need of this humble child! There is the grace of God, manifest in the One whom we as Christians profess to follow. Let us like Him bring the glory of God and (in His name) the power of God to bear upon the need of men.

It seems to the writer of these notes that God is waiting to do a new thing in the midst of human suffering and sorrow — working through His disciples. We need first of all to know Him ourselves, as our own Saviour and Lord. Then we need a vision of His glory, flooding our souls and transforming our lives (Rom. 12:1, 2). Then, we must put that glory and that power to work through our lives. The one who follows Christ cannot be satisfied to rejoice in his own salvation and not reach out to win others. He cannot rest in the peace of soul which Christ gives and not put forth his hand to those who struggle in "life's wild restless sea." He must (as Matt. 5:16 puts it) let his light so shine in the darkness that men may find their way to the Father's house and thus glorify the name of God.

God does His work in the world through redeemed men and women. He is always seeking those who, having seen the glory of Christ and with His grace upon them, are ready to be used of the Holy Spirit for His glory. "What the church needs today is not more machinery or better, not new organizations or more novel methods, but men whom the Holy Ghost can use—men of prayer, men mighty in prayer. The Holy Ghost does not flow through methods but through men. He does not come on machinery, but on men. He does not anoint plans, but men" (E. M. Bounds).

Need Compassion

I do not know how any Christian service is to be fruitful if the servant is not primarily baptized in the spirit of a suffering compassion. We can never heal the needs we do not feel. Tearless hearts can never be the heralds of the Passion. We must pity if we would redeem. We must bleed if we would be the ministers of the saving blood.—J. H. Jowett.

Purpose Of Civilian Defense

If America is going to survive the present world holocaust, it is going to be up to us as American citizens.

America can—America MUST win this war, else the world will not be a fit place in which to live. This war will test every straightforward thinking citizen of the world ;it is a war that involves every man, woman and child. It is a war that knows no combat zones, it recognizes not race, religion or politics. It involves YOU and YOU alone.

You who are at home are just as important cogs in the huge machine that we must mobilize and train, if we are to win. Fortunately the war has not struck as close to home as it may. We are a long way from victory and unless every person takes it upon himself to do his part to win, then we will fail. It is the hope of every American that America will win and the democracies will survive, but we can't do that unless we roll up our sleeves and get busy now.

I want to explain to you, as best I can, the purpose and the necessity of Civilian Defense and your part in it.

The Office of Civilian Defense is the defense agency entrusted with the task of preparing the American people for defense against any emergency that may develop on the civilian front. The mobilization of the civilian morale and resources in virtually every field is the task assigned to it.

From the functioning standpoint, the Office of Civilian Defense is divided into two main sections—volunteer participation in civilian protection to train civilians for effective self-protection in the event of military invasion and disaster in the community, and volunteer participation in Civilian mobilization to deal with the welfare and long-range planning necessary to make America strong today and in the days to come.

Civilian Defense is composed of all citizens in a community, these people volunteer to serve on your defense council. This council outlines your programs for all activities of all registrants who have volunteered their services as air raid wardens, fire watchers, auxiliary police and first aid. The executive council selects instructors from your school to study the different subjects which have been handed to your coordinator for distribution. One instructor studies one certain subject. When he has mastered the subject, he then calls in the warden and instructs him in this particular branch of service. The warden, then calls in all volunteers for this service; they are instructed and each man is given a post to guard or watch. If for instance he is a fire watcher, he is given a post on the roof of a building which is high enough to be able to see every building in his particular area. This area may be a city block or more.

Instructors will teach all wardens the different kinds of bombs that are used by the enemy, how to combat them, how to put out fires caused by incendiary bombs or fires caused by other means.

The Auxiliary police will train to control highways, such as stopping traffic during blackout, seeing that all lights on cars and trucks are turned out, holding cars until all clear signal is sounded. Guard entrances on streets in towns and highway intersections.

All volunteers for all these positions will take first aid course so that recognition will be granted by the Government.

As our registration has not been what it should be in the county, I am holding another registration day, Saturday, March 28th. You may register at the usual places.

Let everyone over 16 years of age who has not registered come out and do so.

H. D. MAYHUGH, Coordinator

OBITUARY

Florence Ryle Smith, daughter of the late Jas. T. and Caroline Clements Ryle was born in Boone County May 8th, 1856 and united in marriage to C. S. Smith, September 8, 1875 and departed this life March 15, 1942 at the age of 85 years. She was the mother of eight children, five sons and three daughters, Raymond R., Jas. G., Rev. Geo. N., Chas. E., Rev. W. M., Mrs. J. M. Rice, Mrs Joe Wilson and Mrs Dolpha Sebree, twenty-five grandchildren and fifteen great grandchildren, also one sister, Mrs. J. D. McNeely.

About 62 years ago she united with the Belleview Baptist Church and was a faithful member until her death. Mrs. Smith had a lovely Christian character and was a devoted mother, good neighbor and loyal friend.

Realizing her condition, she was a patient sufferer and during her illness, said she was ready to go home to be with her Saviour.

Funeral services were conducted at Belleview Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon by Rev. W. C. Guth, the pastor, assisted by Revs. Robt. McNeely, Roy E. Johnson, Sam Branham, O. M. Huey and her son George paid a beautiful tribute of memories of earlier days of mother in the home. Rev. Raymond Smith and wife, former past Belleview Church, brought the message in songs, with a grandson, Jas. Stanley Smith and Mrs. Alline Brady at the piano.

Six grandsons acted as pallbearers, Julius M., Walton, Robt. L., Wm. L. Smith, Jas. Wilson and Lindy Sebree.

The flower girls were granddaughters, Dorothy and Mary Belle Smith, Frances, Kathryn and Bernice Hebree, Mrs. Robt. L. and Mrs. Wm. L. Smith.

The large crowd present and the floral offering was a testimony of how she was admired and respected.

"Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God."

Feet And The Law Of Tissue

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscles and nerve consist of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluid and substances of the body.

Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the influence of this law, that constant tension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the foot framework.

If ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially — those which bind the weight-supporting and key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse and pull away from the bone attachments.

The rest which the night affords is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which life the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissue.

If the muscles do not hold the weight-bearing points of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action, these joints become deranged, misshaped and deformed because of the pressure of the body weight upon their point surface.

When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight upon bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhealthy feet? Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains, may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

Here's what YOU can doto help America when you travel

Plan Mid-Week Trips To Ease Week-End Congestion!

SAVE TIME Pre-arrange Your Trip
SAVE MATERIALS Vital to War Efforts
AVOID CROWDS Go before Mid-Summer

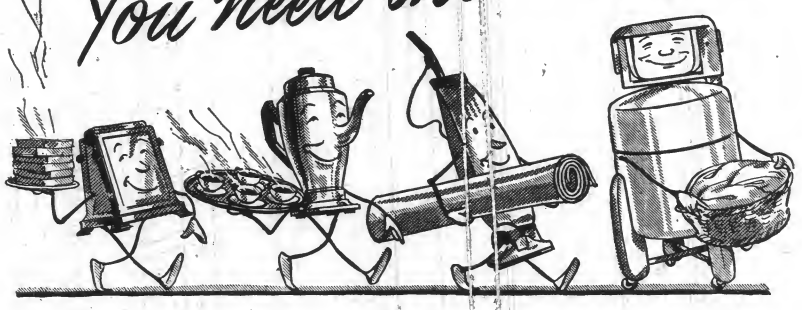
YOU can travel today as before — but you'll be helping yourself as well as your country if you cooperate in several important ways. Wartime conditions tend to crowd transportation facilities on weekends, the only time many soldiers, sailors, war workers can travel. Taking mid-week trips will relieve congestion—for instance, shopping tours, social visits, business trips, recreational travel, even visits to men at camps. And if you'll arrange to get tickets, schedules, information well before departure time, you'll avoid delays and confusion.



If you're taking a vacation this year plan to go before the mid-summer rush. Going by bus instead of by car, you'll be saving vital materials America needs. Buses carry a passenger several times as far per pound of rubber, per gallon of fuel.

Gayety Theater News

SATURDAY

Ask Horace MacMahon, sinister cinema trigger-man of countless gang films, about Hollywood hobos and he'll tell you he's one of them.

Horace, who is seen at the Gayety Saturday in "Buy Me That Town," Paramount's rollicking comedy romance about racketeers on the loose, says that Hollywood is gangland's last stand.

"And we haven't any permanent home," he went on. "The toughie type of actor moves from studio to studio as scripts happen to call for us."

"But," he added, "there are two differences between film gangsters and the happily, now extinct real thing. We don't kill anybody and we work steadily."

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Lana Turner from Spencer Tracy to Clark Gable to Robert Taylor!

That is the all-star play Miss Turner has made in rapid succession, with Merto-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Johnny Eager" co-starring her with Taylor in a new drama.

Seen recently with Tracy in "Dr Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Miss Turner next starred with Gable in "Honky Tonk."

The new story has its setting in the underworld, dealing with the dramatic life of a paroled convict, who has lost all real emotions and depends upon those faked for success.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

From Hedy Lamarr comes the assurance that she's still loyal to the long bob. Every since the story went out that this star wears her hair up in "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," and no longer wears a middle part, she has received hundreds of letters in protest. "Don't desert us long-bob advocates," the letters beg. And Miss Lamarr says: "I may change my hair for film roles, but I'm going to keep my same long bob in private life."

NEW HAVEN 4-H CLUB NEWS

The New Haven 4-H Club had their meeting on March 19. As the roll was called each member answered by naming a vegetable and giving its use. Our program leader Mary Cecil Ryan prepared a program on "Why Have a Garden." Those taking part were Hazel Stephenson, Evelyn Franks, Crystal Masters, and our community leader for girls. Mrs. Masters read one of James Whitcomb Riley's poems on "Spring."

Reports were made by the various group captains and it seems that our clothing and foods leaders Mrs. Harry Moore, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Ferguson, and Mrs. Pennington are very busy with the girls and all are interested in their new projects.

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

The regular meeting of the Burlington Homemakers will be held at the courthouse on Thursday, April 2. One of the many good things for the day will be "Menus for the Convalescent and Invalid."

While health is always hoped for, it would never be amiss to know what to feed one who is ill.

Remember the library is open on this day. Any person in the community is privileged to take out books. There is a wide selection from which to choose.

Homemakers Set Goal

Boone County Homemakers are aligned behind the Victory Program which is going on throughout the Nation. As citizens of the Commonwealth they have recognized responsibilities and are doing something toward caring for these needs. The following list presents a few of the goals:

1. Food production—To raise garden, fruit, poultry, dairy and meat to provide food needed for home consumption. Many families are enlisted in "Food for Freedom" campaign and pledged to produce at least 75 percent of their year's food supply.

2. Food Storage and Canning—To provide the "out of season" foods the year around. A budget planned according to size of family and the food needs for optimum health is followed.

3. Consumer Use—To buy necessary supplies carefully. Wise choice of articles, wise use and good care are listed on the consumer's pledge.

4. Salvage—To direct waste materials into channels to Government Defense production centers. Paper, tin cans, scrap metal, rags, rubber and fat substances are listed as important salvage materials.

5. Victory Book Campaign: Attention was given this effort to supply "Morale" aids for our boys in the service. Many books and magazines were given.

6. Red Cross—Money for war chest; sewed and knitted garments are being turned in regularly. Classes in home nursing and first aid have been advertised and patronized by club members and their families.

7. Health—To conserve and build health of the family has become a definite aim. Nutrition classes for home and school provided information on food requirement. Safety and accident prevention has been carefully studied in club meetings. Child health clinics will be included in the program.

8. Cooperation—Interest in all activities of the war effort is signified by the club members as they cooperate and participate in every phase of the community program. Civilian Defense, school, church and other activities are manned by members of the Homemaker clubs and announced in their meetings.

Up-to-date and bent on sharing this -up-to-date information with every home in the community is the chief goal of the Boone County Homemakers' organization. Membership is available to all women in the county. Do you belong? There is much to do now and the club will welcome new members,

MRS. MARY SCOTT MOORE,
Acting Home Demonstration Agent

Salvage For Victory

America's war factories need more waste paper, old rags, scrap metal, old rubber.

In our total effort for total victory, every pound of these materials must be salvaged, because:

Scrap metal makes the steel, brass, copper, lead, and other metals for the guns, planes, tanks, and ships we must have for victory.

Waste paper makes new paperboard to ship munitions, clothing, and food for America's fighting men at home and over seas.

Old rubber makes new rubber for our motorized forces—for planes, tanks and battleships, and for essential civilian needs.

Old rags make needed materials for emergency buildings, wiping rags for war industries, and reworked textiles.

We must save and salvage and start these materials on their way to make weapons for our fighting men.

Here is an opportunity for every citizen in every community in America to help turn out the weapons that can give the only answer to the treachery at Pearl Harbor.

How To Save

1. Flatten out all cartons and boxes; tie in neat bundles; keep dry and clean.

2. Pile newspapers separately, and tie in separate bundles.

3. Keep rags, metals and rubber separately, in cartons and bags if possible.

How To Dispose of Waste

For the present, call your local Salvage chairman for instructions, or you can sell your own junk to one of the waste materials trade. In general do not call a collector until your waste paper has reached 100 pounds, or a pile of 5 feet high. Metals, rags and rubber should be disposed of at the same time.

A local Salvage for Victory headquarters in each community is our goal. Wherever possible, headquarters of the local defense council should be used. This central office could arrange for the pickup of collections, either by collectors or by charities.

We urge County authorities to recover waste materials normally burned or dumped by local agencies.

In many localities, schools, Boy Scouts and other organizations have already started Salvage programs. It is not the funcation of local Salvage committees to supersede any of these efforts, but rather to assist such campaigns and coordinate all such activities wherever possible. We need cooperation from local vounteer committees. We urge all clubs and organizations in the county to appoint chairman and send their names to me as soon as possible. It is a long task too. It is really not a campaign. It must be a continuous program as we will need more and more materials as long as the war lasts.

Mrs. A. E. Hue, Florence has had practical experience in disposing of salvaged materials and she will be glad to instruct any of the local chairmen who need help. Mrs. Orville Willeford, president of the Florence Homemakers' Club is cooperating with Mrs. Hue.

MRS. A. H. GAINES,
County Chairman

HOME NURSING CLASS HOLDS MEETING MONDAY

The Red Cross Home Nursing Class met Monday night at the Hebron school. There were seventeen members present. Four new members enrolled this week. Mrs. Lorrain Siekman, Mrs. Dorothy Goodridge, Mrs. Ruth Hollandsworth and Mrs. Nannie Lee Siekman. Miss Elizabeth Lowry, Red Cross Nurse is teaching the class, assisted by Mrs. Norma Aylor.

PETERSBURG Y. W. A.

The Petersburg Y. W. A. met Tuesday night, March 17th at the church for their yearly mission study course.

The manual was taught by our Y. W. A. leader, Mrs. C. W. Higdon.

Refreshments were served and a pleasant evening was reported by all.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to take from our midst our beloved Brother, James I. Bullock,

And, whereas, he has proved his love and loyalty to this Lodge through a period of fifteen years, during which time he served as Master and was at all times a zealous and devoted member.

Be it resolved that this Lodge adopt a resolution showing our love and respect and extending our sympathy to his sorrowing family.

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to his family and a copy be spread in the minutes of this Lodge; and a copy sent to the Boone County Recorder and the Masonic Home Journal for publication.

AUDITOR PRAISES COUNTY OFFICIALS

OF BOONE COUNTY FOR MANNER IN WHICH OFFICIAL BUSINESS IS CONDUCTED—IS IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Boone County officials have probably received more praise during the last few years for the manner in which the County's fiscal affairs are conducted, than any other county in the State. This year is no exception.

According to D. A. Logan, Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Kentucky, Judge N. E. Riddell and his co-workers have again completed a year of progressive management for their county. Comments made by Mr. Logan in his report he states:

"Boone County complied in principle with the purpose of the Uniform County Budget Law. If budget transfers had been made during the year as permitted under Section 1851c-6 of the Kentucky Statutes, all budget operations should have been strictly in accord with the Law. This would not have necessitated a reduction in expenditures, as total expenditures did not exceed the total amount appropriated. Upon the whole, the system of budgetary control, provided in the Uniform County Budget System, was effective as administered in Boone County.

"This County is one of the few counties in the State with a surplus in the General Fund. This surplus was increased by $1,504.03 during the year as a result of sound financial management by the county officials in charge. Our examiner reports that the records in all county offices are well kept and in excellent condition.

"Revenue from the special 20c Road and Bridge Bond Sinking Fund tax levy together with the balance in the Sinking Fund, will be sufficient to meet the requirements of the Road and Bridge Bonds if receipts are maintained at the current level."

We congratulate our county officials upon this splendid record, and sincerely hope that they will maintain this high standard of efficiency in the future, as in the past.

Sgt. Roscoe Curtis Transferred To Georgia

Friends of Tech. Sgt. Roscoe Curits, will regret to learn that he has suddenly been transferred to Savannah Army Air Base on the coast at Savannah, Ga.

His transfer came at noon Friday and at 7:40 he was leaving. Mrs. Curtis was visiting her parents and was to return to her home Sunday. As soon as she received the message, she and her father left for Louisville and arrived there only a short time before he was due to leave.

Due to the uncertain location of Mr. Curtis she will remain with her parents for a while at least.

It is the hope of their relatives and friends and to all that have been forced to be apart from loved ones that soon again peace will reign throughout the world, and war may be no more.

P. T.-A. WILL HEAR NANCY PRENTICE

AT HEBRON SCHOOL TUESDAY, APRIL 7—IS WELL KNOWN CHILD PSYCHOLOGIST AND EDUCATOR.

Lloyd Memorial Society To Meet

There will be an all-day meeting of the ladies of the Lloyd Memorial Society at the Lloyd home in Florence on Saturday, April 4th.

FARMERS URGED TO COOPERATE

IN HOME FOOD SUPPLY—BETTER FEEDING OF FARM FAMILY IS IMPORTANT TO OUR DEFENSE PROGRAM.

Every Boone County farm is urged to not only cooperate fully in 1942 in increased food production of needed poultry, dairy, pork, garden and other food crops but also in the abundant production of the needed home food supply. Better feeding the farm family is important from three important points:

(1) Better nutrition means stronger and more healthy bodies; (2) Producing home food supply means more than $700.00 to the average farm family of five and (3) Home food produced makes available more food for the military forces and the Allies.

The increased home food production program should start now, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Phases of the program timely for starting now are:

1. Garden—A large garden of rich soil with good planning and care. The gardens should be well fertilized and planted to 15 to 35 different vegetables. Regular plantings should be made to produce fresh vegetables to produce for at least nine months and stored and canned vegetables for twelve months out of the year. Now is the time to start planting.

2. Dairy—Two cows per family for the milk supply is desirable. One should be for spring freshening and one for fall freshening. Plan to have 2 acres of good pasture; 2 tons of good hay and 1250 pounds of grain feed for each cow.

3. Poultry—Start now. 15 early hatched chicks for each person in the family to produce five good pullets that will start laying early this fall.

4. Fruit—Now is the time to plant grapes, apples, cherries, peaches, strawberries, raspberries, bosenberries, gooseberries and other fruits. Don't worry about fancy varieties. Some of the so-called seedling or scrub varieties for the home supply do not produce as good quality but often produce and produce with less special care. Improved varieties are not to be discouraged for the experts.

Farm Meat Supply—Begin making plans now. Slaughter needs that have been suggested include two hogs, one beef and one lamb per family.

The home food supply is needed on every farm. Information on any phase of producing, processing or preserving the home food supply is available at the County Office or from any of the 48 local Food for Freedom leaders. Let's do our "deal level best" in 1942.

Homemakers Conduct To Produce More Food For Home Consumption

Members of Kentucky Homemakers' clubs, 16,000 strong, are conducting a drive to help not less than 100,000 families produce more food for home use. Members of clubs in the 58 counties having demonstration work are signing "Victory leadership" pledges to assist families of non-members in having better gardens and more milk, eggs, meat and other food.

Before garden-making time 9,000 pledge cards had gone to home demonstration agents, and it was expected that several thousand more cards would be signed this spring. Each homemaker signing a card agrees to share with several of her neighbors information secured through the home demonstration program which has helped her in the greater production and conservation of food. Through the program at least 100,000 families should have better food this year, says Miss Myrtle Weldon, state leader of home demonstration work.

This "victory leadership" drive of homemakers' clubs is a part of the program of the University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture, and Home Economics, to make 1942 one of the greatest food-producing years in the history of the state. Every family that can be reached will be encouraged to produce more food for home use during the growing season and for canning, drying and storing for next winter. Also, in response to war needs, there will be extra production for sale of such foods as milk, eggs and meat.

Boone County Homemakers have signed up to participate in this program, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Acting Home Demonstration Agent.

Thieves Raid Hebron Chicken House Sunday

Thieves raided the chicken house of Earl Caughron, Hebron, Sunday, March 29th, according to Sheriff J. T. Williams, who was notified of the theft.

Twenty-two chickens and one gobbler composed the loot of the culprits. Sheriff Williams made the rounds of poultry houses in the greater Cincinnati area, but found no trace of the chickens.

BOONE CO. CLUBS TO PARTICIPATE

IN NATIONAL FOUR-H MOBILIZATION WEEK—WILL CONDUCT CHAPEL PROGRAMS IN VARIOUS SCHOOLS.

Boone County 4-H organizations plan to participate in the National Mobilization Week April 5 to 11, by contributing programs for their school chapel hours. The announcement comes through the office of the Extension Service Agents.

The young people will present educational programs featuring the general outline of 4-H activities and the Boone County plans. Outstanding local club members will tell their experiences and outside speakers will point out other opportunities open to 4-H members.

The chapel programs are open to patrons of the schools and friends in the communities. Mr. D. H. Norris, superintendent, and school principals are cooperating with local 4-H club leaders and Extension Agents to make the programs a success. Chapel hours scheduled are as follows:

Burlington, Friday, April 10, 12:20 p. m. E. W. T.

Florence, Friday, April 10, 9:15 a. m. E. W. T.

Hebron, Wednesday, April 8, at 12:25 p. m. E. W. T.

SALVAGE WORK IS ORGANIZED

IS NINE COMMUNITY 4-H CLUBS —4-H LEADERS PLAN METHODS FOR COLLECTING ALL WASTE MATERIALS.

Local 4-H club organizations in nine communities have made plans to cooperate in the "Salvage for Victory" work in response to an appeal of the Boone County Agricultural War Board at their meeting Thursday for a greater movement of salvage from rural areas.

These organizations are now active in many communities and work in all communities should be under way before the end of this week, according to Franklin Frazier, Assistant County Agent.

Four-H leaders plan to use either of two general methods in organizing this salvage work. Most clubs prefer the plan of having a salvage chairman on each school bus whose duty will be to secure information as to scrap materials available along the route followed by that bus. This information will then be given to 4-H Victory committees of the local club that will find junk dealers to collect the scrap materials.

Salvage station will also be maintained by some 4-H organizations.

Farmers who wish to dispose of scrap metal, paper, rags, old rubber tires, etc., are urged to sell it direct to a junk dealer or contact their local 4-H organizations for complete plans as to how it may be removed.

Henry Hahn

Henry Hahn, aged 84 years, passed away Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he had been a patient for the past five years. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro funeral home, Erlanger, for preparation.

He had spent his entire life in Newport, where he was a member of St. Theresa Church.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Carrie Egbring, Erlanger, two nephews, Rev. H. J. Egbring, pastor St. Henry's Church, Erlanger, and Rev. L. H. Egbring, St. Luke's Church, Nicholasville, Ky., besides several other nephews and nieces.

Funeral was from the Taliaferro funeral home, Friday at 8:00 a. m., with requiem high mass at St. Henry's church at 8:30 a. m., with burial in St. Stephen cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hotchkiss

Mrs. Elizabeth Hotchkiss, aged 73 years, passed away Saturday in a Cincinnati hospital after a short illness. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro Funeral Home, Erlanger for preparation.

She is survived by one son, R. P. Hotchkiss, Beech Drive, Edgewood Subdivision, near Erlanger, also one granddaughter.

The remains were forwarded to Burton, Ohio, where services were held on Tuesday at 1:30 p. m., interment following in the local cemetery.

Funeral director Philip Taliaferro had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Lute Bradford and son Lucian, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Weaver and daughter Betty Jo, of Union attended services at the local Baptist Church, Sunday morning.

CIRCUIT COURT TO OPEN APRIL 13

BRIEF SESSION IS ANTICIPATED DUE TO SMALL DOCKET, ACCORDING TO A. D. YELTON CIRCUIT CLERK.

The April term of Boone Circuit Court will convene on Monday, April 13th, with Hon Ward Yager, Circuit Judge, presiding. The court will meet at 10:00 o'clock a. m. Eastern War Time.

It is expected that the April term will be a short one in view of the fact that there is but few cases on the docket, according to A. D. Yelton, Circuit Court Clerk.

Farmers who will serve as jurors, no doubt will be glad to know that this session will be brief, as many in this locality are far behind in their spring work, especially plowing, which has been greatly slowed up due to excessive rainfall.

Hamilton Boy Is First 4-H Member To Complete A Project This Year

Tommy Atha, 12-year-old boy of the Hamilton 4-H Club, is the first club member in Boone County to complete a project this year. Not long ago Tommy sent the 200-pound pig, raised as a 4-H club project, to market and with proceeds from this sale purchased a $25.00 Defense Bond and had sufficient money left to buy another pig.

When Tommy started his swine project last fall, the pig weighed only twenty-five pounds. To get it home, he had to bring it a distance of 18 miles, so he put it in a sack and held it on his lap—but added he was "plenty tired" when he got there. Records Tommy kept show the pig gained an average of 1½ pounds per day over a feeding period of 120 days.

Hebron Defense Council To Meet

The Hebron Defense Council will hold a meeting at the school house Thursday night, April 2nd. All members of the council are urged to attend. The leaders of the fire and air raid wardens and auxiliary police should also be at this meeting so that training classes in each duty can be started.

The First Aid class at Hebron will not begin until a later date.

FARMERS ARE SAVING FEED

HARVESTING COVER CROPS SOWN LAST FALL—EXTRA GRAZING PROVIDED, REDUCING HAY BILL.

A few hundred Boone County farmers are beginning to do one of the best jobs of saving feed they have ever done, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The solution is simple. They are harvesting cover crops sown last fall in the form of rye, wheat, barley and winter oats pasture.

The extra month's grazing is giving these farmers the finest of nutritious pasture and is greatly reducing the hay bill, protein supplement cost and is saving the permanent pasture.

The greatest addition to early spring pastures in the past twenty-five years is Balbo rye. This crop is out growing, outgrazing and out producing all other varieties. Farmers are urged to observe the fine grazing cover crops furnished this spring. Now is the time to begin making plans to cooperate this fall in seeding Boone County's 20,000 acres of 1942 cultivated land to Balbo Rye, Thorne Wheat, Kentucky No. 1, No. 2 Barley or Fulwin Winter oats.

Many farmers report the excess water in young grain crops scour their stock. This is not the case. It is not the water but the high protein content of young grasses that scour stock. By cutting out the high cost protein in the rations and feeding heavier on grain alone will give greater increased production and reduce this trouble.

Tire Theft Charge Faced By Newport Man

Chester Clark, Newport, was arrested Saturday on a John Doe warrant, charged with being implicated in tire thefts on U. S. Highway 25, Sheriff Williams stated, Tuesday.

Clark wavied examination and was released on bond, pending action of the April term of the Boone County grand jury.

QUARANTINE PLACED ON ALL DOGS IN BOONE CO.

Will Be In Force for Next Six Months, According to County Board of Health—Violators Will Be Prosecuted.

Notice was issued late Tuesday afternoon to all dog owners thruout Boone County to the effect that a strict quarantine has been placed on all dogs in the county for a period of six months and that owners must either confine their pets by leash, pen or muzzle.

This order was given in the interest of public safety and health because of there having been a dog killed in Burlington late Sunday afternoon which was proven to be rabid, and which was known to have traveled over a wide section of Boone County before it was detected and killed. According to persons from various parts of the county who have identified the dog, it was in practically every section of the county, and in most cases was fighting with other dogs.

The dog was killed by Sheriff J. T. Williams late Sunday afternoon and the head was immediately sent to the Kentucky Experiment Station, Lexington, for an examination. In a telegram to Sheriff Williams, Monday, the report stated that the dog head showed positive for rabies. A letter followed the telegram which read as follows:

"Dear Mr. Williams:

"The bacteriological laboratory of this department reports that an examination of the dog head submitted by you and delivered to the laboratory on March 30, 1942 by bus, gave the following results:

"Lab. No. 190371. Specimen: Dog head. Owner: Not given.

"Examination — POSITIVE for rabies.

"Inasmuch as the examination of the brain indicates that this animal was infected with rabies or hydrophobia, anyone exposed to the saliva through handling or feeding or from having been bitten within a period of ten days prior to the first symptoms, should take the Pasteur or anti-rabic treatment immediately to guard against contracting the disease.

Yours very truly,
LINWOOD A. BROWN,
Director, Department of Public Service Laboratories,
University of Kentucky."

This case, coming so close to the case of rabies at Limaburg a few weeks ago, indicates the possibility of there becoming an epidemic of rabies and endangering many lives as well as much livestock.

The dog killed was a small, white curly-haired poodle, probably of a cross-breed. If any dog was known to have been fighting with this dog anytime within ten days prior to March 29th, it should be destroyed at once, according to the County Board of Health.

The quarantine for six months has been placed on all dogs in Boone County for the prevention of a widespread epidemic of rabies. There seems to be a general spreading of this disease throughout the Ohio Valley, as many other towns and counties have been forced to issued strict quarantine orders.

All persons who fail to abide by the order of quarantine will be prosecuted according to law, and all dogs found running at large without a muzzle will be killed at once.

FARM LABOR SHORTAGE SEEN

FOR COMING SUMMER MONTHS —URBAN YOUTH THROUGH EMPLOYMENT OFFICES MAY BE PARTIAL SOLUTION.

It is apparent that there will be a shortage of farm labor in many communities, and there has been considerable discussion about the possibility of urban youth assisting where such shortages exist. Since the "peak" labor need is in the summer and city youth of work age will not be in school at that time, there will be an opportunity for them to get some worthwhile, healthy, work experience and, in addition, to render a much needed service in this all-out war effort.

It is suggested, therefore, that the facilities of your department of vocational agriculture, including the organization of Future Farmers, be made available in carrying out this proposed utilization of city boys on the farms this summer. The Future Farmers might well canvass the community in order to find out the need for additional workers on farms this summer and whether or not farm families would be interested in giving summer employment to a city boy old enough to work on the farm. It may be that many of the Future Farmers could offer city boys employment on their home farms. It appears to me that it would be a fine experience for a city youth to be able to live and work on a good farm during the time he is not in school. It is essential that the farms provide suitable home living conditions and proper environment along with a sufficient compensation for services rendered. It appears that the labor situation will become more acute and that farmers should be encouraged to anticipate their needs.

The U. S. Commissioner of Education is asking each city superintendent of schools to make a thorough survey of all senior high schools to determine the number of urban youth avalaible who would be interested and willing to accept employment on farms during the summer months when their school is not in session.

The U. S. Employment offices in Kentucky will assist in making the necessary contacts between urban youth and the farmers who desire to employ them this summer.

Any farmers in the county who are interested should get in touch with J. R. Huey, Hebron, Ky.

Dempsey Hodges Spending 10-Day Furlough At Home

Dempsey Hodges, of Burlington R. 1, who volunteered for army service nine months ago is spending his ten day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hodges.

Hodges is, stationed at Camp Polk, Louisiana. He has been promoted to technician 5, a rank equal to that of Corporal.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Smith and son, of Union, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. G. Smith.

Board Of Education Announce Time Change For Meetings

Beginning with the month of April, the Boone County Board of Education will hold their regular monthly meetings on Wednesday following the first Monday of each month at 7:00 p. m. (E. W. T.) instead of 10:00 a. m. as usual.

This announcement was made this week by Supt D. H. Norris, and all persons are requested to act in accordance with this change.

CHRIST AND LIFE AFTER DEATH (EASTER)

LESSON TEXT—Mark 12:24-27; I Corinthians 15:50-58.
GOLDEN TEXT—But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.—I Corinthians 15:57.

V for Victory! By that sign have many peoples indicated their confidence in a victory to come. It is well to have a victorious outlook, but it is even better to be able to look back to victory already attained. That is just what we are able to do as we consider man's great and final enemy—death. That victory has been won on behalf of all who believe, by the risen Christ of whom we think in a special way on this Easter day.

He is the Lord of the living, not of the dead; those who, even though they may have left this world, have only laid aside the corruptible body for the incorruptible. They are victorious, even as we are, over death.

I. Living, Not Dead (Mark 12:24-27).

The Sadducees, a rationalistic sect of Christ's day, denied the resurrection, and so they were much distressed by His plain teaching of that truth. They therefore devised an intricate hypothetical case (see Mark 12:18-23) and sought to set a trap for Him. But they only caught themselves, for He pointed out to them and to the people that what was wrong with them was that they did not understand the Scriptures nor the power of God.

That is precisely what is wrong with the modernists of our day—they misinterpret God's Word, and they deny His power.

Then Jesus turned to them and in place of their fantastic "supposing" story He spoke of three real characters from the books of Moses which they taught. He said that God still calls Himself the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, because though they had long been in their graves, they were still alive. God's fellowship with His people is not merely for the brief life span of this earth, but for eternity. That fact, of course, carries with it the truth of the resurrection.

II. Incorruptible, Not Corruptible (I Cor. 15:50-54).

Man knows that his earthly body is marked for decay and death. That fact is written in its very members. He also knows that such a body would be entirely inappropriate for heaven—for eternity. Is he then barred from God's eternal kingdom? No, indeed, for there is to be a glorious change — the corruptible shall put on incorruptibility.

Whether we shall tarry until Jesus comes and be transformed without dying, or whether we shall await His coming for a time among those who sleep, there will come that trumpet sound, and in the twinkling of an eye we shall be clothed upon with incorruptible bodies like unto His glorious resurrection body (Phil. 3:21). There we have an assurance of victory already won on our behalf, which can and does strengthen our souls against the trials and sorrows of life.

III. Victorious, Not Defeated (I Cor. 15:55-58).

When Satan after a long struggle finally had Christ's body laid away in the tomb, he thought he had the victory, but just then came his great hour of defeat.

"Up from the grave He arose,
With a mighty triumph o'er His foes."

"Death could not hold its prey," for it sought to hold one stronger than itself—the Lord of Life Himself. He had broken the bonds of sin by His sacrifice on Calvary; and since it was sin (the violation of the law) which brought death in the first place (Gen. 2:17; 3:17-19), there was now a complete victory over both sin and death.

The one who knows Christ need no longer fear death. For him it is not a leap into the dark, or going as a trembling wayfarer into an unknown land. President John Quincy Adams was right when, aged and frail, he replied to a question as to his welfare: "Quite well, thank you. The house in which I live is tottering and trembling, and I may soon have to move out, but I am quite well." He was ready for the departure into a better land and a better body.

Such a hope has a splendid practical application, which Paul stresses in verse 58. With victorious assurance the believer stands steadfast and unmovable at the center of life, while always abounding in the joys and duties which come at its circumference. Like the wheel which can be useful only as its center is established and steady, so man can serve the Lord and enjoy a satisfying life only as he has the steadfastness of which Paul here speaks.

We trust that it is your possession by faith in Christ. If not, make it so on this resurrection Sunday!

VERONA
(Delayed)

Burning plant beds and plowing is the order of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kannady had a letter from their son, Corp. Ben Kannady, who is now in New York.

OBITUARY

In the passing, on March 24th of Mrs. Mary Maddin, Boone County has lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens. Mrs. Maddin, whose maiden name was Code, was born more than 86 years ago in Cincinnati of parents who were married in Ireland.

When she was a small child, her parents brought her to a farm near Verona, and she spent the remainder of her long life in that vicinity.

February 20, 1875, she was united in marriage to the late Richard J. Maddin, in the little Church of St. Patrick. It was in the same Church that all of her children were baptized and where the last sad rites for here were held. Seven children came to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maddin, five of whom survive her; two sons, George Maddin, of Union, and P. J. Maddin, of Beaver Lick; and three daughters, Mrs. J. T. Dempsey, of Ludlow, Mrs. Thos. Ryan, of Verona, and Mrs. Russell Ryan, of Walton. She also leaves a brother Pat Code, of Walton.

Her two supreme interests in life were her Church and her family. She never let anything interfere with the practice of her religion, and her sorrowing children have the great consolation of knowing that she is now enjoying the reward of a life well spent in the service of God.

Besides being a model of all motherly virtues, Mrs. Maddin always found time to lend a helping hand to anyone who was in trouble or sorrow. She spent many a night taking care of a sick friend or neighbor. She always had a sweet, gentle smile for everyone and although God has chosen to take her to live with Him, the beautiful memory of her life will always remain in the hearts of all who knew her.

The large number of relatives and friends who gathered to attend the Requiem High Mass, celebrated by the pastor, the Rev. John T. Jobst was ample evidence of the esteem in which she was held. Interment was in the new St. Patrick cemetery.

A PENNY for a CHICK'S LIFE!
Many thousands of chicks die every year because they do not get a properly balanced starting feed. If a chick's life is worth one extra penny to you—you can afford to feed the best. For one penny per chick above the cost of an inadequate feed is all it costs to feed Purina Startena. And that extra penny may mean the difference between life and death to your chicks.
We sell Purina Chick Startena and can also fill your other chick-raising needs.

WEAK FEET AFFECT BODY

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the bony structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits, or waste matter form at the joints. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism, arthritis and many other ailments. Altho when you cramp the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished muscle tone is impaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eighty-seven diseases are indirectly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, happiness and peace of mind. Win foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

A WARNING!
Because they have no pain, many persons never suspect they are subject to eyestrain. This is a harmful situation. Eyestrain is a constant drain on the nervous system, and may cause headaches, lassitude, etc. If neglected, it may work serious injury.
Let us carefully examine your eyes and furnish proper glasses, if needed. Relief from eyestrain will make you feel like an entirely different person.

BURBANCKS UPHOLSTERING CO.

Offering Expert Furniture Upholstering and Repair Service

This concern, with a long record of years of service also specializes in custom-built furniture and the repairing and restoring of antiques and needlepoints.

The members of the staff at "Burbancks" have spent years in mastering their jobs. They have developed a perfect technique for doing over furniture that has become worn out and shabby. You can have your furniture reconditioned at "Burbancks" at very little expense. They do not merely recover; the piece is stripped right down to the frame. All springs are retied, or replaced where necessary; new filling is added and when the brand-new cover goes on, it not only looks like new, but is guaranteed the same as new.

The smart thing to do is to call Mr. James C. Cord, the manager, to send a representative from their custom upholstering shop to your home with a selection of covers, to give you an estimate on your work. This will not obligate you in any way to have the work done. All work is called for and delivered and is executed right in their shop in Covington at 415 Madison Ave., or phone Colonial 3522.

Pike Street Linoleum & Carpet House

"In Same Location Sinve 1919"

By means of this Review of the Commercial and Industrial progress of Northern Kentucky, we wish to call the attention of the home owners and business firms of our section to the reliable service featured by The Pike Street Linoleum and Carpet House, located in Covington at 253-255 Pike St., their only location.

People everywhere throughout this section are realizing the advantages of depending upon this firm to continue to supply the most modern and complete lines of Venetian blinds, rugs and broadlooms, linoleums, and floor wax and polishes.

The heads of this concern are not only individuals of high repute in business circles but are also leaders of civic and social circles as well, a real asset in every phase of community life. Mr. Harry Kroness is the manager.

By means of their comprehensive stocks, low prices and metropolitan distribution service they have gained a well-merited reputation as the Carpet and Linoleum supply headquarters of Covington and vicinity.

The phone number is Hemlock 4665.

HEBRON HOMEMAKERS

The meeting of the Hebron Homemakers was held at the Junior Order Hall on March 11. Everyone joined in singing "America" and reading the "Collect." The minutes of the last meeting were read and one correction was made, Mrs. Lorena Clore has nearly $3.00 on hand from a raffle held at an earlier date. The treasurer's report was read and approved.

Under new business the President discussed transportation to and from the meetings. Mrs. Frank Wohrley invited the club to meet at her home for the next meeting. The hostesses will be Mrs. Virginia Pope, Sue Rogers, Hilda Hogan, and Katherine Peel.

Mrs. Moore discussed the lessons for the coming year, explaining the Variety Program. The members present voted and it was decided that the majority want the new Variety Program.

Mrs. Stella Nichols, the Foods Leader, handed out enrollment cards for the Live-at-Home program.

The meeting was dismissed for lunch.

Mrs. Moore told of the Spring meeting. The roll call "Interesting Facts about Kentucky" was answered by 14 members. We had as our guest for the day, Mrs. Ratcliff.

Mrs. Sue Rogers, the reading chairman, reported that the Hebron Club has read the most of any club in the county.

After some discussion it was decided that as a means of refilling our treasury, each meeting as we pay our dues we add a donation.

The clothing leaders, Mrs. Norma Aylor and Virginia Pope, gave a very interesting and instructive lesson. The meeting was adjourned after a very interesting day.

Katherine Peel, Sec'y.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

The Bullittsville Homemakers were entertained by Mrs. Haynes Bruce, of Ludlow, for their March meeting. The meeting was opened by singing the Homemakers' song and reading the clubs' collect. The roll call was answered by "What I have gained from the foods project."

We were glad to have our home demonstration agent, Mrs. Moore, meet with us.

Mrs. Moore announced the district meeting would be held at Paris on April 28. She said anyone wanting a luncheon ticket could get them from her. The lunch will cost fifty cents. Mrs. Moore said the theme of the meeting will be "It All Depends On Me" and Dr. Allen Stockdale will be one of the principal speakers. She also announced the advisory council meeting which will be held at the Florence Town Hall on March 26.

The club voted on the project for the coming year and the foods project carried. I think that speaks well for our present leaders, that they have made the project so interesting that we would want the same again.

Mrs. Wm. Hill and Mrs. J. R. Williams have certainly done a grand job with the foods project.

After lunch the afternoon session was opened with the salute to the flag and singing the National Anthem.

As neither of the clothing leaders were able to attend Miss Davenport's clothing meeting, the president Mrs. Bruce, asked Mrs. Moore to give the lesson which was "Dress for Victory." She also discussed the lantern brooder. Mrs. Moore said the lesson for next month would be foods for convalescence and semi-invalids.

Our program chairman, Mrs. Wm. Hill said that next month's answer to the roll call will be "What do I have in my home that means most to me." Mrs. Jonas Stevens invited the club to hold their April meeting at her home April 16th.

STOCKYARD OFFICIAL URGES CARE WITH SPRING PIG AND LAMB CROP

F. B. Edmands President of the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards suggests that producers of livestock exercise more care with the coming crop of pigs and lambs. He points out that our government is asking that more livestock be produced, especially hogs. This will be profitable as well as patriotic for the farmer.

Edmands states that in normal years average care usually saves six pigs to the litter, while a little special attention may save another pig. This would result in more profit to the producer and more food for consumption. Mr. Edmands has had many years experience in the marketing of livestock and suggests that farmers take the time to dock all lambs and castrate the male ones. Figures prove that there is no farm job that pays as well as the few minutes needed to castrate and dock the lambs.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ryle and daughter moved Monday into the house of Christena Kirtley in Belleview, while they are wrecking their old home and rebuilding a new one.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Buckler spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Buckler and family in East Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Brown visited Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Sutton, after Church Sunday.

F. F. A. MEETING POSTPONED

The regular monthly F. F. A. meeting was postponed one week, therefore being held March 24th at Hebron school. At this meeting we discussed the Father and Son banquet which will be held April 10th. The recreation committee and the program committee are working on the banquet. The club has not been able to find a speaker for the banquet.

On April 24 the Future Farmers of the Northern Kentucky District will hold their F. F. A. day at Fleming county high. At this meeting all the chapters of Northern Kentucky District get together to compete in different contests. Some of these contests are opening and closing ceremonies, parliamentary procedure, public speaking and tests on animal and crop enterprises.

A chapel program will be sponsored by the Hebron Chapter Friday, April 10th.

Reporter, Dallas Conrad.

She is survived by her husband, Hank Kohlenberger, two sons Charles and Stanley, three daughters Shirley, Betty and Beverly; her mother, Mrs. W. O. Rouse; two brothers, Claud and Mark Craven; two sisters, Ruth and Marie.

Her many relatives and friends here were shocked and grieved to learn of her death.

MAY 3RD TO OBSERVED AS GO-TO-SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY

As a part of the regular program of activities the Kentucky Sunday School Association is again sponsoring the observance of GO-TO-SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY in Kentucky. Sunday, May 3rd, 1942, is the date and Sunday Schools thruout the state are urged to cooperate in making it one of the great days in the Sunday School year. The purpose of the day is to focus the attention on the Sunday school to stress its importance in the development of Christian character and to stimulate interest in reaching every person in every community, inviting them to attend, regularly, the Sunday School and Church of their choice.

According to a census of Sunday schools and enrollment which is being made by the Kentucky Sunday School Association, the average Sunday school enrollment over the state is just about twenty-four percent of the population. In commenting on the findings of this census, Fred T. Fowler, Field Secretary for the Association, stated that he was very much surprised to find the average so low and said that the figures left no doubt as to the need for prompt and constructive work throughout the state. "The situation presents a challenge as well as an opportunity to every earnest Christian," Mr. Fowler remarked.

Kentucky was the first state to observe GO-TO-SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY. It was inaugurated on May 3rd, 1914, by the late Dr. George A. Joplin who was, at that time, General Secretary of the Kentucky Sunday School Association. The promotion of the day became an annual feature of the Association program and thousands of persons have been brought into the Sunday school through its observance.

Suggestions as to general promotion and advertising posters will be furnished free of charge, upon request. Write the Kentucky Sunday School Association, Louisville, Ky.

FLORENCE HOMEMAKERS

The St. Patrick Day Party and Jitney supper on March 16th was a disappointment in the matter of the size of the crowd, but not in the quality of the supper. However, the men ate heartily, and, as there was almost no expense, we cleared a little over $5.

Owing to much sickness and various other good reasons, the attendance at the regular meeting Friday, March 20th was small, only 15 being present. The household hints were timely and good. A lot of business was disposed of, the Style Trend lesson given by Mrs. Laverna Willeford was interesting and Mrs. Moore's talk, as usual, was sprightly and worthwhile. A most delicious luncheon was served consisting of salmon loaf with a dressing of peas and carrots in white sauce, parsnips, a green spring salad with french dressing, and a dessert of cherry jello with whipped cream. Altogether, we felt the day had not been wasted.

BELLEVIEW CHURCH OF CHRIST

Sam Hamilton, Minister

Bible School 10:00 C. W. T. Russell Rogers, Supt.

Morning Worship Service 11:00 C. W. T. Sermon subject, "If Christ be Not Raised."

The Church has adopted and installed a new financial system, to replace the former envelope method of contribution. This system is something entirely new in this community. Come to Church and look it over.

We are beginning practice on the play for next Sunday evening. It promises to be the best yet. Come early if you wish a seat.

We are pleased to announce that the local Baptist Church has graciously agreed to have its evening service one half hour earlier so there will be no conflict in time on the evening of the play. We in turn have moved the play to 8:00 p. m. C. W. T., so as not to conflict with their service on that evening.

CREDIT USE INCREASES AS FARMERS HIKE OUTPUT

The farmers of the counties of Northern Kentucky are using more short-term credit than ever before as they step up production of food, fibre and oil-producing crops, reports Mr. Leonard C. Taylor, Williamstown, Ky., Central office of the Northern Kentucky Production credit Association.

"During the first two months of this year," Mr. Taylor explains, "a total of 194 farmers obtained $95-041.00 from the association to finance 1942 farm operations."

Mr. Taylor predicts that as the season progresses an even larger number of farmers in Boone, Campbell, Carroll, Gallatin, Grant, Kenton, Owen and Pendleton counties will make use of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association in connection with their efforts to cooperate with the Food-For-Freedom campaign. Last year 677 farmer-members secured $368,250.00 from their credit cooperative to establish a new record in volume of business for their association.

MANY ASPIRE FOR HOSTESS PLACES

Persons who contemplate making application for position as hostess or librarian at army camps, posts or stations, either those already established or contemplated, are advised that more than 1,600 applications are on file for hostess and approximately 250 for librarian.

Of nine hostess positions and four library posts authorized by the War Department in the Fifth Corps Area, comprising Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Kentucky, all excepting one junior hostess post have been filled, and it is momentarily expected to be filled from applications already on file.

Prospective applicants for such positions at camps proposed to be established are informed that separate files of application are not kept for the respective army establishments where such posts are authorized.

Aspirants for these places are reminded of the doubtful value of making trips for personal interviews unless so requested. Prime consideration is given to qualifications and experience rather than to numerous recommendations many of which are evidently by persons not personally acquainted with the applicant.

POSSIBLE SHORTAGE IN TOBACCO COTTON

A shortage of tobacco cotton is considered possible this season, due to the fact that this type of cloth is used extensively in making bandages and other war supplies.

The Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggests that tobacco growers patch up the cotton used last year, if it is not in too bad condition, and use this as far as it will go, instead of buying new cloth. If the edges of the cloth are much worn it may pay to make the plant beds narrower, so the worn parts of the cotton need not be used.

If tobacco cotton must be bought, orders should be placed as soon as possible.

WALTON HOMEMAKERS

Mrs. Edna Vest was hostess to the Walton Homemakers for the March meeting. Our president, Mrs. Marie Hughes presided.

Minutes read and approved. Fifteen answered the roll call. Mrs. Moore our leader announced the district meeting to be held in Paris and the different subjects to be discussed at this meeting.

Mrs. Gaynell read a very interesting letter on "Live at Home" project. Adjourned for lunch.

After lunch the president called the meeting to order, after discussing what our program would be for the coming year. The decision was in favor of a miscellaneous program.

Mrs. Hope Vest, Mrs. Edna Vest, Mrs. Anna Pearl Gaines, who attended the style show in Cincinnati gave some very interesting points on styles in dresses and hats for the coming season.

Those present were Mrs. Hope Vest, Mrs. Ora Fry, Mrs. Jane Sleet, Mrs. Scott Chambers, Mrs. Mary Stephenson, Mrs. Mollie Sturgeon, Mrs. Gaynell Flynn, Mrs. Mable Groger, Mrs. Anna Pearl Gaines, Mrs. Marie Hughes, Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. W. O. Rouse, Mrs. Mary Moore and the hostess.

Mrs. Gaynell Flynn will be hostess for the April meeting.

CCC TO TRAIN AUTOMOTIVE MECHANICS DURING 1942

The Civilian Conservation Corps will train 80 enrollees in automotive mechanics during 1942 at its Central Motor Repair Shop and School at Corbin, Ky., James J. McEntee, Director of the CCC, today advised Dr. W. A. Frost, Commissioner, Department of Welfare, Frankfort, Ky., who is the State Director of CCC Selection for Kentucky.

The Corbin shop is one of 51 operated throughout the country for the repair of CCC automotive equipment. At all these shops, CCC enrollees are assigned to work with experienced civilian mechanics in all phases of automotive repair. It is anticipated that 3,-500 enrollees will be graduated from these motor repair shops and training centers. Their training is sufficient to fit them for jobs in war machine industries or in military service.

At the present, there are 40 enrollees undergoing intensive mechanical training at Corbin. Half of these are taught in the shop school, while the other half are at work in the shop. At the end of two weeks, they change places, a system that insures that theory and practice keep abreast. This interchange continues throughout the course which last from six months to a year, depending on aptitude of the student and pressure from industry for even semi-trained men. Enrollees live in specially built barracks adjoining the shop throughout the course.

The continuous progressive training of these enrolees is supplemented by additional instruction from educational exhibits of car and equipment manufacturers.

New Fish and Game Code

Frankfort, Ky.—The new Game and Fish Code bill, simplifying the Kentucky Game and Fish laws and adding several changes in present laws, has been passed by both houses of the Legislature and has been signed by Governor Keen Johnson, according to a statement issued today by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish. This legislation was known as House Bill No. 214 and was introduced by Mr. Wayne W. Freeman and Mr. W. L. Jones.

Included in changes of the Fish and Game Laws are the following:

1. Any person who willfully and knowingly kills, injuries, shocks or stuns, or attempts to kill or injure, shock or stun any fish by any explosive agent or similar substance shall be guilty of a felony and imprisoned not less than one nor more than three years and fined not more than $500.

2. Any person who possesses a license—either hunting or fishing or trapping—and violates any provision of the Game and Fish laws, in addition to penalties provided therefor, also forfeits his or her license.

3. The resident mussel fishing license per boat has now been reduced to $5 and the non-resident mussel fishing license per boat is now set at $20.

4. No person shall use ferrets in hunting. A permit must be obtained within ten days after the person acquires possession of a ferret and one permit entitles the holder to keep any number of ferrets. A permit costs $2.

5. No person shall take any channel or fiddler cat under 15 inches in length. Nor any jack salmon or wall-eyed pike, sand pike or sauger under 13 inches in length.

6. No person shall sell live bait to be used in angling unless he first obtains a live bait dealers permit or license from the Division of Game and Fish for the sum of $25. No live bait dealer shall export any minnows or crawfish from this state or sell them to any non-resident if he knows the non-resident plans to take them out of the state.

7. Reduce the size of bait seines from 4x10 to 4x6 feet, with mesh not larger than one-fourth inch.

A closed season on pond, bull or jumbo frogs from April 15 to June 15. A bag limit of 15 pond, bull or jumbo frogs per day and a possession limit of not more than two days' bag limit.

9. possum and raccoon may be hunted and taken by dog only from November 1 to February 1, inclusive. The regular open season on these two game animals begins Nov. 24, and extends through January 9.

10. Persons may hunt the red fox at night with dogs for sport and not to kill; but this exception in favor of sportsmen shall not extend to anyone engaged in the business of a fur dealer or a trapper or professional hunter. The regular open season on the red fox begins Dec. 1 and ends Dec. 31.

11. Require the presence of hoop net tags on the net at all times.

12. No person shall use a gig other than one of the following sizes and dimension: The gig shall not have more than four prongs, no prong shall be longer than 2½ inches; the prongs shall be made out of not heavier than 14-gauge wire or metal, and shall not have more than one barb on each prong; and the gig shall be attached to a pole which together with the gig will not exceed five feet in length.

13. The Fish and Game laws do not protect or limit in any way the taking of the Cooper's hawk, sharp-shinned hawk, the crow, the starling, the English sparrow or the the great horned owl, groundhog, gray fox or weasel, but any person taking them with a gun must have a hunting license. The law prohibits the taking of any wild life or wild animals protected or unprotected, or the angling in any stream or body of water, whether public or private, without the securing of the license.

14. The phase of law relating to possession and sale of rabbits has been clarified and states that no person for any purpose may possess at any time more than two days bag limit (16) rabbits.

NORTHERN KENTUCKY BUSINESS REVIEW

COLONIAL COAL & SUPPLY CO. and TATE BUILDERS SUPPLY CO.

"Where One Call Supplies It All"

As so many suburban people are doing remodeling, alteration work and building additions, we wish to direct attention to this old reliable building supply service. The Colonial Coal and Supply Co., is located in Erlanger at 47 Dixie Highway. The Tate Builders Supply Co., is located in Covington at 19th and Russell Streets.

They handle a complete line of sand, tile, gravel, lime, cement, brick, concrete blocks, coal, and coke, in addition to many other items too numerous to mention, in fact—everything but lumber.

With the added activity thruout the country in building, remodeling and repairing, many people are seeking the necessary items from their dealers and building supply houses. To be sure of having highest quality products installed in your building projects specify in your contract that none but the products handled by this firm be used.

Their partons are assured of customers receiving the better class of materials which the home builder demands in these days. The products which are handled by the Colonial Coal & Supply Co., and the Tate Builders Supply Co., are made of better materials, embodies more expert workmanship and are offered at correct current prices.

This firm has furnished high grade materials for some of the largest contracts in this section and have always maintained their reputation for providing superior materials and a reliable and prompt service.

You will never find any member of this establishment too busy to make valuable suggestions regarding the use of their products or to estimate a bill for the same. Phones: Hemlock 2680 and Dixie 7626.

BLUE STAR TAVERN

Famous for Fine Chicken, Ham and Steak Dinners

In making this Review of Northern Kentucky's leading business concerns, it is indeed a pleasure to have the opportunity of calling our readers' attention to a few of the facts, of why this popular meeting place has gained such a stronghold on the hearts of our people. It is under the personal direction of Carl Wooten, who has a long record of satisfactory service in this field.

The Blue Star Tavern is located just south of Covington on Dixie Highway and has become so popular because of the fine foods and beverages, courteous and interested service of the personnel, the pleasant surroundings, and the moderate cost involved.

There is never a cover or minimum charge and they provide a complete daily luncheon service in addition to dinner and the finest beverages.

Parking facilities are available eliminating the necessity of driving all over town to find a place to eat.
